The Committee has had access to information provided by some of the provincial pharmacare programs. The Minister of Health for the province of British Columbia indicated that "...drug cost increases for 1987 over 1986 averaged 7.2 per cent for brand name products and 6.3 per cent for generic products." Our analysis of the 80 largest selling drugs in Saskatchewan indicates that they rose in price at twice the overall rate of inflation from the second half of 1986 to the first half of 1988. While the Consumer Price Index increased by 5.9% over this period, drug prices increased by 11.77%. Several drugs increased in price by over 20% and one increased by more than 200%. The Committee could not include the July 1988 pricing data, but indications are that these increases were very small.

The province of New Brunswick has also submitted data from the New Brunswick Prescription Drug Program. These data were supplied for three 12 month periods, July 1985-June 1986, July 1986-June 1987, and July 1987-June 1988. Total increases in material costs were just over 20% for the entire period under consideration. This figure should be interpreted carefully as it may also be affected by changing consumption patterns not just price changes.

Whether price increases can be linked to Bill C-22 or not, another important aspect of this issue is whether prices are increasing significantly faster than the Consumer Price Index. After all, the Minister and the PMAC both gave Parliamentarians the impression that such would not be the case. The statistical evidence available to the Committee does indicate that this is the case, although we do have reservations about some of the evidence presented to us. For example, the Consumer Price Indexes for prescribed drugs and for medicinal and pharmaceutical products both indicated very large price increases starting in the summer of 1987. These increases, however, were mostly illusory. Changes in the re-imbursement policies of the Saskatchewan Prescription Drug Plan distorted these price indices and gave a false impression of price changes.

A similar problem existed with respect to other pricing data made available to the Committee. Price increases by Smith Kline & French Canada Ltd. from 1987 to 1988, compiled from the company's price lists, were overstated by about 10%. According to the company's president, this overstatement resulted from a change in the distribution method employed by the company. The normal wholesaler's mark-up of 10% was erroneously interpreted as a price increase.

Despite these difficulties with the data, it is evident to the Committee that drug prices continue to increase at rates which exceed inflation by 2 to 3 percentage points. This is not as great an increase as has been suggested by some critics of Bill C-22, but it does suggest that the Board has not yet been able to live up to the claims of the Minister.

POWERS OF THE PATENTED MEDICINE PRICES REVIEW BOARD

As mentioned earlier, Bill S-15 would make the CPI the principal factor against which the prices review board would judge brand-name drug prices and require the Board to take action to reduce a price or remove exclusivity whenever the price of a medicine increased by more than the relevant CPI increase.

In commenting on the powers of the Board as set out in Bill C-22, some witnesses felt that the Board would be ineffective in controlling drug prices. One witness was of the view that the Board presents the illusion that prices will be contained. Indeed, as we point out in this Report, drug prices have continued to rise faster than the rate of inflation.

Witnesses who were of the opinion that the Board lacked the necessary power to effectively control drug prices felt that Bill S-15 would go some way to rectifying this. However, the provision which would automatically declare a price to be excessive if its rate of increase exceeds that of the CPI was considered by some to be too inflexible. It was suggested that the Board must have some discretion, for it is inevitable that situations will arise where such a price increase is necessary and justified. The CDMA, whose products are not patented and are therefore not subject to scrutiny by the Board, objected to this provision. Evidently, it fears that provincial drug formularies might limit its drug price increases in the same way that the Board would limit price increases for brand-name drugs. The requirement that the Board either remove exclusivity or order a price reduction if a price increase is excessive was viewed favourably by a number of witnesses. This, it was felt, would allow the Board to control drug prices more effectively.

Further studies and additional witnesses should and will be before the Committee in due course. Thereafter, the Committee will make a final report on Bill S-15.

Respectfully submitted,

IAN SINCLAIR
Chairman

APPENDIX "B"

(See p. 4404)

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

SIXTY-FOURTH REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE

WEDNESDAY, September 14, 1988

PART I

The Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration has the honour to present its

SIXTY-FOURTH REPORT

On Tuesday, July 5, 1988, Senator Hazen Argue rose in the Senate on a question of privilege about certain allegations that had been made in press reports.* The Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, consequently, undertook to investigate the matters raised. The Committee appointed a Sub-Committee to inquire into the allegations against Senator Argue. The Sub-Committee subsequently prepared a report dated July 28, 1988 for the full Committee. On August 25, 1988, the Committee met with Senator Argue and his counsel, Mr. John P. Nelligan, to obtain the Senator's response to the Sub-Committee's report. At that time, Mr. Nelligan provided written submissions to the Committee on behalf of Senator Argue.

This report is divided into three parts. The report of the Sub-Committee is printed as Part I. While this document was prepared solely for the use and consideration of the full Committee, the Committee has decided to include it at this time, because its contents have become known, and it forms the basis for Senator Argue's response. The submissions of Senator Argue are included as Part II of this report. The Committee's conclusions and recommendations constitute Part III.

* The first of a series of articles containing allegations against Senator Argue appeared in The Ottawa Citizen on June, 3 1988. On June 13, 1988 the Citizen wrote a letter to the Clerk of the Senate requesting copies of reports on Senator Argue's use of Senate supplies and services, and asking for specific information. The Senate Finance department prepared a report for the Standing Senate Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, and this document was discussed by the Committee on June 30, 1988. Senator Argue raised his question of privilege in the Senate on July 5, 1988, and on July 7, 1988, the Committee appointed the Sub-Committee to inquire into the allegations raised.

Thursday, July 28, 1988

The Sub-Committee, established to examine and report on the allegations made against Senator Argue, has the honour to present its report as follows:

Your Sub-Committee received its Order of reference on July 7, 1988 and held its organization meeting on July 12, 1988. The following Senators served on the Sub-Committee: The Honourable Senators Cochrane, Lewis, Marchand, McElman and Nurgitz. A total of fourteen witnesses, all Senate employees, gave fifteen hours of testimony and several hours were also spent deliberating on the Report.

Your Sub-Committee felt that the most efficient way to proceed was to conduct its proceedings in an informal manner. The Sub-Committee felt the overriding objective was to discover the facts surrounding the allegations made. Most of the allegations were related to the nomination campaign of Mrs. Argue as candidate in the next federal election. The allegations dealt with a number of subjects: (i) language training; (ii) photocopying; (iii) taxi vouchers; (iv) telephones; (v) messengers; (vi) supplies; (vii) postage; (viii) research assistance; (ix) secretarial and clerical assistance; and (x) abuse of Committee chairmanship privileges.

Your Sub-Committee reports its findings as follows:

(i) Language Training: Evidence adduced by the Committee confirms that Robin Russell, a contract employee of Senator Argue, received language training from a private school in lieu of Senator and Mrs. Argue. The language school attested in a letter that the substitution was done at the request of Senator Argue. The Senate Policy on Official Languages does not provide language training to employees under contract.

Consequently, your Sub-Committee recommends that the Senate recover from Senator Argue the cost of the language training for Mr. Russell, totalling $3,570.00 of which $1,708.00 should be payable to the Receiver General of Canada and $1,862.00 payable to the language school.

(ii) Photocopying: Your Sub-Committee heard evidence and was provided with copies of the several requests made by the office of Senator Argue since February, 1988. Even though concerns were raised about some of the requests not being directly related with Senate business, those relating to Mrs. Argue's campaign were a clear abuse of the Senate Printing Services. Some of the examples provided to the Sub-Committee were 60,000 copies of a letter "The Argues in Nepean", five copies of "The 1984 Greater Ottawa City Directory", three copies of the "List of Electors in Nepean". the cost of the printing of these campaign documents is assessed at $1,065.28.

It is therefore recommended that Senator Argue repay the amount of $1,065.28 to the Senate, for the cost of photocopying campaign material.

(iii) Taxi Vouchers: Your Sub-Committee was provided with reports on the use of taxi chits by the Office of Senator Argue from the period of October 1st, 1987 to June 30th, 1988 inclusive. The total cost of these vouchers is $3,449.90 of which $1,240.50 relates directly to the costs of taxis being taken to and from the address of the campaign headquarters. It should be noted that books of taxi chits were issued by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod to Senator Argue at his insistence. It was pointed out to the Sub-Committee that no other Senator had benefitted of this privilege of having free access to taxi vouchers. The Sub-Committee was unable to obtain precise information on some of the other destinations but notes that the Clerk of the Senate has already undertaken to meet with Senator Argue to determine if some of the taxis were for Senate business. Senator Argue, of his own volition, issued a cheque in the amount of $3,149.00 dated June 22, 1988, leaving a balance of $300.90 unanswered for.

It is noted that considerable expense to the Senate in the misuse of messenger services is also involved, in addition to the actual cost of taxi fares.

Consequently, it is recommended that the Clerk of the Senate and Senator Argue meet at their earliest convenience to determine the exact amount that is owed or has been overpaid to the Senate. In calculating the said amount, the Clerk will include the calculated cost of messenger services used for non-senatorial purposes.

(iv) Telephones: Senator Argue's Office was already equipped with three telephone lines. Your

Sub-Committee received evidence that four additional telephone lines were installed in the Senator's office, in November 1987; two of these were later removed in February, 1988. The cost of these additional phones is $972.12. On December 10, 1987 Senator Argue, in a memorandum to the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, indicated that he wished to pay all costs of installing and carrying the recently installed four telephones. The Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod testified that inadvertently he had not pursued the matter.

It is recommended that Senator Argue remit to the Receiver General of Canada $972.12.

(v) Messengers: Evidence was received that messengers were extensively used by the Senator's Office and that some of the work they performed was beyond their normal duties. Messengers were used in the "stuffing" of envelopes for the campaign. Evidence was given that as many as five messengers would be asked, at a given time, to perform this task in unscheduled and unauthorized Senate office space. Messengers also ran errands via taxis to the campaign headquarters. Evidence was also given that messengers were used for work of a personal nature.

Your Sub-Committee feels that the use of Senate Messengers was grossly excessive. However, your Sub-Committee is unable to arrive at a dollar value of the cost to the Senate of this abuse of Messenger service by Senator Argue's Office.

(vi) Supplies: Evidence was received that an excessive volume of supplies was used by the Senator's Office, especially since January 1988. Some examples of these items, as per the testimony heard, include: boxes of file folders, boxes of pens on a daily basis, weekly orders of packages of photocopy paper, as well as frequent requisitions for MICOM labels, as many as 40,000, elastic file folders, recording cassettes in boxes of 10, batteries and tape recorders. Since there is no developed policy for the Senate Stores to keep an inventory control of its office supplies, your Sub-Committee is unable to arrive at the cost of supplies taken by or on behalf of Senator Argue. However, one record, dated December 13, 1985, was made available and shows that a Senate typewriter was delivered to the Senator's home in Saskatchewan. According to available information, the typewriter has not yet been returned.

Your Sub-Committee feels there has been an obvious and clear misuse of Senate supplies by the Senator. Your Sub-Committee recommends that the Senate typewriter delivered to the Senator's home either be returned or that the cost of the machine be recovered by the Senate.

(vii) Postage: Evidence was given that the Senator used his mailing privileges to send out bulk/householder mail through the Senate post office, relating to Mrs. Argue's campaign. It is noted that this mailing privilege is not available to Senators. Your Sub-Committee feels there was an abuse of the Senator's mailing privileges in this regard. Your Sub-Committee notes that the Senator paid $66.96 for the bulk/householder on March 7, 1988. If such a mailing had been performed at commercial rates, the cost would have been $2,132.00 (26,000 X 8.2¢).

(viii) Research Assistance: Evidence was given that seven students were hired through Senate Personnel and assisted in a telephone survey to residents of Nepean in connection with Mrs. Argue's campaign. No evidence was received that at the time of hiring, the Senator informed Personnel that he would pay for their services himself. On May 31, Senator Argue informed Personnel Management that he would be sending a cheque of $502.60 to pay for the services of these students and asked Personnel to acknowledge that they had received it on May 27. The cheque was received on May 31st.

Your Sub-Committee feels that Senator Argue compromised senior staff of the Senate by asking on May 31 that they acknowledge receiving the cheque on May 27 and, further, that the hiring of the seven students constituted a clear misuse of the services offered by the office of Senate Personnel.

(ix) Clerical and secretarial help: Evidence was given that Senator Argue follows a practice of hiring a number of people on short-term contracts rather than spending his secretarial allocation on one person.

Your Sub-Committee notes that Senator Argue is the only Senator who follows this unusual practice. Your Sub-Committee did not ask for any evidence from these part-time employees.

(x) There is no evidence that Senator Argue benefitted personally from his position as Committee Chairman and any allegations to that effect are unfounded.

PART II

SUBMISSIONS TO THE STANDING SENATE COMMITTEE ON INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION ON BEHALF OF THE HONOURABLE HAZEN ARGUE WITH RESPECT TO THE REPORT OF THE SPECIAL SUB-COMMITTEE DATED JULY 28TH, 1988

Senator Argue is concerned that the report of the Sub-Committee due to its unfortunate leak to the press has acquired a stature which is unwarranted by the circumstances. Its function was to examine and report on allegations made against Senator Argue but those allegations were never precisely defined. Until this last meeting of the full Committee, they were never discussed with Senator Argue. The witnesses who were heard were questioned informally. They were not sworn and Senator Argue had no opportunity to ask any questions. The "findings" which are therefore reported are at best preliminary and can only be dealt with by the full Committee in conjunction with the response of Senator Argue. Even then, of course, Senator Argue has had no opportunity to test the accuracy of some of the evidence heard in camera by the Sub-Committee.

A great deal of the material before the Sub-Committee dealt with Mrs. Argue's nomination campaign with respect to the next federal election. Senator Argue has never denied that he provided assistance to his wife in connection with her campaign. He provided that assistance in good faith and in the belief that he was within the scope of his activities as a Senator. It was never his intention to receive any benefit to which he was not entitled or to deceive any member of the Senate or the Senate staff with regard to the purpose for which the various expenditures were made.

He has accepted the position of the Sub-Committee that expenditures related to Mrs. Argue's campaign are not appropriately charged against Senate expense and has been endeavouring since the issue arose to repay any amounts involved after consultation with Senate staff as to the precise amounts. He is concerned however at any suggestion that there was any deliberate attempt on his part to mislead the Senate or to deliberately seek to obtain benefits which he knew were not authorized. He would ask that the Committee deal specifically with this point and further, to assist himself and other Senators in the future, redefine the areas of discretion available to a Senator in carrying out his Senatorial duties.

Dealing with the specific findings of the Sub-Committee, our position is as follows:

(i) Language Training: there is no dispute that Senator Argue asked the language school to provide language training for a contract employee Robin Russell. This was done because the contract employee had had his language training interrupted in the past and was anxious to pursue the studies while working part-time for the Senator. The Senator was not clear as to the rights of contract or other employees to this training, a confusion which seems to exist in the minds of other Senators as well. The important point is that at no time did he instruct anyone to submit invoices in the name of anyone but Mr. Russell. The invoices were sent to the Senate staff and at no time did anyone on the Senate staff phone him to tell him that Mr. Russell could not take the lessons or conversely that Mr. Russell or the Senator were responsible for the account. Although he is still not in receipt of any account, Mr. Russell has forwarded a cheque to the Senate for the sum mentioned in the report although it is not clear whether or not this includes duplicated accounts.

(ii) Photocopying: Prior to obtaining the photocopying of the Nepean letter, Senator Argue discussed it with the Clerk of the House and received authority to do so. He had no intention to contravene any guidelines or limitations on use by the Senate and was prepared to accept the Clerk's decision. Since the Sub-Committee is of the view that this use of House facilities exceeded those allowed he has already repaid to the Senate the amount identified in the report.

(iii) Taxi Vouchers: Senator Argue agrees that he has requested taxi chits from Mr. Réal Gagnon, the Director of Messenger Services but was unaware that whole books of chits were kept available in his office. He agrees that it is not appropriate that individual Senators have free access to vouchers in this way. He apologizes for any excesses in which his staff may have engaged in. He has already reviewed the particulars of all of the taxi vouchers and reached a settlement with Mr. Lussier. It would appear that the amount actually paid by him, is more than the amount required and adjustments can be made at the end of these proceedings.

(iv) Telephones: There seems to be no dispute over this item but the Senator asks that you note particularly that there was never any attempt here to obtain telephones at Senate expense beyond those to which he was normally entitled. The problem here seems to be an oversight in the administrative part of the Senate with respect to sending him a bill for the additional phones.

(v) Messengers: The Senator agrees that he uses messengers extensively and has done so for many years. The duties they have performed have included the stuffing of envelopes. The Senator was not aware of any stuffing of envelopes for the campaign but it is probable that they did do some work associated with the preparation of the challenged letter. He has had the practice over many years of using unused Committee rooms when they are not required for another purpose and if this is not acceptable it is suggested that more precise rules be made available to all members of the Senate.

He denies that he used messengers for work of a personal nature other than for those petty tasks which have traditionally been performed on behalf of Senators. He has used messengers in their off time to cut grass and perform other household chores but always for compensation in order to assist the messengers in augmenting their income.

If this Committee feels that there should be some allocation of costs which respect to that portion of the messengers' work which relates to the campaign letter he is quite prepared to accept any ruling which the Senate might make as to reimbursement.

(vi) Supplies: The evidence adduced against the Senator on this ground is difficult to deal with having regard to the total lack of records in the supply office and the general numbers given by the Supply Clerks in their informal testimony before the Sub-Committee. Senator Argue was not aware of any excessive uses and in particular could not explain how 40,000 MICOM labels could have been used by him or with regard to his wife's campaign. The mailings used for that campaign were done on a computer from her campaign office and there was no need for such labels. There is no doubt that some 10,000 labels might have been used by him in his regular Senatorial mailings over the last year and a check in his office has indicated that there are some 11,500 labels kept in his office in storage now. If the Senate wants them back, they can have them. A possible clue as to the discrepancy may be found in the evidence of the store clerks. They testified that there were 5,000 labels in a box. The boxes of Micom labels still in Senator Argue's office, with the exception of one partially used box of 5,000, are boxes of 2,500. If the number of boxes received by him contained half the number the witnesses estimated, all of the labels can be accounted for.

The recording cassettes in boxes of ten apparently relate back to the time when he was a Minister when it was the practice for all Ministers to ensure that every conversation they had with the press was tape-recorded. At the present time he has two tape recorders which he purchased himself over the last six months and two more which were obtained from Senate stores, one of which was signed for by a member of his staff. No tape recorders were ever used in connection with his wife's campaign.

The typewriter for which he signed was sent by the Senate Office to Regina so that he could use it in an office in his own home. It was never suggested to him that this was not a permissible use of Senate equipment. In any event the typewriter has been returned to Ottawa and it has now been returned to Senate stores.

(vii) Postage: The Senator has filed with the Committee a copy of the directive from the Postmaster General in 1972 which relates to bulk/householder mail. There appears to be no restriction on that use to distribution in a particular constituency. There is no suggestion in that directive which suggests that the privilege is not available to Senators. The mail was delivered in good faith to the Post Office and the Senator paid the postage stipulated by the Postmaster.

Since the hearing, Senator Argue has found a copy of an invoice for postage indicating he shipped 400 lbs. of household mail in this fashion through the Senate Post Office. At that time he was Minister responsible for community grants in Saskatchewan and used this means to inform citizens of recent grants in their locality. A copy of this document will be filed with the Clerk. The new Postmaster testified he had been notified of a change in the old practice a week before the Sub-Committee hearing. At the time of the contested mailing no one suggested it was not still in effect.

(viii) Research Assistants: Senator Argue requested Senate personnel to assist him in finding students to help as research assistants. As a result of the Senator's first discussion with Mr. Jarvis he understood that he would ultimately be required to pay these students himself. This understanding was subsequently confirmed in a discussion between Mr. Jarvis and Mr. Robin Russell, a member of the Senator's staff. Senator Argue has no recollection of asking the staff to acknowledge that they had received the cheque earlier than they had. His only intention at the time he received the phone call from the Senate staff was to ensure that they received the monies which he always intended to pay without undue delay to avoid them any embarrassment.

(ix) Clerical and Secretarial Help: It is acknowledged that Senator Argue has had a number of people on short-term contracts. As the Chairman of the Sub-Committee pointed out however, these have always fallen within his proper allocation and at no time has he expended more money on staff than that permitted under the Regulations.

PART III

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Your Committee considered it imperative to conduct an inquiry into the facts underlying the allegations against Senator Argue, and, for this purpose, appointed the Sub-Committee. Your Committee wishes to express its appreciation to the members of the Sub-Committee for undertaking a difficult task, and for the report they produced. The Sub-Committee saw its function as that of finding the facts, and presenting its conclusions to the parent Committee. The Sub-Committee decided that the proceedings should be kept informal, and that the employees would not be required to testify under oath; moreover, because of the sensitive nature of the matters under discussion, and the concern that employees might feel inhibited, the Sub-Committee chose to interview the employees in the absence of Senator Argue. Senator Argue accepted this procedure; he did not attend meetings of the Sub-Committee, as is his right as a Senator, but, subsequently, reviewed the transcripts of the hearings of the Sub-Committee. The Committee deplores the fact that the Sub-Committee report was published - which publication took place without authorization - before Senator Argue had had an opportunity to review it or respond. Senator Argue responded to the report of the Sub-Committee during his appearance before the Committee on August 25 1988, and his counsel, Mr. Nelligan, also responded to it in his submission, which is included above as Part II.

Having reviewed the report of the Sub-Committee, and the submissions of Senator Argue and his counsel, your Committee generally accepts and supports the recommendations of the Sub-Committee.

While Senator Argue takes issue with some of the details set out in the Sub-Committee's report, he has substantially accepted the conclusions reached. All the amounts that the Sub-Committee recommended that Senator Argue pay to the Senate have now been paid.

The mandate given to the Sub-Committee was to examine the following matters:* (i) language training; (ii) photocopying; (iii) taxi vouchers; (iv)

* Various questions relating to Senator Argue's travel expenses are being investigated by the Sub-Committee, and will be the subject of a report to the Senate in due course.

telephones; (v) messengers; (vi) supplies; (vii) postage; (viii) research assistance; (ix) secretarial and clerical assistance; and (x) alleged abuse of Committee Chairmanship privileges.

Most of the allegations relate to the nomination campaign of Mrs. Argue as a prospective candidate in the next federal election. The written and oral evidence shows that Senator Argue's use of Senate resources increased appreciably during Mrs. Argue's nomination campaign. Your Committee believes that the use of supplies and services by Senator Argue, or in his name, in the campaign of his wife for a party nomination was inappropriate and unacceptable.

The Sub-Committee, in its questioning of witnesses, was told that no other Senator made requests or demands of a similar nature to those of Senator Argue. Despite repeated warnings, Senator Argue persisted with these demands, and continued abusing his senatorial privileges.

In order to address this problem, as well as the larger issue of ensuring that this sort of misuse of Senate resources does not occur again, the Committee recommends that rules and guidelines regarding the use of Senate services and supplies be reviewed and revised. The Committee has already improved certain administrative procedures, such as instructing Senate employees to refer unusual requests to the proper authorities, and the institution of better inventory control. The Committee recognizes, however, that no matter how detailed or extensive the rules may be, good faith and cooperation are required from all Senators in order for such rules to be fully effective.

It may be that particular allegations against Senator Argue can be explained or excused. Your Committee concludes, however, that taken together they constitute a course of behaviour that is not justifiable, and which cannot be condoned. The Committee deeply regrets that the actions of Senator Argue have reflected so adversely upon the Senate.

Respectfully submitted,

ROMÉO LEBLANC
Deputy Chairman

THE SENATE

Thursday, September 15, 1988

The Senate met at 2 p.m., the Speaker in the Chair.
Prayers.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

SIXTY-FIFTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE PRESENTED

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc, Deputy Chairman of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, presented the following report:

Thursday, September 15, 1988

The Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration has the honour to present its

SIXTY-FIFTH REPORT

Your Committee recommends the implementation phase of the office automation system, as recommended by the Peat Marwick Consulting Group, for Senators' offices only, as well as the installation of facsimile machines, at a cost not to exceed $250,000. This amount has already been included in the Senate Estimates, 1988-89.

Your Committee also recommends the engagement of consultants to assist with the implementation of the automation system at a cost not to exceed $26,000.

Respectfully submitted,

ROMÉO LeBLANC
Deputy Chairman

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this report be taken into consideration?

On motion of Senator LeBlanc, report placed on the Orders of the Day for consideration at the next sitting of the Senate.

PRIVATE BILL

GRENVILLE AGGREGATE SPECIALTIES LIMITED—REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Hon. P. Derek Lewis, Acting Chairman of the Standing Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs, presented the following report:

Thursday, September 15, 1988

The Standing Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs has the honour to present its

THIRTY-THIRD REPORT

Your Committee, to which was referred the Bill S-21, An Act to revive Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited and to provide for its continuance under the Canada Business Corporations Act, has, in obedience to the Order of Reference of Monday, September 12, 1988, examined the said Bill and now reports the same without amendment.

Respectfully submitted,

P. DEREK LEWIS
Acting Chairman

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc: With leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(b), later this day.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Motion agreed to and bill placed on the Orders of the Day for third reading later this day.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(g), I move:

That when the Senate adjourns today, it do stand adjourned until Tuesday next, 20th September, 1988, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Motion agreed to.

QUESTION PERIOD

THE MINISTRY

REPORTED RESIGNATION OF MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

Hon. Jack Austin: Honourable senators, I should like to ask the Leader of the Government in the Senate whether any announcements are to be made with respect to the ministry. Has the Minister of Agriculture resigned, as has been reported on the radio news? Has there been a change in the ministry?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, those announcements would normally be made by the Prime Minister. If there are such announcements coming, I will leave it to him to make them.

Senator Austin: You are not aware that any announcements have been made up until this time?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, no announcements have been made by the Prime Minister about the ministry at this moment.

Senator Argue: Wait for six o'clock!

Senator Steuart: Five o'clock!

NATIONAL DEFENCE

NUCLEAR-POWERED SUBMARINES—STATUS OF PROGRAM— TRANSFER OF TECHNOLOGY

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, my question is to the Leader of the Government in the Senate. When the white paper on defence was produced, one of the elements given high priority by the minister was the proposed purchase of nuclear-powered submarines. Subsequently, the minister undertook a series of travels across Canada, during which he was selling the submarine project. This was the case as well for some members of staff who were on the same task force. Since then a number of statements have been made in which the government has constantly put the project further and further back, although we were assured that an early decision would be made. Could the minister tell us where this matter now stands?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I think my friend misunderstands the situation. The decision has been taken. The white paper on defence was a statement of government policy to acquire nuclear-powered submarines. The decision that has not yet been taken is the country of origin from which we will acquire those submarines. We believe the nuclear-powered submarines are an important element in the future defence policy of Canada, because, without them, we would have a two-ocean rather than a three-ocean navy and would be, in effect, wards of or clients of the United States in our own territory.

Senator Frith: That's coming anyway, with the free trade deal.

Senator Molgat: I take it, then, from the minister's statement, that the policy of the government is still to acquire nuclear-powered submarines.

Senator Murray: Yes, honourable senators. The policy of the government has not changed in that respect.

Senator Molgat: Recently statements have been made by some Canadian defence people regarding new techniques and new methods that could supplant the nuclear-powered submarines. Is the government looking at those? Will it consider those possibilities?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I have seen the same news reports as my honourable friend. I will ascertain whether my colleagues in the Department of National Defence have any observation to make on that matter. If they do, I will convey it to the Senate.

Senator Steuart: No matter what they say?

Senator Molgat: Could the minister tell us whether clearance has now been obtained from the United States on the transfer of technology of the British "Trafalgar" class submarine? There was some difficulty as to whether the Americans would allow the British to sell us that submarine. Has that been cleared with the American government?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, subject to correction, I believe the answer to that question is in the affirmative, but I shall have to verify it.

FISHERIES

CANADA-FRANCE NEGOTIATIONS—AVAILABILITY OF NEGOTIATORS

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc: Honourable senators, I have a question for the Leader of the Government in the Senate. According to press reports, the Minister for International Trade has been made responsible for the fisheries negotiations with France. A few days ago the French delegation walked out of the discussions. According to today's Gazette, a number of Europeans walked out of a dinner speech that the minister was giving. Since the fishermen expect to have some kind of management regime, whatever happens in Ottawa, could the Leader of the Government inform us who will be left to negotiate with when the fish move in to shore?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): I take it Senator LeBlanc's question is rhetorical. I should have thought, however, that he would be supportive of the sentiments expressed by Mr. Crosbie on the question of overfishing in our waters and, indeed, outside our waters, just as I was supportive and quite proud when I heard some years ago the then Minister of Fisheries, the Honourable Pierre De Bané, lecturing the European Parliament on the question of their attitude to the seal hunt.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator LeBlanc: I do not have any objection to people lecturing or using vigorous rhetoric; however, I am more interested in the results. The reality is that the fishing plans must relate to some management regime for the 1989 fishing season. It is all very well to make speeches and to tell us about people walking out, but what I want to know is what, in fact, will protect the interests of the Canadian fishermen in the absence of a management plan for the fish stocks.

Senator Murray: If the honourable senator is talking about the Canada-France negotiations, they broke down because of the failure of France to accept the conclusions of the NAFO scientific report on the 3Ps cod stocks, which make it imperative that France reduce its fishing effort in the area.

I can tell the honourable senator that our Canadian ministers will review the outcome of the meeting and examine the options shortly, including the mediation option.

NATIONAL DEFENCE

NUCLEAR-POWERED SUBMARINES—SUGGESTED PURCHASE OF BRITISH VESSELS

Hon. M. Lorne Bonnell: Honourable senators, because the French government has backed out of the consultations concerning the fisheries off our coast, I wonder if we should consider not purchasing nuclear-powered submarines from France but purchasing them from Great Britain only.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I shall convey the suggestion of the honourable senator that linkage be established between these issues. I shall convey that to my colleague Mr. Clark.

TAX COURT OF CANADA ACT

BILL TO AMEND—THIRD READING

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government), for Hon. William M. Kelly, moved the third reading of Bill C-146, to amend the Tax Court of Canada Act and other acts in consequence thereof.

Motion agreed to and bill read third time and passed.

PRIVATE BILL

GRENVILLE AGGREGATE SPECIALTIES LIMITED—THIRD READING

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc moved the third reading of Bill S-21, to revive Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited and to provide for its continuance under the Canada Business Corporations Act.

Motion agreed to and bill read third time and passed.

● (1410)

CANADA-UNITED STATES FREE TRADE AGREEMENT IMPLEMENTATION BILL

SECOND READING

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Murray, P.C., seconded by the Honourable Senator Roblin, P.C., for the second reading of the Bill C-130, An Act to implement the Free Trade Agreement between Canada and the United States of America.—(Honourable Senator Murray, P.C.).

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I understand that our friend Senator Pitfield wishes to intervene in the debate at this point, and I will yield to him and close the debate later on.

Hon. P. Michael Pitfield: Honourable senators, I want to express a word of appreciation to the Leader of the Government in the Senate for allowing me a few minutes. I wish very briefly to state my position with respect to this matter.

Frankly, I find somewhat beside the point, at this stage, much of the discussion we are engaged in concerning the pros and cons of free trade. Whether or not John Turner did this or that and what influence it may or may not have had on members of his caucus does not concern me. I regret whatever adverse reflections the matters may cast on the Senate; but certainly John Turner is not going to tell me how to vote, and I am quite convinced the same goes for other members of this chamber. So let that be the end of it.

Regarding the substance of free trade, I find the case for free trade in goods powerful. On the other hand, so far as I am aware, the case for free trade in services simply has not been made. Concerning the interpretative and governing institutions, I am uncertain whether the government or its officials know what they have done or where they are going. The same can be said concerning the consequences of this deal for Canada's future political development.

All of this is very tentative. Firm conclusions depend upon evidence that has yet to be adequately adduced and broadly debated. To say that one stands uncompromisingly for or against free trade at this juncture seems to me to proclaim an ideology at best, a partisan posture at worst; it is certainly not to give entirely sensible judgment.

But of one thing I think we can be quite sure, and that is that it is not this house but the people who must decide whether or not there is to be free trade.

Professor Ivor Jennings, among the greatest of all parliamentary and constitutional authorities in this century, in his book "The Law and the Constitution", wrote, in the late 1960s:

It is now recognized that fundamental changes of policy must not be effected unless they have been in issue at a general election.

In another book, "Parliament", Professor Jennings wrote:

A Government exists only because it has secured a majority at an election, or is likely to secure such a majority when an election takes place: but it secures that majority by appealing to the electorate to support a policy. The electorate expects that that policy will be carried to fruition. It does not expect that radical changes will be made unless they were part of the party policy or are the necessary consequences of that policy. The government must, of course, meet emergencies if and when they arise, but, emergencies apart, major developments of policy should not be entered upon without that approval of the electorate which is secured by the return of a party to power.

There follows, for some 80 pages, a prolonged analysis of precedents and their authors. Similar quotations can be found in the works of Laski, MacIntosh, Keith and Carver and the Canadian commentators on those authors.

We all know about the limitations of the mandate convention, the difficulties in defining its extent and application and the danger of its drifting off towards a justification for plebiscitary democracy that has nothing to do with our system of parliamentary government. But to recognize that ours is not a system of government more or less directly by the people is not to dispense with the requirement for a mandate, especially in a situation that meets certain basic criteria.

A reading of the authors leads to the conclusion that, at the very least, the mandate of the people is required where a proposal for change in policy has three basic characteristics: first, where it is a proposal for fundamental change; second, where the proposal is not urgently required; and, third, where the change, once enacted, is very difficult or costly to reverse.

It is crystal clear that the government's free trade proposal has all three of these characteristics. First, the government has itself proclaimed how fundamental and far-reaching the proposal is. Second, no one has alleged that the proposal is urgently required by some sort of national emergency. Third, in responding to those who would "tear the agreement up", the government has repeatedly emphasized how difficult it would be to get out of the agreement.

It follows that a mandate is required and it is widely recognized that, far from asking for one at the last election, Mr. Mulroney and the Conservatives were basically against a bilateral free trade agreement. On this basis, it seems to me that the Senate must not act finally upon the free trade proposal until a mandate for it in principle is secured from the people.

I would conclude, Mr. Speaker, by recalling the meaning of majority decision and majority rule as it applies in a matter such as the one we are debating. In his celebrated lectures on the Constitution, L.S. Amery pointed out that:

Decision by a majority
—in Parliament—

is not an absolute and unquestionable principle. Our Constitution, to use Burke's phrase, 'is something more than a problem in arithmetic'. There is no divine right of a mere numerical majority, of $X/2$ plus 1, any more than of kings. Majority decision is a measure of convenience essential to the dispatch of business, 'the result', to quote Burke again, 'of a very particular and special convention, confirmed by long habits of obedience.' Thanks to that convention Government is carried on with the acquiescence of the minority.

When it comes to legislation it is of the very essence of our conception of the Reign of Law that it should not be regarded as a mere emanation of the will of the Government, but of something accepted by the nation as a whole. That requisite of consent for changing the law, or at least of acceptance when changed, is the root from which sprang our whole Parliamentary system with its representation of the various interests and elements in national life and with its elaborate provisions for full discussion. The idea that a majority, just because it is a majority, is entitled to pass without full discussion what legislation it pleases, regardless of the extent of the changes involved or of the intensity of the opposition to them—the idea, in fact, that majority edicts are the same things as laws—is wholly alien to the spirit of our Constitution.

● (1420)

No one will pretend that, whether for good or for ill, the free trade proposal is not far-reaching and will not vitally affect the future of our country. None will say that there are not strong feelings held by sizeable minorities with regard to it. Here, it seems to me, is quintessentially the sort of situation where majorities should not be used peremptorily; where—especially in the fifth year after the last election—the people should be consulted; where the Senate, if need be, must stand up by itself and insist that the conventions of the Constitution be respected.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators—

The Hon. the Speaker: I wish to inform honourable senators that if the Honourable Senator Murray speaks now his speech will have the effect of closing the debate on the motion for second reading of this bill.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I respect the position taken by our friend who has just resumed his seat. However, as I indicated in some detail in my own speech opening this debate a couple of days ago, I do not agree with that position. I went into some detail to discuss the so-called mandate theory. I do not want to take up your time today by repeating what I said on that occasion. I do, however, state that there is precious little precedent in this jurisdiction for governments respecting the so-called mandate convention.

On how many occasions has it happened that so-called fundamental changes in policy were introduced only after the government introducing them had gone to the people to seek a mandate? Did it happen with wage and price controls a year after the Trudeau government had explicitly campaigned on the pledge that they would not introduce such controls? No! Did it happen with the attempt to amend the Constitution of Canada, to patriate it unilaterally?

Senator Thériault: Yes, it did.

Senator Murray: No, it did not. At no time had the Trudeau government sought a mandate to do anything as drastic. Wage and price controls was a change in policy for that government, a very fundamental change in our country, and a policy to which governments in the past had had recourse only in war time. I must say that the honourable senator's argument in the context of Canadian political history falls very short indeed.

I should also point out that we have not argued in this government that this Free Trade Agreement is such a fundamental change. I went to some pains the other day to point out that, in an economic policy context and, indeed, in a political context, this Free Trade Agreement is evolutionary. It completes the work begun in the 1930s to integrate Canada into the world trading system. That is the position we have taken.

As for its being difficult to get out of once entered into, as I pointed out the other day six months' notice is what it would take for either party to abrogate the agreement.

Honourable senators, with those few words, I do want to thank the honourable senator for his intervention. I should also like to thank and congratulate all those who have taken part in the debate. The Senate will understand if I thank in particular my colleagues on this side: Senators Balfour, Doyle and Roblin, for their very supportive and constructive comments.

The journalists' bench was full the other day when Senator Everett and Senator MacEachen spoke. I am glad of that, because those were outstanding speeches in this debate. I only wish that our friends from the Fourth Estate could have heard the other speeches that were made in the debate by the senators I have just mentioned, and others. I think they could not have heard them without going away with a better opinion of the quality of debate in this chamber.

The Leader of the Opposition was at his parliamentary best the other day, and at his parliamentary best there is none better. However, as I heard him trying to build a case against this Free Trade Agreement on the basis of its energy and agricultural provisions, seizing upon and magnifying any concern in any corner of any sector, I thought to myself, "This is microeconomics and micropolitics with a vengeance." One might have hoped for a larger view from him of where the national interest truly lies in this matter. What does he really think of the Free Trade Agreement as a whole? More important, what is his alternative? What is their alternative to this agreement? He does not say and we will not know, because, when a vote is held on principle on second reading of this bill, the Leader of the Opposition will abstain.

In listening to him the other day I could not help but be reminded of the observation made by his good friend and long-time associate Tom Kent in his book "A Public Purpose", published a few months ago. Speaking of Senator MacEachen and his long ministerial career, Tom Kent said that Mr. MacEachen had been an excellent tactician and a great constituency man, but then he added, "Allan J. was never much for the detail of a policy." Quite so.

In his speech the other day he did not weigh the cost and benefits of this agreement or the advantages and disadvantages to the nation as a whole; nor did he try to take some coherent view of the entire agreement. He seized on the concerns of some food processors, repeated the most alarmist and hysterical statements that opponents of the Free Trade Agreement had made about its energy provisions—Senator Roblin dealt with these pretty effectively yesterday—and then the Leader of the Opposition walked away from the agreement. When the question of principle is put, the Leader of the Opposition will be absent or will abstain.

Senator MacEachen claims that the energy provisions of the agreement would, as he put it, "limit the freedom of action of Canadian national actions in the energy field." That is what Hansard quotes him as saying. That statement is not only hard to say, it is untrue.

The Free Trade Agreement deals only with trade in energy, not with the control, ownership or use of energy resources in Atlantic Canada or anywhere else. Canada has not abandoned its responsibility to formulate and implement energy policy for the benefit of Canadians. We remain free to monitor and review exports and maintain the right to provide incentives for gas and oil exploration and activity. Honourable senators know that. In no way does the agreement jeopardize Canada's political autonomy or independence to pursue policies that we feel are in the best interests of Canadians.

The Leader of the Opposition raised the issue of energy sharing. I want to emphasize no commitment to supply is implied by the agreement. In normal situations, exports to the U.S. will move according to market conditions. In an emergency in which a government resorts to export controls, it is obliged only to administer its controls in such a fashion as to allow the U.S. to compete on commercial terms for its historic proportion of Canadian supplies, based on the most recent three-year data. Even in these circumstances there is no commitment on the government's part to deliver to the U.S. its proportion, and Canadian companies would be able to compete for the U.S. portion without infringing on the terms of the agreement.

● (1430)

I know that the honourable senator and others take considerable offence at having independent views from authorities, such as the C.D. Howe Institute, read into the record and therefore I will not take much of their time with this. However, I would like to advise them that a study done by the C.D. Howe Institute, authored by Edward A. Carmichael, vice-president and director of research at the institute, was published early this summer. It is not a long study, but I do commend it to the attention of honourable senators. I will not quote directly from that study, but I will quote briefly from the press release they put out, which I think summarizes what they have to say. The press release says:

In spite of much opinion to the contrary, the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement should enhance Canada's energy security in the future... Edward A. Carmichael... argues in the latest Trade Monitor that the Agreement's proportional-sharing commitment, to which many critics object, is not new. It merely reaffirms sharing arrangements to which Canada and the United States have agreed as members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). Furthermore, the proportional-sharing commitment is not threatening when one understands (1) that it is Canada that will determine if and when such sharing will be invoked and (2) that as long as U.S. buyers are provided proportional access,

Canadians can continue to compete commercially to buy any amount of Canada's energy production up to the total amount.

Mr. Carmichael then goes on to say:

... all of the major energy industries—uranium, oil and gas, and electricity—stand to benefit from more secure access to the U.S. market. Canada's vast energy potential in the oil sands and frontier regions is more likely to be developed if producers have secure access to a large market. For this reason, free trade should enhance Canada's energy security and that of the United States.

The honourable senator asserts that the deal is a bad one for the agricultural community as well, and there again he is wrong. The agreement meets all three of the objectives that the government set for itself in the agricultural area: first, to improve access to the U.S. market for Canada's farm products; second, to make that access more secure; and, third, to preserve our agricultural marketing system.

The honourable senator also had a great deal to say about the food processors, and I know, because he told us, that there are a few food processors, such as Archie McLean of McCain Foods Limited, who are highly critical of this agreement. But as Senator Roblin pointed out yesterday, Mr. McLean is opposed to marketing boards. That is what he wants to do; he wants to get rid of marketing boards. However, we have protected marketing boards in the Free Trade Agreement; we have negotiated a good deal for Canadian farmers; we have secured access for their products in the United States.

Mr. McLean says that food processors will suffer because their costs will be higher in the United States. Objective analysis indicates that this is not true. Eighty per cent, I am told, of the higher costs for Canadian food processors was due to the two-price wheat policy. The government has already announced the end of this policy. The remaining 20 per cent of the problem has been addressed in large measure by the FTA. First of all, the removal of tariffs on products not under supply management will ensure competitively priced inputs to food processors—and I can go into some detail on that. Secondly, for products under supply management, we have given repeated assurances that increases in quotas will be allocated to food processors so that they will have adequate quotas for inputs such as chicken at U.S. prices.

Moreover, under the FTA, sugar, a major input for food processors, will be available to Canadians at a significantly lower price than in the United States. In addition, for processors of dairy products, we have added ice cream, yogurt and a number of minor dairy products to the import controls. Therefore, the impact on the food processing industry will be positive. Reputable analysis by the Economic Council proves this. I think it is also of some importance in this connection that the large food processing firms, with the exception of McCain Foods Limited, and the majority of small and medium-sized firms support the Free Trade Agreement. Even Mr. McLean has stated that he expects McCain Foods to continue to grow and prosper and that the FTA is in the overall interest of the Canadian economy.

Senator Frith: Not of the workers!

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I have one last word about agriculture. Canada and the United States agreed that some of the most pressing problems in this area need the cooperation of all countries. Therefore, we have agreed to work together in the GATT to further improve and enhance trade in agriculture. I can also tell honourable senators from my experience as minister responsible for the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency that, far from shrivelling up, dying and going away, quite a number of food processing companies in the Atlantic provinces are expanding, are increasing their product lines, and are coming to the agency and receiving assistance to do this very thing. So I think the future of the food processing industry is quite bright. Certainly, adjustment has been going on all the time in response to changing market conditions, but the future is by no means sombre for food processing in this country.

The other day Senator MacEachen wrung his hands in concern over Nova Scotia and the Atlantic provinces. I remind the Senate that the majority of the people of those provinces support the Free Trade Agreement. Three of the four governments in the Atlantic region—one of them the Liberal Government of New Brunswick—support the agreement, because they know it is good for the Atlantic provinces. Mr. Gordon Cummings, president of National Sea Products, who appeared before our Fisheries Committee last night, has said on behalf of his company:

We're getting ready for free trade in every aspect of our business from harvesting through product development, product promotion, marketing and sales. We're ready for aggressive, freer trade with the U.S.

He spoke along those same lines last night. In an exchange with our friend Senator Stewart of Antigonish-Guysborough, Mr. Cummings spoke about the dispute-settlement mechanism. He said:

I certainly feel more confident with the new dispute-settlement mechanism than I do with the current dispute-settlement mechanism under which I have had to live, have had to pay the damn lawyer fees

—I am quoting him verbatim—

and have had to deal with the nightmare of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

He is referring to the U.S. Department of Trade and Commerce. He points out in his testimony—and I have only had an opportunity to skim the unrevised transcript—that there is more to protectionism in the United States than the passage of new laws through the Congress. Our justifiable complaint for some time has not been with the laws themselves but with the politicization of the process, as we saw in the softwood lumber case. It is precisely to get around this politicization of the process and precisely to institute a rule of law in this area that we have a dispute-settlement mechanism, which, on the testimony of virtually all the experts, is superior. Certainly it is superior to the situation we have now, superior to any dispute-settlement mechanism in the GATT, and superior to any dispute-settlement mechanism in other bilateral trade pacts existing in the world today. That is the evidence of all the experts on this matter whom anyone has been able to identify.

[Senator Murray.]

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Murray: Let me come back to Nova Scotia. Sharon Oakley of Harmony Classics Incorporated, a Halifax clothing manufacturer, is quoted as saying, "We had already planned to enter the U.S. market, so the Free Trade Agreement came along at a very opportune time for us." The former premier of Nova Scotia, a good friend of my friends from Nova Scotia and a former Minister for International Trade, the Honourable Gerald Regan, has concluded, "With free trade, a new day would dawn for industrial and economic development in Nova Scotia." That is the testimony of a man who guided the destiny of Nova Scotia for eight years during the 1970s, who represented that province in the House of Commons, and who has had extensive experience as a former Minister for International Trade.

● (1440)

In the other Atlantic provinces the view is equally upbeat. Garth Jenkins of Abegweit Seafoods Inc. of Charlottetown says, "We plan to produce and export a much greater variety of seafood products, because, under this agreement, we will have greater access to the U.S. marketplace." Ganong Brothers of St. Stephen, New Brunswick, have been mentioned in this house before. Here is a company which was really not very enthusiastic about free trade. They probably wished it would go away. They saw it as quite a challenge and wondered whether they were up to it. But, once the Free Trade Agreement was signed, they looked at it, they looked at the opportunities, and they decided to go for it. They decided to expand. They decided to crack that United States market. Here is a tremendously reputable firm in the province of New Brunswick and, if quality means anything in that United States market—and I think it does—I believe Ganong Brothers of St. Stephen is going to be a real winner in the free trade arrangement.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Murray: I am very proud to say that they have come to the Government of Canada, the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, for assistance. We are working with them on their expansion and modernization plans.

Alvin Brun of Environment Air Limited of Buctouche, New Brunswick, says that his company is increasing sales of heat recovery ventilation systems to the U.S. and that he feels free trade will only improve the situation.

It is people like these who have made this country a great trading nation and it is people like these who will make the opportunities provided by free trade work for Atlantic Canada and, indeed, for all of Canada.

Honourable senators, this debate on the Free Trade Agreement has also engaged us in a debate about the role of the Senate. The Leader of the Opposition waxed eloquent, and sometimes waxed indignant, the other day about my views on the role of the Senate. He went so far as to suggest that I should resign from this place because of my views on the role of the Senate. Let me say at the outset that the Honourable the Leader of the Opposition is not in a very credible position to give advice to any person holding public office as to when and under what circumstances that person should resign his office.

In November of 1981 Senator MacEachen, as Minister of Finance, brought in a budget on November 12—a budget that, before the ink was dry, had been disowned by his own Prime Minister, by his own caucus colleagues.

Senator Frith: Oh, my goodness!

Senator Robichaud: What relevance has that? None whatsoever.

Senator Murray: Even his cabinet colleagues were attacking his policies in the street. Did he resign? Of course he did not. A month after November 12 eighteen changes had been made in his budget. In the next six months 17 more changes were made.

Senator Frith: Oh, my goodness!

Senator Murray: In the next couple of months eight more changes were made. Yet, oblivious to constitutional convention, Minister of Finance MacEachen clung to power long after his budget had been gutted—

Senator Roblin: He got sacked!

Senator Murray: —his policies repudiated and his credibility destroyed.

Senator Molgat: What constitutional convention?

Senator Murray: The constitutional convention that ministers, when they are responsible for a huge blunder in policy, walk the plank.

Senator Molgat: Then this place would be empty.

Senator Murray: In any other jurisdiction, certainly in any British or Canadian parliamentary system, the Minister of Finance would not have lasted another day. He clung to office through another budget until, finally, he went to hibernate in the Pearson Building for the rest of the mandate.

Senator Frith: Let's get to the fun part. Are you going to resign or not?

Senator Murray: Talk about self respect and constitutional convention!

Honourable senators, the present disagreement between us about the role of the Senate is fundamental and sooner or later it will have to be resolved or there will be a crisis in this country.

This government is committed to an elected Senate. You all know that. Senate reform is at the top of our constitutional agenda. Honourable senators know that as well.

The smart money says it cannot be done. The so-called smart money says that Quebec and Ontario will never agree to a Senate in which there is increased representation from the west. The so-called smart money says we will never agree on the powers of an elected Senate or on the composition and representation in that Senate on the distribution of seats. But the smart money thought that Canada could not negotiate a Free Trade Agreement with the United States.

Senator Austin: You didn't!

Senator Murray: The smart money thought that Meech Lake would be impossible. But I tell honourable senators that the smart money is wrong, and not for the first time. I am telling honourable senators that there is sufficient interest in this matter among the people, and I believe there is sufficient willingness among the provinces in Canada, that we can make some headway on this issue. I believe the views of the provinces on this matter—and they do diverge—are capable of reconciliation if we seize the opportunity that is ours in the months and years immediately ahead.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Murray: Meanwhile, though, honourable senators, this chamber does have a role. Where the Leader of the Opposition and I disagree is that I believe that in 1988 this appointed chamber must have a role secondary to that of the elected House of Commons. He believes that in 1988 we can legitimately exercise powers equal to those of the elected House of Commons. That notion must be obnoxious to anybody who truly respects democracy.

He ridicules my definition of our status and role in the 1980s, but honourable senators who have been here for any time know that that role has evolved and matured under the guidance of senators, most of them Liberal senators, over a considerable period of time—people like Senator Hayden and others who recognized that the role of the nineteenth-century Senate exercising its powers to the full was obsolete.

However, the Senate still had constitutional legitimacy. Was there a way that compromise could be struck between the full exercise of all the constitutional powers of the Senate, which is clearly unacceptable in Canadian democracy today, and the realities of Canadian democracy today? Did the Senate have to become a rubber stamp in order to conform to the realities of Canadian democracy? They thought not. They thought that the Senate could play a useful role without challenging the primacy of the elected house. So, as honourable senators know, they reinvigorated the committee system. Numerous studies were made on policy matters. One thinks of the committees headed by Senator Croll; the great work that was done by the late Senators Lamontagne and Grosart on science policy; and Senator Davey's committee on the mass media. I, myself, sat under Senator Everett's chairmanship during an excellent study on regional policy in this country. They all proved that the Senate could play that role usefully.

Then, on legislation, they struck a compromise, and the compromise was the technique to pre-study, which has now been abandoned for purely partisan reasons by my friends opposite. It was the Hayden formula. It bears the name of one of our most illustrious former senators.

[Senator Murray.]

Senator Frith: That was not the Hayden formula.

Senator Murray: It was a matter of detailed pre-study of legislation and what I have called in this house, on previous occasions, quiet diplomacy on the part of the Senate. That process persuaded numerous ministers of the Crown to make many changes, improvements and amendments to bills before they left the House of Commons.

Now, I say to the Senate that that process of pre-study effected far more changes, far more improvements, in public policy and in legislation than the confrontational and partisan attitude of the present Liberal majority in this chamber.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

• (1450)

Senator Murray: I know it does not suit some honourable senators, especially those who come directly from the House of Commons and cannot accustom themselves to working rather in the background, but must have the limelight and the television and all the rest of it. They find the experience in this place hard to bear, because they are so accustomed to being in the spotlight.

However, honourable senators, those of us who have taken part in the process, and I took part in it for a number of years under a Liberal government, know its value to the public policy process and to the legislative process. I was never ashamed of it. I believed it to be, and continue to believe it to be, a useful contribution to the political process, to the public policy process, to the legislative process. I am not ashamed of it at all; but I would die of embarrassment to be associated with the quaint idea that in 1988 an appointed legislative body enjoys democratic legitimacy equal to that of an elected house.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Murray: That is the MacEachen formula, and he can have it; but permit me to say that the Laird of Lake Ainslie takes his title a bit too literally.

Honourable senators, as I said, some of the worst offenders in this are those who come directly from the House of Commons and simply cannot get it out of their heads that somebody else has been chosen by the people to represent the constituencies they once represented. They cannot get it into their heads—

Senator Frith: Good God! Will these lectures never end?

Senator Murray: —that they must play a secondary role in our system.

Senator Frith: It's so sanctimonious. In church, at least the minister does not have the chance to give his little sermonette all over again.

Senator Roblin: It will do you good to hear it more than once.

Senator Murray: As we saw in some of the discussion on Bill C-83, which was mentioned a while ago, some of them have quite a rich idea of what the country owes them—

Senator Frith: At least in church, you can walk out.

Senator Murray: —for the great sacrifice of sitting in the Senate. Honourable senators, they have a double standard opposite, one standard when a Tory government is in power and another standard for a Liberal government. They have two sets of principles to guide them.

Senator Roblin: That's the Puppet-Master.

Senator Murray: They are furious that Gordon Robertson, who knows them so well, has put his finger on it, has exposed their motives, and has described them so well as an archaic cabal.

Senator Frith: Gordon Robertson was talking about all senators, including you.

An Hon. Senator: It's unparliamentary!

Senator Murray: Oh, no.

Senator Frith: Oh, yes. "They have no legitimacy. They have no legitimacy."

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I have already stated my view on that. We cannot purport—and this is my great disagreement with Senator MacEachen—to enjoy democratic legitimacy equal to that of the elected House of Commons.

Senator Frith: Are you saying Robertson was only speaking about Liberal senators?

Senator Roblin: If the cap fits, wear it, senators.

Senator Murray: Gordon Robertson talked about the cabal of Liberal senators and he said it would be interesting to ask yourself, if this free trade legislation had originated with a Liberal government, whether they would have taken the same position, and he said the answer, of course, was no.

Senator Frith: Of course! Gordon Robertson knows. He is fresh down from Mount Sinai every day with all his stuff freshly carved in tablets of stone.

Senator Doody: You all did love him once.

Senator Frith: Just think of it! He's quoting Gordon Robertson as a pope during this homily!

Senator Murray: What he talked about is what he thought of it and—

Senator Frith: After what he talked about—

Senator Roblin: Oh, be quiet! Restrain yourself!

Senator Murray: Some of my friend's colleagues have airplanes to catch, and I would ask him not to provoke—

Senator Frith: Do none of yours have planes to catch? Is that what you are telling us? Is that another part of your sanctimonious sermon?

Senator Murray: It is late on Thursday afternoon. Gordon Robertson spoke of the abuse of power by the Liberal majority in the Senate, and when he talked about the archaic cabal he was talking about my friends opposite.

Senator Frith: "His Holiness the Pope" knows about that.

Senator Murray: When Senator MacEachen spoke on my motion for pre-study of this legislation some months ago, he said that in terms of the work of the Committee on Foreign Affairs there was really not much difference between studying the agreement—

Senator Roblin: None, he said.

Senator Murray: None. He said there was no difference between studying the agreement and studying the bill, and that, if we would allow the committee to continue its study, when we came to have the bill before us, the hours that the committee had spent studying the agreement would be, as he put it, money in the bank. Over the period of time there were, as I told the house the other day, 42 meetings of the Foreign Affairs Committee. They heard 92 witnesses.

Senator Frith: Good for them!

Senator Murray: What has happened to the money in the bank?

Senator Doody: They spent it!

Senator Murray: Now the Leader of the Opposition proposes to send the bill to committee. He proposes to send the bill to committee, and it is clear from what he said the other day—

Senator Frith: The committee has never had the bill.

Senator Murray: —that this is a stall.

Senator Frith: They have had the agreement, not the bill.

Senator Roblin: It's the same thing, according to him.

Senator Murray: It is clear from what he said the other day that this is a stall, this is a delaying action, this is a blocking game that they are playing. There was no indication that they would deal expeditiously with this. He says—

Senator Frith: Will you give me the blessing, "Father Tremblay," that the bishop is refusing to give me?

Senator Doody: It's a postponement.

Senator Murray: My honourable friend is not too credible on that.

Senator Roblin: No. He is pretty noisy.

Senator Murray: For reasons we both understand.

Senator Roblin: Sound and fury signifying nothing.

Senator Frith: Carry on, "Father".

Senator Murray: The honourable Leader of the Opposition spoke the other day and said, "If we are still here in a month's time, ask me then." It really is incredible that they say they want an early election, unless they are even more out of touch with reality than I thought. The party is bankrupt, because they managed the finances of the party in the same way as they used to manage the finances of the country.

Senator Frith: Come on! Stick to reply.

Senator Murray: With wanton disregard for fiscal responsibility.

Senator Frith: You're supposed to be sticking to reply. You are abusing us, sir.

Senator Roblin: You're abusing your right to speak.

Senator Murray: Their leader has disappeared from the screen, in terms of public opinion.

Senator Frith: He is opening new subjects and stopping other people from dealing with them.

Senator Murray: These honourable senators want to egg him on into an election. It is great to be a senator!

Senator Frith: By abusing the right of reply you stop other senators from being able to deal with a new subject that you have opened up.

Senator Roblin: You're a noisy nuisance, a squalid, noisy nuisance!

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, next week I expect we are going to see—

An Hon. Senator: Talk about a demon!

Senator Murray: —child care legislation coming to this house.

Senator Frith: Child care?

Senator Murray: Child care legislation.

Senator Frith: Is that part of the free trade bill?

Senator Murray: I am dealing with the role of the Senate.

Senator Frith: We are not going to be dealing with free children, are we?

Senator Murray: I am dealing with the business of the Senate.

Senator Frith: What does child care have to do with it?

Senator Murray: What it has to do with is the blocking action.

Senator Roblin: You can't take it, eh, Frith?

Senator Frith: Take what?

Senator Roblin: You can't take it!

Senator Frith: Take what? I can't take the abuse of the rules? No, I can't. I find it quite intolerable. Thank you for asking.

Senator Roblin: You were not as noisy when MacEachen was talking.

Senator Murray: Why don't you resign?

Senator Frith: Come on! Get to the bill. That is very, very out of order. Let's talk about the bill before us, which is Bill C-130. You have the right of reply and you should exercise it. Don't talk about other things. Are you going to talk about broadcasting as well?

Senator Murray: As a matter of fact, yes, I am.

Senator Frith: Let's have a look at what is on the Commons order paper and see if you can bootleg every bit of legislation through.

[Senator Murray.]

Senator Barootes: Stand up if you want to make a speech.

Senator Frith: Thank you very much. Are you giving me leave to make a speech and to intervene?

Senator Barootes: No. Sit down!

Senator Frith: Well, then, shut up!

Senator Murray: Honourable senators—

Senator Roblin: You got under his skin, that's for sure.

Senator Frith: A good two-worder like "stand up" and "sit down" and "shut up".

Senator Doody: "Some Honourable Senators: Shut up!"

Senator Murray: There are people—

Some Hon. Senators: Order!

Senator Murray: There are people opposite who do have planes to catch.

Senator Frith: Are there no people over there with planes to catch?

Senator Denis: Are you for or against free trade?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I was discussing—

Senator Frith: Child care.

Senator Murray: No, the stalling and delaying action and the blocking game that is being played by the Leader of the Opposition and his colleagues. I was asking whether, when child care legislation gets here next week—

Senator Frith: Order! Order! Order! Order! Order!

Senator Murray: —they are going to hold the child care legislation hostage—

Senator Frith: Order, order! Let's wait until we see it. Order!

Senator Murray: —to the games they are playing on free trade. Since I was invited to do so, I should say a word about the broadcasting bill.

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Your Honour, I call on you to intervene and call the Leader of the Government to order. He is exercising his right of reply on Bill C-130 and has now introduced the child care legislation and the broadcasting legislation. That is an abuse of his right to reply in the debate on second reading of Bill C-130. I ask Your Honour to call him to order.

● (1500)

Senator Murray: Honourable senators—

Senator Frith: Wait a minute! At least the Speaker should say whether or not he is going to do that.

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when an honourable senator speaks, I believe he has some latitude in what he can say.

Senator Doody: And the right to speak without interruption!

The Hon. the Speaker: The honourable senator has mentioned the child care legislation and the broadcasting legislation in his remarks to the Senate.

Senator Frith: These are remarks in reply.

Senator Barootes: Don't interrupt the Speaker! You asked for a ruling.

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, I think a speaker has some latitude in his reply. The honourable senator has addressed Bill C-130 and, if he wishes to refer to other legislation during his speech, I think he is entitled to do that. The thrust of his speech has been on Bill C-130.

I am giving honourable senators my views on this matter. If honourable senators wish to overrule me, that is their choice.

Senator Frith: Your Honour is aware of the statement made on the occasion of reply, which is that "this speech will have the effect of closing the debate on the motion for second reading of this bill."

Senator Barootes: Except you!

Senator Frith: That, of course, means that if anyone wants to speak now on these new items the Honourable Senator Murray has brought up, they cannot do so.

Some Hon. Senators: Oh, oh!

Senator Frith: Of course, even interventions that are made, and comments that are made while one is sitting down, arouse the ire of Senator Barootes.

Your Honour, this is clearly an abuse of the right of reply. I am not talking about the remarks and relevancy during the original intervention in the debate, but this is Senator Murray's right of reply. He is to reply. How can he reply by referring to the legislation on child care and the legislation on broadcasting, since they were not mentioned by anyone during debate on Bill C-130? How can he say that he is replying to what somebody said about those particular pieces of legislation?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, talk about wasting time! The intervention of my friend is a terrible waste of time.

Senator Frith: Anything that slows you down is a waste of time.

Senator Murray: I can say what I have to say on these matters in 30 seconds or less.

Senator Frith: That does not make them any less out of order.

Senator Murray: I beg your pardon! We have had considerable discussion in this place over the past few days about the role of the Senate and, in particular, the role of the Senate on this bill at this particular time in the life of this Parliament. My goodness! The Leader of the Opposition discussed this matter at length. What I am asking is: Are you going to hold the child care legislation hostage to your free trade tactics? The broadcasting bill, as I have said, enjoys a great deal of support across the country and considerable support in this house. I appeal to honourable senators that, when that legislation gets here, although it is tied up in frivolous amendments in the other place, honourable senators not hold that legislation hostage to their games on free trade.

Senator Frith: Is that a question? Our answer is "Order!"

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, as I said when I opened this debate, the Free Trade Agreement is one of the definitive achievements of Prime Minister Mulroney and his government in their first mandate. We believe that the Free Trade Agreement is a bridge to the future, a bridge to a more prosperous future for Canada and for future generations of Canadians. To us the future is about building bridges, not about building barriers. I say that this will be an issue whenever the election is held. We have the commitment of the Right Honourable John Turner to tear up the agreement, but I say that the duty of the Senate is to pass this bill, and then the people can choose between the bridge builders on the one hand and "John the Ripper" and his crew on the other.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Doody: Pass it now!

Hon. Sidney L. Buckwold: Would the honourable senator permit a question on a remark he has made?

Senator Murray: I will try to answer it.

Senator Buckwold: I am sure all honourable senators have seen the advertisement in today's edition of the Globe and Mail relating to free trade. I want to have something clarified, because the Leader of the Government in the Senate went to great lengths to indict the motives of McCain Foods Limited of New Brunswick as being out to break the—

Senator Murray: Marketing boards.

Senator Buckwold: —the marketing boards. He suggested that, in fact, there was an ulterior motive in the evidence which that company gave on the results of the Free Trade Agreement on the agrifood business.

The advertisement is headed: "Free Trade Should be Fair Trade". One sentence states:

There's nothing wrong with the concept of free trade but this contract is a disaster for the agrifood industry in Canada.

The advertisement is sponsored by the Nova Scotia Chicken Marketing Board, McCain Foods Limited and others.

My question is: How can the leader rationalize what he said earlier, that the objective of McCain Foods Limited is to break marketing boards, when, in fact, it is linked to marketing boards in an effort to put an end to what could be a disaster for the industry?

Senator Murray: The answer to that question was given in debate yesterday by Senator Roblin when he quoted chapter and verse and told us what Mr. Archie McLean had to say in the committee. He said quite frankly that they were opposed to marketing boards, to the supply-marketing system, in fact.

Hon. John B. Stewart: Honourable senators, may I ask the Leader of the Government in the Senate if he is not aware that, under questioning by Senator Roblin, Mr. McLean said emphatically that he was in favour of all the existing marketing boards, although he did admit that he was not in favour of the introduction of a marketing board for potatoes?

Is that not exactly what he said? Senator Roblin commented, "Well, your position is at least pragmatic." I think that is an exact quotation of what he said before the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs on August 10, 1988.

Hon. Duff Roblin: Since my name has been brought into the question, perhaps I should be allowed to comment briefly on this.

It is obvious that Mr. McLean is in favour of marketing boards, unless they affect his business. He does not want a potato marketing board, which would affect his business. So it is very easy to be in favour of marketing boards for somebody else, provided they are not in favour of marketing boards for your business.

Hon. Charles McElman: That statement is altogether untrue! I wish the honourable senator would not propagate such untruths in this chamber.

Senator Roblin: I regret it if it is untrue. If my friend can correct me, I should be glad to accept any correction.

Senator McElman: McCain Foods Limited said that if you have a marketing board for potatoes, your plant in Portage La Prairie goes down and hundreds of jobs with it. That is what he said. He also said that with that plant he can move across the border into the United States and supply your market without any trouble at all, and your employees will be gone. That is what he said to you.

Senator Roblin: That is exactly what he said, and he said that, if there is going to be a marketing board for potatoes, he would be against it. That is the point I am trying to make.

Senator McElman: And he is not alone in that, by far.

Senator Doody: Question!

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, I have a question for the Honourable Senator Murray. My question is on the specifics. The only reason I ask it now is that he raised this in his speech when he referred to the food processors. If I understood him correctly, he said that sugar would now be able to come in at much lower prices. Is that correct?

● (1510)

Senator Corbin: How sweet it is!

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, that is not quite what I said. I had better check the record, if the honourable senator thinks that is what I said. I said that the price of sugar available to processors in this country is lower than it is in the United States, which provides a considerable advantage for our food processors.

I said that sugar will be available to Canadians at a significantly lower price than in the U.S., and that this is a considerable advantage for our food processors. Indeed, some have reckoned that the advantage for most food products would substantially offset any disadvantage to Canadian food processors that might result from the operation of supply-management policies.

Senator Molgat: Is the minister saying that, as a result of the trade deal, sugar will be available—

Senator Murray: No, honourable senators. I am saying that the manufacturers of processed food in Canada benefit from lower cost sugar than is the case in the United States.

Senator Doody: That was before Hurricane Gilbert! Question!

Senator Buckwold: I should point out, honourable senators—and thank you for asking for the question—that in respect of sugar—now that we are into the sugar question—the same advertisement says:

It's not fair . . . that the U.S. can limit the imports of further processed products containing sugar (like cookies and candies) from Canada but Canada cannot limit the import of most further processed products containing grain, poultry, eggs, horticulture . . .

et cetera. Where is the greater advantage in having a lower price for sugar when the Americans have been smart enough to put into the agreement that they can limit the amount of import to the U.S. of Canadian products containing sugar?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I have already told the house that all of the major food processors and the majority of the medium and small-sized food processors, with the exception of McCain, favour this agreement. Indeed, a good many of them that I am aware of in the Atlantic region are gearing up to expand and add to their product line in light of the Free Trade Agreement.

An Hon. Senator: How many are Canadian owned?

The Hon. the Speaker: It is moved by the Honourable Senator Murray, P.C., seconded by the Honourable Senator Roblin, P.C., that this bill be read the second time.

Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Senator Frith: On division!

Senator Murray: We want a standing vote.

The Hon. the Speaker: You want a recorded vote? Will those honourable senators in favour of the motion please say "yea"?

Some Hon. Senators: Yea.

The Hon. the Speaker: Will those honourable senators opposed to the motion please say "nay"?

Some Hon. Senators: Nay.

The Hon. the Speaker: In my opinion, the "yeas" have it. And two honourable senators having risen.

Senator Doody: We want a standing vote, Mr. Speaker. Call in the members.

The Hon. the Speaker: Please call in the senators.

Senator Frith: The "yeas" have it!

Senator Denis: What if you lose?

Senator Barootes: Where's George!

● (1520)

The Hon. the Speaker: Let the doors to the chamber be locked.

Motion agreed to and bill read second time on the following division:

YEAS

THE HONOURABLE SENATORS

Atkins	Macdonald
Balfour	(Cape Breton)
Barootes	Marshall
Bazin	Murray
Cochrane	Phillips
David	Robertson
Doody	Roblin
Doyle	Simard
MacDonald	Spivak
(Halifax)	Tremblay
	Walker—19.

NAYS

THE HONOURABLE SENATORS

Nil

ABSTENTIONS

THE HONOURABLE SENATORS

Adams	Kenny
Anderson	LeBlanc
Argue	(Beauséjour)
Austin	Lewis
Bell	McElman
Bonnell	Molgat
Buckwold	Pitfield
Cools	Riel
Corbin	Robichaud
Cottreau	Sparrow
Denis	Stewart
Fairbairn	(Antigonish-
Frith	Guysborough)
Haidasz	Turner
Hastings	Wood—27.

The Hon. the Speaker: Let the doors be opened.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I move that the bill be referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs.

● (1530)

Hon. Orville H. Phillips: Honourable senators, perhaps the mover will explain why he is moving that motion. We just had a vote and not a single senator voted against free trade. Why is he continuing his blockade?

Senator Frith: Honourable senators, the reason for the abstention that was recorded on the earlier vote was explained, I think, quite clearly by Senator MacEachen, the Leader of the Opposition. So that is the answer, and that is the position that we take and the position that Senator MacEachen takes. We know that Senator Murray feels—and I believe he is supported by the Conservative senators—that the bill needs no further study because it was studied in the House of Commons and because our Foreign Affairs Committee studied the agreement, although not the legislation.

In any event, the reason for our motion to have it referred to that committee has also, I think, been well explained by Senator MacEachen.

On motion of Senator Frith, bill referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs.

PATENT ACT

BILL TO AMEND—INTERIM REPORT OF COMMITTEE—DEBATE CONCLUDED

The Senate proceeded to consideration of the thirty-second report (interim) of the Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce (Bill S-15, an act to amend the Patent Act), presented in the Senate on September 14, 1988.

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I yield to Senator Bonnell.

Hon. M. Lorne Bonnell: Honourable senators, the thirty-second report of the Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce on Bill S-15, to amend the Patent Act, came before us yesterday. I should like to point out some of the highlights of that report for the benefit of those senators who have not had an opportunity to read it. This is a complicated matter that the committee is studying, and is continuing to study because of the possibility of drug prices rising faster than the CPI.

The committee heard a considerable amount of evidence on recent trends in drug prices. Most of the evidence indicated that in the past year drug prices have increased at a rate in excess of the rate of increase of the consumer price index. Representatives of Green Shield Prepaid Services Incorporated, a large Ontario-based prescription drug plan, told the committee that for the period of January 1, 1987, to January 1, 1988, the average ingredient cost of the prescriptions filled under its plans increased by 12.6 per cent. Green Shield also noted that from January 1, 1988, to the end of June of this year the average ingredient cost increased a further 9.41 per cent, whereas the CPI was 4.5 per cent.

Representatives from the Canadian Drug Manufacturers Association stated that the Ontario drug benefit formulary had shown that prices of 834 of the drugs listed in the formulary had increased by more than 5 per cent when compared to the prices listed in January of 1988. Price increases for those drugs, for the period July 1987 to July 1988, ranged from a low of 5.05 per cent to a high of 18.3 per cent. The CDMA also reported that last year the New Brunswick prescription drug plan recorded a rise of 7.3 per cent in the cost of brand-name drugs.

The committee had access to information, provided by the provincial pharmacare program in British Columbia, which indicated that drug cost increases for 1987 over 1986 averaged 7.2 per cent for brand-name products and 6.3 per cent for generic products.

The Province of New Brunswick also submitted data from the New Brunswick Prescription Drug Program. These data were supplied for three 12-month periods: July 1985 to June 1986, July 1986 to June 1987, and July 1987 to June 1988. Total increases in material costs were over 20 per cent.

An analysis of the 80 largest selling drugs in Saskatchewan indicated that they rose in price at twice the overall rate of inflation from the second half of 1986 to the first half of 1988.

Honourable senators, there is no doubt in my mind, from those few statistics submitted by the committee in its interim report, that there is a need to give more control and power to the Drug Prices Review Board.

On Wednesday, June 1, 1988, there was a statement in the Times-Colonist to the effect that whopping drug price hikes have the pharmacists in a flap. Many newspapers across the country are doing research themselves and report large increases in drug prices. I should like to quote from the president's report of the National Pensioners' and Senior Citizens' Federation, which represents over 450 national, regional and local affiliated seniors organizations across Canada:

We can take little comfort in that the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers took so little time to prove that Corporate Affairs Minister Harvie Andre was (being kind of) naive when during debate on Bill C-22, he proclaimed in Parliament and out, that price increases of drugs would not exceed the consumer price index. A recent statement by Mr. Lawrence Archer, on behalf of the Ontario Health Ministry, reported that 1099 drugs on the Ontario Drug Formula are more than 5 per cent costlier on this month's price list than they were last July, while the CPA rose by 4.4 per cent. He reported a number of drug prices had increased more than 100 per cent, and one had increased 250 per cent.

In the Windsor Star on January 2, 1988, there was an article entitled: "Forgetting the Promise", which said:

[Senator Bonnell.]

Those who doubted the promises of pharmaceutical drug manufacturers not to increase the prices excessively saw their misgivings justified recently when the prices of half the drugs listed on the Ontario Drug Benefits Formula were raised by more than 5 per cent. The latest inflation rate reported by Statistics Canada is 4.2 per cent a year.

● (1540)

That the federal government is at sea on this issue is clear, it has only itself to blame.

That article went on to say that:

Health Minister Jake Epp did not fare much better than Andre in the Commons when he rejected opposition demands that price control be retroactive. He claimed that retroactive legislation is not part of parliamentary tradition. Yet the Mulroney government did not hesitate to make the patent protection sought by brand-name drug manufacturers retroactive to June 1986. They could just as easily make price protection laws also retroactive.

Another editorial appeared in the Toronto Star on March 17, 1988, entitled: "No Relief In Sight as Drug Prices Soar". It included the following statement:

Last November when the federal government pushed its controversial drug patent legislation through Parliament over loud objections from the Senate and elsewhere, Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Mr. Harvie Andre promised "maximum benefits to Canadian consumers and researchers."

Already, members of these two groups could be excused for thinking that Andre's sure fire remedy for the drug industry looks more like snake oil.

Further on it states:

So where's the drug prices review board that's supposed to make sure price rises don't exceed inflation? It's not yet functioning.

In article after article the press supports Bill S-15, realizing that since January of last year the price of drugs in Canada has gone up by a higher percentage than the rise in the CPI.

I want to congratulate the committee for going to the extent of travelling to different provinces to find out from their drug formularies what increases they had experienced. I look forward to the final report, which I am quite sure will show that the government was wrong to pass Bill C-22—

Senator Doody: The Senate passed it also.

Senator Bonnell: I know they did.

Senator Doody: Were they wrong? Was the Senate wrong?

Senator Bonnell: But they passed it more or less to give support to your leader, who says that all we should do is look at it and then pass it on.

Senator Doody: You were convinced that you should not pass it, but you passed it anyway.

Senator Bonnell: I was convinced that we should never have passed it.

Senator Doody: We passed it anyway!

Senator Bonnell: I am still convinced that we should never have passed it. I still think that it was a mistake.

Senator Doody: That is a matter of principle.

Senator Bonnell: I still think the government made a mistake, and people will realize that the government made a mistake. I hope that the poor, the aged, the infirm and the crippled will realize on election day what this government did to them when they took tens of billions of dollars out of our country to give to foreign multinationals, and took 9,000 jobs from the drug industry and gave them to the Americans and foreign countries of the world—85 per cent to the Americans; 15 per cent to the Europeans.

I want to support the committee on its great work, and I look forward to its final report.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Hon. Sidney L. Buckwold: Honourable senators, as a member of that committee, I want to say one or two words. I attended most of the meetings and was impressed with the evidence we heard. Some of it was difficult to get, but the evidence supported everything that Senator Bonnell has pointed out: there has been an advance in prices beyond what was promised by the government under the controls set, with the limit being the rise in the consumer price index. That is quite obvious.

My major reason for speaking now is to remind this chamber and the people of Canada once again that the whole business of Bill C-22, which changed a satisfactory system of drug pricing here and our prescription drug program, came about as a result of pressure put by our American friends on the Government of Canada as part of the free trade negotiations. I stand to remind the public that what we are looking at in drug prices now is one of the prices we pay for the agreement we have now, unsatisfactory as it is in the eyes of some of us.

We had a prescription drug program that was as good as anything in the world. It was the envy of most countries of the world. We had changed Canada from the country with the highest drug prices, before the legislation put in by the Liberal government some years ago, to a country where the prescription drug prices were the lowest of any of the industrialized countries.

I want to remind my friends across the way. Although we hear denials that it has nothing to do with free trade—

Senator Doody: You should not have passed the bill. I do not know why you let it go through if you felt so strongly about it.

Senator Buckwold: I will come to that if you wish, but I do not like to change the subject.

Every piece of evidence that I have been able to examine concerning Bill C-22 brings us back to the pressure put by the pharmaceutical lobby in Washington to get that so-called "level playing field" in Canada. I want to remind Canadians that we are paying the price for that today.

The deputy leader wanted to know why some of us abstained. We abstained so that this can go to committee. We want the committee to hear people. We want the Canadian public to have an input, which they did not have under the House of Commons committee. We are anxious to let the people decide.

Senator Frith: Hear, hear!

Senator Buckwold: They will decide it partly through the work of the committee. We are not going to block the bill. Let the committee look at it. I can assure you that they will give it much more consideration. It will be much more open to the Canadian public and to all aspects of Canadian opinion than the committee which railroaded it through the House of Commons.

Senator Frith: Hear, hear! Well said, Senator Buckwold!

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, if no other senator wishes to speak, this order is considered as having been debated.

CANADIAN CENTRE FOR MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT BILL

SECOND READING

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Ottenheimer, seconded by the Honourable Senator Bazin, for the second reading of the Bill C-148, An Act to establish the Canadian Centre for Management Development and to amend certain Acts in consequence thereof.—(Honourable Senator Pitfield, P.C.).

Hon. P. Michael Pitfield: Honourable senators, I welcome this opportunity to say a few words with respect to the proposal for the establishment of a Canadian Centre for Management Development.

I think it is safe to say that parliaments and cabinets are, as a rule, not interested in the Public Service.

While this is understandable, because the Public Service is a big and complex institution and there are not many votes in mastering its technicalities, parliamentary and cabinet indifference is nonetheless regrettable, because the Public Service is probably the single most important instrument we have for increasing efficiency and eliminating corruption in government, and for building national unity and maintaining democracy in our country.

Happily, the Senate has been, from time to time, the exception to the general history of disinterest. Its reports on such matters as the management of employment programs, the organization of the Department of Public Works and the procedures for the acquisition of supplies and services have made significant and lasting contributions to the well-being and excellence of the Public Service, as well as to government in our country.

That the Senate should now take a careful look at the proposed Canadian Centre for Management Development is entirely in keeping with that tradition and will, I am sure, be no less productive, for we are told that this centre will be of vital importance and not merely of national but of international significance. The government spokesman, in introducing the bill in the other place, called it no less than a piece of legislation that marks a turning point in the history of the Public Service of Canada. That is to say a great deal, and I am prepared to take it at face value. But then I wonder how the members of the other place could deal with this landmark legislation, as they did, through all stages in hardly more than half an hour.

● (1550)

I must also confess to being somewhat troubled to read in Hansard the words of another government spokesman praising the great accomplishments recently in the Office of Personnel Management under President Reagan. That is certainly not the view of administrators and teachers in the United States, particularly with regard to the Office of Executive Personnel Management. There it is widely believed that the mandate of the OPM, under President Reagan, has been to politicize the career public service and take apart what is left. If that is to be our role model, as some say is the government's real intention, we are headed for a terrible disaster. But I take it that we in the Senate will have an opportunity to hear more about that in committee.

Likewise—and always keeping my faith high and my cynicism in check—I trust we will hear more about the independence that Senator Ottenheimer spoke of in this chamber when introducing the bill. To me, the bill sets up a new department of government, neither more nor less, and, though it is to have an advisory committee of some sort, that committee's terms of reference are very advisory.

Of course, whether or not that matters depends upon what the centre is to be concerned with and what it is to do. The answer seems to be that it will be a government department concerned with management defined very broadly from basic operations to high strategy; from economics to law, to science, to political science, to business administration. This does indeed imply a very large academic program.

In essence, what this bill does is to establish within the federal government nothing short of a somewhat specialized, but nonetheless major, university with campuses in Ottawa and at Touraine, and facilities in Atlantic and Western Canada. This body, in the form of a new department of government, is to have, besides a teaching staff, an information dissemination capacity of size and a research capacity of size. Obviously, the question of independence becomes key—and also the question of how large these facilities are to be. In the words of the government PR document, which is the only information we have so far, this is to be “a new, credible, national, world-class centre of excellence”. More power to it. What is it to teach? Here the information so far provided is soft. Almost everything is promises.

To the roll-call—with which many of you will be familiar—of PPBS, OPMS, SPICE, IMPAC and PEMS is added IMAA, and I suspect that not a single member on the government benches in this house can tell us what that is, except that it has to do with ministerial responsibility. Since that recalls the discussion here of the recent government bills for the Departments of Western Initiatives and of Atlantic Opportunities, IMAA is hardly very convincing. But again, honourable senators, in the committee we shall see.

What will the new centre research? We are told that it will produce case studies. That is excellent. The greatest obstacle to the deplorably insignificant production of Canadian case studies has been government secrecy, and the government can certainly reduce that. But does it need a centre for management development to do it?

Again, we are told that the centre will assist the Treasury Board's efforts to eliminate levels in the bureaucratic hierarchy. An excellent idea. The British government pioneered in that area ten years ago and did massive eliminations three or four years ago. Why does Treasury Board need a separate research staff to learn about that?

Indeed, what is this centre going to cost? Where will the funds come from? What is going to be cut to make it possible? Is the money going to come out of departmental training budgets? If so, then what about this business about the centre as a symbol of doing “a better job with fewer resources” as a symbol of decentralization—in a word, de-bureaucratization. Some decentralization! But we will find out about all of this in committee.

Also in committee I hope we will learn about the implications for the Canadian university community of the establishment of this centre. Proponents of the bill are long on promises to consult. My question is: Why is that being proposed for after the centre is established rather than for before?

Proponents of the bill have also spoken of the centre taking as students senior provincial public servants, private-sector managers, managers in crown corporations and foreign students. The centre is to be “partly financed by Parliament, but with the flexibility to raise funds elsewhere and to enter into joint ventures anywhere in the world.” This diversion of funds, this major government intervention will be, indeed, keen competition for our universities and their various schools of government and public administration, and the committee will want to hear from them their endorsement of what is proposed.

It is palpably not true to say that schools of public administration in Canada are concerned with naught but policy analysis. To the limited extent that it is true that our universities are lacking in facilities to teach practical public-sector management, whatever that is, the federal bureaucracy has its fair share of the blame to carry for keeping the private and university sectors out. One may well ask how objective and how intellectually excellent the Public Service will be after giving play for a few years to this inherent exclusionary tendency—and let us not pretend that the advisory committee will be any correction in this regard.

Whatever the saw-off in costs and mandates between the Canadian university system and this new “credible, national, world-class centre of excellence in teaching and research into public sector management", what that trade-off will be I believe the committee should consider carefully. It should especially consider the points Senator Bosa made when speaking on the bill the other day: What will be the consequences, first, for the country and, second, for the universities of the bifurcation of the field of study, the resources and the intellectual community in the field of government and public administration as between the federal government on the one hand and the universities on the other? Are we so rich, are the communities so large as to justify doing our training and development separately?

In the past, when a separate, exclusively government-sponsored institution for training public servants was considered at this level, it was concluded that the university sector in Canada would be greatly weakened and reduced by it; that the Public Service would become isolated from mainstream Canada by it; that variety and flexibility in the Public Service would be dramatically reduced by it; that bureaucratic nepotism would inevitably increase under it; that there would be a real danger of increased mandarin arrogance as a result of it; that inevitably a somewhat isolated, somewhat superior bureaucracy would keep Parliament and parliamentarians more and more at arm's length as a result of it.

● (1600)

No doubt the new centre has been devised to avoid these pitfalls. The committee should examine how this is to be done and solicit the views of the universities, individual public servants, other deputy heads and union leaders as to what they think.

All of this leads to the emphasis by government spokesmen on the role of the centre in enhancing the corporate identity of the Public Service. There will be some who find the stress on this purpose very disquieting. That the Public Service, with its size and power and quality, needs the centre to rally around raises the question: "To rally around against what? Or against whom?", and suggests that things are in a bad state, indeed.

Beware the siege mentality, especially in major governmental institutions.

Closely related to that question, and perhaps a cause for the outward appearance, is the view of the centre as "the heart and the soul of the federal management cadre." The committee will want to listen carefully, for, if one thing is clear, it is that the centre is intended "to belong to its clients, the members of the management category." What are the implications of that?

The Liberals in the other place may have been closer to the mark than they realized. We must ask bluntly: Is this centre, in fact, a national school for government administration? Is it to be an école nationale d'administration, an ENA, an institution designed as a pressure cooker to recruit and develop an elite—something like the French have so dominantly in their public administration, government and politics; something like the British had and are still trying to come to terms with doing away with?

Senator Frith: What was the British one?

Senator Pitfield: The administrative class or the principal system.

Finally, the development of a recruiting role, the so-called "fellowship" program, and the designation of the Secretary to the Cabinet as chairman of the advisory board all suggests significant changes from the present system for personnel management in the Public Service. Heretofore there have been shared responsibilities between the Treasury Board, the Public Service Commission and departments. The role of the Privy Council Office has been restrained. In short, the system we have for personnel management in our federal government has been carefully designed and carefully balanced with many considerations and long experience in mind. On the whole, it works pretty well, though every player always wants more power. Now, this system seems to be significantly changed and, while it may be an improvement, it must be clearly demonstrated as being so. Training and research and public information responsibilities are now being redistributed. What, then, is the new situation to be? How is it to work? And what is the justification for it?

It is terribly important for Parliament to know the answer to those questions, for the basic role of the Public Service in encouraging efficiency and eliminating corruption, in building national unity and maintaining democracy, is ultimately at issue.

The signs are indeed that the centre for management development is an important initiative. It may be an excellent one, but then we are brought back to the question of how it is to be made independent and what its connection to Parliament is to be.

In this regard, the great importance of the Public Service as an instrument for increasing efficiency, fighting corruption, building national unity and maintaining democracy in our country and the nature of the Senate should perhaps lead us to consider having a special or a standing committee look at Public Service questions. Truly, these are matters extremely influential and often determinant in what the government does and how it does it.

The Canadian Centre for Management Development raises important questions on many of those issues. I urge senators to examine the proposal carefully, because important choices with far-reaching ramifications are being made.

I am glad to note that no one has alleged that there is great urgency to the passage of this bill. The substance of what it proposes has already been put under way by various ad hoc measures, and they can continue to work while what is being proposed for legislation is adumbrated.

Once passed into legislation, the centre and its activities will not quickly come back to parliamentary examination, much less easily open themselves to reconsideration or revision; so, if Parliament is to get the understanding of what is being proposed that it has certainly not so far had, it had better act now.

Motion agreed to and bill read second time.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

On motion of Senator Doody, bill referred to the Standing Senate Committee on National Finance.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

CONSIDERATION OF SIXTY-FOURTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE—
DEBATE ADJOURNED

The Senate proceeded to consideration of the sixty-fourth report of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration (allegations against Senator Argue, P.C.), presented in the Senate on September 14, 1988.

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc: Honourable senators, I move the adoption of the report.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it your pleasure honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, if no one wishes to speak to this motion at this time, I adjourn the debate. Some senators have not yet had an opportunity to study the particular document and they may wish to speak to it at a later time.

On motion of Senator Doody, debate adjourned.

CANADA-UNITED STATES FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

INQUIRY—ORDER DISCHARGED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the inquiry of the Honourable Senator Gigantès calling the attention of the Senate to the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement.—(Honourable Senator Doody).

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, this order is an inquiry, initiated by Senator Gigantès, referring to the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement. I spoke to Senator Gigantès yesterday and he agrees that this particular inquiry has been exhausted, as it were, although he has another one on the order paper somewhere else referring to the same subject. This particular one stands in my name, and I feel that it should be discharged.

Senator Frith: And Senator Gigantès agrees?

Senator Doody: Yes.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Order discharged.

● (1610)

SOVIET UNION

MOTION ON RELIGIOUS FREEDOM—DEBATE ADJOURNED

Hon. Stanley Haidasz, pursuant to notice of Wednesday, September 14, 1988, moved:

[Senator Pitfield.]

That,

Whereas 1988 marks the Millennium of Christianity in Kievan Rus, providing an occasion for all men and women of good will to celebrate the great spiritual heritage carried by the peoples of the Soviet Union—Catholic, Orthodox, Protestant, Jewish, Muslim, Buddhist;

And whereas religious freedom has been acknowledged as a fundamental human right in such landmark international conventions as the United Nations Charter, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant on Social, Economic and Cultural Rights, the Convention Against Discrimination in Education, the Helsinki Final Act, the United Nations Declaration Against All Forms of Religious Intolerance—agreements to which the U.S.S.R. government has solemnly pledged its adherence;

The Senate of Canada appeal to General Secretary Mikhail Sergeyevich Gorbachev to honour the U.S.S.R. government's commitments to these aforesaid international agreements, to declare a general amnesty for all religious prisoners of conscience, and to legalize the Ukrainian Catholic Church, the Ukrainian Autocephalous Orthodox Church, the Ukrainian Orthodox Church, and all other religious groups, assuring thereby all the peoples of the U.S.S.R. the right of religious freedom and practice.

He said: Honourable senators, on August 30 I made a rather lengthy speech on the topic of the Millennium of Christianity in Kievan Rus, and an appeal for a resolution, as stated in the last paragraph of the present motion.

I draw to your attention that the Ukrainian Catholic Church was delegatized in 1946. Its bishops and 1,500 priests were imprisoned and some were even killed.

This whole topic was discussed at length in hearings held by the House of Commons Committee on Human Rights. In its report the committee mentioned the persecution of the churches, religious groups and their adepts in the U.S.S.R. Resolutions somewhat similar to this one, of which I gave notice yesterday, were moved in the Senate and the House of Representatives of the U.S.A.

I believe this resolution is very important, not only to men of good will but, in particular, to Canadians of Ukrainian background.

The celebrations will peak Thanksgiving weekend here in Ottawa, with the Prime Minister delivering the main address.

In conclusion, I would add that the right of religious freedom and the right to life are, I believe, the most fundamental human rights. I believe you will agree with me that one of the best champions of these rights is none other than Mother Teresa, often referred to as "The Living Saint of Calcutta". Mother Teresa, the foundress of the Catholic Missionary Nuns of Charity, has been recognized as a great humanitarian devoted to the poor, the sick, the abandoned and the dying, without regard to their religion, colour or ethnic origin. I am pleased to remind honourable senators that Mother Teresa received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1979 for her charitable work.

On Saturday Mother Teresa will be taking part in and speaking at a national pro-life rally in front of the Peace Tower. She will be available, if you wish to meet her, in my suite in the East Block. I believe all honourable senators would like to join with me in wishing Mother Teresa an enjoyable and successful visit to Parliament Hill.

Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

On motion of Senator Molgat, debate adjourned.

THE SENATE

MINUTES OF THE PROCEEDINGS—CORRECTION

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I rise on a point of order.

Senator Doody: Perhaps it should be called a "point of correction".

Senator Frith: Yes, that is probably a more apt description.

On page 3412 of the Minutes of the Proceedings of the Senate for Wednesday, September 14, the Minutes reflect the proceedings of the Senate on Bill C-205, to protect heritage railway stations. The Minutes reflect that the motion for third reading was moved by Senator Turner, and the Minutes then read as follows:

After debate,

In amendment, the Honourable Senator Turner moved, seconded by the Honourable Senator Sinclair, that the Bill be not now read the third time but that it be referred back to the Standing Senate Committee on Transport and Communications for further study.

That motion was carried.

The difficulty that arises is that I do not think any of us were quite clear that Senator Turner had moved both the motion and an amendment to his own motion. The only way that can be done is with leave under rule 23, which says:

A senator who has made a motion or presented an inquiry may withdraw or modify the same by leave of the Senate.

I do not think there was any doubt that Senator Turner had the leave of the Senate, but it was not specifically noted.

Therefore, I ask leave for our unanimous decision that we simply add to the Minutes an amendment that would read that the Honourable Senator "... with leave, moved ..."; otherwise we might be creating an undesirable precedent.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Senate adjourned until Tuesday, September 20, 1988, at 2 p.m.

THE SENATE

Tuesday, September 20, 1988

The Senate met at 2 p.m., the Speaker in the Chair.
Prayers.

HERITAGE RAILWAY STATION PROTECTION BILL

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Hon. Charles Turner, Acting Chairman of the Standing Senate Committee on Transport and Communications, presented the following report:

Tuesday, September 20, 1988

The Standing Senate Committee on Transport and Communications has the honour to present its

THIRTEENTH REPORT

Your Committee, to which was referred Bill C-205, An Act to protect heritage railway stations, has, in obedience to the Order of Reference of Wednesday, September 14, 1988, examined the said Bill and has agreed to report the same without amendment.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES TURNER
Acting Chairman

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

On motion of Senator Turner, bill placed on the Orders of the Day for third reading at the next sitting of the Senate.

QUESTION PERIOD

THE ENVIRONMENT

NUMBER OF PERSON-YEARS IN DEPARTMENT—EFFECT ON DEPARTMENT'S PROGRAMS

Hon. Colin Kenny: Honourable senators, I should like to ask a question of the Leader of the Government in the Senate. In light of the government's renewed commitment to the environment, could the Leader of the Government please comment on the recent statements made by Mr. Ted Marks, Director of Personnel, Policy and Systems, Department of the Environment, that a further 361 person-years will be cut by that department in the coming year?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, the responsible minister, Mr. McMillan, dealt with this matter in some detail yesterday in the House of Commons. I have nothing to add to the statements he made.

Senator Kenny: I must say that I am confused to some extent by his comments in House of Commons Debates in which he makes reference to additional staff being added to the Department of the Environment, but is not clear on those who have been added or where they have been added.

When Mr. McMillan was speaking to the Speech from the Throne on October 10, 1986, he assured us that the size of his department would stay the same or, in fact, grow larger. Over the past four years the department has decreased by 336 person-years. Now we hear of an announcement of an additional 300-odd person-years being cut. I am left confused by the minister's inconsistencies.

Could the Leader of the Government here clarify it for the chamber?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I shall speak to my colleague Mr. McMillan to see whether he can allay my honourable friend's confusion.

However, I point out to him and to the Senate that the story of the environmental policies and programs of this government is not to be told simply in a reading of the number of person-years in a particular department. Other decisions have been taken and programs have been announced. For example: the South Moresby decision; the creation of several new national parks; and the subagreement under ERDA for the cleanup of Halifax Harbour.

A number of decisions have been taken in the environmental field that may be outside the immediate purview of the Department of the Environment, but which represent a substantial commitment, in terms of policy and human and financial resources, on the part of this government to the Canadian environment.

Senator Kenny: That is precisely the concern, honourable senators. In dealing with CEPA, and as we have seen some of these initiatives come forward, we have been referring continually to our concern about the person-years available to carry them out. What we are seeing is new initiatives without substance or support behind them. If we cannot rely on the government's own figures, I do not know what we can rely on.

My question is: Given the new initiatives that the department is taking on; given the fact that the department has been reduced by 336 person-years in the past four years; and given that the department itself is indicating that it will have a further reduction of over 300 person-years, how will the department accomplish its own objectives?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I do not necessarily accept—and I am sure that Mr. McMillan would not accept—all the assertions in the premise of the honourable senator's question.

However, it is a fair question to ask us to show how we will provide the human resources for the various commitments that the government is undertaking in this field. I shall ask for a direct reply to that question and I shall bring it in.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION SERVICE—NUMBER OF PERSON-YEARS

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc: Honourable senators, I should like to ask a supplementary question.

In his answer the Leader of the Government in the Senate indicated that the maintenance of the budget of the department can be examined, if one looks at the creation of new national parks, and so on. That really begs the question.

The reality, when we talk about the protection of the environment, is the specific service called the Environmental Protection Service, which is the guts of the Department of the Environment in terms of the protection of citizens vis-à-vis products like Myrex, dioxins, and so on.

I would like to know if there has been a reduction of personnel in that division of the department called the Environmental Protection Service. Some of us remember with sadness the destruction of or threat to the program, which had been historically important, for the collection of gull eggs, which told us a great deal about the health of the Great Lakes.

Are we not mixing oranges and apples by pretending that the creation of national parks, as important and as positive as that is, does not deal with the issue of Environmental Protection Service, which is part of the laws of this country?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, again it is a fair question to ask whether there has been any diminution in the activities, the staff or the budget of the Environmental Protection Service's part of the department. However, I do not accept the premise and the assertion of the honourable senator that the government's environmental policy can be measured simply in terms of the activities of one particular branch or service.

The federal-provincial agreement to clean up Halifax Harbour, for example, is an important contribution to the environment and to the economy in that region. So is the creation of several new national parks. I believe the honourable senator unnecessarily and unduly limits the scope and the field of action of the government on the environment.

● (1410)

INSPECTION OF PCB STORAGE SITES—AVAILABILITY OF INSPECTORS

Hon. Colin Kenny: Honourable senators, I have a further supplementary. We read today that Ottawa is considering enforcing PCB safety standards in the event that provinces are unable to do so.

Honourable senators, when we passed the CEPA bill recently, we were concerned that there were only 56 inspectors in the whole country. We now have a consolidated list that details the thousands of storage places that contain PCBs, and it is unclear how the government intends to handle the inspection of those storage places, given the fact that it does not have enough staff now in that area and is contemplating further cuts.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Again, the honourable senator is adding two and two and getting five; he is making assertions about cutbacks which may or may not relate to the particular activity he is describing. There will be an announcement before too long from my colleague Mr. McMillan with more details about how the government proposes to pursue and attack this PCB problem.

TRANSPORT

TRANSPORT ROUTE CANADA INC.—OHIP COVERAGE FOR EMPLOYEES

Hon. Charles Turner: Honourable senators, I have a question for the Leader of the Government in the Senate concerning Transport Route Canada Inc. Over the weekend I received many calls from laid-off employees of the company informing me that, when they call OHIP officials with respect to their coverage in Ontario, they are told that, according to the computer, their premiums are paid only until the end of September. They have been in touch with the company and also with their union representatives, but have received no satisfaction with respect to this matter. Regarding OHIP premiums for these employees, I understand they are supposed to be paid three months in advance. What will happen at the end of September, when the coverage for these employees runs out?

Honourable senators, this is a serious matter for the employees of this company across Canada. Apparently, the Department of Labour has put in an auditor to deal with these matters, but can the Leader of the Government in the Senate give me any assurance that this matter will be taken care of?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I can only tell my honourable friend that the Department of Labour will use all measures available to it under the Canada Labour Code to ensure that employees receive all of their entitlements. Transport Route Canada Inc. has informed the minister that it is winding down its business, and, as the honourable senator knows, officials are auditing the company's payroll records to determine employee entitlements.

Senator Turner: Honourable senators, does the Leader of the Government in the Senate think it advisable that the employees of this company go to the various OHIP offices across Ontario to make individual payments for their next three-month coverage? It is very important, in case of sickness, that these employees have complete hospital coverage.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I shall have to make inquiries about that matter.

THE ENVIRONMENT

ISSUANCE OF LICENCE FOR RAFFERTY-ALAMEDA DAMS PROJECT—PROTECTION OF MANITOBA'S INTERESTS—RESPONSIBILITY OF GOVERNMENT TO CONDUCT STUDY

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, my question to the Leader of the Government in the Senate is also on an environmental matter. Last Tuesday I asked him a question regarding the federal licence that had been issued to the Saskatchewan government to proceed with the Rafferty-Alameda Dams project in Saskatchewan on the Souris River. At that time the leader indicated that he would try to get some further information on that matter. Does he have the information for me today?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): I understand my honourable friend, the Deputy Leader of the Government, has a delayed answer on that matter.

Senator Molgat: I then have a specific question which perhaps the Leader of the Government in the Senate can answer now. If a province requests a federal licence for a water-control project on a river that flows through another province, does the federal government have a responsibility to conduct a study to establish the effect on the downstream province before issuing such a licence?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I shall ask the appropriate minister to examine the statutes and the policy on that matter.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS IN GALLERY

UNITED KINGDOM SELECT COMMITTEE ON TELEVISIONING HOUSE OF COMMONS' PROCEEDINGS

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, may I crave your indulgence for just a few moments? I simply want to call to the attention of honourable senators the presence in the gallery of a distinguished group of visitors from the United Kingdom. We have with us the Select Committee on Televising of Proceedings of the House of Commons—

Senator Murray: A bad idea!

Senator Doody: —which is here to view and to try to understand the pros and cons of that particular innovation.

An Hon. Senator: Don't do it!

Senator Doody: The delegates are led by Mr. David Hunt, M.B.E., MP. Mr. Hunt is also Treasurer of Her Majesty's Household and Deputy Chief Whip of the Government.

[Senator Turner.]

We welcome these distinguished visitors and hope that they have a pleasant and informative stay.

Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

THE MINISTRY

REQUEST FOR APPOINTMENT OF MINISTER OF STATE FOR COOPERATIVES—LACK OF RESPONSE

Hon. Hazen Argue: Honourable senators, I have a question for the Leader of the Government in the Senate. It has to do with the recent cabinet shuffle and the recognition given to forestry and multiculturalism by appointing particular ministers and having particular departments.

Can the Leader of the Government in the Senate say what consideration has been given to the longstanding request of the cooperative movement of this country to appoint a minister of state for cooperatives? In commenting, will the minister indicate whether he has any knowledge of what is being done to deal with or answer the requests of the cooperative movement for consideration with regard to their participation in health projects and housing projects and, in particular, their request and concern about the need for recognition of an equity type of financing?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, that responsibility was assigned some time ago by the Prime Minister to my colleague the Honourable Charles Mayer, Minister of State for Grains and Oil Seeds. If I may say so, he is discharging his responsibility with his usual vigour and competence.

Senator Doody: Hear, hear!

Senator Argue: Honourable senators, I believe the minister has misunderstood my question or he is answering another question. My question was: Why was there no response to the request of the cooperatives that a minister of state in charge of cooperatives be appointed? The cooperatives do not want a minister who has a small secretariat buried somewhere in his department—I should not say that, but in his department considering cooperatives. The cooperatives want their own minister, their own department.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, they have their own minister in Mr. Mayer. The fact that he has other responsibilities does not impede him from discharging his responsibility on behalf of cooperatives and to the cooperative movement in a highly effective way. He is their champion in cabinet and, indeed, in Parliament. The short answer to the honourable senator's question is that it is not proposed at this time to set up a separate ministry of cooperatives.

Senator Argue: So the answer to the cooperatives' request for a separate minister is "no".

Senator Murray: That must be obvious!

Senator Argue: I was asking about what consideration had been given to the matter. At least I am glad to get a smile.

CANADA-UNITED STATES FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

GOVERNMENT PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN—COST—STATUS DURING ELECTION—AVAILABILITY OF PUBLICATIONS IN OTHER LANGUAGES

Hon. Azellus Denis: Honourable senators, may I ask a question of the Leader of the Government in the Senate? Many times I have asked the minister for the figures on the cost of publicity in favour of the Free Trade Agreement. I suspect that he does not intend to give me an answer before the election is called. It would be a good thing for the people of Canada to know the approximate cost. How many millions of dollars have been and will be spent on advertising this Free Trade Agreement?

● (1420)

If, as I suspect, we are not to be given the exact amount of money spent on publicity, would it be possible for the government to give us an approximate figure in terms of millions of dollars before the election is called?

Senator Argue: Twenty-six million dollars.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, the government has not tried to keep secret the amount of money being spent on the public information program regarding free trade. Indeed, on several occasions my colleague Mr. Crosbie and others have been quoted in the national media as having stated that a certain amount had been spent up to that point.

I have asked for the latest statistics and I will not hesitate to bring them in.

Meanwhile, I must take exception to the fact that the honourable senator attributes to me some base motives in not bringing forward the information. I will bring it forward when it is available to me from my colleague. I am not concerned about holding back or hiding information. The honourable senator must be speaking from a guilty conscience on the basis of his 40-odd years in the Liberal Party.

Senator Argue: Fifty-three.

Senator Denis: In response to a question asked by a member of Parliament in the other place, Mr. Crosbie said that $1.5 million had been spent on seminars, $1.5 million on radio advertising and $1.5 million on television advertising; but not a word was mentioned about the cost of the publicity involved in the publication of dozens of pamphlets and booklets. It is my understanding that there are three dozen different types of pamphlets and booklets regarding the Free Trade Agreement. I suspect that the cost of publishing hundreds of thousands of each of those three dozen different pamphlets and booklets would amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. It is my information that those pamphlets might be translated into three or four different languages—Italian, Chinese, Portuguese, Greek, et cetera.

Senator Doody: Newfoundland.

Senator Denis: Many nationalities are being forgotten.

I would point out that the Gallup poll does not indicate a big majority in favour of the Free Trade Agreement at the present time, and those against the Free Trade Agreement have not spent one cent to put forward their views.

I want to know if the government intends to translate those publications into other languages, such as Inuit, Polish, German and Ukrainian. In terms of numbers, these languages are as important in Canada as those others.

I want to know if the government intends to continue to spend large amounts of money without informing the public what is being done with it.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, first of all, I must say that the honourable senator should read the polls more carefully than he apparently has done. There is less opposition to the Free Trade Agreement today than there has been at any time; the support for the Free Trade Agreement is considerable and, indeed, in the majority in most parts of the country, including, I may tell him, his own province.

Secondly, this Free Trade Agreement is one that, by all the evidence, will have a very important and positive impact on incomes, on employment, and on standards of living in this country.

Senator Frith: All of the evidence you choose to read.

Senator Murray: It will add billions of dollars to our gross national product. I find it very strange indeed that the honourable senator would begrudge a few hundred thousand dollars or, indeed, a few million dollars spent on a public information program.

Senator Frith: Public information? You mean propaganda for the government. At least be as honest about that as you have been about the rest.

Senator Murray: Yes, honourable senators, it is true that publicity campaigns of this kind do not come cheap. Yes, it is true that—

Senator Frith: Of course!

Senator Denis: How much? How much?

Senator Argue: Stick it on the deficit!

Senator Murray: Yes, it is true that we live in a multicultural society, and we take it as an obligation of the Government of Canada to provide in as many languages as possible, in addition to our two official languages, the information that people need in order to judge the effects of these important policies.

Senator Frith: Stop saying "information"! You don't give any information except the government's position.

Senator Denis: I have a supplementary question. Does the government intend to keep on publicizing the Free Trade Agreement during the election?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, that question has been asked before. Any activities that the government undertakes by way of public information during the election campaign—

Senator Frith: "Public information", for goodness sake!

Senator Murray: —will be in strict observance of the Canada Elections Act.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

GOVERNMENT PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN—REQUEST FOR DISTRIBUTION OF MATERIAL GIVING OPPOSING VIEW

Hon. Philippe Deane Gigantès: Honourable senators, I should like to ask the Leader of the Government in the Senate whether, to balance the debate and to show both sides, the government would distribute, on the same basis that it has been distributing its own propaganda, a collection of essays edited by Professor Duncan Cameron.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): No, honourable senators. The government, unlike my honourable friend's party, is committed to the Free Trade Agreement and is united on the proposition.

Senator Frith: What was that again? Could we have that again, please?

Senator Gigantès: If the government is not prepared to put the other side, but only its own side, is that truly information? Is that debate or is it propaganda?

Some Hon. Senators: Propaganda!

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, the responsibility of the government is to put our side of the question to Parliament and to the Canadian people.

Senator Guay: In an honest way!

Senator Murray: And that we are doing! My honourable friend and those who agree with him in the other place will have that opportunity as well.

Senator Frith: Will you allocate taxpayers' dollars to us to do that? It is an excellent offer. If you make it, we will accept.

Senator Murray: Taxpayers' dollars are already allocated to enable members of the opposition to put their message across.

Senator Frith: The same amount as you put to your side?

GOVERNMENT PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN—PRECEDENCE FOR COST

Hon. Azellus Denis: Could you name one bill passed in this house or any place else that has had more costly propaganda?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): I have already told the house, in answer to questions from my honourable friend, that there is ample precedent in this country for governments to carry on public information campaigns, including paid advertising campaigns, in support of their policies, even before some of those policies have been sanctioned fully by Parliament. I need only remind him of the Canada geese that we saw flying on television a few years ago, when the Trudeau government embarked on its ill-fated, unilateral attempt—

[Senator Murray.]

Senator Frith: How much did that cost?

Senator Murray: —to patriate the Constitution.

Senator Denis: I mean as expensive. Could he name one bill, whether by the Conservatives or the Liberals, Canadians or Americans, that cost that much?

Senator Murray: Allowing for inflation and so forth, I should like to look at the cost of the infamous six-and-five propaganda package developed by my friend Senator Davey, and his friend Senator Sinclair, not so much on behalf of the government as on behalf of the Liberal Party, with taxpayers' funds, a few years back.

● (1430)

Senator Frith: It is "infamous" to you because it was so successful.

Senator Denis: Would the Leader of the Government in the Senate report on both the cost of the publicity for the six-and-five program and the cost of the publicity for the Free Trade Agreement?

Senator Frith: Yes, please carry on both investigations.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

PROPOSED FIXED CROSSING TO MAINLAND—REQUEST FOR COST ESTIMATES—VERACITY OF NEWSPAPER STATEMENT—ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT OF FIXED CROSSING—CREATION OF JOBS IN PROVINCE

Hon. M. Lorne Bonnell: Honourable senators, to get away from the Free Trade Agreement for a change—

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Where do you stand on it?

Senator Bonnell: On the fixed link?

Senator Murray: No, on the Free Trade Agreement.

Senator Bonnell: I stand for staying together and keeping Canada as one nation, separate and apart, so that we can be governed by the Canadian Parliament and make our own laws and rules, and not be dictated to by a foreign land.

Some Hon. Senators: Oh, oh!

Senator Bonnell: However, that is not the subject of my question!

I read in the newspaper the other day that the government had viewed the engineering proposals of several firms for a fixed link to Prince Edward Island. It has been reported that the government has given its blessing to several of those firms and has asked for cost estimates. It was also reported that the proposal costing the least would get the contract. Could the Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations advise honourable senators whether that statement is true?

Senator Murray: Not quite, honourable senators. I can tell my friend that my colleague, the Minister of Public Works, Mr. McInnes, committed the government to a schedule of decisions with regard to this matter some time ago. We will do our best to abide by that schedule and to meet the deadlines the Minister of Public Works has set.

Senator Bonnell: Could the Leader of the Government in the Senate advise us, since the Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations cannot, if, in fact, the government of the day, or the Minister of Public Works, has asked certain engineering firms to prepare cost estimates of their proposals for a fixed link?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I expect Mr. McInnes will be making an announcement on the generality of the subject raised by the honourable senator very soon.

Senator Bonnell: Is the leader suggesting that there has been no announcement yet and that the government has not stated that it has reviewed the engineering proposals of different firms, has rejected some and has asked other firms to prepare cost estimates?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I shall ask for a report on the matter from Mr. McInnes.

Senator Bonnell: When he is talking to Mr. McInnes, will the leader ask Mr. McInnes to take into consideration not only the cost of the fixed link but also the environmental impact and how the fishermen will be affected? Will the leader also ask what type of steel will be used on the fixed link and how far apart the pillars will be?

Senator Doody: And how many boats!

Senator Bonnell: Moreover, will the leader find out if Prince Edward Island will in fact have an opportunity to have this construction take place on the Prince Edward Island side rather than on the New Brunswick side so that jobs can be created for Prince Edward Island—jobs not only related to the construction of the fixed link but for the future?

Senator Murray: There, again, honourable senators, I shall have to ask my colleague Mr. McInnes for a report on those matters.

I am glad to see that the honourable senator, while he has not quite declared himself in favour of the project, seems to be tiptoeing in that direction.

Senator Bonnell: No, the honourable senator is not tiptoeing either way; he is just trying to protect the environment and create jobs for Islanders while making sure that they are informed before the government takes any major decisions that affect their future—decisions that could be of a permanent nature.

Senator Murray: How did you vote in the plebiscite?

[Translation]

REFUGEES

GENERAL AMNESTY—GOVERNMENT POLICY

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, I should like to direct a question to the Leader of the Government in the Senate concerning immigration. A few days ago Mr. Fairweather, who now shares some responsibility in this field, commented on the issue of amnesty for refugees, but later on the minister made statements to the contrary. Since then the refugee situation has not changed very much. Perhaps it has even grown worse.

Could the Leader of the Government in the Senate tell us whether the government is considering a general amnesty for refugees?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, no such decision has been made.

[English]

OFFICIAL LANGUAGES

1988 BUDGET ALLOCATION FOR PROMOTION OUTSIDE QUEBEC

Hon. Dalia Wood: I should like to ask a question of the Leader of the Government in the Senate. Last year Ottawa spent $18 million to promote French outside Quebec but only $2 million to promote English inside Quebec, and the two minorities are approximately equal in size. On the weekend Secretary of State Lucien Bouchard said that there would be no increase in the moneys to Quebec. Can you provide the amount of money set aside in the 1988 budget for the promotion of our two official languages throughout the rest of Canada?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, that kind of detailed information should be sought in writing and it will be provided in writing.

DELAYED ANSWERS TO ORAL QUESTIONS

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have delayed answers to four questions. I have an answer to a question asked by Senator Olson on September 1 regarding Agriculture—Alberta Drought Relief Program—Criteria for Qualification; a question asked on September 12 by Senator Argue regarding Agriculture; and a question asked on September 13 by Senator Molgat regarding the Environment—Issuance of Licence for Rafferty-Alameda Dam Project. I ask that these be printed as part of today's proceedings.

THE ENVIRONMENT

ISSUANCE OF LICENCE FOR RAFFERTY-ALAMEDA DAMS PROJECT—PROTECTION OF MANITOBA'S INTERESTS

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Senator Doody, is the response on the Rafferty-Alameda Dam Project question lengthy?

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): No, it is only two paragraphs, senator, if you wish me to read it.

Senator Molgat: Would you, please?

Senator Doody: The interests of Manitoba have not been ignored by the federal government. The Canadian position on the proposed Canada-United States Agreement has been established by the federal government and the provinces of Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Negotiations on the agreement have been under way since November 27, 1987. One of the objectives has been to ensure that the obligations of North Dakota to Manitoba for water quality and quantity are well defined.

The honourable senator should also be aware that the same article in the Winnipeg Free Press, which he quoted from, refers to the Manitoba environment minister's support for the dam. Mr. E. Connery's statement contradicts the honourable senator's allegation that Manitoba's interest has been ignored by the federal government.

AGRICULTURE

WESTERN GRAIN STABILIZATION PROGRAM—FINAL PAYMENT

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Senator Argue's question, on the other hand, is rather lengthy, including numbers and dates.

Hon. Hazen Argue: Could you give me the conclusion?

Senator Doody: I will read the whole answer.

The government will indicate the amount of the final Western Grain Stabilization Administration (WGSA) payment at the earliest possible opportunity.

The announcement of the payment and the mailing date of the cheques for the past three years were as follows:

	Announcement	Mailing
84-85	November 15	November 20
85-86	November 27	December 5
86-87	November 20	December 1

This year producers have a number of choices to make as a result of recent changes to the act implemented by Bill C-132 (i.e. whether to join, addition of special crops, et cetera).

Producers are presently dealing with Agriculture Canada, and because of the amount of work that has to be done new telephone lines have been installed at WGSA in order to deal with the producers' inquiries.

Please be assured that all efforts are being made to announce the payment at the earliest opportunity.

Producers should be encouraged to submit their relevant information to the WGSA as soon as possible.

AGRICULTURE

WESTERN CANADA—DROUGHT CONDITIONS—GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): This is in answer to a second question raised on September 12, 1988, by the Honourable Hazen Argue, regarding Agriculture—Western Canada—Drought Conditions—Government Assistance.

(The answer follows:)

Now that the harvest is virtually complete, the Government can begin to assess the damage to the Western economy. The Government is committed to providing a package that is sufficient to compensate those effected by the drought.

[Senator Doody.]

AGRICULTURE

ALBERTA—DROUGHT RELIEF PROGRAM—CRITERIA FOR QUALIFICATION

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): This is in answer to a question raised on September 1, 1988, by the Honourable H.A. Olson, regarding Agriculture—Alberta—Drought Relief Program—Criteria for Qualification.

(The answer follows:)

Federal and Provincial Agriculture Ministers have agreed on several occasions that the Federal-Provincial Crop Insurance Program is the primary safety net vehicle for protecting producers against the financial risks of crop loss from drought and other causes. Crop insurance offers many benefits to individual producers and helps maintain local economic activity when yields are low.

Although there is always scope for improvement, and a review is being completed, the Alberta Hail and Crop Insurance Corporation presently offers a very good forage insurance program. Producers' premiums are matched by the federal government and the Alberta government pays all administrative costs. The condition regarding enrollment in 1989 is intended to provide an additional opportunity for higher participation in the program thereby reducing the need for future ad hoc assistance programs.

Under the Livestock Assistance Program, producers will receive two-thirds of the payment (i.e. up to $40 per head) with no conditions attached. It is only the final payment (i.e. of up to $20 per head) to be paid after April 1, 1989, which is affected by the condition. The per head payment approach gives producers maximum freedom and flexibility to take actions best suited to their individual situations while helping to defray some of the added costs.

In applying the condition, principles will be developed in relation to existing crop insurance eligibility criteria on the minimum level of participation required in 1989. These principles are available to producers now for the existing program. If the review of the Crop Insurance Program indicates that modifications are required, announcements will be made in early 1989.

• (1440)

ROYAL ASSENT BILL

SECOND READING—DEBATE CONTINUED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Doody, seconded by the Honourable Senator

Phillips, for the second reading of the Bill S-19, An Act respecting the declaration of royal assent by the Governor General in the Queen's name to bills passed by the Houses of Parliament.—(Honourable Senator MacEachen, P.C.).

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I understand that Senator Kelly wishes to address this motion. I certainly yield to him, but I should like to continue the adjournment in my name after his address.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Hon. William M. Kelly: Honourable senators, I wish to speak briefly in support of the position taken by Senator MacEachen on the subject of Bill S-19.

This may surprise some of you, coming as it does from someone who has been trained as an engineer. We engineers are supposed to reject ceremony and formality; we are supposed to cut aside all the frills and nonsense and keep only to that which is necessary, efficient and effective to the purpose at hand. Then why do I, as an engineer, support the retention of the Royal Assent ceremony?

Honourable senators, let me say at the outset that I completely understand that Bill S-19 would not dispose of the current method of Royal Assent in favour of the proposed "declaration". I understand full well that the current mode would continue to be available for use when required or desired, and would have to be used for at least the first ordinary bill and the first supply bill approved by both houses. I am also aware that Bill S-19 reflects the practice at the Commonwealth level in Australia since Union and is in line with the U.K. Royal Assent Act of 1967 and with the practices now followed in most other Westminster systems.

Having said that, my concern is simply this: You know and I know—and the drafters of this bill certainly know—that the current mode of Royal Assent will soon come to be used very infrequently, and only when absolutely necessary. For all practical purposes, it will be replaced by the written declaration read in both houses.

Honourable senators, I think that would be a shame. The current mode of Royal Assent may be cumbersome and serve no practical purpose, but to me, and I am sure to others in this chamber, it is a clear illustration or manifestation of two things that are central and vital to our Constitution and to our system of government, and here I echo Senator MacEachen. First, we are a constitutional monarchy and we bear allegiance to Her Majesty the Queen; second, our Parliament consists of three elements—the House of Commons, the Senate and the Crown. Only the current mode of Royal Assent manifests these things so clearly and so often.

Further, I understand that the history of the ceremony of Royal Assent reaches far back into British constitutional history. The first year, I believe, in which Royal Assent was given by Commission was apparently 1541, and the occasion related to Henry VIII and the Bill of Attainder against Katherine Howard.

It seems to me a shame to throw away all that history and tradition simply for the sake of an increase in convenience and administrative efficiency.

It brings to mind two quotations. The first is from T.S. Eliot:

Tradition cannot be manufactured. If you want it, you must obtain it by great labour.

The second is from Winston Churchill:

History with its flickering lamp stumbles along the trail of the past, trying to revive its echoes and kindle with pale gleam the passion of former days.

It is history, ceremonies such as this that provide us with a tangible link to our past, that link us to our historical and constitutional roots. I contend that we should think twice, therefore, before we cast them aside in the cause of increased efficiency and bureaucratic convenience.

Finally, honourable colleagues, I spoke to an acquaintance of mine recently who used to be a public servant in the federal government but has since taken his career elsewhere. During his time in government he was directly involved with a number of bills that were considered by Parliament. He said that he personally found the Royal Assent ceremony rewarding and fulfilling; it was a clear ceremonial recognition that the goal had been achieved, rather than an administrative process that amounts to "going out with a wimper". I believe we should bear these points in mind in our consideration of Bill S-19.

Honourable colleagues, I do not have the parliamentary experience and tradition of the Leader of the Opposition, but I found myself in agreement with much of what he said the other day on this bill. I only wanted to add my small voice in support of his.

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Will Senator Kelly permit a question?

Senator Kelly: Yes.

Senator Doody: Would Senator Kelly not agree that it should be incumbent on all those people who feel so strongly about the retention of the present system of Royal Assent to be present at all Royal Assent ceremonies that take place at 5.30 p.m. or 6 p.m. on Thursdays?

Senator Kelly: Honourable senators, I will respond this way: I believe very strongly in traditions. Speaking personally, I would find it difficult, if not indeed impossible, to attend all of the ceremonies that have a traditional base that occur in this country. My non-attendance would not be because I do not agree with or do not have great affection for tradition. It would be only a question of practicalities. The direct answer to the deputy leader's question is, of course, yes.

Hon. Jack Marshall: Honourable senators, I adjourn the debate.

Senator MacEachen: Honourable senators, I had requested that the motion continue to be adjourned in my name. However, if Senator Marshall wishes to make a statement at any appropriate time, I will not stand in his way.

On motion of Senator MacEachen, debate adjourned.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

CONSIDERATION OF SIXTY-FOURTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE— ORDER STANDS

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator LeBlanc, P.C. (Beauséjour), seconded by the Honourable Senator Haidasz, P.C., for the adoption of the Sixty-Fourth Report of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration (allegations against Senator Argue, P.C.), presented in the Senate on 14th September, 1988.—(Honourable Senator Doody).

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I yield to anyone who wishes to address this question, but, in the meantime, I stand the debate in my name.

Order stands.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ADOPTED

The Senate proceeded to consideration of the sixty-fifth report of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration (implementation phase of the office automation system) presented on September 15, 1988.

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc: Honourable senators, I move the adoption of this report.

Motion agreed to and report adopted.

"WE GAVE TOO MUCH AND WERE NOT GIVEN ENOUGH"

ORDER STANDS

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the inquiry of the Honourable Senator Gigantès calling the attention of the Senate to the subject "we gave too much and were not given enough".—(Honourable Senator Gigantès).

Hon. Philippe Deane Gigantès: Honourable senators, I plan to speak on this at a later date, but, in the meantime, if anyone wishes to speak on this subject, I shall be glad to give him the opportunity.

Order stands.

CHILD CARE

REPORT OF SOCIAL AFFAIRS, SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY COMMITTEE ON FINAL REPORT OF SPECIAL HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMITTEE ON CHILD CARE ENTITLED "SHARING THE RESPONSIBILITY" ADOPTED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the consideration of the Eighteenth Report of the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology (Sub-Committee on Child Care), tabled in the Senate on 12th July, 1988.—(Honourable Senator Bonnell).

Hon. M. Lorne Bonnell: Honourable senators, I support this report. The committee did a great amount of work, and I do not see any reason to hold it up. Therefore, I move the adoption of the report.

Motion agreed to and report adopted.

● (1450)

THE SENATE

OTTAWA CITIZEN ARTICLE OF NOVEMBER 18, 1986—INQUIRY STANDS

On Inquiry No. 1:

By the Honourable Senator Marshall:

That he will call the attention of the Senate to an article dated November 18, 1986, in the Ottawa Citizen, which in its imputations holds in contempt not only an institution of Parliament, but by extension all of its Members, and goes beyond the guarantees of freedom of expression under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

Hon. Eymard G. Corbin: Honourable senators, on a point of order, I wonder if I may be permitted to ask Senator Marshall if and when he intends to deal with his inquiry concerning the imputations of the Ottawa Citizen respecting the Senate. It has been on the order paper now for 21 months.

Hon. Jack Marshall: Honourable senators, it takes me a long time to make up my mind!

I am leaving it there for a purpose. Hopefully, I will be able to look after it before the writ is dropped!

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Inquiry stands.

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow at 2 p.m.

THE SENATE

Wednesday, September 21, 1988

The Senate met at 2 p.m., the Speaker pro tempore in the Chair.

Prayers.

SOURIS RIVER, SASKATCHEWAN

NOTICE OF MOTION TO AUTHORIZE AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY COMMITTEE TO STUDY GRANTING OF FEDERAL LICENCE

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, I give notice that tomorrow, Thursday, September 22, I will move:

That the Standing Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry be authorized to examine and report upon the granting of a water licence by the Federal Government to the Saskatchewan Government for works on the Souris River.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

QUESTION PERIOD

AGRICULTURE

EASTERN POTATO FARMERS—COMMITMENT BY FORMER MINISTER

Hon. M. Lorne Bonnell: Honourable senators, according to an article in the Summerside Journal, people in Prince Edward Island are saddened to know that the government has lost the services of the Honourable John Wise as Minister of Agriculture, because he had promised some kind of commitment to potato farmers of that province to subsidize the great loss they had suffered because of the drought in 1987.

The Prince Edward Island Potato Marketing Commission is asking for $9.4 million as a stabilization payment to assist the farmers, having in mind both the low price of potatoes last year and the loss caused by the drought.

Could the minister for intergovernmental affairs advise if the new minister responsible for agriculture, the Honourable Don Mazankowski, realizes that there are serious problems in agriculture in the east as well as in the west? The government was able to give equalization payments and subsidies to the grain farmers, to the wheat farmers and to other farmers in the west. Would he give serious consideration to assisting the potato farmers in the east?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I assure my honourable friend that any commitments Mr. Wise made as Minister of Agriculture will, of course, be carried out by his successor, who is the Deputy Prime Minister as well as Minister of Agriculture, the Honourable Don Mazankowski. I will ask Mr. Mazankowski to examine the question Senator Bonnell has asked and to provide any response he thinks appropriate as soon as possible.

Senator Bonnell: I have a further question, honourable senators. I understand that the commitment by Mr. Wise was verbal rather than written. Will the current Minister of Agriculture respect that verbal commitment to these people?

Senator Frith: It was given by "Senator" Wise—oh, excuse me!

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, this government makes no distinction between verbal and written commitments; they are all commitments and we honour them all.

Some Hon. Senators: Oh, oh!

Senator Frith: There we go. That was a nice shot for the troops, anyway.

Senator Bonnell: Honourable senators, I thank my good friend Senator Murray for that commitment and I hope it will be honoured.

Senator Frith: Give us another fat one that we can hit out of the park.

Senator Bonnell: It is a verbal commitment, and I hope Mr. Wise's verbal commitment will now be honoured by Mr. Mazankowski. Apparently, all these commitments are the same with this government. So, if we find they are not committed, then we will know we cannot trust them with anything.

AGRICULTURE

DISPERSAL OF BREEDING HERDS IN DROUGHT-STRICKEN AREAS—TAX DEFERRAL ON LIVESTOCK SALES—EXCLUSION OF BRITISH COLUMBIA CATTLEMEN FROM PROVISION

Hon. Len Marchand: Honourable senators, the drought in western Canada continues to be a serious problem. I was happy with some of the measures announced by the Minister of Agriculture, especially the tax deferral commitment he made in the event that cattlemen had to take the worst possible solution for them, to sell out their herds. But as I understand it, the tax deferral system for those ranchers who sell out their herds in response to the drought does not apply to ranchers in British Columbia. I was rather surprised and rather annoyed to hear that.

Could the minister explain that to the Senate? Why are the cattle ranchers of British Columbia being treated differently?

They have had to face the same drought situation as the those cattlemen in other provinces of Canada, especially cattlemen in the prairie provinces.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I shall ask my colleague, the Minister of Agriculture, for a statement on that matter.

Senator Marchand: Thank you for that commitment.

In his discussions with the Minister of Agriculture and the Minister of Finance, could the leader make sure that the British Columbian ranchers are not left out again in any consideration of further assistance for drought relief?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I shall convey those representations to my colleague and ask him to comment on the crop conditions and production in British Columbia. I think it will be important for the Senate to have a statement from the minister on the situation in British Columbia as well as on the situation in the prairie provinces.

THE ENVIRONMENT

LOCATION OF TRANSPORTABLE PCB INCINERATORS

Hon. Colin Kenny: Honourable senators, I have a question for the Leader of the Government in the Senate. Earlier today the Minister of the Environment made the welcome announcement that the government will be leasing one transportable incinerator to destroy PCB waste and that a second is being considered. Could the leader enlighten us as to why Goose Bay was selected as the first site? And what will the criteria be for the selection of future sites for portable PCB incinerators?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I shall ask Mr. McMillan to furnish a statement on that matter.

REGULATIONS FOR TRANSPORTATION OF PCBs

Hon. Colin Kenny: Further to that, while the government, earlier this week, brought in regulations for the destruction of PCBs, it does not appear that the government brought in any regulations for the transportation of PCBs. Inherent in the use of mobile incinerators, particularly if we are only talking about two of them, is the fact that the PCBs will have to be transferred from the 2,000-odd sites that exist in Canada to these portable incinerators. When does the government plan to bring in regulations to govern the transportation of PCBs?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): The same answer, honourable senators.

TOXIC WASTE RESEARCH—EFFICACY OF REDUCTION IN NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL BUDGET

Hon. Colin Kenny: A further supplementary. Earlier in its term, precisely in November 1984, the government eliminated a portion of the National Research Council's budget, specifically the secretariat that performed research in the handling of PCBs, toxic chemicals and the recycling of waste chemicals. At that time the government indicated that there was a saving of $1 million to $1.5 million. The government has now committed $21 million to leasing portable incinerators. Could you explain with hindsight why that $1.5 million was a worthwhile cut?

[Senator Marchand.]

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): The same answer, honourable senators.

NATIONAL DEFENCE

PRE-1968 NERVE GAS TESTING AT CFB SUFFIELD, ALBERTA—HEALTH OF INVOLVED PERSONNEL

Hon. Joyce Fairbairn: Honourable senators, again there were disturbing reports overnight about testing of gases at the Canadian Forces Base at Suffield, southern Alberta. There was particular reference to nerve gas testing, which took place prior to 1968, involving human participants at that base. Can the Leader of the Government in the Senate give us any information on those activities, which, even though they took place over 20 years ago, are still of importance? Perhaps he could indicate to us whether or not the government has initiated a search for the persons who were involved to ascertain whether, in fact, they suffered any ill effects.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I regret that I have nothing to add to the statement made yesterday by my colleague, the Minister of National Defence. However, I shall bring Senator Fairbairn's question to his attention to see if he has any further statement to make in response to the specific concerns she has expressed.

POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION

GOVERNMENT ACTION OR POLICY—REQUEST FOR ANSWER

Hon. John B. Stewart: Honourable senators, on September 1 I asked the Leader of the Government in the Senate a question concerning post-secondary education. I recalled that in the Speech from the Throne at the beginning of the session the government had forecast an initiative for a national forum. The national forum took place almost a year ago. I asked if the Leader of the Government in the Senate would have any report to make regarding initiatives flowing from that national forum.

The Leader of the Government in the Senate was kind enough to give a verbal commitment that he would be "delighted" to do so. Would he be delighted to provide an answer later today or tomorrow, or is that asking too much?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I thank my honourable friend for bringing this matter to my attention. Again, I have asked for that report from my colleague, and I shall do what I can immediately to expedite it.

NATIONAL DEFENCE

PRE-1968 NERVE GAS TESTING AT CFB SUFFIELD, ALBERTA—
HEALTH OF INVOLVED PERSONNEL—MINISTER'S STATEMENT

Hon. Joyce Fairbairn: Honourable senators, Senator Stewart was so fast on his feet that I did not get a chance to slide in a further question. "Flash" Stewart is what we call him!

Some Hon. Senators: Oh, oh!

Senator Frith: Let us say "Speedy", shall we?

Senator Fairbairn: I should like to ask a supplementary question. I am aware of comments that were made overnight by the Associate Minister of National Defence to the effect that it was speculation to make assumptions about any effects that these pre-1968 tests might have had on individual Canadians. He referred to the idea of a follow-up as "a bit of a wild goose chase".

The Leader of the Government in the Senate has told me that the Minister of National Defence made a statement. Could he summarize that statement for me?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): That would be a hazardous thing for me to attempt; however, I shall ask Mr. Beatty to provide me with a copy of his statement—I am quite certain he has made a statement on the matter—to deal with the concerns that Senator Fairbairn has expressed today.

● (1410)

OFFICIAL LANGUAGES ACT

STATUS OF REGULATIONS

Hon. Dalia Wood: Honourable senators, on September 15 an act respecting the status and use of the official languages of Canada was proclaimed. Does the Leader of the Government in the Senate have any idea when the regulations having to do with the Official Languages Act will be forthcoming?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I shall inquire of my colleague, the Minister of Justice. Subject to correction, however, the proclamation of those regulations is imminent.

THE ENVIRONMENT

ISSUANCE OF LICENCE FOR RAFFERTY-ALAMEDA DAMS
PROJECT—PROTECTION OF MANITOBA'S INTERESTS

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, while I am on my feet, perhaps I could provide a reply to questions asked yesterday by our colleague Senator

Molgat concerning the Rafferty-Alameda Dams project. The information I have been given on this matter is as follows.

Further to a request from the Government of Saskatchewan, the federal government has undertaken negotiations with the United States on the Rafferty-Alameda Dams project. Our goal is an agreement covering construction, operation and maintenance of the dams for water management and flood control in Canada and for flood control in the United States. The Canadian negotiating team includes representatives from Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The Secretary of State for External Affairs has made it clear to both provinces that any agreement with the U.S.A. will have to deal satisfactorily with all major Canadian concerns, which include environmental impacts respecting the project.

Mr. Clark is aware of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's comments, released yesterday, on the environmental impact of the project upon the U.S.A. The Government of Canada has made clear to the U.S. government our concern that any agreement on the Rafferty-Alameda Dams must deal with the environmental effects of the project on all affected jurisdictions. In any future discussions with the U.S.A. we will maintain this position.

Honourable senators, not to anticipate the debate that I understand my friend is to launch tomorrow, let me state that my colleague Mr. Clark is aware of the recent public speculation that some form of the Garrison Diversion may be used to meet future shortages of water in the Souris River resulting from the Rafferty-Alameda Dams project. It is not clear how seriously this idea is being taken in the United States, but, if any proposal to this effect is made, the Government of Canada will maintain its long-standing opposition to the transfer of foreign biota into Canadian waters, which the Garrison Diversion could cause.

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY

RECONSTRUCTION—ALLOCATION OF FEDERAL FUNDS TO NEW BRUNSWICK

Hon. L. Norbert Thériault: Honourable senators, I have a question for the Leader of the Government in the Senate that arises from an agreement between either the Province of Nova Scotia or the City of Halifax and the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency with respect to cleaning up Halifax Harbour. Could the government leader first tell me how the program was arrived at? Is this an agreement between the province and ACOA or between the City of Halifax and ACOA? Are there possibilities for similar agreements with the other Atlantic provinces?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, this is a subagreement with Nova Scotia under the ERDA umbrella. It is an agreement between the federal government, as represented by the minister of ACOA, and the Province of Nova Scotia. This project, which is extremely important for Nova Scotia for environmental as well as for economic development reasons, was identified by the Government of Nova Scotia as its highest priority in the discussions that were held with the Government of Canada concerning possible new initiatives under the ERDA. That, I think, provides the answer to the second part of my honourable friend's question.

Naturally, the Government of Canada will consider seriously and negotiate seriously on the basis of priorities that are put forward by any provincial government and on which we can reach agreement.

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators, is the federal part of the funding taken from the funds allocated to ACOA?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, a distinction must be made between the funds—the $1 billion of new money—allocated to ACOA for new programs in the area of small business and so forth and the ERDA moneys. The moneys for the various ERDA subagreements, including this one, would come from what I might call the ACOA cooperation fund—the ERDA pot, in other words—and not from the ACOA Direct Action Program.

Senator Thériault: I take it that it would not affect the so-called $1 billion you have been talking about.

Senator Murray: No, honourable senators.

Senator Thériault: Then my following question is this: From the answer given by the minister I take it that this project was identified by Nova Scotia as its priority, and it came about under an agreement that existed between Nova Scotia and the federal government or ERDA; is that correct?

Senator Murray: My honourable friend will recall from his days in the provincial government that there is what is called the GDA, the General Development Agreement, and a series of subagreements.

Senator Thériault: Yes, I know that.

Senator Murray: We now have an umbrella called ERDA. This is one of the subagreements under the ERDA umbrella. It is a new subagreement relating to Metropolitan Halifax-Dartmouth. One of the components of that subagreement is the Halifax Harbour project.

Senator Thériault: I thank the minister for that answer. That is what I believed when I asked the question, but I wanted to make sure I understood.

Now for my real question!

Senator Murray: Oh, the real question!

Senator Frith: When's the election?

Senator Thériault: The Government of New Brunswick has identified, according to my understanding, that its main priority is rebuilding the Trans-Canada Highway. Is it possible that an agreement could be reached similar to the one reached with Halifax, under the same conditions and under the same agreements and subagreements in cooperation with ACOA and the Leader of the Government in the Senate?

Senator Murray: My honourable friend cannot be more wrong. The Premier of New Brunswick has taken some pains to state that the proposed reconstruction of the Trans-Canada Highway must not, on any account, come from the economic development moneys allocated under ERDA.

[Senator Murray.]

Senator Thériault: Honourable senator, are you quoting the Premier of New Brunswick?

Senator Murray: I am quoting him as directly as I can from our various discussions on this subject. I assure my honourable colleague, with considerable certainty, that the position of the Premier and of the Government of New Brunswick, understandably enough, is that the very considerable commitment that would be involved in the reconstruction of the Trans-Canada Highway must, on no account, come out of regional development, ACOA, or ERDA moneys.

I agree with him that the Trans-Canada Highway is not a regional development project; it is a national project.

THE ENVIRONMENT

ISSUANCE OF LICENCE FOR RAFFERTY-ALAMEDA DAMS PROJECT—PROTECTION OF MANITOBA'S INTERESTS—RESPONSIBILITY OF GOVERNMENT TO CONDUCT STUDY

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, I should like to thank the Leader of the Government in the Senate for the additional information he gave this afternoon on the Rafferty-Alameda Dams project. I wonder if he has obtained an answer to my question of yesterday, which was this: When the federal government is granting a licence for a water project on a river that flows across provincial boundaries, is the federal government obliged, either legally or morally, to conduct environmental studies on the province downstream, which may be affected?

• (1420)

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I need a little more time to look into the implications of that question, especially as to our legal and moral commitments. As I indicated yesterday, I have asked the appropriate minister to let me know what the provisions of the statutes are and what the policy is on that matter.

HERITAGE RAILWAY STATION PROTECTION BILL

THIRD READING—DEBATE ADJOURNED

Hon. Charles Turner moved the third reading of Bill C-205, to protect heritage railway stations.

He said: Honourable senators, at the committee meetings on this bill, various ideas, suggested amendments and concerns were raised. I sincerely hope that these concerns will be looked at when the regulations are being prepared by the officials of the government.

Senator Sinclair: Hear, hear!

Senator Doody: Hear, hear!

[Translation]

Hon. Eymard G. Corbin: Honourable senators, on September 9, I had to rise after the report of the committee on Bill C-123 was presented because the French version of this bill contained errors. I then said that the next time such a thing happened, I would move that the bill be returned to the committee for the corrections to be made in the prescribed form.

As Senator Turner has just pointed out, the French version of Bill C-205 also contains errors. The Law Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel, Mr. du Plessis, brought two of these differences between the French and English versions to the committee's attention yesterday.

Section 4 of the French version reads:

sur recommandation du gouverneur en conseil . . .

The English version reads:

On the recommendation of the Board.

So on one hand, we have the "Board", which is the correct version, I am told, in the English text, and on the other, "le gouverneur en conseil", which means "Governor in Council" in English. This is a quite different body. He pointed out this fundamental difference in the two versions. He also told us that the French version of subsection 7(6) reads:

la Commission doit soumettre au ministre et au ministre des Transports.

The English version reads:

the Board shall submit to the Minister.

It is clear that the words "et au ministre des Transports" in French are redundant.

I continue to quote the letter from the Law Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel:

I am informed that in both cases, the English version reflects the intention of the House of Commons and the French version must be amended.

It would perhaps have been more accurate to say that the English version reflects the intention of the English-language Members of the House of Commons even though the French version must be amended. He continues:

In my opinion, such changes cannot be made by mere stylistic corrections.

In other words, it is not just a matter of a letter missing from a word, an accent or a semicolon. It is something more fundamental. Mr. du Plessis said:

If the Committee sees fit, the Bill must in each case be amended accordingly.

The committee having been informed of these two errors in the bill—and I was a member in good standing of the committee, it decided not to amend the bill, but agreed to have the chairman report it to the Senate with these errors. The effect of all this, obviously, is that if we pass the bill on third reading as Senator Turner has moved, we will have a defective bill on the books. I understand that such things bother some people.

This bill is entitled "An Act to protect heritage railway stations". I am absolutely not against that. I am for preserving our heritage. I consider my most precious heritage to be the French language. I think that it is often misused in badly drafted legislation. It is the third time in this session—and God knows how many other bills containing such errors were passed without my knowledge. I cannot read everything and look after everything. The same goes for many of my colleagues. But at least when such an error is pointed out to us, it seems to me that we must—and I must—make sure that the bill is corrected and not allowed to stand with those errors. We must have some self-respect, after all. So I did not make a motion to correct the French text.

We are dealing with a bill that I would call a "sacred cow", to put it in a nutshell. One cannot be against our heritage. One cannot oppose our physical heritage like old buildings or our natural heritage. One must not only preserve our national parks and wildlife, but create other protected areas. I am all for that. But I would really like it if in the future more attention were paid to the way legislation is written.

These errors passed the House of Commons completely unnoticed. I do not know if any French-speaking members were on the committee that dealt with this bill. Maybe there were; I could not check on that. Anyway, these errors were not found there, but they were found in the Senate. I found some others; at least, I found things that seem quite doubtful to me. This morning, I got in touch with the Law Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel and his assistant. I was given answers to some objections that I raised with them.

It seems I was right in certain respects. I did not get an answer on other points which I feel are also important and may cause our legislation to be interpreted to say one thing in French and something else again in English.

I do not intend to obstruct the passage of this bill, but I felt I had to point out again to honourable senators that there are deficiencies in the way legal texts are drafted in French.

I imagine the usual procedure is that the people who draft the bills are asked to draft them in English and the texts are subsequently translated into French. I think special care should be taken to ensure that the meaning of the text is the same in both French and English.

That is what I wanted to say. However, I have a few more comments. I think the bill's approach is weak. I am not convinced that the bill will accomplish what it sets out to do, but time will tell.

I also want to say that now we are approaching the end of a session the pressure is on again. We are being pressured to adopt a number of bills at top speed. Quite frankly, adopting bills at top speed goes against the grain. The results are predictable. The bills that are drafted and adopted turn out to be deficient, and then a subsequent government has to introduce amendments to correct the deficient texts.

I do not think this is to the credit of the Parliament of this country. Thank you.

Hon. Joseph-Philippe Guay: Honourable senators, Senator Corbin said that he thought the bill might have to be referred back to committee.

I would like to ask him whether that is what he intends to suggest, in addition to what he told us.

Senator Corbin: Unfortunately, Senator Guay, I feel obliged to swallow what I said on September 9—that it was the last time I would let a deficient bill go through. However, if challenged, I am prepared to move a motion to refer the bill back to committee. I feel very uncomfortable with a bill that is deficient in its French version, while the English version is correct—

Senator Thériault: Go ahead, move the motion.

Senator Corbin: You want me to? In that case, honourable senators, I move, seconded by Senator Thériault, that the bill be referred again to the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications for correction of the errors in the French text.

● (1430)

[English]

Hon. Brenda M. Robertson: Honourable senators, I understand Senator Corbin's position, and I sympathize with him and share his concerns. These errors happen too often. If it is of any value to Senator Corbin, I should indicate that, when these errors were pointed out to us at the conclusion of the committee meeting yesterday, the Law Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel of the Senate, Mr. Raymond du Plessis, assured us that the bill would not be proclaimed until the errors had been corrected. I believe he also indicated that it would cause some delay in the proclamation of the bill. As I recall—and I am only going by memory—the bill is to go to the Standing Joint Committee on the Scrutiny of Regulations, before proclamation, to make certain that the errors have been corrected in both languages.

I suggest that we communicate with the drafters of legislation, indicating our strong objection to its coming here in a faulty condition. Perhaps such a communiqué would prevent that sort of thing from happening again. It is very frustrating. I do not blame the honourable senator at all for being angered by these errors. Obviously, the system is at fault, and we, as senators, should make strong representations to those responsible in order to prevent the recurrence of such unfortunate incidents.

In any event, honourable senators, I do know that the corrections to this particular bill will be made before proclamation, although I cannot give you an exact reference because I do not have with me the notes I made during the committee meetings.

[Translation]

Senator Flynn: Honourable senators—

Senator Corbin: If I may, Senator Flynn, I should like to respond to the comments of Senator Robertson.

I think we have a different interpretation of what Mr. du Plessis said. I may be mistaken and I give you the benefit of the doubt. My understanding is altogether different.

I spoke to him before entering the Senate this afternoon and he told me unequivocally that if the bill were to be given third reading in its present form it would become law on the day of its official proclamation. There is no way it can be corrected before official proclamation. Only the legislators—the House of Commons and the Senate—can correct a defective bill.

[Senator Guay.]

So I do not see how anyone could correct the bill should we decide to adopt it this afternoon. That is the opinion I was given and that is my understanding.

[English]

Senator Robertson: It is obvious, honourable senators, that I may have misunderstood Mr. du Plessis yesterday. I should like to talk with him again. Perhaps we could adjourn the debate for half an hour to allow me to get another interpretation.

[Translation]

Senator Corbin: I quite agree, honourable senators.

[English]

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, just before we adjourn the debate, is the motion that the amendments be made here or that the bill be sent back to committee?

Senator Flynn: That they be made here.

[Translation]

Senator Corbin: Honourable senators, I want to answer the question of Senator Frith since he is the one who asked whether my motion would refer the bill to committee or whether the amendments are to be made here.

As far as I am concerned, I am quite prepared to agree that the amendments be made here in the Senate, if only to save time.

My intention is not to delay the adoption of the bill. I just want to make sure that the bill is properly drafted.

Senator Frith: So, if I understand correctly, the motion now before us would have the effect of amending this bill here in the Senate on third reading?

Senator Flynn: No, no, that is not possible.

[English]

Senator Frith: I am asking the senator what his motion is. He should know what his motion is. What does Senator Flynn mean by, "No, no"?

Senator Flynn: The motion is to move it back to committee.

[Translation]

Senator Frith: If I understand correctly now, Senator Corbin's intention is to propose that the amendments be made here in the Senate during third reading.

Do I also understand correctly—at least, I hope so—that there is unanimous consent to change the motion to that effect?

[English]

Senator Robertson: Honourable senators, I asked to have half an hour or so to clear up with Mr. du Plessis an ambiguity in the interpretation. In order to be absolutely certain of the situation, I should like that time.

Senator Frith: Of course. But I wanted to know what the motion was upon which we were adjourning the debate for 15 minutes, half an hour, or however long. I understand now that we agree that the motion is to make any necessary amendments here at third reading.

Senator Flynn: That is too vague.

Hon. Ian Sinclair: Honourable senators, my understanding is that other amendments were proposed and were looked upon with some favour by members of the committee, but they were not proceeded with—on the basis that, if they were made and the bill were sent back, it might not be able to be dealt with. However if amendments are going to be made now, and quite properly, so that people cannot argue that there is a differentiation between the French and English texts that would enable people to escape the application of the law, then certainly those other amendments, which would have been made had it just been a question of their merit, but which were not made because of the fact that the bill had to go forthwith, certainly those amendments should be tied in with the ones being made to the language, I suggest.

● (1440)

Senator Frith: You really can smell blood, can't you?

[Translation]

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Honourable senators, I think we should clarify the situation.

We had a motion by Senator Corbin to send the bill back to committee—

[English]

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): I should like to say one word before you dispose of this, and that is to add some emphasis to the urgency of the treatment of the bill. We have had occasion to refer it back to committee once. We have aroused the ire of some heritage people, who are quite upset about the possibility of losing this great opportunity, which Senator Sinclair and others so favour, of having these railway stations declared as heritage sites. It is only a matter of Senator Sinclair and Senator Turner getting together on the wording of the plaques that will be placed in each of these stations to commemorate their joint effort on this bill. Nevertheless, I think it would be unfortunate if we did delay this bill any further than this day, because we are planning a Royal Assent tomorrow, partly because of the opportunity to get this bill finished finally and partly because of one other bill that we have.

An election is imminent. I cannot tell you exactly when, but I am consulting on a daily basis with Senator MacEachen, and as soon as we get definite word you will be among the first to know. In the meantime, I should like to get that bill through. I urge honourable senators to give it their best attention. I know exactly what Senator Corbin is saying and I appreciate his frustration. I completely agree with him, but we do not want to lose this particular bill if we can avoid it.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Do I understand that the motion to refer the bill to the committee is withdrawn by Senator Corbin and replaced by another motion?

Some Hon. Senators: No.

Senator Flynn: Yes. There was a motion to adjourn the debate for half an hour.

Senator Robertson: Honourable senators, when speaking to Senator Corbin's motion, I asked for a half-hour adjournment of the debate.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Honourable senators, is it agreed that the debate on the motion be adjourned for half an hour?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

On motion of Senator Robertson, debate adjourned until later this day.

[Translation]

Hon. Jean Bazin: Honourable senators, my only reason for intervening in this debate is to consider a number of remarks by Senator Corbin with respect to legislation in French and the legislation section at the Department of Justice.

[English]

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: The debate has been adjourned.

[Translation]

Senator Bazin: I have a question for Senator Corbin—

Senator Flynn: The debate has been adjourned.

Senator Bazin: In that case I'll get back to it.

[English]

CONSTITUTION ACT, 1867

BILL TO AMEND—SECOND READING—DEBATE CONTINUED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Molgat, seconded by the Honourable Senator Corbin, for the second reading of the Bill S-20, An Act to amend the Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate).—(Honourable Senator Frith).

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, while the linguists and legalists are scrambling to straighten out the wording of the Heritage Railway Station Protection Bill—

Senator Doody: They are looking for their notes.

Senator Frith: —I shall make an intervention on this item. Because I do not want to hold on to it unduly, I shall not make a detailed intervention, but I want to make a few comments.

First, the proposition of electing our Speaker is attractive, and I support it. I support both the principle and the proposition.

Senator Doody: However, . . . !

Senator Frith: However, we remember from geometry that we start out with a proposition and then we deal with the corollaries. There are some corollaries that flow from this proposition of electing the Speaker about which I am concerned. Perhaps that is not a good metaphor, because I suppose a corollary is something that inevitably follows from a proposition, while it may be that these are simply dangers rather than inevitable consequences.

To put it simply and not to refer unduly to black letter law, the present system is that the Prime Minister, presumably in consultation with the Governor in Council, selects a senator to act as Speaker. We presume that there is some conference, some discussion, between the nominee and the Prime Minister and others. That having been settled, the necessary paper work is done and the Speaker is nominated. The senator nominated then appears before us and simply says, "I have the honour to inform you that I am your Speaker."

Previously, in the House of Commons essentially the same run-up procedure was in place, but there was consultation among the opposition leaders and caucuses, as I understand it, and there was a pro forma election. Of course, the election in the House of Commons is not pro forma now. I understand that Senator Molgat's proposition is certainly not for a pro forma election here but for an actual election.

Turning to the implications, let us say, rather than corollaries that would flow from this proposal, we have, of course, a very persuasive example close at hand—just down the corridor, in fact. What are some of the actions of an elected Speaker, if we look at the House of Commons? First, on the question of order, the Speaker of the House of Commons plays a dominant role. The Speaker makes rulings, intervenes in debates to call order on his or her own initiative, and, of course, makes rulings which are final and binding.

In the Senate the Speaker does not play a dominant role in matters of order. The senators are expected to maintain order themselves. One may say that they do not always succeed in doing so, but can one say that they always succeed in doing so in the House of Commons under the aegis of the Speaker? Would it be fair to say, on the basis of the senators themselves controlling their order, that proceedings in the Senate are more disorderly than they are in the House of Commons where there is an elected Speaker who controls the order in the house? I think not.

The House of Commons has a much more complicated rule book than we have. The Senate rule book—this light, lithesome, red book, contains 114 rules and takes 45 pages to express those rules. The House of Commons has 159 rules and it takes 124 pages to express theirs. So they have 45 more rules than we have and approximately 80 more pages to express those rules. I am speaking just of the rules. There are appendices and indexes and additional documentation that is also more fulsome than in the Senate rule book. On a pound-for-pound basis, I should say that the House of Commons rule book is about three times as heavy as the Senate rule book, if not more so. There is a reason for that; the reason is that we are masters of our own order and, being required to establish and maintain order ourselves, we only call on the Speaker when we are unable to do so. We have a much more flexible and informal set of guidelines for our procedure and order—

[Senator Doody.]

● (1450)

Senator Roblin: And better!

Senator Frith: In fact, I think better. Senator Roblin and I have expressed that view on previous occasions. So his intervention is not a new one. We know where he stands on that issue.

That flexibility, in my experience here, has usually resulted in our being able to do anything for which we believe there is a consensus or strong feeling for doing. We can always grant leave; we can give unanimous consent; we can usually find a way for the Senate to express its will. Remember, the whole purpose of order in any body—in fact, the reason for any assembly's meeting—is to find ways of expressing what, as a group, it wants to say, either as a consensus, as a unanimous decision or as a majority decision. If simple rules, shorter rules and self-discipline succeed in doing that, then I think we should be careful about changing any traditions that might change that salutary tradition and salutary history.

Another implication in following the model of the House of Commons would be that the Speaker would be the head of the administration. Again, we must remember that here the Speaker is not the head of the administration. It happens at the present time that the Speaker is the chairman of the Internal Economy Committee, but the administrative decision-making organism in the Senate is the senators themselves, represented by the Internal Economy Committee, of which the present Speaker happens to be chairman.

Senator MacDonald: But not necessarily.

Senator Frith: But not necessarily, and whatever position he has as chairman of that committee—which is only as chairman—he has as a result of the members of the committee electing him; it is not because he is the Speaker of the Senate.

Senator Roblin: It is an unusual situation.

Senator Frith: Yes, an unusual situation. As a matter of fact, in the time that Senator Roblin and I have been here, and I came here only a short time before him—

Senator Roblin: Too long for both of us!

Senator Frith: Let's chat about that. I am not prepared to say that yet.

Senator Flynn: I have been here for 26 years.

Senator Frith: Senator Flynn, you have been here for 26 years. Has the Speaker and the chairman of the Internal Economy Committee ever been one and the same in your time?

Senator Flynn: No.

Senator Frith: That is another salutary aspect of the Senate. It is an institution that runs itself, and runs itself by committee. Again, that is not always successful, but, again, let us make the comparison: Is the House of Commons a more successfully administered body than the Senate? I do not believe so. So I am worried about that implication.

I say to honourable senators, without digging any deeper, that I feel that some principles and traditions that are extremely important to us may be threatened by the establishment of an elected Speaker—not necessarily, but they may be. I should certainly want assurances that they would not be. I would rather continue with our present system of appointing the Speaker, even though I would love to have an elected Speaker. I would prefer to continue with that rather than see these principles changed and the Senate transformed into a body similar to the House of Commons. It seems to me that it would be difficult for an elected Speaker not to feel justified in modelling his or her behaviour on the Speaker's behaviour and powers in the other place.

However, if the majority of honourable senators want to have an elected Speaker and run the risk of having these principles changed, then, of course, I should support them, because that would be consonant with the very traditions I have supported in this intervention.

Subject to those concerns, I support the concept; but I should want reassurances that the results would not be as far-reaching and as dangerous as I think they might be.

Hon. Finlay MacDonald: Honourable senators, after Senator Molgat presented this motion I asked him a number of questions. I referred, of course, to the 1982 report of the joint committee in which the recommendation was made that the Speaker of the Senate should not only be elected by the Senate but should have authority and powers analogous to those of the Speaker of the House of Commons. What else would one expect? What type of guarantee would one want with that clear recommendation of that joint committee?

This place is leaderless. It is a pure coincidence that the Speaker is the chairman of the Internal Economy Committee. As a matter of fact, it is confusing that the Speaker is the chairman of the Internal Economy Committee. It would save a tremendous amount of confusion if the chairman of the Internal Economy Committee were an ordinary senator—and please excuse the expression—rather than the Speaker of the Senate, because people think the Speaker has authority; but he has no authority whatsoever.

It is entirely possible that some time in the distant future honourable senators opposite will be on the government side. I do not know what pain they experienced when the only recourse was to go to the Speaker for a ruling, which was immediately appealed. It is to laugh, if this place is to be run by the Internal Economy Committee. The Internal Economy Committee has a lot to answer for, a great deal to answer for.

Senator Frith: What about the Speaker in the other place? Does he have anything to answer for?

Senator MacDonald: It is a pity that the traditions you hold so dear and are worried about breaking, and that have apparently worked over a long period of time, are going to be replaced by, let us say, a more rigid structure, but, honourable senators, I tell you that that is inevitable.

While I suggested to Senator Molgat that his motion was somewhat premature, considering what is going to be on our plate over the next few years, I cannot see any honourable senator, in all reasonableness, not supporting it.

Senator Frith: We will mark you down as being undecided!

On motion of Senator Kelly, debate adjourned.

• (1500)

SOVIET UNION

MOTION ON RELIGIOUS FREEDOM ADOPTED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Haidasz, P.C., seconded by the Honourable Senator Anderson:

That,

Whereas 1988 marks the Millennium of Christianity in Kievan Rus, providing an occasion for all men and women of goodwill to celebrate the great spiritual heritage carried by the peoples of the Soviet Union—Catholic, Orthodox, Protestant, Jewish, Muslim, Buddhist;

And Whereas religious freedom has been acknowledged as a fundamental human right in such landmark international conventions as the United Nations Charter, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant on Social, Economic and Cultural Rights, the Convention against discrimination in Education, the Helsinki Final Act, the United Nations Declaration Against All Forms of Religious Intolerance—agreements to which the U.S.S.R. Government has solemnly pledged its adherence;

The Senate of Canada appeal to General Secretary Mikhail Sergeyevich Gorbachev to honour the U.S.S.R. Government's commitments to these aforesaid international agreements, to declare a general amnesty for all religious prisoners of conscience, and to legalize the Ukrainian Catholic Church, the Ukrainian Autocephalous Orthodox Church, the Ukrainian Orthodox Church, and all other religious groups, assuring thereby all the peoples of the U.S.S.R. the right of religious freedom and practice.—(Honourable Senator Molgat).

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, I simply want to associate myself with the comments made by the honourable Senator Haidasz and to compliment him for having brought this matter to the attention of the Senate.

Western Canadian development and the whole immigration movement in that region was tremendously helped by the people from the Slavic countries of Europe. They have continued to be excellent citizens of Canada and yet, at the same time, have maintained a great deal of their own culture. We are fortunate in my own province of Manitoba, for example, to have an annual festival of Ukrainian Canadians in Dauphin, which is recognized as an international event. Dauphin has become the cultural centre of Ukrainian life in Canada.

That diversity is a very good thing for our country, and behind much of that has been the strong religious attachment of the Ukrainian people to the Christian tradition—not only Catholic but in many cases Orthodox as well.

In recognizing the Millennium, Senator Haidasz has pointed out an important element in the life of a great number of Canadians, and I want to be associated with his motion and with the comments he made.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Motion agreed to.

HERITAGE RAILWAY STATION PROTECTION BILL

THIRD READING

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Turner, seconded by the Honourable Senator Guay, P.C., for the third reading of the Bill C-205, An Act to protect heritage railway stations.

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I understand that Senator Robertson, who asked for a brief adjournment on Bill C-205, is now prepared to give us the benefit of information she garnered when she went her way.

Hon. Brenda M. Robertson: Thank you very much, senators. When I said I was speaking out without my notes, I truly was. It was not the Committee on the Scrutiny of Regulations. I should have referred to the Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment Bill. We are advised that these corrections will be made at the First Session of the next Parliament.

I believe both Senator Corbin and I agree that they are of a non-controversial nature and have nothing to do with the policy of the bill; but we are still concerned about the carelessness in translation and would do everything possible to urge this house to make strong representations for correct translations in the future.

I am sure that Senator Corbin wishes to speak to this, because he is certainly not happy. I suppose none of us is happy with these errors, but we believe that, because they do not impact on the policy of the bill, we should go ahead and give the bill third reading.

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: I should like to ask Senator Robertson a question regarding the comments she made when she first spoke to this motion.

If I understood you correctly at that time, you were suggesting that corrections would be made after the bill had left this place, but before proclamation. I want to be absolutely certain that that is not what we are talking about, because I think it is inconceivable that any laws that we pass, that are agreed to by the House of Commons, would subsequently be changed by anyone without reference to us. I think that is simply an impossible situation, although there is no problem in bringing them back to this place after proclamation.

[Senator Molgat.]

Senator Robertson: As I understand it, and Senator Corbin can correct me if I have the wrong interpretation, apparently these things are done in one of two ways: The bill can be proclaimed and then, when the Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment Bill, which is a clean-up bill, comes in, the corrections can be made. Honourable senators who have been here for some time are familiar with that process. That may be done after proclamation; or, as occasionally happens, with the consent of the minister the bill may be held for proclamation until the corrections have been made.

Senator Corbin, is that not how you understand it? Or will it be proclaimed, Senator Corbin, and then corrected?

Senator Doody: It will be corrected in the Miscellaneous Statute Bill.

Hon. Eymard G. Corbin: Honourable senators, as I said earlier, only the legislators can modify the texts of law. Let me propose this routine: If we agree to pass this bill on third reading today, a message will be sent to the House of Commons informing them that Their Honours have adopted this bill, and arrangements will be made for Royal Assent. Royal Assent will be given to the bill tomorrow, and it will go on the law books with the defects in the French text.

In the coming Parliament, or perhaps in this session if it continues forever, the government will propose an omnibus type of bill. Senator Robertson has correctly identified that as the Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment Bill, which deals with matters of the sort I have been talking about today and which does not affect fundamental policy positions. Parties in Parliament generally agree to adopt such a bill. Indeed, even before it is presented there are consultations in the House. So that is how these matters are dealt with. I know of no other way.

I understand that we have assurances from the director of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board that the flaws in the text, which have been brought to their attention, will be contained in that Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment Bill—eventually, when it is presented to the House—and that the whole matter will be cleaned up there and then. I know of no other way to deal with it, except for us now, at third reading stage, to proceed either to send the bill back to committee and make amendments there or to agree unanimously, because Mr. Beauchesne does not allow that kind of procedure at third reading—but by unanimous agreement I suppose we can do anything. Then, if we did amend the bill as received from the committee, it would have to go back to the House of Commons and they would have to deal with it in the usual way. That would take time. How much time, I do not know. However, I have been a reasonable man all my life.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Corbin: I have never, without just cause, deliberately delayed the work of Parliament in any way and I do not intend to do so today. As I stated earlier, I can agree with the object of this bill. I have no birds to kill, and I have no vengeance to display whatsoever. I do not want to be branded as the senator who blocked passage of this legislation and then be submerged with I don't know how many calls and letters and be dumped on by everyone who belongs to that network of Heritage Canada. I just do not want to go through that mess! So I am saying, let us approve the bill. All I have told you earlier is that the bill is defective.

[Translation]

Honourable senators, there are mistakes in the French text. This is not the first time we have received a bill from the House of Commons containing mistakes. Sometimes the mistakes are corrected in the House of Commons, but sometimes the House doesn't correct the text at all. In that case, it is up to the Upper House of the Parliament of Canada to make those corrections.

That being said, I think this proves the need for a second chamber in the Parliament of Canada. We correct errors of this kind, and we sometimes correct errors that are far more serious and more fundamental. As far as I am concerned, honourable senators, I did my duty today. I pointed out the deficiencies in the text of this bill. You can do as you like, but I don't feel very comfortable with a deficient legislative text. You can approve it if you want to. I will let it go through, but very reluctantly.

Hon. L. Norbert Thériault: Honourable senators, as you know, I am not a linguist. However, I am also very attached to my heritage, that of a French-speaking Acadian.

On many occasions, Senator Corbin has raised the point that legislation is often deficient in the French version. If that were also and as often the fact in the English version, I would say that mistakes are made in both languages. However, it seems to me the mistakes are found mostly in the French versions of our legal texts.

During the last four or five years, I have had the honour and the privilege of sitting near Senator Corbin and Senator Le Moine in this chamber. I finally realized how ill-served the Francophone is in this chamber and often in the other chamber as well. I wonder why? I think Senator Corbin has made a very important point today.

● (1510)

[English]

Why is it so bad to amend a bill as it should be amended and send it back to the other place? If the government and other members of the House of Commons really want to have it passed, they can do so. I understand that they are going to sit tomorrow. Unless an election is called, the bill will be given Royal Assent in due course. Why do we hesitate? I think this point is well taken—it is serious, it affects many people and it affects me, personally, as a senator. I really think that the Senate should consider making the point once and for all by amending this bill and sending it back to the House of Commons. That is my feeling.

[Translation]

Hon. Jacques Flynn: Honourable senators, allow me to differ with Senator Corbin and Senator Thériault regarding the treatment given the French version of the bill.

First of all, I can inform Senator Corbin it is not true that a French translation is made of the English text. Today the approach is different. The text may be drafted first in French by one person and subsequently in English by someone else. The problem is reconciling both texts. In this case, it is not a matter of how the French version was mangled. There is no reason to get upset and to see this as an attack on French culture; not at all. The French text is all right, but it differs from the English text. Which version is the right one? Which one expresses the intent of the legislator? I think we can find the answer without complaining about how one version or the other was treated.

I also want to say to Senator Thériault that I entirely agree with him about the changes and amendments, and especially amendments that are not controversial. When it is necessary to improve the text of a bill, we should not hesitate to do so. I don't think we should.

Today, it seems that a decision to dissolve Parliament is imminent. The solution proposed by Senator Robertson may be a very good one, namely that the discrepancies in both texts will be corrected when the next bill to deal with all kinds of non-controversial legislative amendments is tabled. This annual bill dealing with discrepancies found in our legislation should have no trouble being adopted by both chambers.

I was not on the committee and I am not in a position to do anything about it today, but if specific amendments had been proposed I wouldn't see any problem there. The House of Commons, upon receiving our message with amendments that are obviously necessary, would just have to say, without further delay: Yes, we agree. The bill would come back to us in a matter of minutes. In any event, it isn't my problem. Senator Robertson and Senator Corbin have agreed to say they would be in favour of having these amendments made part of the next bill dealing with these kinds of discrepancies. That is one solution.

One last point, for the sake of clarification: We talked about the coming into force of this bill. After Royal Assent, the bill does not automatically come into force, because Clause 10 clearly says:

This Act or any provision thereof shall come into force on a day or days to be fixed by order of the Governor in Council.

So the Governor in Council may very well delay the coming into force of the legislation until such time as the proposed amendments have been legally adopted and are the subject of a decision of Parliament, or the bill may be enacted with the proviso that the problems are to be addressed later.

Be that as it may, whatever procedure is selected, I wanted to emphasize in particular that we should not see in this problem a policy or a process whose effect is to attack the French language or the French culture. It is not that at all. It is a strictly technical problem.

[English]

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I think the solution suggested by Senator

Robertson, which was the result of consultations with Senator Corbin, is acceptable. I also think that it is worthwhile, before the bill is given third reading, to note that this bill has almost been bedevilled by its accidental attraction of two problems that transcend the principle or even the text of the bill itself.

The first of those problems is the fact that the committee first reported the bill without amendment without having heard representations of those opposed to it. The Senate was confronted with two important principles; first, that we do not like to pass bills without referring them to committee, and, second, that we do not like to pass bills without hearing in committee everyone both for and against the bills.

Then we went along and raised this additional principle, which is not unique, that the texts do not coincide in the two official languages. The response always given to this problem is, "Don't worry, it will all be caught up under the Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment Act." On the face of it that is an answer. However, I think it is worthwhile to have made a fuss on this point, especially because we do not want to encourage draftsmen to think they can always solve their problems in this way. I congratulate Senator Corbin for raising this matter and giving us a chance to make that fuss about it. I think we have made it clear that we will not always accept that answer.

On the other point, I think we have made it clear that we do not like to subvert the principle that we prefer to hear all sides of every question: we like to hear both those in favour of and those against a bill.

[Translation]

Hon. Jean Bazin: Honourable senators, I only want to repeat the point raised by Senator Flynn and that is the question I wanted to ask Senator Corbin.

I think that it is essential to note that bills are no longer automatically translated from English to French or from French to English; the two versions are conceived and drafted together. I think it is important to point that out. I wanted to comment on that and Senator Flynn spoke on it very well.

Senator Corbin: Honourable senators, if that comment was meant to enlighten me, I must tell Senator Flynn and Senator Bazin that I was already aware of this situation.

Besides, Senator David, who always listens to me very kindly and attentively, can confirm that is exactly what I said yesterday in committee. I had occasion to say it also a while ago right here in the Senate.

Perhaps I did not express myself clearly enough. One sometimes has the feeling that things are done in one language because of time constraints, and, later, a translation is simply made from one language to the other. I have the feeling that most often the work is done in English and is then translated into French.

Anyway, I do not know what happened in this particular case. The fact is that despite all the good will of all concerned, a defective bill has reached the Senate. We are trying to correct it and this causes problems and inconvenience.

As Senator Frith said, I feel that we have made enough noise for today. The next time—I do not want to make any threats—we might do more than make noise! Thank you.

• (1530)

[Translation]

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: It is moved by the Honourable Senator Turner, seconded by the Honourable Senator Guay, P.C., that this bill be read the third time now. Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Hon. Ian Sinclair: On division!

Motion agreed to and bill read third time and passed, on division.

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Subject to correction, I suggest that all other orders stand.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow at 2 p.m.

THE SENATE

Thursday, September 22, 1988

The Senate met at 2 p.m., the Speaker in the Chair.
Prayers.

ROYAL ASSENT

NOTICE

The Hon. the Speaker informed the Senate that the following communication had been received:

RIDEAU HALL

22 September 1988

Sir,

I have the honour to inform you that the Honourable Gérard V.J. La Forest, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, in his capacity as Deputy Governor General, will proceed to the Senate Chamber today, the 22nd day of September, 1988, at 3.30 p.m., for the purpose of giving Royal Assent to certain Bills.

Yours sincerely,
Anthony P. Smyth
Deputy Secretary, Policy and Program

The Honourable
The Speaker of the Senate
Ottawa

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I should like to propose the following motion dealing with the adjournment, and, if I may, I shall make a comment afterwards.

Honourable senators, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(g), I move:

That when the Senate adjourns today, it do stand adjourned until Tuesday next, 27th September, 1988, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Senator Doody: Honourable senators, as you have just heard, the adjournment motion is for next Tuesday at 2 o'clock. Senators are all aware of the fact that the child care legislation is now before the other place. I understand that it will be voted on at 6 o'clock on Monday evening. That being the case, we thought it might be wise to adjourn until 8 o'clock on Monday evening and then give notice for second reading. However, honourable senators opposite—and I thank them for their consideration in this regard—have agreed to give us leave to proceed with second reading on Tuesday. It is for that reason that we have been able to adjourn until Tuesday.

Motion agreed to.

QUESTION PERIOD

DELAYED ANSWERS TO ORAL QUESTIONS

NATIONAL DEFENCE

NUCLEAR-POWERED SUBMARINES—STATUS OF PROGRAM— TRANSFER OF TECHNOLOGY

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I have several delayed answers.

A question was asked on September 15 by our colleague Senator Molgat concerning nuclear-powered submarines, the transfer of the Trafalgar class submarine technology and whether the Government of the United States had agreed to this transfer. My answer, subject to correction, was "yes". Upon investigation, I have learned that my answer was correct so far as the Reagan administration is concerned. Nevertheless, I am now informed that this transfer would also require congressional approval.

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Their Congress is much more independent of the administration.

Senator Murray: As Senator Frith points out, their Congress is much more independent of the administration. It is true that they do not have a system of responsible government in that country, as we have.

Senator Frith: Steady! Settle down!

Senator Murray: In the constitutional sense.

Senator Frith: It depends on what you mean. In our sense of the word, that is true.

Senator Murray: Their administration is not responsible to their parliament. In any case, President Reagan did advise the Prime Minister some time ago that the administration would support Canada's acquisition of Trafalgar class submarine technology, but, as I indicated, the support of Congress would be needed for that as well.

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, I should like to thank the minister for his prompt reply to my question regarding the approval of the United States authorities for the transfer of nuclear information. Can he advise me whether the request has been launched through Congress or through whatever procedure they have to use to get authority from Congress? Has that begun? Has he any idea how long that process might take?

Senator Murray: Not as far as I am aware, honourable senators; nor could I say with any confidence how long the process would take. I shall inquire of the appropriate minister to see what light can be shed on those matters.

AGRICULTURE

DISPERSAL OF BREEDING HERDS IN DROUGHT-STRICKEN AREAS—TAX DEFERRAL ON LIVESTOCK SALES—EXCLUSION OF BRITISH COLUMBIA CATTLEMEN FROM PROVISION

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, two other matters were raised yesterday. One was a question by our colleague Senator Marchand of Kamloops concerning the drought assistance program as it might apply to the province of British Columbia.

I am informed that at the time of the announcement the Government of Canada indicated that it would continue to monitor the situation in British Columbia. Since the announcement the government has been actively working with producer groups in British Columbia to ensure that the problems created by the drought will be adequately addressed in that province. Senators can rest assured that aid for British Columbia farmers will be included in any federal announcement of drought relief.

Hon. Len Marchand: Honourable senators, I want to thank the Leader of the Government for his prompt reply to my question of yesterday. The reply, however, is too general. My question was more specific regarding the tax deferral program. Both the press release of June 1, 1988, from the Minister of State for Agriculture and Mr. Mayer referred to the tax deferral scheme in this way: The tax deferral for cattle producers for 1988 on income derived from weather-related distress sales of breeding livestock may be extended if conditions warrant.

I say to the minister that some cattle herds have already been sold off in British Columbia and there will probably be more herds sold off. This was a significant part of the program. I was talking to the cattle producers in British Columbia yesterday and they were rather upset that they had been left out. When this press release came out, I must admit that I did not read all the fine print and I did not realize that it indicated that British Columbia was not included in that scheme. I recognize that there must be some differences in the way the program is applied, depending upon the kind of distress in certain areas. I understand that and I recognize it. However, this particular part of it is a significant and important undertaking. We want it to apply to ranchers in British Columbia as well as to those in other areas that are suffering from drought.

[Senator Murray.]

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, Mr. Mayer and I had a word about this matter this morning and he has undertaken to provide me with information additional to that which I have just given to the Senate. I hope to have that early next week.

THE ENVIRONMENT

LOCATION OF TRANSPORTABLE PCB INCINERATORS

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, there were also some questions concerning PCBs. I do not know if I have the answers to all of them, but one had to do with why Goose Bay had been chosen as the first site for the location of a transportable PCB destruction unit and how we were going to go about choosing other sites.

The information that has been given to me is that Goose Bay is the largest federal repository of PCB wastes—3,000 tonnes. Further, the Department of National Defence is already well advanced with respect to environmental evaluations and community consultations at Goose Bay.

Environment Canada will be seeking the advice of the Canadian Environmental Advisory Council to select the best location or locations for the second transportable PCB destruction unit. Federal environmental assessment procedures will be followed throughout this initiative, including extensive community consultation.

Hon. John B. Stewart: Honourable senators, does the Leader of the Government in the Senate have an explanation of why there was this concentration of PCBs at Goose Bay and, if the PCBs were not there because they were being used there, how they ended up at Goose Bay? For example, were they flown in?

Senator Murray: What was the latter part of the question?

Senator Stewart: Were they carried in by aircraft?

Senator Frith: How did they get there?

Senator Murray: I think not, honourable senators. There is a Canadian Forces base there, as my honourable friend knows, but I would have to ask the Department of the Environment or the Department of National Defence to furnish a reply on that matter.

Senator Stewart: We look forward to the fulfilment of that verbal commitment!

REGULATIONS FOR TRANSPORTATION OF PCBs

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, there was also a question regarding which regulations under the Transportation of Dangerous Goods Act govern the transportation of PCBs and PCB wastes. I have a lengthy reply to that, which I will leave for my friend, the Deputy Leader of the Government, to table next week.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

CONSIDERATION OF SIXTY-FOURTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE— DEBATE CONTINUED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator LeBlanc, P.C., (Beauséjour), seconded by the Honourable Senator Haidasz, P.C., for the adoption of the Sixty-Fourth Report of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration (allegations against Senator Argue, P.C.), presented in the Senate on 14th September, 1988.—(Honourable Senator Doody).

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): I yield to Senator Murray.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, this report was presented by Senator LeBlanc on September 14. It has to do with certain allegations made against Senator Argue, allegations which have been documented and, by my reading of the report, proven. It includes the committee's conclusion that Senator Argue's course of behaviour is not justifiable and cannot be condoned.

If his actions cannot be condoned, that is, forgiven or overlooked, then what is the Senate to do or say in response? And what is Senator Argue to do or say in response to the stern judgment of his colleagues?

All of us here have had enough time to think about our responsibilities to ourselves, to the Senate, and, of course, to Senator Argue himself. It would be normal to ventilate the matter without delay, particularly at this late date in the life of this Parliament. However, as honourable senators are aware, this business is unfinished. It is noted in the report that various questions relating to Senator Argue's travel expenses are being investigated by the subcommittee of the standing committee and that its findings will be the subject of a separate report to the Senate in due course.

● (1410)

These questions are numerous and serious. The subcommittee, I may say, is well aware of the urgency we all attach to early completion of its examination. Senator Argue himself has given permission to various carriers to release the records of his travel to the committee, and the process of obtaining these records is now under way.

We have also been advised that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have begun an inquiry into Senator Argue's use of Senate resources on Mrs. Argue's political nomination campaign. I am sure all senators agree that the police must be given full cooperation by the Senate.

It would seem to me that it would be difficult, and perhaps premature, for this chamber to weigh the burden of the sixty-fourth report until the subcommittee has completed its examination into the matter of Senator Argue's travel expenses and reported to us, and until the police authorities have completed their work.

Honourable senators know that these unfinished examinations by the subcommittee and by the RCMP may well be overtaken by dissolution of this Parliament. Any police inquiry would, of course, go forward, but, constitutionally, the committee's mandate and activities are terminated with dissolution. In that case, I can say on behalf of my colleagues in the government caucus that this important matter would be the first order of business upon our return. I trust that that determination would be generally shared in the Senate.

The committee's recommendations would be on the table at the beginning of a new Parliament, as well as the finding that Senator Argue abused his senatorial privileges.

This is a matter of grave importance to all of us. It must and will be dealt with by the Senate as a whole when the unfinished examinations have been completed. Those who would believe that we harbour any intention to sweep the matter under the rug do not understand the resolve which I believe exists among members of the Senate.

On motion of Senator Argue, debate adjourned.

"WE GAVE TOO MUCH AND WERE NOT GIVEN ENOUGH"

ORDER STANDS

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the inquiry of the Honourable Senator Gigantès calling the attention of the Senate to the subject "we gave too much and were not given enough".—(Honourable Senator Gigantès).

Hon. Philippe Deane Gigantès: Honourable senators, I intend to speak on this later, but should any honourable senator wish to speak on this inquiry now, I have no objection.

Order stands.

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Subject to correction by any senator who wishes to speak, I move that all remaining orders stand.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

THE SENATE

OTTAWA CITIZEN ARTICLE OF NOVEMBER 18, 1986—INQUIRY STANDS

On Inquiry No. 1:

By the Honourable Senator Marshall:

That he will call the attention of the Senate to an article dated November 18, 1986, in the Ottawa Citizen, which in its imputations holds in contempt not only an institution of Parliament, but by extension all of its Members, and goes beyond the guarantees of freedom of expression under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

Hon. Jack Marshall: Stand!

Hon. Eymard G. Corbin: Honourable senators, on a point of order, on Tuesday, September 20, I asked Senator Marshall if he intended to speak soon on this inquiry, which has been standing in his name on the order paper for 21 months.

I believe I interpret him correctly when I say that he answered that he hoped to be in a position to speak before the writ was dropped, or something to that effect. I sensed some urgency in the house today. We have just heard a statement by the Leader of the Government, Senator Murray, that gives me the impression that, for reasons pending known perhaps to him alone, to put on the record what he had to say he had to do it today. I sensed some urgency in his decision to make that statement today.

Senator Murray: Aren't you glad you are in the Senate, and not the other place?

Senator Corbin: Otherwise, if we were to be sitting next week, he could have made his statement next week, in plenty of time before the writ is dropped.

I must ask Senator Marshall if he is any nearer dealing with his inquiry today than he was earlier this week.

Senator Marshall: Honourable senators, there is no one I respect more than Senator Corbin for the interest he takes in what I do in the Senate.

Since he reminded me on Tuesday that the inquiry had been on the order paper for quite a length of time, I have had a chance to reflect. However, I still have not made up my mind.

With regard to what the Leader of the Government in the Senate indicated today when he spoke, I may know a lot more than Senator Murray as to when the writ will be dropped!

Hon. Azellus Denis: Honourable senators, Senator Marshall is certainly improving. I remember some years ago when he had written questions by the hundreds. So I must congratulate him for having so few requests.

SOURIS RIVER, SASKATCHEWAN

AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY COMMITTEE AUTHORIZED TO STUDY GRANTING OF FEDERAL LICENCE

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat, pursuant to notice of Wednesday, September 21, 1988, moved:

That the Standing Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry be authorized to examine and report upon the granting of a water licence by the Federal Government to the Saskatchewan Government for works on the Souris River.

[The Hon. the Speaker.]

He said: Honourable senators, considering this matter to be urgent and believing that action should be taken quickly before construction proceeds, my first intention was to raise this as a matter of urgent public importance in order to bring it to the attention of the Senate. However, as honourable senators know, that procedure does not provide for any remedy. At the end of debate the Senate is aware of the problem, but no action is taken, because the practice is that the mover of the motion asks for it to be withdrawn.

Therefore, in order to get some action on this matter and find out the facts, which is really what concerns me, I decided that we should refer it to a committee. I realize that environmental matters are directly the concern of the Standing Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

Senator Barootes: What about the Fisheries Committee?

• (1420)

Senator Molgat: However, in this case we do not have an energy problem but, rather, an agricultural problem: Will this project have a bad effect upon the agricultural situation in Manitoba, in particular, which is a downstream province? In addition, are there other considerations, such as the effects on wildlife or on water supply to towns and to farmers along the course of the river?

There is a great deal of controversy at the moment on the granting of this licence. We have heard many different points of view with respect to it. We have heard that Saskatchewan did undertake some studies, but we know that no studies were conducted in Manitoba, which is the downstream province in this regard.

For those who are not familiar with this situation, the Souris River has its source in Saskatchewan, flows into the United States, comes back into Canada in Manitoba and empties into the Assiniboine River. From there the water flows into the Red River and, eventually, into Lake Winnipeg. The river, typical of prairie rivers, is subject to great changes in stream flow. It undergoes heavy flows in the spring runoff period, and yet, in a year like this, it has virtually no flow. But it is an important river, nonetheless, to those who live alongside it.

In my own province of Manitoba some towns, notably the town of Souris, depend on this river for their water supply. Many farmers in Manitoba also depend on it for irrigation projects they have put in place. They have made investments based on the water from that river. Over the years water has been guaranteed by a series of dams along the river system, notably one in the United States, so that there is sufficient annual flow to supply water to those people who presently depend on it.

The concern now is that, with the two dams proposed in Saskatchewan, there is no guarantee as to the quantity and, even more important, the quality of the water. Will those dams and the procedures that Saskatchewan has in mind have an effect upon the downstream water? It seems to me, therefore, that the logical thing to do before proceeding to grant this licence is to undertake a clear analysis of the effects of those dams on all downstream users. That has not been done thus far. One of the engineers of the federal government has been quoted as saying that no federal studies have been done because the project neither affects federal land nor involves federal spending. That may be, honourable senators, but it certainly could affect the downstream users. I am told by people in Manitoba that no study has been done to that effect.

My concern, then, is that we should not proceed with this project. It may turn out to be a very good one. I am not saying that it will not be. Nevertheless, we should not proceed with it until we are sure of the effects upon the neighbouring provinces—in this case, my province. I think it is important, therefore, that we refer this matter quickly to the Standing Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry to find out exactly where we stand.

I might say that we in the province of Manitoba have another concern in this regard. We have been told that, in order to make these two projects viable over the long term, it will probably mean the transfer of water from the Qu'Appelle River system into the Souris River. This would involve waters coming from an entirely different water system. It would involve the South Saskatchewan system, which is now connected by the Diefenbaker Lake with the Qu'Appelle. This entirely different water system brings water into the Souris River and eventually the Assiniboine and the Red.

Canadians have been going through a long-standing fight against the transfer of water by the Americans at the Garrison Dam system. We have effectively fought and won that fight. The Americans proceeded with the Garrison Dam system only insofar as it meant keeping water in the United States. Originally, it was their intention to transfer water from the Missouri system into the Red River system, but the International Joint Commission—and eventually the United States government—agreed that that should not be done; that there should not be transfers of water from one totally distinct river system into another because of the consequent transfer of all sorts of fish and organisms that do not belong in the second system.

So, honourable senators, we fought that fight not to have water from the Missouri system transferred into the Red River system, thus affecting Canada. But here we are today possibly doing the same thing in Canada, because it is proposed to transfer water from the Saskatchewan system into the Red River system eventually. There is concern about what effect that would have. But what is of more concern is that, if we agree to do that within Canada, how can we then say to the Americans: "You cannot do it." Therefore, if that is part of the long-term program, we should know about it right now and, in my opinion, we should oppose it, if it is part and parcel of the whole system.

Therefore, honourable senators, I think it is urgent that this matter be referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry. Let us find out what the facts are in this regard and then delay the project, if need be, until we are sure that we are not doing something we will regret at a later date.

I urge honourable senators to agree to this motion now so that the committee can start work on this matter next week. If we delay discussion of this matter, the risk is that the program will proceed in Saskatchewan. They will proceed with the dams, and we will then be faced with a fait accompli and it will be too late to do anything about it.

I urge honourable senators to pass the motion now and have the committee meet next week.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Hon. Efstathios William Barootes: I will adjourn the debate, honourable senators.

The Hon. the Speaker: Senator Barootes, I think the motion must first be put to the chamber, and then you can move the adjournment.

Honourable senators, it is moved by the Honourable Senator Molgat, seconded by the Honourable Senator Corbin:

That the Standing Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry be authorized to examine and report upon the granting of a water licence by the Federal Government to the Saskatchewan Government for works on the Souris River.

Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Some Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Senator Barootes: On division!

The Hon. the Speaker: Senator Barootes, you do not wish an adjournment?

Senator Barootes: Honourable senators, I should like to take the adjournment on this question.

The Hon. the Speaker: It is moved by the Honourable Senator Barootes, seconded by the Honourable Senator Doyle, that further debate be adjourned until the next sitting of the Senate. Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, on a point of order, before the motion was put, Senator Barootes asked to have the debate on the motion adjourned. However, the motion had not been put at that time. Then, when the motion was put, we said "Agreed", but he said, "On division." So the motion has carried, on division. Consequently, there is no motion on which debate can be adjourned.

The Hon. the Speaker: Senator Barootes, do you have any comment?

Senator Barootes: I ask the Chair to make a judgment.

The Hon. the Speaker: If we wish to stick to the rules, I do not think that Senator Molgat had put the motion first but, rather, made a speech on the motion before it was put to the chamber.

Senator Frith: But then Your Honour put the motion.

The Hon. the Speaker: However, if we go by the rules, then before I put the motion Senator Barootes wanted to adjourn the debate. Therefore, on a question of courtesy, I think that perhaps we should adjourn the debate.

Senator Frith: Your Honour, I do not think that is what took place. It may be that Senator Molgat spoke to the motion before Your Honour had put it to the chamber. That is what Your Honour has just said, and I think that is probably correct. However, no objection was taken and no point of order was raised. Then, after there was a suggestion of an adjournment of the debate, Your Honour said: "I have to put the motion." You then put the motion and some senators said "Agreed", and then Senator Barootes said, "On division."

● (1430)

So the motion is carried, on division, no matter what took place before that. There is no motion on which debate can be adjourned. I do not think there is any question of balance at all, Your Honour. It is quite clear that Your Honour did put the motion, and it was carried, on division. So it is over and we go on to the next order of business.

Senator Barootes: The misunderstanding on my part was that when Senator Molgat spoke he did not ask that the motion be put. My understanding was that he urged that we give attention to this expeditiously—and I may be paraphrasing. On that basis I felt that I wanted to have the opportunity to discuss the pros and cons of his motion. That is when I asked if I could adjourn the debate. There might have been a misunderstanding on my part, or a misinterpretation, but that is where that difficulty arose.

I am not in great discomfort with having this referred to committee, but I wanted to do some research and make some comments on it before it was referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry—although, as I jokingly said, perhaps it should go to the Fisheries Committee, because you are really fishing, Senator Molgat.

Aside from that, I am not discomfited by the decision that has been reached, which our "William Pitt the Younger" over here has corrected us on.

The Hon. the Speaker: So, Senator Barootes, you agree that the motion be carried, on division.

Senator Barootes: On division!

Motion agreed to, on division.

The Senate adjourned during pleasure.

At 4 p.m. the sitting of the Senate was resumed.

The Senate adjourned during pleasure.

ROYAL ASSENT

The Honourable Gérard V.J. La Forest, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, in his capacity as Deputy Governor General, having come and being seated at the foot of the Throne, and the House of Commons having been summoned, and being come with their Deputy Speaker, the Honourable the Deputy Governor General was pleased to give the Royal Assent to the following bills:

An Act to amend the Tax Court of Canada Act and other Acts in consequence thereof (Bill C-146, Chapter 61, 1988)

An Act to protect heritage railway stations (Bill C-205, Chapter 62, 1988)

The House of Commons withdrew.

The Honourable the Deputy Governor General was pleased to retire.

The sitting of the Senate was resumed.

The Senate adjourned until Tuesday, September 27, 1988, at 2 p.m.

THE SENATE

Tuesday, September 27, 1988

The Senate met at 2 p.m., the Speaker in the Chair.

Prayers.

CANADA CHILD CARE BILL

FIRST READING

The Hon. the Speaker informed the Senate that a message had been received from the House of Commons with Bill C-144, to authorize payments by Canada toward the provision of child care services, and to amend the Canada Assistance Plan in consequence thereof.

Bill read first time.

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the second time?

Hon. Brenda M. Robertson: With leave, later this day.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, as Senator Doody pointed out last Thursday, we were aware last week that the House of Commons put in place a house order requiring that all questions on this bill be put in the other place last night. Second reading debate on the bill here would normally require two days' notice, which would mean that we would have to wait until Thursday to begin. In effect, however, we received notice that the bill would arrive here today. Senator Doody and I agreed, therefore, that leave should be granted to commence second reading debate today.

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): But we all have to agree, of course.

Senator Frith: That is quite right. I must not let that go by. We must all agree. I simply remind honourable senators that Senator Doody informed the Senate of this agreement on Thursday and we all agreed to it.

On motion of Senator Robertson, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 44(1)(f), bill placed on the Orders of the Day for second reading later this day.

CANADA-UNITED STATES FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

PETITION TABLED

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I have been asked to table as a petition a document, addressed to Senator MacEachen, containing over 500 signatures; of course, I do not intend to read them all. This petition expresses support for the Senate's stand to stall the free trade legislation so that an election will be called and Canadians will have the opportunity to vote on this deal.

It states further:

We think this is the biggest issue we have faced in the history of our country and that it is about whether or not we want Canada to exist as an independent nation.

It is Prime Minister Brian Mulroney who suspended democracy in Canada when he negotiated this deal without a mandate from the Canadian people. We thank you for restoring democracy in Canada and ask that you not back down until we have the opportunity to vote on free trade in a general election.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Ottenheimer: Author! Author!

Senator Frith: Oh, does the honourable senator want me to read all of these names? Very well; I had not intended to, but I will if that is his wish.

Hon. Jacques Flynn: On a point of order, if that is addressed to Senator MacEachen, why are you reading it? Can he not read it himself?

Senator Frith: It was presented to me for the purpose of presenting it to the Senate as a petition, and I have been authorized to do so.

Senator Flynn: Presented to you by whom?

Senator Frith: I will tell you. There are 500 names here.

Senator Flynn: You said that it was addressed to Senator MacEachen.

Senator Frith: Yes, and I have told you why I am presenting it. What is your next question?

Senator Flynn: Can Senator MacEachen not speak for himself?

Senator Frith: He can speak for himself. I will say it again, after Senator Barootes asks his question.

Hon. Efstathios William Barootes: When did Senator MacEachen write the preamble to that?

Senator Frith: "Never" is the answer to your question. Is there another question, Senator Barootes?

Senator Barootes: No.

Senator Frith: I am sure honourable senators do not want me to read all the names.

Some Hon. Senators: Yes!

Senator Asselin: No.

Senator Frith: Senator Asselin says no.

The Hon. the Speaker: The "nays" have it.

Senator Frith: His Honour says that the "nays" have it. As I was saying, this is presented as a petition to the Senate.

Senator Doody: On behalf of Senator MacEachen.

Senator Frith: No, on behalf of 500 names, all signed. Petition tabled.

QUESTION PERIOD

FISHERIES

TRADE—UNITED STATES' CANCELLATION OF PERISHABLE PRODUCT AGREEMENTS

Hon. Raymond J. Perrault: Honourable senators, I have an inquiry to make of the Leader of the Government in the Senate. I do not expect him to have the information at hand.

In recent hours the representatives of the fishing industry of British Columbia have drawn to my attention, and to the attention of certain other members representing British Columbia, that effective September 29 all perishable product agreements between importers and the U.S. Department of Agriculture are cancelled.

The U.S. definition of a "perishable product" has also been clarified and refined. Perishable products are defined as fresh fish and seafood and fresh fruits and vegetables with a storage life of seven days or less, for example, under the conditions described in the U.S.D.A. handbook. Should this regulation be implemented, I am told that the implications of this U.S. action are that Canadian fish will be held at the U.S. border point for more than 24 hours.

Members of the Standing Senate Committee on Fisheries, including the chairman, Senator Marshall, will agree that there are certain types of highly perishable fish. They are the best quality fish that we export, and time to market is of critical importance.

The proposal is that all shipments must be held intact at destination until a signed-off FD-701 is received or the shipment is sampled. May I read from the official U.S. document?

If a shipment is not held, we will request that U.S. Customs issue a Redelivery Notice. A decision to release or sample an entry will be made as soon as possible but no later than the next working day if all required information is supplied with the FD-701.

There seems to be some confusion and great concern in the fishing industry on the west coast. I suggest that this could equally apply to the maritime fisheries. It could be a form of harassment—although we hope not—by U.S. Fisheries officials to lessen competition from Canada. In the spirit of understanding developing between our two countries, surely it is inappropriate for U.S. officials at this time to present a block to the free flow of trade across the border.

[Senator Frith.]

I ask the Leader of the Government to make an inquiry and bring that information to the Senate at the earliest possible opportunity.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, Senator Perrault is correct in assuming that I would have to ask for a report from my colleague, the Minister of International Trade, on this matter. I shall do so at once.

ENERGY

TAR SANDS PROCESSING PLANT, FORT McMURRAY, ALBERTA—EFFECT OF OSLO AGREEMENT

Hon. H.A. Olson: Honourable senators, I should like to ask a question of the Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations. Could he clarify the terms and conditions of the so-called OSLO Agreement, which is an agreement between federal and provincial governments and the private sector to build a tar sands processing plant at Fort McMurray?

I have been asking questions about this for months. Certainly, when the announcement is made that it will go ahead, I shall welcome it, except that the more I read about the agreement and the contingencies, where any of the parties can back out until 1991, the more uncertain I am about whether or not construction will ever go ahead.

Many people in Fort McMurray are now more confused than ever about what their plans should be in order to take advantage of the economic activity that is likely to be generated from building a $4 billion plant in that area.

My concern is that, if contingencies such as the price of oil are not more than $17 a barrel at that time, any of the parties can back out and kill the project, as they can if the cost of the project goes up beyond $4 billion. A whole lot of other contingencies could give reason, within the terms of the agreement, for either side—the government or the private sector and either one of the two levels of government—to withdraw the support that they have given to this agreement.

I ask the minister if the government will clear up some of these questions so that there can be some certainty. Or was the agreement designed simply to put in a two- or three-year delay? As we understand it, the agreement states clearly that no construction will begin until 1991, and all of these contingencies have to be met or each party signing the agreement may withdraw its endorsement of it. Why throw out this kind of confusion? The people in Fort McMurray, including municipal officials, are wondering if there is any substance to it or if it was just a deliberate attempt to delay for two or three years.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, my friend may have the opportunity, if he wants to seek it, to have the appropriate ministers appear before the Energy Committee of the Senate to discuss these matters. If he wants to make an argument now, I am not sure—and it is certainly not clear—what he is likely to propose as an alternative.

A statement of principles was agreed to among the governments and the members of the consortium. Of course there is an economic viability escape clause there, but the position of the government is that we do not believe that short-term oil prices are necessarily any guide to the future.

The governments and the private sector, as partners, have gone as far as they prudently can in terms of taking fluctuating oil prices into account. It is a complicated agreement; I commend it to the honourable senator. I think he should read it and study it. I do not think it creates confusion at all.

With respect to the economic benefits, which the honourable senator mentioned, they are considerable. We are talking about 17,000 person-years to be created during the construction phase and 800 permanent jobs during the operating phase. So it is an important project, both from the point of view of energy security and as a foundation of energy policy, as well as in terms of regional development and the national interest. But the government and the private sector sponsors could not be expected to commit themselves beyond a point that would be prudent for the taxpayers and the shareholders.

● (1410)

Senator Olson: Honourable senators, I have no disagreement that this is an important project, with all the economic benefits my honourable friend has just outlined—if it goes forward. The problem is that no one has really made a commitment that it will go forward at all unless the contingencies spelled out in the agreement are met by the date when construction is to begin, which is in 1991. That is where the problem comes in; that is why many people, including the municipal officials in Fort McMurray, are wondering what it all means. They agree, and I agree, that we should be building processing plants to make use of the largest reserve of oil known in the world. It is a fact that there is a larger reserve of oil in that deposit than there is even in the Middle East. It is, of course, obviously a great deal more expensive to bring that oil to a usable condition, and part of the expense will be this plant. That is why I am asking the minister whether or not we have the courage in this country to commit ourselves to go ahead and increase Canada's capability by approximately an additional 8 per cent of our yearly requirements. If we do have the courage, why, then, are there all these contingencies?

Honourable senators, no one will attempt to take advantage of any potential economic activity that might be generated in this area knowing that any one of the parties to the agreement can back out and that, therefore, there may be no construction at all. What, then, is the announcement good for, except simply saying: "We are not going to do anything more until 1991. When 1991 comes along, if all of these conditions we have put in the agreement are met, then construction can begin."

Honourable senators, that is the problem with this announcement. I hope the minister can give some reassurance to those Canadians who are interested in the 17,000 jobs that will be created by this project, many in Fort McMurray and in other parts of the country, that this government has more faith and confidence in enhancing Canadian supply of oil than simply postponing everything for three years.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, with great respect, I think my friend is really straining to try to find something to criticize in this agreement; to try to find some way of casting doubt on the bona fides of the commitments that have been made by the federal and provincial governments and by the private-sector partners. I commend to his attention the statement made by the vice president of Esso Resources Canada Ltd., Gordon Wilmon, who said:

OSLO is commercially viable under any realistic pricing scenario. If it weren't, our company wouldn't be in it. The agreement is fair and beneficial to all parties and underscores their shared abilities to equitably manage the risk associated with starting such a large capital-intensive project.

My colleague Marcel Masse, the Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources, said:

All parties are taking their fair share of the risks to bring OSLO to life and all will reap their fair share of the benefits.

His counterpart in Alberta, Dr. P. Neil Webber, said:

Oil sands development is a major goal of this government. Aside from the economic spinoffs, Albertans and Canadians will enjoy a good return from their investment in OSLO. Furthermore, the development and upgrading of Alberta's rich resources assure Canada of another stable, long-term source of light crude oil.

As the honourable senator knows, because he alluded to this fact earlier, within a few years our supplies of oil from conventional sources will be half of what they were in 1980. Therefore, going ahead with OSLO and a number of other energy projects that have been announced recently—and scorned by the leader of the honourable senator's party, Mr. Turner, and others for political purposes—is very important to Canada's energy security and to both regional and national development in this country. I should hope that my friend, unlike the Right Honourable John Turner, would take a rather more positive approach to these matters.

Senator Olson: Honourable senators, I am asking the government to take a more positive approach to its own actions. If all these things that the senator has just said are true, why is the government putting all these escape hatches in the agreement?

THE ENVIRONMENT

AIR TRANSPORTATION OF PCB WASTES—APPLICATION OF PROHIBITION

Hon. John B. Stewart: Honourable senators, I rise to ask the Leader of the Government a question on a different subject. Last Thursday the Leader of the Government in the Senate told us that the largest federal repository of PCB wastes in Canada is at Goose Bay. He mentioned 3,000 tonnes. I understand that the Minister of the Environment, prompted by information that one of Canada's airlines was carrying PCB wastes, has asked that Canadian airlines cease transporting PCB wastes. I want to ask, if that is true, what prohibition has been imposed upon the civil airlines. I also want to ask if aircraft operated by Canadian Forces have also been placed under this prohibition, and will the prohibition apply to any other aircraft flying in Canadian air space?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I am not aware that my colleague has instructed Canadian Airlines not to carry—

Senator Stewart: I said "Canadian airlines", not the company Canadian Airlines.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I must say that I do not have that information. The information I have is dated yesterday.

We are aware that Air Canada sent three shipments of PCB wastes aboard its own aircraft to Heathrow Airport on the way to Wales for destruction. These shipments took place in accordance with Canadian transportation of dangerous goods regulations. The U.K. authorities were notified in advance, but did not object to these shipments. Nor, by the way, have they contacted the Canadian government about denying landing rights to Air Canada at Heathrow.

The position of the Canadian government is that consignments of hazardous wastes, including PCBs, may be transported by air, provided that: first, each shipment is inspected by transportation of dangerous goods inspectors and provincial inspectors to ensure compliance with Canadian regulations and the International Air Code; second, the receiving country does not object to the TDG, transportation of dangerous goods, 60-day notification; third, the disposal facility where the waste is going is licensed under standards equivalent to Canadian standards. I am informed that shipping PCB wastes by air is not a common practice in Canada because of special packaging requirements and high cost of transportation.

I have another statement here under today's date which says that all countries should aim to establish adequate disposal facilities to manage their own hazardous wastes. However, at present Canada does not have the facilities necessary to destroy PCB wastes. Therefore, PCB wastes must be stored in Canada and its safety must be assured. The minister has issued an interim order under the Canadian Environmental Protection Act that prescribes stringent storage requirements; secondly, to ensure the expeditious destruction of PCB wastes in storage, the minister has announced major funding for a transportable incinerator, along with putting in place appropriate regulations.

The minister goes on to say that we must recognize that efficient and environmentally sound management of hazardous wastes may require some trans-frontier movement of such wastes to allow us to use properly licensed disposal facilities in other countries. When these export shipments take place, they are subject to stringent safety and notification requirements included in the transportation of dangerous goods regulations and international codes in order to protect public health and the environment.

[Senator Stewart.]

● (1420)

Senator Stewart: Honourable senators, I thank the Leader of the Government in the Senate for his response. I must say that it is not very reassuring, because what he tells us is that PCB wastes can be carried by civil airlines in Canada and, presumably, they can be carried on aircraft operated by the Canadian Armed Forces or any other aircraft flying in Canadian airspace.

I do not know why he emphasizes the fact that the British authorities did not object to the aircraft operated by Air Canada at Heathrow. I am concerned with the Canadian situation.

Will he not go back to the Minister of the Environment and ascertain if he cannot take some additional steps with regard to these three categories of aircraft, which might, if not prevented from doing so, find themselves carrying PCB wastes over Canadian territory?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I shall make inquiries of my colleague on that matter. Senator Stewart, in his earlier question, suggested that the minister had taken some steps with regard to a particular airline. I shall ask Mr. McMillan whether he has any further information to give us on that.

SPORT

XXIV OLYMPIAD—BEN JOHNSON—STRIPPING OF 100-METRE SPRINT GOLD MEDAL AND DISQUALIFICATION—REQUEST FOR COMPREHENSIVE INVESTIGATION—AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS TO ELIMINATE DRUG ABUSE

Hon. Raymond J. Perrault: Honourable senators, the events of recent hours have been sad and traumatic for all Canadians, and I know that all in this chamber agree that every effort must be made to ascertain the facts in the Ben Johnson case.

Our system regards a person as innocent until proven guilty. I would seek assurance from the Leader of the Government in this place that the most comprehensive investigation will be made of all of the medical and other grounds that led the Olympic Committee to strip the gold medal from Mr. Johnson, which he had won by his victory in the 100-metre event at the Olympic Games.

On the face of it, we are told by a medical panel that illicit substances were used by Mr. Johnson. Spokesmen for the Canadian team have told us that there was every possibility that some kind of liquid could have been injected into his drinking water prior to the event. However, before anyone condemns Ben Johnson, let us get all the facts.

I had responsibility for this area of activity at one point in my career and I know thousands of athletes who are working selflessly to represent Canada honourably at international and domestic events. We must not allow a pall to be cast over all of those who are working so earnestly to represent this country in the field of athletic endeavour.

Can and will the government today assure us that the Minister of State for Fitness and Amateur Sport will give us a little more than the statement, which he issued a few minutes after Johnson's banning, that Johnson will be cut off from federal government funding for the rest of his life—a statement he made before all of the facts have been made known? The announcement suggested that Mr. Johnson would be deprived of all of his rights as a Canadian athlete. I think that was a hasty judgment on the part of the minister and I hope it does not represent the view of the cabinet.

If there was wrongdoing—and there is overwhelming evidence that there was, and if that is demonstrated, we need an in-depth probe to find others who may have been responsible for leading this athlete to the decision to use an illicit substance. If, in fact, Ben Johnson used steroids, it may not have been a “solo” performance.

I think it can be said, without any contradiction, that Canada has been one of the leading nations of the world in the fight against drug abuse in athletics. That was the nature of our reputation under the previous government and it is the nature of our reputation under this government. We can tolerate only one standard: the very highest.

Just a few hours ago in Seoul one of our highly placed representatives from the ministry responsible for sport made the statement that it is impossible to undertake all of the drug testing necessary in the area of sports in Canada because there is just not enough money. Can we receive an assurance from the government, through the Leader of the Government in the Senate, first, that there will be an immediate probe to get all of the facts relating to the Ben Johnson tragedy out on the table, regardless of who is hurt and who is helped in the process; and, secondly, that there will be adequate funds to conduct an unrelenting campaign against the use of drugs in athletics, a problem which threatens the very substance and essence of the Olympic principle?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, first of all, I agree that Canada has for some time been a leader in the area of drug testing and doping control. The policy that was brought in on this matter by our predecessors in 1983 was considerably reinforced by the present government in 1985. Naturally, an incident like this leads those responsible to examine processes and programs to see what other steps can be taken to prevent the use of drugs in sports and sports programs. They will be considering other initiatives, such as accelerated testing programs targeted at selected high-incidence sports; increased out-of-competition testing without prior notice; a review of the sanctions directed at athletes, coaches and administrators; an enhanced education program; continued efforts internationally at promoting uniform practices, policies and standards; and so forth. This is not to say that our program in this country has not been one of the best in the world. It has been, but at a time like this one does want to look at all elements of the policy.

Where I differ with the honourable senator is in the implication that, in this case, there has been any disregard of due process. The evidence has been that due process was followed by the Olympic authorities. I remind the honourable senator, who must know, some of these people from his international experience as minister, that their judgment on the matter was unanimous and that they made that judgment after giving the representatives of the Canadian delegation full opportunity to present to them various alternative scenarios that might have explained the presence of those substances in Mr. Johnson's urine sample. They considered all those hypotheses and they rejected them unanimously.

Senator Perrault: Well, honourable senators, the Leader of the Government has made statements which I think are open to challenges. There was a chemical test administered—indeed, I think there were two tests to two samples produced by Mr. Johnson. But we have not had a full investigation into the possible circumstances relating to the manner in which those substances found their way into Mr. Johnson's blood stream. There has been a totally inadequate amount of time for that.

● (1430)

What I think some of us are saying—and I think many Canadians share this opinion—is that we need not only a medical report but an investigative report, which will assure us that, indeed, guilt has been fully established or innocence has been fully established. For the Minister of State for Fitness and Amateur Sport to announce a few minutes after the chemical testing had been completed that Mr. Johnson will be banned forever from sports in Canada and immediately cut off from any source of funding is, to say the least, draconian.

When Mr. Johnson returns to Canada, will there be any arrangements to set up a meeting with him and his coach, and other members associated with him in the coaching unit, to determine whether there was any possible way in which these illicit substances were innocently ingested by Mr. Johnson? That is an important question. Apart from anything else, the honour of the nation is at stake here. If guilt has been established, we should be absolutely relentless in our pursuit of all the facts. We should determine whether other sectors of amateur sport are afflicted by this malady—and I suspect that at least to some extent weightlifting is affected by this problem. What are we going to do to get rid of this curse of drug usage?

Does the statement made by the Minister of State for Fitness and Amateur Sport represent the final word of the government on this matter? If it does, that is a very unsatisfactory cover-up and will only lead to further abuse in the future.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I shall ask my colleague Mr. Charest whether he has anything further to add, but I resent very much the use of the expression “cover-up” directed at the government.

The honourable senator knows from his own experience that the first people to cry foul and to express, quite properly, their resentment at any government interference in their business are the people involved with sports and the Olympics. He knows that as well as I do.

Again, I ask my friend to recognize that there was due process in this matter. The one area on which I will agree with him, just on the face of it, is that there is probably more than one person involved in all of this. I trust that whatever investigation is under way by the Olympic authorities will bring out all of the facts in this regard.

Senator Perrault: I withdraw the expression "cover-up", because I want to be meticulously fair in this exchange.

When Abby Hoffman, an Olympic medalist and former athlete of great distinction who now serves this government, and is serving it very well, states that the resources simply do not exist to measure the full impact of illicit drug usage in sports in Canada, then we need an assurance that the resources will be found or that there will be at least some program put in place to provide the Fitness and Amateur Sport Department with the strength to help ferret out drug abuse wherever it may exist in Canada's sports programs.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, again my honourable friend must know that we are at the beginning of a process here. The science, technology and innovation in that particular field consistently run ahead of the ability of the government and enforcement agencies to detect this effectively. That point was made in public last evening by some of the experts who serve the Olympic authorities. My friend must have been following the various news conferences last evening, as I was and as I suspect most Canadians were.

This is a very, very sad day for all Canadians, but I disagree with my honourable friend—the honour of this nation is not at stake.

Senator Perrault: The leader contradicts almost every member of the Canadian team meeting members of the international community in Seoul. I think the honour of the country is in question, and I think we have a repair job to do.

Senator Murray: The honour of the country is not quite as fragile as that.

Senator Perrault: We have a disagreement, then.

HUMAN RIGHTS

JAPANESE CANADIANS—GOVERNMENT COMPENSATION— EFFECTIVE DATE AND APPLICABILITY

Hon. Jeremiah S. Grafstein: I have a question for the Leader of the Government in the Senate. First, I want briefly to commend the government for the announcement made on September 22 with respect to compensating Canadian citizens of Japanese descent for actions taken during the war and following.

The question I have for the Leader of the Government in the Senate is: When is the effective date of the measures respecting partial compensation for Canadian citizens of Japanese descent and to whom does it apply?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): What was the latter part of the question?

[Senator Murray.]

Senator Grafstein: What is the effective date when Canadians of Japanese descent can claim, and to whom does it specifically apply?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I have some information on that matter, but I would have to take those specific questions as notice, at least while I pour through the documents I have in front of me.

Senator Grafstein: While the Leader of the Government is perusing his notes, perhaps I can make a further comment. This matter, as the Leader of the Government in the Senate will recall, was first promised by Mr. Mulroney in June of 1984. We were told in response to questions I raised in December of 1984 that the matter was under active consideration. I raised the question 19 times in the Senate, only to be told each time that either the matter was being considered or there was no response. I hope that when the government is giving consideration to this matter, if it has not already, it will take the effective date as being the date when the matter was first announced by the Leader of the Government in the Senate—the first possible date probably being when the government was elected.

The reason I say that is that some say slow justice is no justice; others say justice delayed is justice denied. I think it is very important that those Canadians of Japanese descent who, in the last four years, were concerned about this question might be considered for compensation.

Senator Murray: The answer to my honourable friend's question is that only persons alive at the date of the signing of the terms of agreement would be entitled to the redress described in the agreement.

Senator Grafstein: Perhaps the government could take it under advisement as to whether or not they would consider making the date the effective date when the government took office in 1984.

Senator Flynn: The agreement has been signed!

DELAYED ANSWERS TO ORAL QUESTIONS

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have a number of delayed answers. I shall identify them, and if honourable senators wish me to read a particular answer I will; otherwise, I shall ask that they be printed as part of today's proceedings.

POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION

GOVERNMENT ACTION OR POLICY

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have a delayed answer in response to a question asked in the Senate on September 1, by the Honourable J.B. Stewart, regarding Post-secondary Education—Government Action or Policy.

The answer follows:

The National Forum on Post-Secondary Education established a broad and enthusiastic partnership of all those interested in post-secondary education, and instilled a determination to work together in a number of key areas, including accessibility and student assistance; international students; university research; and data and research on post-secondary education. Building on the success of the Forum, the Council of Ministers of Education-Canada (CMEC) has created the Committee of Ministers Responsible for Post-Secondary Education, a new mechanism of regular consultation with the Secretary of State and major national organizations. The Honourable Lucien Bouchard met with the Committee and representatives of the key national interest groups in early June. At that time, he renewed the government's commitment to post-secondary education and announced a major initiative in the area of the official languages in education.

To help the government address the issue of student assistance and accessibility, the first of the four priorities identified by participants at the Forum, two groups have been established to help examine the Canada Student Loans Program. The National Advisory Group on Student Assistance includes representatives of major student organizations, university and college administrators and financial institutions. The Intergovernmental Consultative Committee on Student Financial Assistance is composed of officials from the provinces and territories, as well as representatives of the Department of the Secretary of State.

With the valuable insight and guidance provided by these two bodies, the government plans to move rapidly to make administrative and legislative changes to deal with student debt-load and repayment difficulties and enhance access for disabled and part-time students, as well as single parents.

Secondly, recognizing the many benefits of welcoming international students to our post-secondary institutions, the minister and his colleagues are working with the provinces, the private sector and non-governmental organizations to encourage these students to study here. Already, a number of important policy changes at the federal level reflect their efforts: student visa fees have not been introduced, employment restrictions for international students and their spouses have been reduced, and a doubling of CIDA-assisted students and trainees over the next five years, to a total of 12,000 students a year, has been announced. It is anticipated that half of these CIDA-assisted students will be trained in Canada.

The Department of the Secretary of State is continuing to consult with key organizations, in order to develop better coordination on the issue of international students. The department is also supporting several research studies related to this important area, including a survey of international students while in Canada and a study on West German students who have studied here. In addition, the department is cooperating with other federal departments in financing the production of better data on international students, and funding a film to promote public awareness of how Canada gains from the presence of these students.

Senator Stewart may already be aware of the significant strides that have been made in the past year towards strengthening Canada's research capabilities, the third area on which the government is focusing its attention. Part of the $1.3 billion in additional funding that the government will be spending for science and technology over the next five years will be used to establish networks of centres of excellence across the country and provide scholarships for those entering science and engineering programs. Moreover, the research granting councils have recently seen their aggregate budget increased by $200 million. These measures will encourage young Canadians to direct their energies into these vital fields and create partnerships between our post-secondary institutions and industry.

Of increasing importance to the overall effort to meet the challenges and opportunities of the 21st century are improved national research and data bases on post-secondary education, the last of the four priorities targeted in Saskatoon. The provinces and territories are working with Statistics Canada to improve the educational data currently available. In the area of research, the department sponsored a meeting organized by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) last May, which allowed representatives of government and post-secondary interest groups to share existing research and identify topics for further investigation. The two orders of government are exploring ways to intensify their collaboration in this field and to support increased research into post-secondary education itself.

Finally, there has been considerable progress by this government in the area of official languages. A central part of our official languages policy is support for minority language education and second official language instruction at all levels of the educational system. Through bilateral agreements with the provinces and territories, the federal government provides substantial funding for these programs. On June 7, the Secretary of State announced that $1.2 billion, representing an increase of $145 million over the previous five years, would be made available for official languages in education during the period ending 1992-93. Post-secondary education for Francophones living outside Quebec will remain a top priority under the bilateral agreements, along with the expansion and development of teacher preparation programs for minority and second language teachers.

SOLICITOR GENERAL

CANADIAN SECURITY INTELLIGENCE SERVICE—REQUEST FOR CONFIDENTIAL FILES FROM PROVINCES

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have a delayed answer in response to a question asked in the Senate on September 1, by the Honourable H.A. Olson, regarding Solicitor General—Canadian Security Intelligence Service—Request for Confidential Files from Provinces.

The answer follows:

CSIS has authority under the CSIS Act to make arrangements to facilitate cooperation and exchange of information with the provinces and police forces within provinces. Under these arrangements there is no indiscriminate trading of files. These exchanges of information are all subject to the provisions of Access and Privacy Laws and of equivalent provincial legislation. Any agreements between CSIS and the provinces must, by law, be given to the Security Intelligence Review Committee. The Committee has reviewed the agreements in the light of the Privacy Act and has found them to be "unobjectionable".

AGRICULTURE

EFFECT OF ACID RAIN ON MAPLE SYRUP PRODUCTION IN QUEBEC—GOVERNMENT ACTION

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have the response to questions of September 7 by Senator Hays and Senator Bonnell regarding Agriculture—Effect of Acid Rain on Maple Syrup Production—Government Action.

The answer follows:

Factors associated with forest decline in Quebec are: atmospheric pollution, climatic variations, insect infestations, and improper forest management.

In December 1987, the Quebec Agricultural Producers Union (APU) presented a memorandum to the Cabinet Committee on Acid Rain outlining the long term effects maple decline could have on the maple sugar industry. The Prime Minister indicated on February 6, 1988, in Ste-Marie de Beauce, that Canada would take all the necessary measures to fight acid rain, a problem considered by many to be the major cause of maple decline. The APU again appealed to the Prime Minister in March 1988 requesting that more intensive research be undertaken and that a fertilization program be initiated.

In April 1988, the Canadian Forestry Service (CFS) sponsored a workshop attended by experts on acid rain. As a result of the workshop, scientific and technical personnel from the CFS have since developed a program proposal, to be cost-shared between the federal and provincial governments and industry, which addresses the request made by the APU to the Prime Minister. The provincial department of Energy and Resources in cooperation with the industry—Agricultural Producers Union, Federation of Wood Producers and the Maple Producers Co-op—were also active participants in the development of the proposal.

[Senator Doody.]

The proposal is presently before the respective federal and provincial ministers for authorization, and an announcement is anticipated in the very near future.

NATIONAL DEFENCE

NUCLEAR-POWERED SUBMARINES—SUGGESTED PURCHASE OF BRITISH VESSELS

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have a delayed answer in response to a question asked in the Senate on September 15, by the Honourable M. Lorne Bonnell, regarding National Defence—Nuclear-Powered Submarines—Suggested Purchase of British Vessels.

The answer follows:

The evaluation process of the proposals by France and the United Kingdom for a nuclear-propelled submarine design has not yet been completed. It is not the intention of the government to link the choice of the submarine design for the Canadian Navy to any extraneous consideration.

THE ENVIRONMENT

ISSUANCE OF LICENCE FOR RAFFERTY-ALAMEDA DAMS PROJECT—PROTECTION OF MANITOBA'S INTERESTS—RESPONSIBILITY OF GOVERNMENT TO CONDUCT STUDY

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have a delayed answer in response to questions asked in the Senate on September 20 and 21 by the Honourable Gildas L. Molgat regarding Issuance of Licence for Rafferty-Alameda Dams Project—Protection of Manitoba's Interests—Responsibility of Government to Conduct Study.

The answer follows:

There is no federal legislation dealing with interprovincial water-control projects. If these projects have impacts which more directly involve federal responsibilities, these are assessed under the terms of the appropriate federal legislation.

A federal licence was required for the Rafferty Dam project because the project is located on a stream, the waters of which eventually flow into the United States. The licence was issued under the terms of the International River Improvements Act (IRIA). The conditions attached to the licence ensure that international obligations are met.

Moreover, in any activity that involves Canada and the U.S., Canada works with provincial and U.S. authorities in order to see that individual provincial interests are protected and the necessary evaluations carried out.

ORDER PAPER QUESTION

LAPRADE FUND—REQUEST FOR ANSWER

Hon. B. Alasdair Graham: Honourable senators, I address this question to the Leader of the Government in the Senate. I am impressed by the five delayed answers that the Deputy Leader of the Government has given. I want to refer again to a question that I asked 20 months ago, in February 1987, with respect to the LaPrade Fund. I have raised this question again and again, most recently in the Senate on September 13, at which time I asked if Senator Murray could enlighten us as to the reason for the undue delay in responding to the question. To quote Senator Murray on that occasion, he said:

I regret that I cannot do so, honourable senators, but I shall do my best to expedite a reply.

I am wondering if Senator Murray is any closer to giving us a response; if not, could he explain the reasons for the delay?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I made some inquiries about that matter following my exchange with the honourable senator. If my recollection is correct, the reply was ready but was then withdrawn while the department brought up to date some of the statistics contained in it. I expect to have the answer the honourable senator is seeking any day now.

ANSWER TO ORDER PAPER QUESTION
CANADA POST CORPORATION

RURAL POST OFFICES

Question No. 45 on the Order Paper—By Hon. M. Lorne Bonnell:

28th June, 1988—1. Does Canada Post have plans to close many rural post offices in Canada during the next eight years?

2. If the answer to the above is yes, how many rural post offices in Canada will be closed or franchised to private enterprise during the next eight years?

3. How many people are employed by Canada Post in rural post offices in Canada?

4. What percentage of these employees are women?

5. How many of these rural post offices will be franchised out during the next eight years?

6. How many of these rural franchises will be open for stamp counters only?

7. How many of these rural post offices will give full postal services?

8. How many of these rural post offices will be privatized or franchised out in Atlantic Canada during the next eight years?

9. How many rural post offices have been considered for privatization or franchise in Prince Edward Island during the next eight years?

10. Which rural post offices in Prince Edward Island are under consideration for closing or franchising in the next eight years?

Reply by the Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs:

1. Canada's rural communities are vital to Canada Post. In fact, one of the most important parts of Canada Post's commitment is making postal products and services more accessible to rural Canadians. To help do this, the Corporation plans to use the resources and the expertise of the private sector. Where practical, Canada Post is approaching local business people in communities across the country offering them the opportunity to provide postal products and services through their businesses. As a result, customers will be able to buy postal products or services in attractive locations at convenient hours, often including evenings and weekends.

At this time, any changes to rural post offices will result only from natural opportunities such as the resignation, retirement or promotion of the postmaster, loss of the post office site, or on the initiative of the community itself. In these cases, a comparable level of service will be maintained, even if there is a change in the method or location of that service.

The Corporation will provide at least 90 days' notice of such changes to allow input from those affected. This period will allow the Corporation to hear from people in the community who wish to make their views known.

2. Because each office is evaluated on a case-by-case basis as a result of natural opportunities, it is impossible to provide such a number.

3. Number of CPC employees who are members of the Canadian Postmasters and Assistants Association—9,401. Not one postmaster has been put out of work as a result of this program.

4. 82 per cent are women.

5. Not available—see number 2.

6. Rural franchises are full service postal outlets. The vast majority of rural post offices converted to the private sector will provide full retail services. However, specific numbers are not available as each outlet will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

7. See number 6.

8. Not available—see number 2.

9. Not available—see number 2.

10. Not available—see number 2.

THE LATE HONOURABLE CAMERON IRWIN
McINTOSH

FORMER LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR OF SASKATCHEWAN—
TRIBUTES

Hon. Sidney L. Buckwold: Honourable senators, I wish to draw to the attention of the Senate the untimely death of the former Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan, the Honourable Cameron Irwin McIntosh, whose home was in North Battleford. He died at the age of 62.

Honourable senators, Mr. McIntosh held his appointment from 1978 to 1983. When he was named he was the youngest lieutenant governor ever to have held that office in the province of Saskatchewan. He was the editor and publisher of McIntosh Publishing Company Limited and the editor of the award-winning weekly newspaper, the North Battleford News-Optimist. As an aside, his distinguished father represented that area of Saskatchewan in the Parliament of Canada many years ago.

Mr. McIntosh, as the Queen's representative in Saskatchewan, continued the long tradition of outstanding public service of those who have undertaken this high office. He was very much a people's lieutenant governor, visiting, as he did on a regular basis, the smaller towns and villages of that province. His office was always open to anyone who wished to speak with him and he represented the Queen with great dignity and honour. I am sure all honourable senators share with me the expression of deep sympathy to his widow, Mrs. McIntosh, and to his family.

Hon. Rhéal Bélisle: Honourable senators, I wish to associate myself with what has been said by Senator Buckwold in tribute to Mr. McIntosh. As the President of the Canadian Wildlife Foundation, I can say that for the last four years he was an active member of the foundation and put forward good ideas, many of which were implemented. I am pleased to say that his contribution to the Canadian Wildlife Foundation will be long remembered by its members.

CANADA CHILD CARE BILL

SECOND READING—DEBATE ADJOURNED

Hon. Brenda M. Robertson moved the second reading of Bill C-144, to authorize payments by Canada toward the provision of child care services, and to amend the Canada Assistance Plan in consequence thereof.

She said: Honourable senators, in reviewing the information relative to Bill C-144 one can see that the work done towards the establishment of this bill has been going on for a considerable period of time. I know that most senators are familiar with the contents of the bill and with the aims and objectives of the government as set out in this important piece of legislation.

In looking back over the events having to do with the issue we could go back to the summer of 1984, when child care emerged as a key issue in the political debate of the leaders of the three parties. It was mentioned again in November 1984 in the Speech from the Throne. In February 1986 a parliamentary committee on child care was established and public hearings were held across the country. At the First Ministers' Conference in 1986 there was much discussion about child care, and in January 1987 the Minister of National Health and Welfare placed it on the agenda of his first federal-provincial meeting of social services ministers.

[Senator Buckwold.]

This work has been going on now for four years. In March 1987 we received the report of the parliamentary committee on child care. The province of Ontario announced its child care policy position some months later. In December 1987 the federal response to the report of the parliamentary committee on child care was tabled. That same month our national strategy was specifically announced, after which the first round of negotiations took place at the meeting of the federal-provincial deputy ministers, when the provinces submitted their plans. As those of us who have worked on complicated federal-provincial arrangements realize, this is a long, arduous process. Therefore, when the bill was given first reading in the House of Commons on July 25, 1988, much work had been done and many people were thus informed of the direction the government was taking in terms of the legislation. This past month the legislative committee of the other place has heard more than 40 groups.

I reviewed that chronology of events just to remind honourable senators that this is not a new topic on the agenda and that much work has been done with respect to it. The Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology has also spent a great deal of time on this issue. Five in camera meetings of that committee took place in 1987 and 1988, after which there was established a Subcommittee on Child Care, which produced a report in response to the government's position. The subcommittee held many meetings and heard from many witnesses. As a result of all of that, honourable senators, the minister and the government have been flexible in their approach to this legislation. Some substantive amendments have been made by the minister, and I am sure most honourable senators are aware of them. Substantive amendments have been suggested by the provinces, by witnesses in committee and by members of the NDP and the Liberal opposition party. Technical amendments have also been made and, although I suppose they are not as important as the more substantive amendments, one can conclude that a great deal of work has been done in this regard.

Honourable senators, Bill C-144, the Canadian Child Care Bill, is no stranger to those of us in this chamber or to the members of the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology or, more particularly, to the members of the Subcommittee on Child Care. Honourable senators, because we knew this legislation was to be forthcoming, because we had had ample warning of it and information relevant to it, in my humble opinion I could see a great deal of merit in the pre-study of it. Unfortunately, we were not able to arrange an appropriate pre-study. However, I now welcome the opportunity to participate in the debate on the Canadian Child Care Bill.

The national strategy on child care actually has four parts to it, and this is the last of the four planks to drop into place. Before I get into the specifics of the bill, however, I should like to remind honourable senators that the national strategy on child care is really an integral part of the government's efforts to support and to encourage individuals in meeting both their employment and their family requirements. It is also an integral part of our efforts to achieve full equality of opportunity for women.

Two years ago, at the First Ministers' Conference in Vancouver, the Prime Minister identified the lack of affordable, flexible and quality child care in this country as being one of the most persistent barriers preventing women from making a full contribution to the nation's social and economic life. The proportion of women in the paid work force has expanded considerably over the last two decades from approximately 35 per cent in 1966 to approximately 56 per cent today.

● (1450)

I should note, honourable senators, that the government's economic policies have contributed significantly to developing new and interesting employment opportunities, and women have been disproportionately successful in seizing these opportunities. Of the 1.3 million jobs created since the last federal election, over 725,000 have been filled by women. Three-quarters of those 725,000 jobs are full-time positions. In fact, the number of jobs held by women has been growing at a rate almost twice as fast as the number of jobs held by men.

Viewed in this context, the government's national strategy on child care is as much about extending social justice as it is about extending economic justice. We want Canadian women and mothers to be able to participate in the work force if they so choose. We want them to be able to develop their own capacities and expand their own horizons to the degree they wish to do so.

Our country is facing new economic and social challenges that, as a nation, we must meet over the coming decade. In meeting these challenges Canada must be able to call upon the resources, energies and initiative of all Canadians who wish to be involved.

Child care has become a pressing problem for an increasing number of Canadian families, especially as the traditional family structure has changed to include more single-parent families and two-earner families than ever before. There is probably no greater stress on an income-earning mother than worrying about the well-being of her children because adequate child care facilities are simply not available. That is a situation that the government proposes to change, honourable senators, through the national strategy on child care.

The national strategy represents a major step forward in the development and improvement of child care services for Canadian children. Unlike other proposals that have been made in the past, and which continue to be repeated, the government's approach meets an important national obligation in a manner that I believe is caring, flexible and, perhaps most important of all, workable. The goal of the strategy is to improve the availability, affordability, quality and the accessibility of child care services in Canada. That goal is clearly articulated in the preamble to the legislation and supported through the various provisions of the bill.

The government's approach respects the fundamental basis of our family-based society. Parents have the right as well as the responsibility to make their own choices as to the best means to care for their children. At the same time the government's strategy respects the jurisdiction over child care services that is exercised by provincial and territorial governments. Provinces already have a variety of child care services and programs relevant to their particular needs and regional circumstances.

In examining the terms of this legislation, honourable senators, my colleagues need to keep in mind the respect for parental choice and provincial jurisdiction that is fundamental to the government's approach. As well, the bill has to be viewed within the context of all four interrelated elements of a national strategy on child care, of which Bill C-144 reflects only one part.

Let me briefly review the other three elements of the strategy: enhanced tax assistance to families of young children, a new child care incentives fund, and accredited day care services for Indians on reserves.

The tax component, which is now law, will benefit well over one million Canadian families. For parents with receipted child care expenses, the maximum child care expense deduction has been doubled to $4,000 for each preschool-age child. There is no limit on the number of children. That more adequately reflects the actual out-of-pocket costs that many Canadian families incur for child care, especially in the home. This will make child care considerably more affordable and should help create a demand for more and better child care spaces.

For parents with preschool-age children who remain at home to care for their children or use the unreceipted child care services, a supplement to the child tax credit has been provided. This supplement is $100 this year and $200 for next year and subsequent tax years. The effect of this supplement will be to raise the total child tax credit to approximately $760 per child by 1989.

These tax measures are already in effect. This chamber has voted upon and passed the government's ways and means motion required to authorize them. I am told that the supplement, as well as the child tax credit itself, will be prepaid in November to those Canadian families who qualify under the prepayment process. I believe approximately two-thirds of the amount is paid in November and the final one-third is paid when the tax form is filed.

The child care initiatives fund is an integral component of the strategy. It promotes innovation in the field of child care services, stimulates the creation of services in areas that are currently underserved, and supports initiatives designed to enhance the quality of child care across the country.

This seven-year, $100-million program provides financial support for pilot projects, applied research activities and enhanced information services. Links have been established with the provinces so that potential projects can be reviewed and perhaps financially supported by both levels of government. This program has been operational since May of this year. The Minister of National Health and Welfare has already approved $1.5 million of project contributions. The projects range from conferences at the local and national levels to a major national study on parental practices and preferences with respect to child care. This study is similar to one that was carried out in 1981, but which needs to be updated. I will come back to that later.

The national strategy on child care has been expanded to include and recognize the special needs and concerns of Canada's native peoples. If our indigenous people are to be full and productive participants in Canadian society, they must have access to flexible and affordable child care comparable to that available to other Canadians so they can pursue job opportunities and improve their quality of life.

The objective of the $60-million program, which will begin next spring, is to create approximately 2,000 accredited day care spaces over the course of six years. Initial funding will be used for pilot projects to determine exactly what is needed in terms of Indian child care services and how they should be delivered. Again, this government does not want to impose on the Indian communities services that are inconsistent with their needs, values and traditions. That would not reflect the caring approach the government has taken to this important social issue.

Honourable senators, this legislation represents the final element of the national strategy on child care. It authorizes the federal government to enter into agreements with provincial and territorial governments to share in the costs of the provision of child care services.

Furthermore, the bill authorizes the government to commit some $4 billion over the next seven years in order to meet the goal of creating a minimum 200,000 new and subsidized child care spaces. The $4 billion figure represents the financial commitment required to achieve the growth in spaces as well as to ensure that the quality of the child care system overall—both existing as well as new spaces—continues to improve.

Some critics of the strategy have suggested that the 200,000 goal is too low, honourable senators. These people fail to recognize that this figure represents only those spaces for which governments are providing a minimum level of operating support. Moreover, it also reflects what provincial governments can reasonably be expected to achieve over the next seven years.

Cost-sharing arrangements authorized under this legislation follow the well-established Canadian tradition of a fifty-fifty balance in sharing the financial commitment to the operation of social services. However, the government, wisely, has also recognized that not all provinces are at the same stage of development in their ability to pay for their child care services. That is why the legislation contains a top-up provision, permitting the government to increase funding to certain provinces based upon the national average entitlement per child. This measure will help to ensure that provinces are equally able to stimulate their child care services.

● (1500)

A major and somewhat controversial change over the past practices with respect to the funding of child care services is that, for the first time, child care spaces in commercial as well as non-profit agencies will be eligible for federal cost-sharing. This decision was made because the national strategy on child care is based upon a practical, flexible and workable approach to the issue of child care services. Fully 40 per cent of Canada's existing child care spaces are now in the commercial sector. To ignore that basic fact is to deny the reality of how child care services have developed across Canada over the last few decades.

[Senator Robertson.]

The government believes that a successful strategy is one that builds upon the strengths of the system that exists and adapts to the regional diversity of this country. That is not to say that the government is encouraging new developments in the commercial sector to the exclusion of the not-for-profit sector. Nothing could be further from the truth. The federal government will, in fact, be offering additional support to the non-profit agencies by sharing in fully 75 per cent of the capital costs involved in the development of the non-profit agencies. Commercial centres are not eligible for this capital funding.

I think, honourable senators, in taking this approach to commercial and not-for-profit child care spaces, the federal government has demonstrated the same pragmatism as the Canadian public shows on this issue. Parents are much more concerned about the quality of the child care that is being provided than with the ownership of the facility. Frankly, the government shares that priority and is working to improve the quality of child care services of all types and in all regions.

One of the methods that have been adopted to improve quality is the manner in which the government has approached the treatment and the development of standards. In clause 4 of this legislation, the federal government has made a significant commitment to improving child care standards in the areas of most importance to Canadians, such as health and safety, qualifications of child care workers, child-staff ratios, the size and the mix of age groups in care, program content and parental involvement.

In these areas provinces signing cost-sharing agreements with the federal government will be required not only to develop appropriate standards but also to have methods of enforcing them. Standards enforcement procedures will also have to be widely publicized within each jurisdiction, and evidence will have to be provided to the federal government that this enforcement is taking place.

The people who have criticized the Canada Child Care Bill on the ground that it has not imposed national standards across the country misunderstand both the fundamental nature of this country and the role of standards themselves.

Canada is a multifaceted and multicultural, pluralistic society. It reflects values and traditions that vary considerably from region to region. To impose monolithic standards across the country means hindering the ability to develop innovative and creative approaches to child care that build upon regional needs.

At the same time, child care services are very much in an embryonic stage of development. To freeze the continuing development of these services in a mold of arbitrary national standards is to deny the Canadian public a flexible, sensible approach to child care.

The federal government recognizes the need for experimentation, better information and more collaboration on what constitutes quality in child care and is supporting this effort through the Child Care Initiatives Fund, as well as by requiring that provinces address standards in areas such as health and safety, as I mentioned earlier.

Parents want to be assured that the standards developed for child care services reflect their own values, the norms of the communities in which they live and the traditions of the regions of which they are a part. That means parental participation in the kind of standards of quality that will define the child care services to which they entrust their children.

I know that past governments have attempted to take a rigid approach to social policy issues only to discover that government alone does not have all the answers. This government has stated that the quality of child care should meet the highest possible standards, but the rights of parents and communities are paramount in defining what those standards should be.

I am sure that parents, caregivers and professional groups will be working closely with provincial authorities in developing or improving standards in the areas that the government has identified as being most important. To give that kind of consultative process time to achieve results, the federal-provincial agreements that will be signed under the terms of this legislation include the negotiation of a time period within which standards and enforcement procedures are to be put in place.

Honourable senators, the provinces are also being given the opportunity to sign agreements under the new Canada Child Care Bill or remain within the existing day care provisions of the Canada Assistance Plan. Under the latter approach, the federal government has traditionally shared in about 35 per cent of provincial child care expenditures. The terms of the new act would increase that proportion to at least 50 per cent, or higher, for those provinces where the top-up provisions will apply. In fact, under the terms of this legislation, the federal financial commitment alone will be twice the total of the combined federal and provincial expenditures of the last six years.

The point of the federal strategy is not to put limits on what the provinces have been doing but to enable and to encourage them to do more with stronger federal financial support.

Solving social or economic problems in Canada requires taking a politically balanced and sensitive approach to different regional and provincial needs. It also requires developing partnerships with those closest to the problems and those most affected by them. Above all, it means setting realistic objectives and finding a workable means through which those objectives can be realized.

All members of this chamber, indeed all Canadians, agree on the need to improve the availability, affordability, accessibility and quality of child care services in Canada. Through this legislation and through the other elements of the national strategy on child care the federal government has taken the leadership role in expanding and improving child care services.

In financial terms, the commitment to the federal-provincial cost-sharing program alone is almost $4 billion. That is a lot of money, and does not include the estimated $800 million annual federal share to maintain the expanded child care system after the initial seven-year boost period. Nor does it include the other three elements of the national strategy on child care—the tax measures, the Indian day care services and the Child Care Initiatives Fund—which raise the total federal commitment to $6.4 billion over the next seven years.

Honourable senators, there are compelling reasons why even those who argue for a more ambitious program to develop quality child care spaces should permit quick passage of this legislation.

First, the tax measures to assist parents with the costs of caring for preschool-age children—that is, the enriched child care expense deduction and the supplement to the refundable child tax credit—are already in place. As well, the Child Care Initiatives Fund has already been established. To delay this bill further is to delay that part of the government's strategy that was designed to support the development of more licensed quality child care spaces.

Secondly, to delay this bill would also penalize those provinces that have made the commitment in the current fiscal year to expand and to enrich their licensed child care facilities in the expectation that they would qualify for the 75 per cent sharing of capital costs and the more generous sharing of operating costs provided for in this bill.

That agreement is retroactive to April 1 of this year. Therefore, if it does not pass, they will lose the money they have already spent.

If this bill were not to pass prior to an election, for example, and a new government were elected, by the time it drafted and passed its own child care legislation, provincial expenditures in this fiscal year would almost certainly not be covered.

However, if this bill were to pass before an election call, those provinces that are now expanding their child care services would be reimbursed for their expenditures this year, and a new government would be free to bring in its own legislation to apply to the next fiscal year.

I certainly hope, fellow senators, that there is no one in this chamber who would really discourage provinces from meeting the child care needs of parents simply to prevent this government from implementing its child care strategy.

To delay this bill, in short, would make it no easier for a new government to bring in its own policy but would deprive the provinces of enriched financial aid for the expansion of child care that they are undertaking this year. Moreover, by inhibiting that expansion, delay would force parents to wait longer for the child care spaces they need now.

In summary, we would in no way tie the hands of future governments by passing this bill; but we would break faith with provincial governments, parents and children by delaying it. Faced with that choice, our course is clear.

Through the national strategy the federal government is building a policy in partnership with the provinces, which, after all, are responsible for the provision of child care services and programs. It is building a policy in concert with parental and community groups that are taking advantage of the Initiatives Fund to develop new services in remote areas of the country to meet the special needs of parents and children—physically challenged children, children of shiftworkers and children of various cultural backgrounds, and the like. Above all, it is building a caring approach that respects the right of Canadian parents to choose the child care options that best reflect their needs and the needs of their children.

I believe that the government's approach to child care is developing a foundation for services in Canada that has the right balance and flexibility to accommodate parental, community and regional interests and that meets national objectives.

• (1510)

Again, honourable senators, I regret that the Senate did not have an opportunity to have a full pre-study of this bill. However, a great deal of work on the subject matter was done by a subcommittee of the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology, and during the hearings of that subcommittee a number of witnesses were heard. Honourable senators, I believe the members of that subcommittee are familiar with the contents and subject matter of this bill and understand quite well what is happening. Because the members of both the subcommittee and the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology are familiar with what was contained in this legislation, I thought it would be a delightful opportunity to have the minister appear before the Senate at its third reading stage in order to answer directly any questions interested senators might have with respect to this bill.

I know that all honourable senators have the right to attend the committee, but, from my short experience in this chamber, I doubt very much that we will see a great stampede of senators to that committee room to listen to the discussion.

Honourable senators, I urge swift passage of this bill, as it is a very important piece of social legislation; it is a piece of legislation on which we can build in the years ahead. I am sure all honourable senators would like to see major progress made in this area and I therefore urge you not to delay in any undue way the passage of this bill.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Hon. L. Norbert Thériault: Honourable senators, I have listened with keen interest to the speech by my colleague from New Brunswick. It brings back memories of the times when we were both involved—either as minister or as critic—in the debates on social programs in our own province. While I was listening to the honourable senator making her speech, I could not help but think what she might have said had she still been the minister responsible for social legislation in New Brunswick and this type of legislation had been offered by a Liberal government in Ottawa—God forbid!

[Senator Robertson.]

Honourable senators, it is unbelievable that a government, elected four years ago with one of its main promises or policies stated to be the provision of child care—not child care legislation but child care for Canada—should bring forth in the dying moments of its term of office a bill that in fact does very little to provide child care, especially for those who most need it in this country.

The honourable senator who has just spoken knows as well as I do that the Province of New Brunswick could not possibly have instituted a medical care program unless national standards had been set and there was no time limit on that program. Half of the provinces—and especially the poorer provinces—will base their expenditures for this social measure on legislation that limits the program to seven years. There is nothing in this bill that I can see that provides for this program to continue on after 1995. I certainly hope—and indeed I would so propose—that the federal government comes to some agreement with the provinces in 1995. To my knowledge, this is the first time that a national government has embarked on a national social program with a set time limit written into the legislation—

Senator Murray: Do you want to double the spaces or don't you?

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators, I am just beginning my speech. I will get to that point in a minute. I know you cannot stand this, but you will have to listen for a few moments.

The fact of the matter is that the philosophy behind this legislation is the same kind of philosophy that we have heard expounded by the government for the last four years. Simply put, it provides more money for those who have the most and the least money for those who have nothing. That is the reason I cannot accept this legislation.

Senator Murray: Is that what the government is proposing?

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators, I know that it is not just the poor people who require child care legislation. I also know—as does everyone here—that child care legislation should not apply only to preschoolers. We know that in our cities, in our towns and even in the rural areas of this country there are children six, seven, eight and nine years of age coming home from school with their house keys around their necks. They have no place to go after school hours—and sometimes no place to go before school, because their parents must leave home for work at 5.00 and 6.00 in the morning to travel 30 or 40 miles to their jobs. There is nothing in this legislation to provide assistance for those children. Oftentimes it is children between the ages of six and 13 who most need to be cared for before and after school hours when their parents are not home.

Senator Murray: It is not restricted to any age.

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators, again I repeat, four years after this government came to office, and in the dying moments of its term, it offers legislation which it tells us will be better than what we have now. However, I am worried, and my worry is caused by the Meech Lake Constitutional Accord—and this matter was raised during the debate on Meech Lake. In my heart I favour Meech Lake. I favour it because it will bring Quebec into the Constitution. I favour it because I was told by the Prime Minister and by the premiers, and by all of those who support it, that in fact it will not prevent national standards for legislation with respect to programs that are primarily within provincial jurisdiction.

Honourable senators, up to this moment I have debated this point in my own mind. I have wanted to believe the Prime Minister and the premiers. However, three or four months ago, when we were talking about child care legislation, I said to myself: "This will be the proof of whether, in fact, under the Meech Lake Accord we can have the national government set national standards for social programs." Honourable senators, I am afraid I still do not know whether we can or cannot have such standards set by the national government, because in this bill they have not even tried.

Senator Murray: Tried to do what?

Senator Thériault: Is it because of the Meech Lake Accord—

Mr. Leader of the Government, if you want to talk, answer this question: Is it because of the Meech Lake Accord that there are no national standards set in this legislation?

Senator Murray: Look at our medicare legislation; look at the post-secondary education legislation.

Senator Thériault: My honourable friend, I would inform you, if you do not know, that the medicare legislation was passed and there was no time limit set on that program. There was a time set to review it, however.

Senator Steuart: Yes, we were there.

Senator Thériault: There was no time limit set on that medicare legislation. The honourable senator was not around and never sat in any legislature at that time when the medicare legislation was passed—

Senator Murray: And yours was the last province to come in!

Senator Thériault: That is the problem with you; you don't know anything about it.

Senator Steuart: Give it to them, Norbert!

Senator Thériault: I must tell you, honourable senators, that I agree with the senator who is proposing this legislation in this chamber that maybe it should be passed—

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Thériault: But, in my opinion, it is too bad that this legislation was not brought before the Senate at a time when we had the time to study it thoroughly.

Senator Robertson: We did study it!

Senator Thériault: It is too bad that we do not have the time to hear the witnesses who were refused or did not have the time to appear before the committee in the other place.

Why is it that this legislation is not based on the report of the committee of the other place, which included recommendations to the government on child care legislation? Why did the government not listen to its own committee that travelled across this land and brought back suggestions that would have provided child care legislation as we should have it in this country?

• (1520)

Senator Steuart: He certainly has you there, fellows!

Senator Thériault: The honourable senator from New Brunswick gave a great speech because she knows the subject matter. However, I know that in her heart and soul she is not satisfied with this legislation. No one who has worked as she has at the provincial level and been faced with the social problems that exist in our province can be satisfied with this kind of legislation. Maybe it is better than nothing.

Senator Flynn: You were just speaking against it!

Senator Thériault: I am concerned—

Senator Flynn: You are mixed up!

Senator Thériault: I am concerned for many reasons. I could go through this legislation clause by clause and express concerns over every one of them. Why is it that this legislation includes a provision to amend the Canada Assistance Plan? Why? There is in that statute now a provision to assist, at least in the most dire cases, those people who must depend on public assistance to provide education, food and shelter for their children. Why does the government not leave that statute as it is until we know what this legislation will do for the poorer people? Why is it that those who would benefit the most from this legislation are those who can afford the most.

Senator Murray: Is the Government of New Brunswick opposed to this legislation?

Senator Thériault: Do not give the tax credit for child care to people who earn $40,000, $50,000, $60,000, or $75,000 per year. Why do you not give the same amount that is in the tax credit to the people who do not earn that kind of money? Why not? Because it is against your philosophy.

Senator Murray: Where do you want to cut it off? Tell us!

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators, I know of what I speak. My children will benefit from this legislation. Two of them work and they are earning around $75,000 or $80,000 a year. They will benefit, but how much benefit will people in my community who have to live on $10,000 or $12,000 a year get from this legislation? How much benefit? I know that honourable senators of the Conservative philosophy do not want to think about that, that they do not want to deal with that problem.

Senator Murray: Your government will support the legislation!

Senator Thériault: I know that they are against that kind of philosophy.

Senator Murray: Nonsense!

Senator Thériault: That is why they are promoting this kind of legislation.

Senator Frith: Hear, hear! I don't know what Norbert said, but, if you say it is nonsense, it must be "Hear, hear!"

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators—

Senator Murray: I thought Lorna Marsden was speaking on this bill for the Liberal Party!

Senator Frith: She's going to.

Senator Thériault: —I will tell you why I intend to support this bill. It is because I have been told that there will be an election and that it may be called this weekend. If an election is called this weekend, knowing this government and this Prime Minister and how they do not keep their promises, I would like to see this legislation passed, because, should this government be returned after the election, we would have no legislation at all and we would have to wait another four years until the next election.

Senator Murray: I disagree with your conclusion, but I certainly like your premise!

Senator Steuart: They don't want it passed!

Senator Thériault: Nevertheless, having said that, this bill is nothing but a hoax. It is a hoax and it does not provide the care and assistance for those who need it the most in the way it should be provided. However, having said that, it is probably better than nothing.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Robertson: Honourable senators, may I be permitted to respond to some of the questions that were raised indirectly by Senator Thériault?

Senator Steuart: Not likely!

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, as long as it is perfectly clear that Senator Robertson is not closing the debate—

Senator Robertson: No, no.

Senator Frith: —I think she should have leave to respond.

Senator Robertson: Honourable senators, I should like very much to respond to my good friend and colleague Senator Thériault.

Senator Frith: And you can respond to her, Norbert.

Senator Robertson: I do not know where to start. The honourable senator has touched on a number of things. I do not know whether he has read the bill; that is my concern. Children up to 15 years of age are eligible for support.

Senator Thériault: When they are not in school!

Senator Robertson: No, no, no; zero to fifteen. Now, as you know, most of them are in school until 3.30 or 4 o'clock, but they are eligible to the age of fifteen.

[Senator Murray.]

The honourable senator talked about how the legislation deals with people in poverty. The government has an agreement with the provinces that they must maintain the same ratio of spaces for children living in poverty as exists now. As you know, most of the money presently spent through CAP is directed toward those children living in poverty, because you cannot get it unless the children are in poverty. That ratio must be maintained; otherwise the province will lose its funding. They must provide the spaces for children in need.

I have not been annoyed with the honourable senator for a long while, but it irks me—

Senator Frith: What did she say? Did she say she was annoyed with Norbert?

Senator Robertson: It irks me a little bit that you seem to think that the Liberals have the corner on the market—

Senator Frith: This is a provincial dispute!

Senator Robertson: —for concern over poverty. That is so ridiculous. I want to comment on something that I think is terribly important. I do not have any notes here, because I was not sure—

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators, I hope I will be given the same privilege to reply when the honourable senator has finished!

Senator Frith: Absolutely; leave has been granted.

Senator Steuart: This is the new "chit-chat" type of debate that is prevalent in the Maritimes!

Senator Robertson: The honourable senator asked why we have not set the standards as they are in the Canada Assistance Plan, or why we had not made them correspond to the national health standards. I want to jog the honourable senator's memory a little bit. My response is really twofold. First, the bill contains in its preamble its objectives. They are "to improve the availability, affordability, quality and accessibility of child care services." To achieve these objectives the bill provides substantial financial support to the provinces. Provinces such as ours can get up to 90 per cent funding, which is a very important factor. Long before there was a Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act in 1957—and I would ask the honourable senator to go back to that time in his mind—and long before there was a Medical Care Act in 1966, there was a health resources fund under which the federal government cost-shared with the provinces the cost of training health care professionals and establishing hospitals. I suggest to the honourable senator that that is where we are with day care. The most appropriate comparison with this bill is not—

Senator Thériault: I see; you are 50 years behind! That is where you are for sure!

Senator Robertson: You cannot turn the whole world around in four years, for Heaven's sake! Don't be foolish! The most appropriate comparison with this bill is not the Canada Health Act or its predecessors; it is that fund. I think the national objectives are very similar—to build up the service across the country to a point where it will meet the demand, and then look at the system and the standards again, once people have had a chance to get involved, to see what other things have to be done.

Honourable senators, I cannot make another speech—

Some Hon. Senators: Oh, oh!

Senator Robertson: —but I do want to tell you that, if a province wants to stay in CAP, it can stay in CAP. There is no problem. The province can stay in CAP if it wants, but it will get much more money if it goes with the new program.

Senator Thériault: You're wrong!

Senator Robertson: No, I am not wrong. You can stay in CAP if you want to, but you cannot stay in CAP and also join the new program. It is one or the other.

An Hon. Senator: Give it to him, Brenda!

Senator Robertson: In CAP you get a maximum of 35 per cent. This program offers a minimum of 50 per cent, and goes as high as 90 per cent for provinces such as our province. After the seventh year—when you go into the eighth year—there is a guarantee. If you do your mathematics correctly, you will find that $800 million is allocated every year to this fund and that it is adjusted to the cost of living index. So don't worry about that matter; it will not disappear into the woodwork.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Thériault: Honourable senators—

Senator Frith: And wearing the dark trunks!

Senator Steuart: Third round!

Senator Thériault: —not only does the honourable senator have a chance to make a third speech when she closes the debate but she gets carried away in her political enthusiasm and loses sight of the facts.

● (1530)

Honourable senators, I read this bill without pressure. I did not have to worry about making a speech that would support all of the clauses contained in this bill; I read this bill as a Canadian with an objective view, and as one who has been wanting and hoping for child care services for a long time. Honourable senators, in our previous legislation dealing with health services you will never find what you find in the preamble of this bill. The preamble says, "... that there is a need to improve the availability ..." The Canada Health Act itemizes and sets out national standards. It also states that to participate in that program and to receive 50 per cent of the funding from Ottawa you must do this, this or that.

In terms of this bill, the government almost gives the municipalities the right to set standards. There is no national strategy set out in this bill. A national strategy is what John A. Macdonald had in mind when he built the railroad. What we need in this legislation is a national standard that will provide at least a minimum of child care services for the people in the Yukon and in New Brunswick, and not just for the people of Ontario or Quebec.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Thériault: Furthermore, if this government had been sincere in wanting to provide child care, it could have used the model that exists in Quebec. That province has by far the best child care legislation to be found in this country. It could have used that program, which has been proven in the province of Quebec, and applied those standards across the country. The government did not do that. In this proposed legislation the government and the Prime Minister are trying to do what they are trying to do in every other instance: they want to be on all sides. They don't want to take a position. They don't want to sit on a chair and they don't want to stand! They want to sit on the fence and try to keep on all sides—and in this case the children of Canada will suffer!

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Robertson: You are coming from a centralist position and this government is not. We have confidence in the provinces, confidence that they have the ability to set the standards.

Senator Thériault: But they don't have the money!

Senator Robertson: We are giving them the money. We are giving them money that you have never even dreamed of!

Senator Thériault: You are giving $4 billion to the oil companies.

Hon. Azellus Denis: Honourable senators, may I address a question to the sponsor of the bill?

Senator Robertson: Please go ahead.

Senator Denis: If the honourable senator agrees that this is such a good bill, why did the government wait four years before introducing it? Last week we heard the Prime Minister say that the Senate was blocking the bill to the detriment of the poor people and the mothers and children of Canada, but this is the first day this bill has been dealt with by this chamber. Is it not, in fact, the case that for four years the government itself has blocked this bill?

Senator Robertson: I appreciate the honourable senator's comments, but I cannot agree with them. This government has been working solidly for three years to develop this legislation. The honourable senator knows, just as I know, that, when you have to start from scratch to work out new agreements and arrangements with the provinces, you cannot do that overnight. It takes time.

At the beginning of my speech I gave a chronological list of all the events that had happened over the last four years. I do not have a copy of it with me at the moment, but I would be glad to send one to the honourable senator, because he should be aware of the various meetings that took place, the work that was done, and the indicators that developed along the way as we developed our program and our policy leading to this legislation.

There has been a lot of negotiation, and those in the standing committee are familiar with the exercise that has been going on. I just hope that all members of the Senate have the opportunity to understand and interpret this bill, because it is good legislation.

Senator Denis: I have one final question. Is it not true that Mr. Mulroney said he would not go to the electorate before this bill was passed, so that, if we allow it to pass, the Senate will be responsible for passing this bill?

Senator Robertson: Honourable senators, I think that generally the government is responsible for bills. If so much work had not been done on this bill by a variety of committees and groups, perhaps I would not feel as certain as I do about the bill.

No legislation is perfect, and legislation can always be amended. I am sure this legislation will be amended, because as research progresses we will find better answers to the problems. Unfortunately, the body of research and the yardsticks, if I may call them that, for measuring some of the more innovative programs are not yet in place; that is why this $100 million fund is in place to assist us to determine what is going on. We are a diverse country and we want to be able to offer these services to our many cultures.

One of the major problems in this country is that so many of us are raised on farms. When people live miles apart, it is very difficult to come up with a national standard of day care. We firmly believe that mothers and fathers should have a large say in how day care is developed and we want to spend time on research and in communication with the provinces and the people as we feel our way along.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, if I may, I should like to take up a point made at the end of Senator Robertson's first speech, to the effect that it might be a good idea to have this bill eventually referred, at second reading, to Committee of the Whole. I want to undertake on behalf of the government to do our best to produce the response of the minister, Mr. Epp, in this chamber for that purpose, if it is thought that we could in that way proceed to complete our study of this bill.

Senator Steuart: Saturday.

Senator Murray: I want to make that offer on behalf of the government. The house is aware that we did have a subcommittee, as was mentioned by Senator Robertson, which held 21 meetings and heard 15 witnesses. The Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology is also familiar with the contents of this bill. Of course, we have all heard the declaration of the Deputy Leader of the Opposition to the effect that it was the intention of the opposition in the Senate to hold this bill up for a month or so.

Hon. D.G. Steuart: No, no! On a point of order; he never said that. I listened to that very closely. When the Prime Minister said it would be about a week, he said that a month would be closer.

Senator Doody: Sit in your seat!

Senator Murray: The Honourable Deputy Leader of the Opposition can speak for himself, and he usually does.

Senator Steuart: He asked me to.

Senator Phillips: In a moment of weakness.

Senator Murray: I was rather hoping that the Deputy Leader of the Opposition would rise and say that he had been misquoted or that he had had a change of heart on the matter, and that he would demonstrate his interest in a national child care program for Canada by agreeing that, after Senator Marsden had spoken, we would give this bill second reading tomorrow, proceed to Committee of the Whole, and make a real effort to pass the bill into law. Certainly, the month that the honourable senator is quoted as having set out for consideration of this bill—

● (1540)

Senator Steuart: He never said that! Try to be factual.

Senator Murray: —would, in the event of a fall election, of course, mean that the bill would be dead. I hope that honourable senators would not want to carry that on their consciences, much less on their shoulders, as their leader, Mr. Turner, heads into a general election some time.

Senator Denis: I thought the honourable senator was rising in his place in order to give us the cost of publicity for the Free Trade Agreement.

Senator Frith: Honourable senators, I am not just sure where we are at at the moment. I take it that Senator Murray wanted to intervene in the debate before we put the motion for adjournment. On the question of his offer, as I have often had judges say to me, your offer has been noted, sir. As to the four weeks that I was reported to have given as an estimate, here is what I said. I cannot say I was misquoted, but what I was asked was what would be a normal period for a bill of this kind. I said a week or more of debate and about three weeks for committee study, considering the number of witnesses that we already know have written wanting to give evidence. That was quickly transferred into a statement that we would take a month. So I am glad of the opportunity and grateful to the Leader of the Government for giving me a chance to explain what it was that I said.

Senator Flynn: It still means a month.

Senator Frith: As to that estimate, it seems the first part is right. I do not expect that the debate on second reading is going to go more than a week, namely, longer than this week, and I think that the expectation that it will get to committee this week is reasonable. From there on we will see.

On motion of Senator Frith, for Senator Marsden, debate adjourned.

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow at 2 p.m.

THE SENATE

Wednesday, September 28, 1988

The Senate met at 2 p.m., the Speaker in the Chair.
Prayers.

THE HONOURABLE HENRY D. HICKS

FELICITATIONS ON RETURN TO CHAMBER

The Hon. the Speaker: On behalf of all honourable senators, I wish to welcome back our colleague, Senator Hicks.

Hon. Henry D. Hicks: If I may take just a moment of honourable senators' time, I should like to thank His Honour the Speaker for his kind remarks and to thank all my colleagues on both sides of the house for their kindness and attention after my rather stupid accident of July 8, which I am too ashamed to describe. I am glad to be back.

[Translation]

NEW SENATORS

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, I have the honour to inform the Senate that the Clerk has received certificates from the Registrar General of Canada showing that the following persons, respectively, have been summoned to the Senate:

Roch Bolduc
Solange Chaput-Rolland
Jean-Marie Poitras
Gérald-A. Beaudoin

INTRODUCTION

The Hon. the Speaker having informed the Senate that there were senators without, waiting to be introduced:

The following honourable senators were introduced; presented Her Majesty's writs of summons; took the oath prescribed by law, which was administered by the Clerk; and were seated:

Hon. Roch Bolduc, of Ste-Foy (Quebec), introduced between Hon. Lowell Murray, P.C., and Hon. Arthur Tremblay.

Hon. Solange Chaput-Rolland, of Montreal (Quebec), introduced between Hon. Lowell Murray, P.C., and Hon. Paul David.

Hon. Jean-Marie Poitras, of Quebec (Quebec), introduced between Hon. Lowell Murray, P.C., and Hon. Martial Asselin, P.C.

Hon. Gérald-A. Beaudoin, of Hull (Quebec), introduced between Hon. Lowell Murray, P.C., and Hon. Jacques Flynn, P.C.

The Hon. the Speaker informed the Senate that the honourable senators named above had made and subscribed the declaration of qualification required by the Constitution Act, 1867, in the presence of the Clerk of the Senate, the Commissioner appointed to receive and witness the said declaration.

● (1410)

[English]

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I know that it is not customary to comment on the occasion of the introduction of new colleagues, but I crave your indulgence for a moment, because this is a rather special occasion in that—

[Translation]

—in fact, the appointments of four new senators are the first to be made in consultation with the Quebec government according to the procedure established when the Meech Lake Accord was signed in June 1987.

As was stated by Prime Minister Mulroney, these appointments confirm that the federal and provincial governments can cooperate and agree on the selection of distinguished Canadians to sit in this institution.

I also know that Senator Ottenheimer, our colleague from Newfoundland, was the first to be appointed following the procedure set up as a result of the Meech Lake Accord. These four new senators are the first to be appointed from the Province of Quebec under this accord.

Honourable senators, I think that we should welcome the expertise and knowledge our new colleagues are bringing to the Senate.

Honourable Senator Solange Chaput-Rolland brings with her her vast knowledge of Canada and her experience in political debates of the last few years which she lived as much as a commentator as a member of the Quebec National Assembly or as a member of the Commission on Canadian Unity.

Senator Gérald Beaudoin, who is also a former member of the Pepin-Robarts Commission, is bringing to us his highly recognized constitutional expertise at a time when Canada is about to thoroughly examine the role and contribution of the Senate within our federal institutions.

Senator Jean-Marie Poitras is a highly considered businessman from Quebec, a province which is said now to be booming.

By welcoming Senator Roc Bolduc, we pay tribute to one of the main forces behind the reform of the Public Service in Quebec. We shall certainly benefit from his long experience.

Honourable senators, I am convinced that you will all join with me in wishing our new colleagues a very warm welcome.

● (1420)

[English]

THE LATE GEORGE PARKIN GRANT

TRIBUTES

Hon. Richard J. Doyle: Honourable senators, George Parkin Grant died yesterday in Halifax.

There need be no lament for this great Canadian—only a lament for ourselves that we have lost this bold and angry scholar who was a hero to so many of my generation and an inspiration in many ways to the sons and daughters of those who first chose him as their champion in struggles for peace and justice.

A.A. Travill, writing in The Canadian Encyclopedia, called him “a philosopher of apparently implacable pessimism.” I recognize, as all Canadians must, the urgency of Grant’s warnings that we would be the losers in the inexorable North American drive to the technological society, with its glib substitutions for articles of ancient faith.

And yet, in a book of regrets, Grant finishes with these words:

Multitudes of human beings through the course of history have had to live when their only political allegiance was irretrievably lost. What was lost was often something far nobler than what Canadians have lost. Beyond courage, it is also possible to live in the ancient faith, which asserts that changes in the world, even if they be recognized more as a loss than a gain, take place within an eternal order that is not affected by their taking place. Whatever the difficulty of philosophy, the religious man has been told that process is not all.

And then he added these words from Virgil: “They were holding their arms outstretched in love toward the further shore.”

I shall remember George Grant with arms outstretched, if only in some welcoming gesture—for he was the politest of men, the most amiable of companions, and the gentlest of antagonists. His marriage to Sheila, whom he met at Oxford, began a partnership that ornamented the institution of matrimony.

It was my misfortune not to have known Grant as a teacher, for he had a genuine calling to the profession and not just dedication and a diploma. He said that in his smart-alec stage he had thought of becoming a lawyer, but, like both of his grandfathers and like his parents, he taught.

Born in Toronto, he went to Upper Canada College, where his father had been headmaster, and to Queen’s, where his grandfather had been principal. As a Rhodes Scholar, he went to Oxford. After the war he taught philosophy at Dalhousie, and then, at McMaster, from 1960 to 1980, was chairman of the Department of Religious Studies. His final contribution to academic life came as professor of political science and classics at Dalhousie.

[Senator Murray.]

Among his books are: Philosophy in the Mass Age, Technology and Empire, and English Speaking Justice. His student and friend, Dean Wayne Whillier of McMaster, tells me that Dr. Grant, not long before his death, wrote a postscript for his Two Languages of Theology, which is about to be reprinted.

But the most famous of his writings was surely that short and electrifying Lament for a Nation, in which we read of John Diefenbaker as a victim of this country’s disappearance into the American vortex. Grant wrote:

This meditation is limited to lamenting. It makes no practical proposals for our survival as a nation. It argues that Canada’s disappearance was a matter of necessity. But how can one lament necessity—or, if you will, fate? The noblest of men love it; the ordinary accept it; the narcissists rail against it. But I lament it as a celebration of memory; in this case, the memory of that tenuous hope that was the principle of my ancestors. The insignificance of that hope in the endless ebb and flow of nature does not prevent us from mourning. At least we can say with Richard Hooker: “Posterity may know we have not loosely through silence permitted things to pass away as in a dream.”

But I cannot leave you with that melancholy passage. Instead, think of these lines from another work:

At the worst stage of the war for me in 1942, I found myself ill, and deserted from the merchant navy, and went into the English countryside to work on a farm. I went to work at five o’clock in the morning on a bicycle. I got off the bicycle to open a gate and when I got back on I had accepted God . . . But I have never doubted the truth of that experience since that moment . . . If I try to put it into words, I would say it is the recognition that I am not my own.

Honourable senators, his words are with us—the legacy for us and for Canadians for generations to come.

Hon. Henry D. Hicks: Honourable senators, I shall not try to gild the lily by adding to the well prepared remarks made by Senator Doyle about my friend and former colleague, George Grant. He was, indeed, a great teacher. I was not a pupil of his. My wife was, however, and maintained a lifelong respect for and friendship with George Grant and his wife, Sheila, who survives him. I was a colleague of George Grant’s at Oxford. I remember him rowing in the middle of his college crew, and a more incongruous oarsman, I think, was never seen on the Isis at Oxford.

While he may have been an intellectual pessimist—and I do not agree with George Grant’s views as well as I think Senator Doyle, by implication, does—he was, nevertheless, a lover of life. The fact that he loved life and loved people made him the great teacher that he was.

I regret his passing. He had a marvellous influence on hundreds of young people, many of whom did not agree with his views but all of whom were stimulated by his intellect and by the challenge that he gave to them. Indeed, his passing, at a relatively early age, is unfortunate. Canada does lose a great scholar. I, myself, lose a friendship extending over a long period of time. I am glad that Senator Doyle did the work that he did in putting on the record of this chamber something of the career of a truly outstanding Canadian scholar.

PATENT ACT

BILL TO AMEND—REPORT OF COMMITTEE PRESENTED AND PRINTED AS APPENDIX

Hon. Ian Sinclair: Honourable senators, I have the honour to present the thirty-third report of the Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce respecting Bill S-15, to amend the Patent Act.

I ask that the report be printed as an appendix to the Minutes of the Proceedings of the Senate and to the Debates of the Senate of this day and that it form part of the permanent records of this house.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

(For text of report, see appendix, p. 4519.)

• (1430)

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

Senator Sinclair: Honourable senators, before moving that the bill be read the third time at the next sitting, I should like to say that the report does not record the fact that Senator David held a contrary view during our discussions on the final draft. I merely want to put on record that Senator David expressed that contrary view.

Hon. Duff Roblin: Honourable senators, before the motion is put, I should like to say that I join Senator David in that I object to the report rendered to the house and to the fact that the bill has been reported without amendment. I do not know whether I shall have another opportunity to speak on the matter, but I do want to record my dissent.

Senator Flynn: I join with Senator Roblin.

Senator Frith: You will have a chance tomorrow!

Senator Flynn: It is pure propaganda!

Senator Frith: Look who's talking!

On motion of Senator Sinclair, report placed on the Orders of the Day for consideration at the next sitting of the Senate.

QUESTION PERIOD

FISHERIES

TRADE—UNITED STATES' CANCELLATION OF PERISHABLE PRODUCTS AGREEMENTS—ENTRY INTO UNITED STATES OF CANADIAN SEAFOOD PRODUCTS

Hon. Raymond J. Perrault: Honourable senators, I wonder if the Leader of the Government in the Senate can assure us that we do not have shipments of valuable Canadian seafood products parked at the U.S. border, awaiting entry, as a result of harassment by U.S. officials. I am sure that after the question was asked yesterday the honourable senator probably contacted the minister to determine the facts.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I am informed that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration officials have assured Canadian authorities that the reports to which my friend referred yesterday are based on a misunderstanding of an upcoming change in their regulatory procedures with respect to imports of perishable foods. The FDA has advised us that the new requirements apply only to sampled products and, furthermore, that only a very small percentage of the total imports of fresh food products are sampled. My colleague, the Honourable John Crosbie, has indicated that the change will require such sampled products to remain under the control of the first importer of record, whether a broker, wholesaler or other level of trade, until the FDA issues a release. Previously, sampled products could be sold direct to retailers, pending FDA clearance, if so desired. My colleague has also indicated that confusion occurred in the Seattle area, apparently due to a misleading directive, issued locally, indicating that all perishable products would be so affected.

Senator Perrault: Honourable senators, I thank the Leader of the Government for promptly supplying the information with respect to this question. It will be good to reassure B.C. fish producers that their products will not be stopped at the border.

Honourable senators, I have a question on another subject; so if someone else wishes to ask a question in the interim, I will take my turn again.

AGRICULTURE

ENHANCEMENT OF DROUGHT RELIEF PROGRAM

Hon. H.A. Olson: Honourable senators, can the Leader of the Government advise this chamber on the accuracy of some speculation that there is to be a significant enhancement of the drought relief program now that the harvest is partly completed, because in many localities that harvest is substantially lower than was expected even at the time the original relief program was announced?

Another reason I should like him to advise us is that there have been some other rumours to the effect that he may be preempted from making any announcements in this house next week by another announcement, which may be made later this week. Therefore, we would certainly appreciate an answer today; however, if it is not available now, perhaps he would take notice of the question and provide us with an answer tomorrow.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, my friend will know that in opposition I never circulated rumours—and in government I never comment on them.

Senator Olson: Would the honourable gentleman take the other suggestion and try to obtain an answer, because it is more than just rumour in western Canada that some kind of announcement will be made? It is much easier to plan your financial arrangements if you know what the government is going to do.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, as soon as a decision is made, if a decision is made on that matter, I will communicate it to the Senate.

Senator Olson: We might not be here.

SPORT

XXIV OLYMPIAD—BEN JOHNSON—STRIPPING OF 100-METRE SPRINT GOLD MEDAL AND DISQUALIFICATION—REQUEST FOR COMPREHENSIVE INVESTIGATION—GOVERNMENT ACTION

Hon. Raymond J. Perrault: Honourable senators, one of the most respected figures in the administration of sports internationally is Mr. Richard Pound of Canada, the International Olympic Committee executive vice-president. He has achieved a world reputation for fairness and good judgment, and as a young man he performed on one of Canada's Olympic medal-winning athletic teams. In today's Gazette Mr. Pound is reported as follows:

Pound said Johnson was "manipulated by his doctors, trainers and coaches," who ran Johnson's life.

"Ben had a childlike confidence in them,"... "It's like when your mother gives you vitamins. You don't know what they are, you might not like the taste, but your mother tells you to take them, so you do."

"For sure he didn't go out and buy stanozolol himself. And for sure he didn't sit on a needle or take 111 tablets by himself."

"On the human level, it's tragic for Ben Johnson. I don't think he knew any better. He was manipulated by people, and they got it wrong. His life is spoiled, and the people around him will get away scot-free."

Honourable senators, they must not be allowed to get away scot-free.

I asked some questions yesterday and I will ask some further ones today.

Senator Flynn: Question!

Senator Perrault: I know that Senator Flynn, who has interjected, is just as interested in fair play as all of us.

Senator Flynn: I am interested in your question.

Senator Perrault: I am not encouraged, nor should Canadians be encouraged, by some of the statements made in recent hours by spokesmen for the government. Lyle Makosky, Assistant Deputy Minister for Sport Canada, said that the government has an obligation to uncover everyone involved in the drug scandal. He is reported to have said that, if we are not able to obtain clear, candid statements from the people involved, testimony under oath may be used. He said, "It's certainly an option open to us."

What kind of weak, pusillanimous statement is that from someone speaking on behalf of the government? Is only the Canadian Track and Field Association going to be given the problem of finding out the facts?

Honourable senators, there could be criminal implications to this case, and, if necessary, we should call on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to find out just who manipulated Johnson, if, indeed, he was manipulated. Of course, whether or not he is, indeed, as guilty as some commentators say is yet to be determined. These are the kinds of questions—

● (1440)

Senator Flynn: This is—

Senator Perrault: Would the Honourable Senator Flynn please refrain from interjecting so much? Senator Flynn has a long and checkered career of interrupting parliamentary debate. He might learn more from listening.

Senator Flynn: Not from listening to you!

Senator Perrault: The question is—

Senator Flynn: I rise on a point of order.

Senator Perrault: You are rising on a point of disorder! That's the problem.

Senator Flynn: We will let His Honour the Speaker make that judgment. Senator Perrault knows very well that he is making a speech and is not putting a question. If he will get to the question, then he will be in order.

Senator Perrault: Some day Senator Flynn might be the Speaker and then he could tell us what to do—

Senator McElman: It will never happen; but, if it ever did, he would not dare!

Senator Perrault: —but from the position he currently occupies he is ill-equipped for that task. Senator Flynn seems desperately afraid that democracy might break out in this house.

The first question is: Were steroids administered to Mr. Johnson with or without his knowledge? In other words, is he guilty or not guilty? Is he an innocent victim of the machinations of others, as alleged by the executive vice-president of the Olympic movement? Are there criminal implications, and, if so, does the government propose to leave the matter with the Canadian Track and Field Association and with the Canadian Olympic officials? That is the suggestion in current issues of newspapers—that down the line somewhere there will only be an investigation of this type.

When does the government propose to take those actions necessary to assure the Canadian people and, indeed, those supportive of the sports movement in all parts of the world that, if wrong has been done, the perpetrators of that wrong shall be brought to justice, and that Johnson alone shall not be asked to bear all of the penalties and to pay the price for what threatens to be the most shameful episode in our sports history?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, the Assistant Deputy Minister for Fitness and Amateur Sport, whom my friend quoted a few moments ago, was only saying in more detail what Senator Perrault and I agreed on yesterday—that is, the high probability that others were involved and bear some share of responsibility for the situation in which Mr. Johnson finds himself today.

The honourable senator has put a number of questions which I know he will not expect me to answer on the spot, or indeed answer on my own responsibility at all. The short answer to the honourable senator's question is that the investigation will be conducted, as these investigations are, by the Canadian Track and Field Association. Senator Perrault, as a former Minister of State for Fitness and Amateur Sport, will know that these organizations guard, quite properly so, their autonomy and freedom from interference by the government in their affairs.

Senator Perrault: Honourable senators, these are the statements that trouble some of us, and our concern is not restricted to people of a certain political party.

The spokesman for the government is quoted as having said:

The CTFA will conduct an investigation into the Johnson affair when the Olympic team returns home next month—

Earlier in that article he stated:

I do things my official way through the association.

Surely this is a time when the Minister of State for Fitness and Amateur Sport should be here in Ottawa attending a cabinet meeting to discuss what kind of investigative committee will be put in place to get all of the facts, and not let the rabbits be put in charge of the lettuce patch.

The organizations that are apparently going to conduct the investigation may need to be investigated themselves. Certain aspects of their operations should be investigated. It is important for us to know exactly what type of investigation is going to take place and whether it will have the confidence of the Canadian people. This cannot be left to some voluntary self-perusal.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, to reiterate what I said yesterday, all of the evidence indicates that there was due process involved on the part of the Olympic authorities in the finding that was made and the decision that was made by that authority. There is time provided for an appeal. Meanwhile, the Minister of State for Fitness and Amateur Sport and Sport Canada have taken the only responsible action that I think they could have taken in the circumstances with regard to Mr. Johnson. Senator Perrault knows, and the whole country knows, what that action is.

I appreciate the point made by the honourable senator concerning the Canadian Track and Field Association, a body which he obviously holds in low esteem. That will be something, in considering the generality of this problem, the government will want to consider.

Senator Perrault: I hold the Canadian Track and Field Association in very high esteem, and I think that that association held me in high esteem when I was the minister.

Senator Murray: "The rabbits in the lettuce patch"?

Senator Perrault: I can say this: If the organization and its procedures are under suspicion, I am sure that the responsible members of the Canadian Track and Field Association would like an outside body to investigate the efficacy of its procedures. That is the fact.

The fact exists—

Senator Balfour: What of the—

Senator Perrault: The honourable senator opposite may not want an investigation; he may want a cover-up. I do not want a cover-up: I want the facts.

The fact is that, in addition to Johnson, two weightlifters representing Canada have been ruled out of competition. There is something basically wrong in the procedures being followed. Perhaps, with the best intent in the world, the procedures that are there now, administered by the good people of the CFTA, are not good enough.

Senator Murray: "The rabbits in the lettuce patch"?

Senator Perrault: No. I am saying that when an organization is under suspicion you do not put the rabbits in charge of the lettuce patch. That is a perfectly valid observation, and if the honourable senator opposite wants to keep us in the dark as to all of the facts, well, he is out of touch.

Senator Murray: The honourable senator's suggestion is by no means isolated to a single case.

Senator Perrault: Or to a single country.

Senator Murray: Or to a single country. But inasmuch as this concerns Canada, we do not exclude the possibility of a general inquiry into the problem.

I do remind the honourable senator, however, that the best procedures in the world—and I think ours are—could not have much more than a dissuasive effect. I heard one of the Olympic authorities on television last evening stating precisely that a regime that could exclude all possibility of doping was logistically and financially impossible, but naturally we want to make sure that our procedures are the very best that they can be.

As to the generality of the problem, we do not exclude the possibility of some government inquiry. As to the particular case of Mr. Johnson, the honourable senator knows that it is the Canadian Track and Field Association that has the responsibility of investigating this matter. I regret that he regards them as "rabbits in the lettuce patch", but so far as I am aware they have conducted themselves responsibly throughout.

Senator Perrault: One final question. The Minister of State for Fitness and Amateur Sport, within five minutes of the statement made in Seoul, said that Mr. Johnson would be banned from sports for life and immediately cut off from funding.

Why did the minister not say, in a more responsible manner, that Mr. Johnson would be suspended from all activity and financial assistance until the facts were made known and ascertained? Is that not a fair attitude? Was it the minister's responsibility to join the lynch crowd, or should the minister have been part of the building team?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, to have adopted the course suggested by Senator Perrault would have been to challenge the validity of the unanimous finding of the Olympic authorities on that matter.

The honourable senator knows what the finding was after the urine analysis. He knows as well that the Canadian delegation had full opportunity to present a case to offer alternative explanations and that these were considered, but it is clear from what the authorities have said, including Canadians who are part of the international body, that those explanations simply would not fly, and the responsible body, in that event, decided unanimously.

Senator Perrault: In other words, without all the facts made known but with a preliminary medical opinion, we say that he gets a life sentence. We do not worry about Canadian due process of law; we ignore the Canadian tradition that a person is innocent until proven guilty.

It has to be said that some of these countries represented on the committee do not have the same tradition of fairness as we have. The minister could have refrained in part and said that, because the immediate evidence was persuasive, there would be an immediate suspension pending an appeal process. This is what is done in other sports in Canada. In hockey, for example, there is an appeal procedure. There is an appeal procedure for every sport in this country. Yet this official for the government said, "We are going to give Ben Johnson a lifetime suspension. There will be no more money." An appeal procedure should apply in this case, just as it applies in any professional or amateur sport in Canada.

Senator Murray: There is an appeal procedure. Mr. Johnson, of course, is free to avail himself of it.

Senator Perrault: Yes, he is. So judge him after that.

Senator Murray: What my honourable friend calls a preliminary medical opinion is not a preliminary medical opinion. It is a conclusive, scientific finding and it has not been successfully challenged.

I would also say—this is not information that I have in my role as a member of the government but as an interested person who was watching Radio-Canada last night—that Dr. Dugal, a Montrealer, a Canadian who was part of the international body, said very clearly that the conclusion to be drawn from the analysis was, unfortunately, that anabolic steroids were being used and were present over a period dating back as far as four months.

[Senator Perrault.]

• (1450)

AEROSPACE

ESTABLISHMENT OF NATIONAL AGENCY

Hon. Stanley Haidasz: Honourable senators, I should like to ask the Leader of the Government in the Senate a question. Why is the federal government delaying the establishment of a national aerospace agency?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, we are not doing so.

Senator Haidasz: Then, honourable senators, I should like to ask the Leader of the Government in the Senate this question: Why is the Prime Minister neglecting to reply to a letter from the Premier of Ontario, who requested that the national aerospace agency be established within the boundaries of the National Capital Region?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, our position is that the government must first focus on some of the major space program issues. For example, we have approved Canada's participation in the space station program, a $1.2 billion investment in research and development that will benefit all regions, Ontario in particular. My friend can take that word back to the Premier of Ontario if he wishes to do so.

The financial participation of Ontario or, indeed, of any other province in the Canadian space program is something that the government has encouraged. Some provinces have agreed to contribute to the Radarsat program. We hope that Ontario will be one of those provinces.

The creation of the space agency is, of course, a federal responsibility. We will be glad to have our officials talk with Premier Peterson's officials on this matter. As I have indicated, there are other actions, initiatives and decisions to be taken before we reach the point where we will be making a decision in the matter to which my honourable friend alludes.

Senator Haidasz: Are we then, honourable senators, to have to wait impatiently for an announcement on the establishment of this agency during a forthcoming general election campaign?

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I could only answer that if I knew the date of the election.

[Translation]

OFFICIAL LANGUAGES

RIGHTS OF FRANCOPHONES IN ALBERTA—STATEMENT OF PREMIER GETTY

Hon. Eymard G. Corbin: Honourable senators, my question is directed to the Leader of the Government in the Senate and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations.

Several of us have been completely overwhelmed by a press report in which the Alberta Premier is reported as saying that Albertans are sick and tired of bilingualism being shoved down their throats.

The Globe and Mail article which reported his statements also quoted the following statement by the Leader of the Government in the Senate:

[English]

I am not going to express any emotion about it. The facts speak for themselves.

[Translation]

The previous paragraph stated:

[English]

Senator Lowell Murray said Mr. Getty's assertion is "belied by the facts—just look at the makeup of the R.C.M.P... the number of senior civil servants and senior ministers who are from Alberta and Western Canada."

But Mr. Murray, the Conservative minister responsible for federal-provincial relations, was restrained in his comments.

[Translation]

I repeat his statement:

[English]

I am not going to express any emotion about it. The facts speak for themselves.

[Translation]

Mr. Minister, what is the status of bilingualism in Alberta now? Are we going to let a situation deteriorate in a province where the rights of the francophone minority are denied? Or is the federal government going to take the bull by the horns with realistic initiatives in the short term?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, Secretary of State Lucien Bouchard is currently negotiating an agreement with the Alberta government to help that province's linguistic minority.

I make it my duty to obtain from my colleague a progress report on these negotiations. The last time I raised the issue with him, he told me point-blank that the negotiations were progressing at a good pace.

[English]

CANADA CHILD CARE BILL

SECOND READING

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Robertson, seconded by the Honourable Senator Ottenheimer, for the second reading of the Bill C-144, An Act to authorize payments by Canada toward the provision of child care services, and to amend the Canada Assistance Plan in consequence thereof.—(Honourable Senator Marsden).

Hon. Lorna Marsden: Honourable senators, at last, as of September 27 of this year, the Senate has seen legislation backing up the July 1984 election promise of the Conservative Party, a Child Care bill with a national program.

Child care is a first priority for many men, women and, of course, the children of this country. It is a first priority certainly for people on this side of the chamber for reasons that are familiar to honourable senators. Children are the future of the country; as some people say, the country's greatest natural resource.

Families have changed both in structure and composition and, in some cases, function. Child care is a necessity for the majority of Canadian families. It is of particular importance to low- and middle-income families who have a pressing need for good quality child care in a context of national standards that permit families to do with support for their children what they do for economic reasons, which is to move around the country according to economic demand.

Child care requires the participation of parents in its establishment, in its running, and in its maintenance, because the participation of parents is crucial to the quality of care that results. Quality means that community and parental ideas about quality for their children prevail, not some bureaucratic regulations drafted in an obscure and distant government office.

Child care requires choices. Child care must be supportive of families, of how families are organized and of what they want to do for and with their children. So we must look at the legislation in front of us in terms of these criteria. Does it fill the desperate need for good quality child care spaces for Canadians? Does it allow parental participation? Does it permit families to make choices about the kind of care and the situation of care for their children?

● (1500)

No one expects a full-blown program of child care to begin at once. The question is: Does the current legislation in front of us provide the structural foundations for the kind of child care system the families and children of this country deserve in the future?

Some time ago the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology established a subcommittee on child care, which reported to this chamber in July 1988. Our report on child care appeared before the legislation was tabled. I want to stress that point, because Mr. Epp was quoted the other day as saying that the Senate had prestudied the child care legislation. That is not accurate, and I urge the Leader of the Government in the Senate to point that out to his colleague. The Senate report was on Mr. Epp's December 1987 proposed program. We have not yet looked at the legislation at all.

So we come to this legislation with eyes informed by the report, but with fresh eyes, especially in looking at the amendments that were made in the other place—both those amendments that were accepted, some of which are important, and those that were not accepted, some of which were equally important.

In our subcommittee report on child care we looked at the program proposed by Mr. Epp in December 1987 and raised a series of questions, which we said we would put to the legislation when it finally appeared in front of us. I would like to remind honourable colleagues that this was a unanimous report, and the questions remain to be addressed. Those questions can be found on page 20 and subsequent pages of our report. I will, in abbreviated form, review those questions.

The first one was: Is the funding adequate? Our witnesses had raised many questions about the adequacy of the funding.

We then asked whether the standards that are required across this country would be set and how they would be enforced. We will be asking those questions of the legislation.

We asked what provisions there would be for training care-givers across this country. How will the federal-provincial arrangements promote training? What actions will governments be prepared to take to ensure that child care workers are well trained? Will federal and provincial governments take salary increases into consideration in determining funding arrangements?

We asked how the standards would be implemented. Will provinces be asked to commit themselves to achieving specific objectives regarding standards in the initial period? What other assurance will there be that the provinces will set and enforce standards? We will need to look at that in the legislation.

We also asked: Will growth in the for-profit sector be contained and growth in the non-profit sector be promoted? Honourable senators will realize that that question needs special review in terms of this legislation.

We asked if fee subsidies would be approved. Fee subsidies are a highly controversial matter in the legislation in front of us, and great fears were raised that subsidies would be dramatically reduced, thereby reducing the quality of care across this country.

We asked how new spaces would be developed in the country and what would be asked of the provinces. We asked especially what the role of the federal government would be in all of this.

Those questions remain. They form the basis of the way in which the Senate committee needs to examine the legislation in front of us.

There are two matters I should like to draw particularly to the attention of senators this afternoon. The first is the need for child care. I do not think there is any disagreement among the people of this country that there is a need for child care, but it is the context and standards of that child care that are the controversial aspects of this legislation.

We need to remind ourselves that there always has been—and I mean everywhere in this country—a need for child care. This is not a sudden need which has emerged in the late 1980s. For the most part the tradition has been that parents have had to fend for themselves and, all too often, unfortunately, children have had to fend for themselves. But some crucial incidents in our history have led us to the knowledge that we are perfectly capable of developing a good child care system in Canada. Notably, during the Second World War, when the labour of women was in demand, the government funded and established child care centres in this country wherever they were needed, under the leadership of Mrs. Fraudena Eaton. After the war, however, when there was a move to push women out of the labour force to provide room for men returning from the front, those child care spaces and child care centres disappeared. That experience has been extremely informative and important in the child care movement in Canada.

The Royal Commission on the Status of Women, in its 1970 report, made the case for child care as a right of Canadian parents rather than a special privilege. The previous Liberal government commissioned Dr. Katie Cook to study this issue in some depth. She produced the first full-fledged examination of this subject, of the views of Canadians, of the needs of Canadians in the contemporary period and of the alternatives available to Canadians in comparison to those available elsewhere.

As the Cook report pointed out, and as we should all keep in mind, there is an international context for state child care. France has provided child care since the beginning of the nineteenth century for the children of industrial workers. Since the beginning of the nineteenth century, and certainly by the beginning of the twentieth century, it had developed one of the best child care systems in the world—a full, flexible, high-quality standard of child care, which is the measure against which we need to test our ideas and proposed programs.

The Scandinavian countries and Germany and Italy all have well-known and well-studied programs of child care that have been useful to Canadians in formulating their ideas. But all of these countries are countries that have high rates of female labour force participation.

Last week, for other reasons entirely, I was visiting Japan. In that country, which has a low level of labour force participation among married women, I had the opportunity to visit two child care centres. One of them, in a small town, was a centre for children from the ages of three months up to school age and was of the highest quality. It was a community-based child care centre run by municipal government, with municipal workers, children whose parents were in the labour force, and children whose parents were not in the labour force but wanted their children to be with other children during the day. I have brought back the literature from that child care centre. You could see the educational component of that child care centre and what it was doing for those young Japanese, and some foreign, boys and girls.

Later I visited a child care centre for after-school care, a centre where children go after school to meet their friends and to be looked after until seven or eight o'clock in the evening in some cases. It was a centre with sports equipment, a whole range of musical instruments, books and a craft centre. That type of centre exists in every community, rural and urban. In that country the necessity for child care is a result of community demand; it is not only a matter of economic necessity.

In looking at this legislation it is crucial that we realize that Canada is behind the rest of the developed world in this essential service. Some provinces are very progressive on this issue, but, as a nation, this is an absolute priority for this country. I believe most Canadians recognize that the program we develop must meet our unique conditions and needs. It must help to build the kind of country that reflects the values of the Canadian people about the community, about the children and about the need to develop the values which we hold important.

We also need to remind ourselves that we do have child care programs in existence in every province and territory. Funded through the Canada Assistance Plan in part, this has put tax dollars into the hands of the provinces to help low- and middle-income families in an open-ended program that has encouraged provinces to build the system they can afford, a system that reflects the necessities and priorities of the provinces.

● (1510)

What has happened so far in Canada in child care has not proved adequate to contemporary demand. However, it has built a foundation of care. We are not without experience in this field. Canada has almost 200,000 licensed spaces now, but the need is much greater than that and increases every day. We have many good and well-trained child care workers; we have people who know how to organize and manage child care centres in schools, in the community and in the workplace; we have a strong and effective advocacy movement in Canada. Above all—and I think this should be paramount in our thinking as we consider this legislation—we have mothers and fathers who have a very clear idea of what good care for their children is, what quality means and what they want and what they must have for their children.

The role of government should be to help these parents and these children to attain quality child care; it should not be to constrain them; to order them around or to curtail those who want to develop this system in our country. Yet it appears that Bill C-144 does those unfortunate things.

Honourable senators, it is claimed that this bill will create approximately 200,000 spaces over the next few years. Yet we know that it is a reasonable estimate that 300,000 spaces would have been created under the existing program, the Canada Assistance Plan. Therefore, this legislation limits growth and, by not including national standards, it shows no commitment to the requests and values of the children and parents of Canada.

This legislation was condemned by every one of the 40 witnesses—that small number of witnesses—who were permitted to appear before the House committee. Day care advocates dislike this bill. Day care advocates who have been calling for legislation on this issue are now saying that they prefer the inadequate arrangements of the Canada Assistance Plan to this bill.

On the other hand, honourable senators, this bill does not make the other side happy either. Those people who believe that child care is not the way to go in this country, and who want to stay home to look after their children, are very unhappy with this legislation. They have pointed out that this legislation gives only an extra $200 a year to the family at home, which does not make it possible for one parent in most families to stay home and look after their children. Therefore, the legislation makes no one happy. Also, of course, under tax law, receipts for child care deductions continue to be required, which, of course, hurts most those who have low incomes. As Mr. Turner pointed out in his speech in the other place on Monday of this week, these tax deductions give the highest priority to those families in the highest income bracket. If this bill takes effect, a family in the top tax bracket with two preschool children will receive $3,600 per year, whereas a single mother on a low income will receive only $200 per year.

Honourable senators, we could go on and look at the individual arrangements that have been made with the provinces in order to ask what is included in those arrangements and what will happen to families who move from province to province. What can such families expect? What kind of stability will they have? What kind of access will they have to child care? What kind of quality care will be provided across this country? Also, does this legislation really force provinces to support commercial or for-profit care?

Honourable senators, I expect that we will ask these questions and many more in committee. We will ask them because, of course, this legislation is not only crucial to the children and families of this country but reflects the way in which this government intends to treat other vulnerable Canadians, such as older Canadians. These are the quite basic indications of the sentiments of this government towards Canadians in vulnerable situations.

However, there is another matter I should like to draw to the attention of all honourable senators. It is an issue that I believe concerns us all, both those who favour this piece of legislation and those against it. I refer to the process that is under way with this legislation, which ends up putting the Senate, I believe, in a highly compromised position. Honourable senators, let us review what has happened.

Mr. Mulroney promised, in the summer campaign of 1984, that a child care program would come forward as a first priority. The task force was then already under way and was to report in March of 1986. In the meantime, because he was pressed to make good on his campaign promises, a special parliamentary committee was set up in November of 1985. That committee took the show on the road and consulted widely across the country. That committee was to report on October 9 of 1986, but instead it got a four-month extension and finally reported on March 30, 1987. The government, of course, was required to respond within 150 days.

Honourable senators, we waited. Finally, on December 3, 1987, Mr. Epp announced his proposed child care program. It was on that program that the Senate made its comments. All of that, however, had to be translated into legislation. Honourable senators, when did the legislation—in other words, what was actually to happen as opposed to what had been considered for action—finally appear? Not until July 25, 1988—four years after such a program had been promised as a great priority.

Honourable senators, this legislation appeared in the middle of a particularly long, hot summer. It received first reading on August 11. It finally received second reading and went to committee. However, even before the bill had received third reading in the House the Prime Minister was accusing the Senate of holding it up. He obviously did not know where his own legislation was!

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator LeBlanc: Can't read the calendar!

Senator Marsden: One wonders what the reaction of senators here is to such an ill-informed accusation. Are the members of this chamber really prepared to accept that kind of abuse of this chamber?

Honourable senators, when the bill went to committee in the other place, the process there was described as "absolutely unprecedented". Of the many groups who asked to be heard in the other place, only 40 were allowed to appear. Those voluntary associations of Canadians from coast to coast had to organize their briefs and presentations at extremely short notice, in the middle of summer, under a set of committee rules with which they were unfamiliar and which, I might add, were ill explained to them. The funding of their travel expenses to appear as witnesses was so badly mishandled that some groups simply could not afford to appear; they did not know whether they would be reimbursed. They therefore complained loudly, and with very good reason, about the way in which they were treated by the committee in the other place.

Those groups who managed to appear—under great stress and at short notice—were given 30 minutes each in which to make their presentations and answer questions.

An Hon. Senator: Is that all?

Senator Marsden: That is all the time they were given: thirty minutes in which to deal with a piece of legislation which is of historic importance. It is among the most important pieces of legislation to occur in this country, and is equally as important as the founding of pensions, Unemployment Insurance and health care.

Senator LeBlanc: A sacred trust!

Senator Marsden: Honourable senators, out of this carefully selected list of 40 groups who finally made an appearance before the committee in the other place, not one witness agreed with the contents of this bill. In particular, they all said that it did not represent the consultations of which they had been a part and which had been going on, apparently, for the last four years—one of the reasons we did not have the legislation sooner.

However, honourable senators, it is not only the advocacy groups for and against child care legislation who are unhappy. Provincial governments are not happy with these arrangements either, and we have been hearing about their unhappiness over the last few weeks. Those provincial governments are crucial, because there are no national standards in this legislation. Therefore, this bill is really a fiscal arrangements bill. Child care, under this legislation, is to be negotiated with each province and will therefore be different in each province—different even in its basic elements. This is a factor which the Senate committee will have to consider and which, I hope, the chamber will also consider in instructing the committee on how to undertake hearings on this bill.

However, honourable senators, even under those circumstances, the committee in the other place did not hear from every province. We know that the legislation means that there will be differences in every province. Some will be in favour of it, some will be against it, but it is important for senators to realize that those very provinces that have the least adequate child care at the moment—the Atlantic provinces, which have the least development of their systems, for good fiscal reasons—have, in many cases, the greatest need. They have, as we have heard in the Senate subcommittee, understaffed government ministries and very few people who know how to establish, maintain and enforce standards. They have the least number of trained child care workers. They have the lowest wages and the fewest spaces. Were they heard from in the committee in the other place? No, they were not.

● (1520)

An Hon. Senator: Intolerable, as usual.

Senator Marsden: The Atlantic provinces were not heard and very few people from the western provinces were heard. There is a unique situation in each province and territory with respect to child care. This issue of the interaction of federal and provincial legislation, as senators have reason to know, is absolutely crucial. The Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology spent a great deal of time examining the impact of family allowances and the tax arrangements for children in terms of how the federal and provincial laws interact to provide benefits in some provinces and few or no benefits in other provinces.

Child care is another case in point. We need the answer to the question of who will be better off and who will be worse off under this legislation. Those answers have not been forthcoming on the other side. All we have are further questions. Surely, whatever honourable senators may think about the content of this legislation, they must be offended by this process. Surely, senators will want to allow Canadians who have important and informed voices in this field—parents; advocates; provincial, territorial and multicultural groups—to be heard by our committee.

There are issues such as those raised in Quebec where this legislation will not cover the progressive program of child care in the education system that has been established in that province. We know from the list of witnesses who have already asked to appear in front of our committee that there are several from Quebec who want to appear. This is a very crucial issue in this legislation.

[Senator Marsden.]

Surely, we will want answers to the question about fiscal arrangements. Those senators who have followed the work of the National Finance Committee on the funding of post-secondary education in this country will realize that serious mistakes made at the beginning of such an important national program are mistakes that will have to be compromised with and accommodated for generations to come. Why make those mistakes at this period? Why not know more about the fiscal arrangements that need to be made?

There are witnesses in this list of 33 groups that have asked to appear before us who are competent to answer those questions. There are people, of course, in various departments of this government who are providing more information on this complicated question. However, the Senate has already been repeatedly accused of delaying, and was even before the House had finished making its own amendments to this legislation—some very crucial amendments that have raised new issues. These ill informed accusations should be corrected. The Leader of the Government in the Senate should assure us that he has corrected, or will correct, the record with his cabinet colleagues and that he will make it very clear to the government and to the people of this country that the Senate received this legislation only yesterday and is dealing with it quickly. We have shown in this chamber the seriousness with which we regard the issue of child care by the serious study we gave Mr. Epp's announced program in December 1987.

Child care is one of the most serious matters to come in front of this Parliament. It involves the children of this country, those who will lead this country in the future. It involves their parents and all the working people of Canada, and does so more than most of the pieces of legislation we have passed. It involves billions of tax dollars of these working people. So people deserve a say in this legislation. The government majority in the House has ignored the fundamental concerns of the Canadian people. It consulted them and then ignored their wishes, and now it wants to spend their tax dollars to create a child care system that no one—absolutely no one—in this country, except the cabinet, supports. I will not even accuse the Conservative backbenchers of supporting it.

An Hon. Senator: They haven't even read it yet!

Senator Marsden: The Senate committee must now take up the traditional responsibility of this chamber with, I trust, the support of everyone here to give this bill careful consideration, to hear witnesses, to ensure that Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island are not ignored this time but are heard along with other provinces, to ensure that the criterion for being invited to appear as a witness will not be the ability to pay, and that we will not allow the Prime Minister's unfortunate comments about this chamber to prevail over common sense, tradition and the parliamentary obligations of the Senate.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

An Hon. Senator: On with the job!

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, the statement made by Senator Marsden is so complete and comprehensive that it is unnecessary to deal substantively with the issues that have been raised by the presentation of this bill. I should like, however, to make one or two comments about the bill itself and to refer to a number of statements made yesterday by Senator Robertson in her very thorough presentation of the contents of the bill and the national strategy for child care of the government, and, finally, to say a word or two about the challenge that now faces the committee to which this bill will be referred.

Certainly, so far as we on this side are concerned, we are prepared to refer the bill to the designated standing committee. Yesterday the Leader of the Government suggested that the bill be referred to Committee of the Whole, with the implication—at least it was an inference which I drew—that the single witness would be the Minister of National Health and Welfare.

An Hon. Senator: Incredible!

Senator MacEachen: In the present circumstances, and in light of the comments made by Senator Marsden, it appears to us that it would be better in these circumstances to have the standing committee receive the bill and to begin its work as quickly as possible, but I will say a word or two about that later.

Honourable senators, it is unnecessary to repeat in detail the concerns that have been expressed about this present legislation. It is to be noted that all of the 40 groups expert in the field of child care appearing before the legislative committee in the House of Commons opposed this legislation. Not a single organization that appeared before that committee had a good word to say about the legislation or recommended its endorsement. That is unusual, and it may be that one of the challenges facing the standing committee of the Senate will be to find some organizations in the country that might present a balanced picture with respect to this legislation, because at present the balance of witnesses heard in the House of Commons committee is totally against the legislation. There are reasons for that, and it is not surprising that one of the principal reasons is the inadequacy of the number of child care spaces being provided by the legislation. It is estimated to be 200,000 over a period of seven years. There are at present 240,000 licensed day care places in Canada. It is also estimated that there are parents who spend at least 20 hours a week either at work or in study with almost two million children in their care. Some authorities say that we will need over one million new spaces. I have no expertise on that subject and, therefore, only recite the fact.

● (1530)

The government proposes to add to the quantum of child care places by a total of 200,000 over a seven-year period—that is the boost period—and, after that, there is no assurance that any further additions will be made. It is not surprising that the argument is advanced that this is inadequate. In fact, no matter what legislation is introduced by governments, it is usually, in the minds of some, regarded as inadequate.

I must say I was surprised to discover that there was testimony before the legislative committee, offered by the chairman of the National Action Committee on the Status of Women, which charged that the present legislation, Bill C-144, is actually regressive. It has been alleged that, had the government done nothing—in other words, had the government not introduced Bill C-144—the plight of working families would have improved when compared with what will occur under this legislation. That was the testimony offered by the National Action Committee on the Status of Women. It claimed that the bill would actually slow the growth in child care spaces. That is a serious allegation that I hope this committee, in its report to the Senate, will be able to clarify.

Ms. Lynn Kaye, president of the National Action Committee, testified:

Rather than improve the availability of care, the bill's modest intention is to deliver a lower growth rate than we can anticipate under present conditions.

She estimated that, if present growth were maintained, at least 300,000 new spaces would be created over the next seven years instead of the 200,000 that this government is limiting itself to creating. Furthermore, there is no guarantee that the provinces will actually create new spaces. I believe that Senator Robertson, in her comments yesterday, underlined the restraints or constraints on certain provinces that might impede their creation of new child care spaces.

So the evidence from the president of the National Action Committee on the Status of Women is rather staggering. Perhaps Senator Robertson can deal effectively with the allegation; but what she cannot deal effectively with, because she gave the store away yesterday, is that the bill fails to create national standards. That had been one of the objectives of Canadian policy in so many fields that it is regrettable that in this field of child care the bill provides that the individual agreements negotiated with the provinces will contain an appendix specifying the standards established by the province for child care services and how the province intends to enforce these standards.

Two observations can be made, honourable senators. One is that, far from setting any minimum national standard, the bill does not even mention what specific areas should be subject to standards. To my knowledge, there does not seem to be any adequate provision in the bill to obligate provinces to provide standards that would be reasonably adequate and similar for all of the children of Canada, regardless of their location in the country. There is no doubt that that has attracted the attention of various persons throughout the country. For example, I recently received two telegrams from persons in Cape Breton. On Friday I received a telegram from Carol Gibson-Kennedy, which reads:

Request permission to appear before subcommittee to express child care concerns of rural Cape Breton. Request to be heard by House denied.

Presumably there are concerns there that have to be addressed.

I have a further telegram, which states:

[Senator MacEachen.]

Please hear Cape Breton Childcare Coalition—The House wouldn't. We see flaws in the bill that are especially damaging to our region.

So, honourable senators, it is acknowledged, and witnesses will want to comment on it, that, as Senator Marsden pointed out, there are no national standards contained in this legislation.

So the concerns are discernible: firstly, the spaces to be created are inadequate in comparison with the demand. Secondly, rather than add to the growth of child care places, the bill itself will slow that growth. Finally, there are no national standards. I consider the latter two as serious allegations that ought to be examined by the committee.

What is the committee to do? The bill came to the Senate yesterday. It will get second reading expeditiously today and go to the committee. The committee is expected to discharge a responsibility on behalf of the Senate. Of course, the Prime Minister has made it clear that he wants this bill not today but last week, because this morning, I am told, he was repeating his unjustified charge that the Senate is obstructing the child care legislation.

Senator Robichaud: That is ridiculous!

Senator MacEachen: Of course, one might be worried if people paid a lot of attention to the Prime Minister. The fact is that most people discount his comments as being more comic than serious—and this is one of them. But the suggestion has been that the Senate must meet an unstated deadline and pass the legislation. What is the deadline? Is it tomorrow?

Senator Barootes: Tomorrow will do.

Senator MacEachen: Senator Barootes says that tomorrow will do. May I ask him what he expects the committee to do with the 34 requests that are now before it from individuals and organizations wishing to be heard?

Senator Frith: Tell him to speak to the Prime Minister.

• (1540)

Senator MacEachen: What will members of the committee do with the 34 requests? Will they dismiss those requests as being trivial and do nothing about them? Honourable senators, I do not intend to read them all, but I have a list of representative persons and organizations asking to be heard on Bill C-144. I think that the members of the committee must pay some attention to these 34 requests, which are so diversified and so characteristic of the concerns that have been expressed about the day care legislation.

Senator Marsden has said that not all of the groups who asked to appear before the committee of the other place were actually heard. I believe that is true. My understanding is that half of those who asked to appear were not permitted to do so, and those who did appear were put through the pressure cooker described by Senator Marsden—their presentations were compressed into a short period of time and their ability to express their concerns and be questioned was limited.

Can the Senate do something to repair this situation? I hope it can. Today the government house leader in the other place dropped a hint that might be useful to the Senate. When asked how much time the Senate had for Bill C-144, he is reported to have said, "All this week and maybe next week—who knows?" We do not know, but we do know one thing: The Senate and its committee are challenged to address the problem of those persons and organizations who wish to appear to express their concerns.

Honourable senators, I have here the list that has come to the committee; surely the committee chairman also has it. I also have a list of persons and organizations who have called my office. Those who sent letters requesting an appearance were: The Yukon Child Care Association; the British Columbia Pre-School Teachers' Association; the Canadian Day Care Advocacy Association; the Coalition for Better Day Care; the St. Joseph's Children's Centre, Nova Scotia; the York University Student Centre Childcare Committee; and the Canadian Association of Toy Libraries and Parent Resource Centres. Those who sent telegrams requesting an appearance before the committee were: The Cape Breton Child Care Coalition; Carol Gibson of Sydney, Nova Scotia; Cathy Spencer, also of Sydney; the Child Care Advocacy of Nova Scotia and CUPE Local 3016 of Halifax.

Honourable senators, it is noteworthy, as was mentioned by Senator Marsden, that of the witnesses heard by the House of Commons there were none from the Atlantic provinces, there were none from the Yukon and Northwest Territories, there were none from Saskatchewan, and there was only one from each of the other western provinces. The majority of witnesses came from central Canada and were, for the most part, representatives of national organizations. Surely one of the things the committee must do now is to give a voice to the regions. Surely we must hear from the Atlantic provinces. It should not be difficult to get these witnesses here, because we know who they are—they are all listed. We know where they live; they can be called today. Surely we can tell them, where necessary, that we can pay their travelling expenses, and in this way we will hear representations from the regions of Canada. I believe that is the challenge facing the committee. It has a big job to do. It will have our support in getting down to work immediately, in scheduling its meetings and in seeing how much it can do to meet the demand that has been put upon it by those citizens and groups that have made this appeal to be heard.

Honourable senators, that is what I have to say on the committee hearings. If I may, I shall ask Senator Robertson to provide some information to me when she closes the debate. One point she made in her statement yesterday was that in the course of the legislative process substantive amendments had been made to Bill C-144. I accept that as a truthful statement, but I should like her, if not now, perhaps later, to provide us with a list of the substantive amendments and the technical amendments that were made in the course of the legislative process.

Basically, the child care proposal is a familiar Canadian program, because it is to be jointly shared by the provinces and the federal government. It is like the Canada Assistance Plan. In fact, some of the witnesses before the committee asked,

"Why go into this when you can do it better with the existing Canada Assistance Plan?" Surely that is something we will be asking and hearing about in the committee. Why not continue with the Canada Assistance Plan? It has stood the test of time and, in a sense, it is reconfirmed in the legislation before us. It is not to debate that point, however, that I refer to the Canada Assistance Plan. I wish to ask Senator Robertson if she can throw some light on her statement in which she said that in the past the federal expenditures on child care services under the Canada Assistance Plan amounted to only 35 per cent. How did that come about? Were some amendments to the Canada Assistance Plan necessary in order to increase the federal share to its normal amount, namely, 50 per cent?

Finally, honourable senators, there is another point Senator Robertson made to which I should like to refer, and that is that the bill which is now before us is retroactive to April of 1988. She made the argument that, if this bill failed to pass and a similar bill had to be introduced in a new Parliament, provinces that had made commitments in the expectation of the passage of this bill would not be reimbursed the federal share. I should like to refer to the relevant paragraphs of her speech, which state:

... to delay this bill would also penalize those provinces that have made the commitment in the current fiscal year to expand and to enrich their licensed child care facilities in the expectation that they would qualify for the 75 per cent sharing of capital costs and the more generous sharing of operating costs provided for in this bill.

That agreement is retroactive to April 1 of this year. Therefore, if it does not pass, they will lose the money they have already spent.

My question is: What amounts of money are involved, what provinces are involved, and what are the number of affected existing child care facilities? The senator referred to only enriching licensed child care facilities rather than creating new ones.

● (1550)

Honourable senators, I come to my final point. The Prime Minister speaks as if new child care spaces would be created tomorrow if this bill were given Royal Assent tonight, as if, tomorrow, working mothers would be able to go to child care centres which would suddenly have mushroomed in the country overnight. Those are his words.

Senator Frith: A joke!

Senator MacEachen: I take a more serious view, and ask the senator: Can she give me an idea of what agreements are about to be signed, or have been signed, under this bill, and with which provinces, and how many child care spaces are covered under these agreements? For example, in Nova Scotia is it expected that the first new child care space will be created, if this bill is passed immediately, by some miraculous prime ministerial intervention, at six o'clock this evening?

Honourable senators, it is obvious that this is an extremely important piece of legislation. It ought to receive careful consideration by the Senate, and it is for that reason that we are ensuring that the bill is referred to committee at once and that the committee will begin its work at once. We shall assess the committee's progress in determining the future treatment of the bill.

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Hon. Brenda M. Robertson: Honourable senators—

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Honourable senators, I wish to inform the Senate that if Senator Robertson speaks now her speech will have the effect of closing the debate on the motion for second reading of this bill.

Senator Robertson: Honourable senators, I have a lot of questions to answer this afternoon and I hope that I can keep track of them. If I may, I shall start with Senator MacEachen's questions and work backward, and we shall see how we make out.

I listened with great interest to the speeches of Senator Marsden and Senator MacEachen this afternoon. There is no doubt that this child care legislation is extremely important to all Canadians and that most Canadians are very interested in it. I certainly do not get the same interpretation from the comments by the Prime Minister as Senator MacEachen does. The Prime Minister is the father of four children. He understands very well the requirements for children across the country, and he is most anxious for the legislation to be in place so that planning and work can progress toward the fulfilment of our obligations as they pertain to this legislation. I doubt very much that any serious person would expect at six o'clock this evening or at six o'clock three months from now we could identify specific spaces as a result of this legislation.

Senator MacEachen: Not six months from now?

Senator Robertson: Oh, yes, six months from now, but not at six o'clock this evening, and I doubt very much that we could do so at six o'clock three months from now.

Senator MacEachen: That's good enough.

Senator Robertson: But in a very few months from now—

Senator MacEachen: Tell that to the Prime Minister!

Senator Robertson: —we will be able to identify those spaces. I hope that before the afternoon is completed I shall be able to advise the chamber of the preliminary work that has been done by the provinces—

Senator Frith: Do so at six o'clock six months from now!

Senator Robertson: —in anticipation of this legislation to expand their spaces.

Honourable senators, I was a bit amused, although perhaps one should not be amused, given the seriousness of a piece of legislation such as this, that Senator MacEachen was shocked that the views of 40 groups appearing before the committee in the other place were all negative. It reminded me of all the people we had paraded in here over the last year on the Meech Lake Accord. There was not one positive witness while I was in the chamber, although I generally left because I did not like the exercise. I did not hear too many positive witnesses on the Meech Lake Accord—

Senator Phillips: There was Pickersgill.

Senator Robertson: —although every Wednesday afternoon the witnesses would come forward.

Let me tell Senator MacEachen what happened in the other place. The government, in its generosity, said, through its members on the committee, to the opposition members, "You may choose all of the witnesses." The government did not choose a single witness.

Senator Frith: Or you could not find one.

Senator Robertson: There were all kinds of witnesses, and Senator Frith need not worry about that.

Senator Frith: I know!

Senator Robertson: Do not try to distract me from my point in relation to Senator MacEachen.

Senator Frith: From your generosity!

Senator Robertson: I say to Senator MacEachen that it sounds to me as though the Atlantic people are pretty satisfied. He says he has found a few who are not; so why were your Liberal members on the committee not asking those people from the Atlantic provinces to come and appear before the committee?

Senator Frith: Because they were told they were not allowed to appear.

Senator MacEachen: They asked.

Senator Robertson: They never did!

Senator Frith: They asked and they were told they couldn't.

Senator MacEachen: They tried.

Senator Frith: Give her the telegram. They were told they couldn't appear.

Senator Robertson: You can give me the telegram, but I can tell you that the Liberal members in the other place chose every single witness. We did not choose one—not one!

Senator Frith: Why not? Because you couldn't find any, that's why.

Senator Robertson: That is not true! It was an act of generosity.

Senator Frith: I see. To quote you, "I am more than a bit amused"!

Senator Robertson: Are you? I don't know whether you should be amused. You know, I was not very amused with regard to Meech Lake. I knew we could find lots of positive witnesses, but I did not see many coming in here.

Senator Frith: Why didn't you go and find them?

Senator Sinclair: Why didn't you ask them to appear?

Senator Robertson: Really!

Senator Frith: Yes, "really"!

[Senator MacEachen.]

Senator Robertson: You just wanted all—

Senator Frith: The item is still on the order paper.

Senator Robertson:—negative witnesses.

Senator Stewart: You had representatives on the steering committee and they didn't ask for them.

Senator Robertson: Now, really!

Senator Frith: Well, you didn't.

Senator Robertson: Isn't it interesting?

Senator Frith: Another act of generosity!

Senator Robertson: You want a balanced hearing, but people have to ask to have a balanced hearing.

Senator Stewart: You could have put forward your views.

Senator Robertson: It does not sound very sensible at all.

Senator Sinclair: You could have asked witnesses to come forward.

Senator Robertson: My, oh my, oh my!

Senator Sinclair: You had lots of opportunity.

Some Hon. Senators: Oh, oh!

Senator Robertson: Anyway, gentlemen, I am not surprised that there were no—

An Hon. Senator: Order!

Senator Robertson: Your Honour, do I still have the floor?

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Yes.

Senator Robertson: Thank you very much.

I am not at all surprised that we did not have positive witnesses if the opposition chose them all. I think it was very generous of the government to give them that opportunity. I really do. I think it was an outstanding act of generosity.

Senator Frith: Next joke!

Senator Robertson: "Next joke", indeed! There is not much to joke about in this child care legislation, senator. I don't know whether you are a grandfather, but I hope so, and I hope you have fond recollections.

Senator MacEachen also talked about the inadequate number of spaces that this legislation will provide. I think the honourable senator was referring to—and I was unable to write it all down—some statistics from Statistics Canada. Those statistics say that there are about 1.9 million children in Canada between the ages of zero and twelve years whose parents work or study at least 20 hours a week. Let me break the statistics down further. There are about 800,000 children under six years of age whose parents work or study at least 20 hours a week. It is a bit of a red herring to suggest that, because parents are working or studying 20 hours a week, we must have space for their children in day care. Saying that every one of those children requires a licensed day care space is like saying that everyone over 75 who is arthritic and who suffers other medical problems requires a nursing home bed. I would point out that the national average of beds allocated in nursing homes to senior citizens is approximately 6.5 per cent.

● (1600)

If I follow the argument correctly, it is that, while we have 240,000 licensed day care spaces in Canada, there are approximately two million Canadian children who need licensed day care because of adults working or studying at least 20 hours a week, therefore, this bill's goal of adding 200,000 licensed, subsidized spaces over the next seven years is totally inadequate to meet the demand. Honourable senators, I think that is the red herring that is being dragged around this chamber.

Honourable senators, the figure of two million children represents every single child in Canada under the age of fourteen whose parents or whose single parent is working for pay or who is a full-time student for at least 20 hours a week. About 850,000 of these children are under the age of six and the remainder are between the ages of six and thirteen. Considering these figures, can one truly jump to the conclusion that all of these children, or even all those under age six, require licensed day care? Clearly, honourable senators, the answer is no.

Children aged six and over are generally in school during the day. Many children under the age of six attend nursery school, kindergarten or receive forms of non-parental care that are not counted in the total of licensed day care spaces. Many others are being cared for by a neighbour or a relative in the parental home. Many parents are able to arrange their work schedules so that one of them is at home with the children while the other is earning. That is how my husband and I managed to raise our children. A number of parents do that. However, we are told by this bill's opponents that these so-called informal arrangements are forced on parents by the lack of licensed day care spaces. Again, I suggest, honourable senators, that that argument simply does not stand up to scrutiny.

I refer to the last study completed in this regard—a study we hope to repeat again in the coming year. Some of you will remember that in February of 1981 Statistics Canada surveyed Canadian families with respect to their child care arrangements. I know that things have changed since 1981. When we talk about making changes to the system, honourable senators, we have to do so on the basis of accurate information, before we carve too many laws in stone. In 1981 there were 1,133,000 children under the age of six receiving some form of non-parental care. Of those, just 127,000, or 11.2 per cent, were being cared for in licensed day care centres.

In that study parents were asked to list up to three reasons for their current child care arrangement. The parents of only 89,000 of these 1,133,000 children gave as one of those reasons that it was the only arrangement available or that they were not aware of alternatives.

Parents were also asked if they wanted to change their child care arrangements. The parents of only 165,000 preschool children answered yes to that question. Of those parents, when asked to list up to three ways they might want to change the arrangement, parents of only 48,000 children gave as one of the desired changes an arrangement using a day care centre.

Honourable senators, it will be most interesting to see the findings when this study is repeated again next year.

You cannot simply say that, because there are 1.9 million children whose parents work or study at least 20 hours of the week, they all need day care spaces. I cannot buy that argument at all, and I do not think the people of Canada will buy that argument either.

If I interpreted Senator MacEachen's question correctly, he asked what would happen after the booster period. Honourable senators, I explained that yesterday. The federal government has already entered into an agreement with the provinces to negotiate whatever they were receiving at the end of the seven years. I think they are adding $800 million a year, plus the cost of living. There is an agreement in place and, if the honourable senator wishes, I can give him the clause of the bill that identifies that particular coverage.

Senator MacEachen suggested that NAC called the legislation regressive and said that it would slow the growth in child care spaces as compared to the current rate of growth under CAP. Honourable senators, I do not know where that information comes from. In that regard, the leader of the NDP in the other place used the same argument as Senator MacEachen gave us this afternoon. He stated, as Senator MacEachen quoted, that if the government had done anything at all it would have provided for more spaces under this legislation. It was said that there are presently 240,000 child care spaces in Canada and that this legislation will add at least another 200,000 spaces. The leader of the NDP suggested—and that may be where NAC is getting its figures—that if we created an additional 200,000 spaces it would mean an increase of about 10 per cent a year, whereas he suggested that under the status quo or CAP we have seen a growth of 15 per cent.

Honourable senators, that sounds like a rather simplistic argument, but let me tell you what is wrong with it. The goal of this bill is to set up at least 200,000 licensed, subsidized spaces, not just licensed spaces. There are not, as was perhaps suggested by NAC and the leader of the NDP, 240,000 licensed, subsidized spaces; there are 160,000. From the beginning of time up until now, Canada has put in place 160,000 licensed, subsidized spaces, and the government is proposing to increase that to at least 360,000 over the next seven years.

That is the appropriate comparison, honourable senators.

● (1610)

Secondly, of the 15 per cent annual growth in licensed spaces between 1982 and 1987, which was referred to, just under 40 per cent was in commercial day care spaces, a form of child care some people want to see abolished. So only 60 per cent of those were created by what we consider the traditional form of CAP. This just changes the whole direction. It is an elementary principle of arithmetic, I suppose, that rates tend to decline as the base from which they are calculated increases. So, if there are 20,000 spaces at the outset, and if 20,000 spaces are added each year, the growth rate in the first year will be 100 per cent.

Senator Marsden: Would the honourable senator entertain a question? Surely the point here is that the Canada Assistance Plan is an open-ended system, whereas the proposed legislation puts a cap on it, and the question is not how many spaces there are, because, after all, we do not know how many there are precisely or how many there will be. The fact is that under the Canada Assistance Plan, if a province were to take up the available funds, many more spaces would be created. It seems to me that that is the point that is being made by the National Action Committee, by Senator MacEachen and by anyone else who has commented on the point.

So arguing over numbers becomes futile since it is highly speculative both regarding the current situation and the future situation. It is the principle of the bill that counts.

Senator Robertson: Thank you for that interjection.

An Hon. Senator: It was a question!

Senator Robertson: And for the question. I have information here that indicates that under CAP there was a decrease in spaces taken up by the provinces. I will provide that information to the honourable senator at the committee meeting.

CAP did not grow the way they thought it would grow. Any province can elect to stay in CAP; a province does not have to opt for this new arrangement. The provinces have a choice to opt for this legislation or to stay with what they currently have.

It is not difficult to dispel many of the concerns raised in all of the questions that have been asked.

Senator Frith: The committee can look into some of these questions.

Senator Robertson: I have a copy of the list of amendments. I will send that to the honourable senator. The amendments are substantial.

Senator MacEachen wanted to know the amount of money being made available to the provinces and how many spaces are affected. Currently there is no agreement, because the legislation has not been passed; however, I will get that information. Some of the provinces have been working on capital construction and working toward an increase in their spaces. I will not be able to give a number respecting those spaces until the agreement is signed, but those provinces will lose all of the moneys they have spent if this bill does not go through.

However, under the new form of Senate that we have, which Senator MacEachen refers to all the time, in which the days of prestudy have gone, and the Senate will get credit for everything it does—some of us do not require more recognition in our lives.

If prestudy of legislation had been allowed in this new Senate, all of these questions could have been answered. All of these questions could have been dealt with had the legislation been prestudied by the Senate, and we would not now be rushed in the last few days. If Senator MacEachen wants to refer this bill to the committee and have the committee spend two months considering it, after the election or before the election, that is his prerogative. However, I can tell the honourable senator that our information is that people are paying increased attention not only to what Prime Minister Mulroney is saying but also to what goes on in this chamber.

[Senator Robertson.]

Some Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Robertson: I am not one to pat myself on the back. Many of the comments I have received are not as congratulatory as some honourable senators might think.

I have taken up a great deal of time and there is a celebration planned to welcome our new senators. I have answers to dozens and dozens of questions. I will take the answers to the committee, but, believe me, the arguments of honourable senators opposite are straw arguments. I do have information to support the statements I made yesterday. I do have information to support the answers to the questions that have been put to me. I appreciate honourable senators' concerns.

Senator Frith: And ones we have not even thought of yet!

Senator Robertson: All kinds of questions can be raised, but, if honourable senators sat down quietly and looked at the bill—

Senator Doody: In a non-partisan fashion.

Senator Robertson: —in a non-partisan fashion, as one would do in prestudy—

Senator Frith: Soberly and with second thought!

Senator Robertson: —then I do not think honourable senators would have raised all of the questions they have raised today.

The Honourable Senator Denis asked for a chronology of events. I can supply him with that. This chronology sets out all the work that has been done over the past four years. Senator Marsden referred to this yesterday.

My parting note is that those of us who have worked on federal-provincial arrangements over the years know how long it takes to come to an agreement. I think it is amazing we have come this far in four years. I can remember long hours, weeks, months and years of negotiations that never got off the ground.

Honourable senators, I will deal with the other questions when this bill is referred to committee.

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I agree that many of these questions should be raised in committee, but I would ask Senator Robertson, for the benefit of the committee, to check the source of her statement about the opposition choosing all the witnesses who appeared before the committee of the other place. We have checked and we have been told that the process for selecting witnesses to appear before the legislative committee on Bill C-144 was done from a master list submitted by all three parties, and that John Bosley was active in the process of selecting and rejecting names.

Senator Robertson: I will check my information. My information is that they gave complete leeway to the opposition parties. They said: "You choose your witnesses because time is so short." That is easily checked.

Motion agreed to and bill read second time.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

On motion of Senator Robertson, bill referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology.

[Translation]

SOCIAL AFFAIRS, SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

COMMITTEE AUTHORIZED TO MEET DURING SITTING OF THE SENATE

Leave having been given to revert to Notices of Motions:

Hon. Arthur Tremblay, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(a), I moved:

That the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology have power to sit while the Senate is sitting on Thursday and Friday next, 29th and 30th September, 1988, and that rule 76(4) be suspended in relation thereto.

Motion agreed to.

CONSTITUTION ACT, 1867

BILL TO AMEND—SECOND READING—ORDER STANDS

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Molgat, seconded by the Honourable Senator Corbin, for the second reading of the Bill S-20, An Act to amend the Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate).—(Honourable Senator Kelly).

Hon. Martial Asselin: Honourable senators, it was my intention to take Senator Kelly's place but because the foreign affairs committee will be meeting and I must be there I ask that my intervention be put off until tomorrow.

[English]

Order stands in name of Senator Asselin.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

COMMITTEE AUTHORIZED TO MEET DURING SITTING OF THE SENATE

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition), with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(a), moved:

That the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs have power to sit while the Senate is sitting now, and that rule 76(4) be suspended in relation thereto.

Motion agreed to.

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I ask that all remaining orders stand.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow at 2 p.m.

APPENDIX

(See p. 4503)

PATENT ACT

BILL TO AMEND—REPORT OF STANDING SENATE
COMMITTEE ON BANKING, TRADE AND COMMERCE

WEDNESDAY, September 28, 1988

The Standing Senate Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce has the honour to present its

THIRTY-THIRD REPORT

Your Committee, to which was referred the Bill S-15, An Act to amend the Patent Act, has, in obedience to the Order of Reference of Tuesday, June 21, 1988, examined the said Bill and now reports the same without amendment but with the following comments:

The Committee tabled an interim report on Bill S-15 (Thirty-Second Report) in the Senate on Wednesday, September 14, 1988 in which it presented background information on the Bill along with some preliminary observations on drug prices. Since that time, the Committee has heard testimony from Dr. Harry Eastman, the Chairman of the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board and members of the Board's staff. Also, the Committee has had access to additional information on drug prices from the Minister of Health of the Province of Manitoba and Green Shield Prepaid Services Inc.

INTRODUCTION

Bill S-15 would amend certain provisions of the Patent Act relating to the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board (the Board). Price increases occurring after June 27, 1986 would be subject to the scrutiny of the Board. The Bill would require the Board to examine the prices at which patented medicines are sold in Canada on an annual basis and to make a determination as to whether those prices are excessive. Prices would automatically be excessive whenever their rate of increase exceeded that of the Consumer Price Index (CPI).

Where a price is excessive, the Bill would require the Board to take remedial action. It could remove a patentee's market exclusivity or order the price to be reduced to a level that is not excessive. In addition, the Board could limit future price increases in order to recoup a price overcharge.

THE DETERMINATION OF EXCESSIVE PRICE

Under Bill S-15, the CPI would be the governing factor in matters relating to price. The Patent Act (the Act), however, requires the Board, when determining whether a price is excessive, to take a number of factors into consideration. In addition to the CPI, the Board will look at prices during the preceding five years, as well as prices of medicines in the same therapeutic class and in other countries. Although the Board must consider all of these factors, the weight that it gives to each of them is within the discretion of the Board.

While the Patent Act amendments (Bill C-22) were passed by Parliament in November 1987, it was not until July 1988 that the Board issued guidelines setting out criteria for the review of prices. With regard to patented medicines first marketed in Canada before December 7, 1987, the date on which the Board was given statutory authority, the guidelines provide that the Board will give the greatest weight to the Consumer Price Index. In doing so, it will compare the price of a patented medicine at the time of a review with the benchmark price (the price on December 7, 1987) of the medicine adjusted for the cumulative change in the CPI, the latter being the CPI-adjusted price. The current price of a medicine will be presumed to be excessive, if it is greater than the CPI-adjusted price or, alternatively, not excessive where it is less than that price. The guidelines note that the presumption can be rebutted by "significant evidence to the contrary".

For a patented medicine first marketed in Canada on or after December 7, 1987, the Board will establish a benchmark price on the basis of the median price of the medicine in the countries referred to in the regulations (Federal Republic of Germany, France, Italy, Sweden, Switzerland, United Kingdom and United States) and the therapeutically-adjusted price as determined by the Board. Where the initial price of a medicine does not exceed the lesser of the median international price and the therapeutically-adjusted price, the price will be presumed to be not excessive. This presumption can also be rebutted by significant evidence to the contrary. The Committee supports the Board's use of a median international price, rather than an average price, as it will reduce the importance of extremely high international prices in establishing a benchmark for Canada.

The Committee notes that the Board's approach to the determination of excessive price differs from that found in Bill S-15 in two essential respects. First, with regard to the benchmark date from which price levels are to be measured and second, with respect to the role that the CPI will play as a pricing factor. In relation to the former, the Board has adopted December 7, 1987 rather than June 27, 1986 as the benchmark date; while, in connection with the latter, a price that exceeds the CPI-adjusted price will create a rebuttable presumption of excessiveness rather than a definitive determination of excessive pricing upon which the Board is required to act.

In commenting on the respective benchmark dates, Dr. Eastman stated that December 7, 1987 was chosen because it is the date on which the provisions of the Patent Act amendments relating to the Board came into force. The Committee, however, prefers the adoption of June 27, 1986, the date relevant to the determination of the various periods of market exclusivity to be enjoyed by patentees, as the benchmark date for judging excessive drug prices. This preference has two bases. First, it would bring a larger number of patented medicines within the purview of the CPI criterion. Second, it would ensure that this criterion applies to a greater number of price levels; that is, all those that would come into effect after June 27, 1986 -- a date almost eighteen months earlier than the one adopted by the Board.

With regard to the role of the CPI as a factor in determining excessive price, Dr. Eastman noted that, in the context of the current legislative mandate, it would not be possible for the Board to fetter its discretion by considering only one factor. The Board, however, has decided that it is reasonable to place the greatest weight on the Consumer Price Index in assessing the prices of patented medicines first marketed in Canada prior to December 7, 1987.

The Committee is encouraged by the Board's adoption of pricing guidelines which give "first among equals status" to the Consumer Price Index factor in assessing medicines marketed prior to December 7, 1987. By assigning the greatest weight to this factor and by creating the presumption that a price will be excessive if it exceeds the CPI-adjusted price, the Board has rightfully placed this factor at the forefront.

Despite the willingness of the Board to give prominence to the CPI as a pricing factor, the Committee feels that more should be done. We, therefore, strongly endorse the provision of Bill S-15 that would make the CPI the sole factor in the determination of excessive prices. This provision merely puts in legislative form the statements of the Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs regarding the mandate of the Board and the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association of Canada's understanding that price increases will be kept in line with the rate of inflation.

The Committee also supports the provision of the Bill that would require the Board to remove a patentee's market exclusivity or order a price reduction where a price has been found to be excessive. In the Committee's opinion, this would ensure that some action would be taken against an offending patentee.

DRUG PRICING

Since the tabling of the Committee's interim report on Bill S-15, no new evidence has come to our attention to dispute the conclusions in that report. It is clear to us that drug prices are continuing to rise at a pace which exceeds the rate of inflation.

In addition to the material previously at our disposal, the Committee received information from the Manitoba Minister of Health. In that province, expenditures on drugs have been increasing at about 15% per year, due to increases in prices and greater utilization of drugs. While it is not possible to disentangle the relative importance of these two factors, both the growth in expenditures on drugs in Manitoba and the pricing experience is not out of line with what we have seen in other provinces.

One concern expressed by the Manitoba Minister of Health is the fact that the Board, under existing legislation and under Bill S-15, has direct control over only patented drugs which account for about 25% of the market in that province. The evidence heard by this Committee and others in the past two years indicates that the pricing of generic drugs is subject to considerable competitive pressure and is constrained by the pricing of brand-name drugs. An effective means of controlling patented drug prices, therefore, is also likely to control generic drug prices.

The Committee also received some additional information from Green Shield Prepaid Services Inc. regarding the pricing of drugs covered by its various insurance plans. While this information covers a large number of drugs, it includes only a small number of companies. Accordingly, we interpret it cautiously.

At the very least, these new data indicate that not all brand-name drug manufacturers have taken the announcements of their association to heart. Officers of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association of Canada have stated on numerous occasions that they expect price increases to be limited to the rate of inflation. Yet through 1987 and 1988, some of these firms have increased their prices at accelerating rates. In January of this year, drug price increases of our sample of just over 260 drugs exceeded the rate of inflation by over eleven percentage points. More disturbing is the discovery that 18 drugs, 7% of the sample, had price increases of over 50% in January. Ten of these drugs more than doubled in price in that month.

In conclusion, several troublesome aspects of drug pricing are not yet resolved to the Committee's satisfaction. On average, drug prices continue to increase at rates faster than inflation. The prices charged for some individual drugs are increasing at extremely high rates. Finally, the benchmark system of prices chosen by the Board is not consistent with the retrospective nature of Bill C-22 and is insufficient to deal with the extreme price increases that we have observed for some drugs in the past few years. It is the view of the Committee that Bill S-15 provides a workable and reliable mechanism to deal with these pricing concerns.

Respectfully Submitted,

IAN SINCLAIR

Chairman

THE SENATE

Thursday, September 29, 1988

The Senate met at 2 p.m., the Speaker in the Chair.
Prayers.

[Translation]

BROADCASTING BILL

FIRST READING

The Hon. the Speaker informed the Senate that a message had been received from the House of Commons with Bill C-136, respecting broadcasting and to amend certain acts in relation thereto and in relation to radiocommunication.

Bill read first time.

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the second time?

On motion of Senator Doody, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 44(1)(f), bill placed on the Orders of the Day for second reading later this day.

[English]

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT, 1971

BILL TO AMEND—FIRST READING

The Hon. the Speaker informed the Senate that a message had been received from the House of Commons with Bill C-158, to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971.

Bill read first time.

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the second time?

On motion of Senator Doody, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 44(1)(f), bill placed on the Orders of the Day for second reading later this day.

PRIVILEGE

Hon. Charles McElman: Honourable senators, at this point may I speak to what I consider to be a matter of privilege? In this morning's issue of The Ottawa Citizen there is an article that appears under the cutline "Senator's travel can't be verified: airlines".

In it the writer suggests that the Senate has been unable to provide the two national airlines with enough information to obtain confirmation of the facts that it is seeking. The writer interviewed the Honourable Lowell Murray, the Leader of the Government in the Senate, who, in reply, said that he could not accept that such a situation existed.

On behalf of the subcommittee of the Internal Economy Committee, of which I have acted as chairman, I should simply like to state that Senator Murray is quite correct; the airlines have indicated to the subcommittee staff that, if any of the three factors involved—that is, ticket numbers, dates, names and so on—are presented to them, although it will take a longer time if we are only dealing with dates, for example, rather than ticket numbers, indeed, as Senator Murray has suggested, the national airlines can provide the information that is required by the Senate.

NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

RECOGNITION OF UNITED NATIONS PEACEKEEPING FORCES

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): If I may, I shall take just a moment of the time of honourable senators to draw to their attention the announcement earlier today by the Nobel Committee in Oslo, Norway, naming United Nations peacekeeping forces around the world as winners of the 1988 Nobel Peace Prize.

Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator Murray: They say that the awarding of the Nobel Peace Prize to the United Nations peacekeeping forces must be a source of pride to all Canadians. Canadians are proud of the recognized expertise, professionalism and dedication of the approximately 80,000 men and women of our armed forces who have served in various U.N. peacekeeping operations over the years.

Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

SIXTY-SIXTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE PRESENTED

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc, Deputy Chairman of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, presented the following report:

Thursday, September 29, 1988

The Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration has the honour to present its

SIXTY-SIXTH REPORT

Your Committee makes the following recommendations:

1. Franking Privileges by Senators

Retain present practice as described in Canada Post Corporation Act, S.C., 29-30 Eliz. II, c.54, s.34(2)(b), s.34(4). If it meets the test of first, second and third class mail and is not a parcel, the Postmaster is to send it.

2. Postal Services available to Senators

Retain current practice for items of Senate business.

3. Making Householder Mailings Available to Senators

Retain current practice of not permitting such mailing.

4. Printing Guidelines

Establish a volumetric limit of 40,000 impressions per year per Senator. Senators in need of a greater amount may make requests to the Main Committee. In addition, declare the following requests unacceptable:

a) Material unrelated to activities of the Senate of Canada.

b) Material of a partisan political nature such as:

i) solicitations of party membership;

ii) invitations to attend national or constituency partisan meeting or conventions;

iii) requests for monetary contributions not clearly in the tax deduction provisions for political donations;

iv) federal, provincial or municipal election campaign material such as speeches, enumerators' lists, party or constituency workers' lists, poll activities, requests for re-election support, etc.

v) publications normally made available from party headquarters; and

vi) party leadership election campaign material.

c) Reproduction on letterhead such as party stationery, Senators' stationery with party logos, etc.

d) Reproduction of parliamentary publications in their entirety which are available from the Joint Parliamentary Distribution Office, other government departments or commercial sources.

e) Photocopying of publications protected by copyright for public distribution where written approval has not been obtained from the author or publisher.

5. Newspapers and Periodicals for Individual Use by Senators

Senators may order subscriptions and pay for them from their $10,000 discretionary allowance. The newspapers and periodicals subscribed to must be delivered to the Senator's Ottawa office.

Respectfully submitted,

ROMÉO LEBLANC
Deputy Chairman

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this report be taken into consideration?

On motion of Senator LeBlanc (Beauséjour), report placed on the Orders of the Day for consideration at the next sitting of the Senate.

INTERNATIONAL CENTRE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENT BILL

LEAVE GRANTED TO PRESENT REPORT OF COMMITTEE LATER
THIS DAY

Hon. John B. Stewart: Honourable senators, I ask for leave to revert to Reports of Committees later this afternoon to present the report of the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs on Bill C-147.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government), with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(g), moved:

That when the Senate adjourns today, it do stand adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, 30th September, 1988, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Motion agreed to.

● (1410)

QUESTION PERIOD

SPORT

XXIV OLYMPIAD—BEN JOHNSON—STRIPPING OF 100-METRE
SPRINT GOLD MEDAL AND DISQUALIFICATION—
ESTABLISHMENT OF INDEPENDENT INVESTIGATION—
PROPRIETY OF LIFE SUSPENSION

Hon. Raymond J. Perrault: Honourable senators, news reports in recent hours suggest that the government, in an uncharacteristic manner, may be yielding to plain old common sense by appointing a special investigatory committee to look into all aspects of the Ben Johnson affair.

I see Senator Flynn shaking his head. Thank God he never went to the bench! As a judge, after a preliminary hearing he would have sentenced the person charged with the offence to life imprisonment, without any right of appeal.

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Order! Nobody is talking about Senator Flynn.

Hon. Jacques Flynn: On a point of order, I have never been as irresponsible as Senator Perrault.

Senator Perrault: Every suggestion made about extending basic Canadian justice to Ben Johnson has been met with opposition on the part of Senator Flynn.

Senator Flynn: Try to make sense instead of noise!

Senator Perrault: If you sat down and listened more, you would be a possessor of marvelous amounts of wisdom.

These reports in recent hours suggest that there is going to be a special committee to investigate all aspects of the Ben Johnson affair, the very proposal that the Leader of the Government in the Senate has been resisting for the past two days, joined by that cabal of supporters on the other side of the house.

Senator Flynn: That is false!

Senator Perrault: Indeed, a spokesman for the Minister of State for Youth, Fitness and Amateur Sport, after a discussion yesterday, said, "In thinking it over, perhaps we should call in an outside agency to conduct the investigation, and not have an in-house investigation by the Canadian Track and Field Association or the Olympic Committee," precisely the position taken by this party in the house.

My question is this: Mr. Minister, are you about to tear asunder our hopes or will there in fact be an independent investigation of all aspects of the Johnson affair by an outside committee, or is this just a nefarious rumour?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, first, I must observe that the Honourable Senator Perrault, for the third time this week, has implied that there was some lack of due process in what happened in Seoul, Korea. I must, with respect, take exception to that statement.

The evidence is that due process was respected. I repeat that the medical findings have not been challenged. I repeat for the third time that the Canadian delegation had every opportunity, and exercised the opportunity, to provide alternative explanations, scenarios and hypotheses to the Olympic authorities. This, after discussions with the athlete in question. So, due process was respected.

Secondly, so far as an inquiry is concerned, the honourable senator alleges that I have been resisting such a step. Had he done more listening and less talking yesterday, or had he taken the trouble to review our exchange in Hansard of yesterday, he would find that on page 4505 I said:

... we do not exclude the possibility of a general inquiry into the problem.

That is still our position.

Senator Perrault: Honourable senators, I have in my hand a copy of the minister's press release. It was issued by Jean-Paul Charbonneau, and the Minister of State for Youth, Fitness and Amateur Sport, the Honourable Jean Charest, authored this press release.

The headline emblazons the words, "Ben Johnson Suspended For Life," not "Ben Johnson Suspended Until Appeal Heard," not "Ben Johnson Suspended Until All Facts Are Known," or not "Ben Johnson Suspended Pending An Inquiry." The Leader of the Government actually comes to us and tells us that due process of law has been observed. Yet Mr. Charest goes on to say in his release that all federal financial support to Ben Johnson, in accordance with our doping control program, is suspended for life.

[Senator Perrault.]

The point that we are trying to make is this: First, will that committee of investigation be established, as recent news reports have suggested? The Leader of the Government must know whether or not in fact that committee is going ahead if he is admitted into cabinet meetings.

Second, we question the propriety of sentencing any Canadian, regardless of the offence, until we know the full implications of the allegations against that person and until a full process of appeal has been accorded to that person.

The minister's news release was totally inappropriate. Quite properly, the minister is under criticism all across the country for having taken that precipitate action.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, it is clear that Senator Perrault challenges the medical finding.

Senator Perrault: Not at all.

Senator Olson: No!

Senator Murray: It is equally clear that Senator Perrault challenges the unanimous decision of the Olympic authorities and the right of the Canadian Track and Field Association to conduct their investigation, having indicated his low esteem for them yesterday when he described them as "rabbits in the lettuce patch." Those views are on the record and can stay there.

Meanwhile, the government will take its responsibility. We do not at all exclude the possibility of an inquiry into the generality of the problem.

Senator Perrault: What the Leader of the Government has uttered about my alleged position is wrong, wrong, wrong! And the leader knows it! He is trying to muddy the waters.

Senator Flynn: Who is trying to muddy the waters?

Senator Perrault: He is hauling a red herring across the trail. He knows that we are simply standing up for the right of every Canadian to due process of law before that person is sentenced, sent to jail or condemned for life. He knows that. I know that he possesses better sensibilities than he has expressed in the reply which he has given to the members of this esteemed chamber.

It was inappropriate for the minister to move in the fashion in which he did. He is under criticism now from people in his own department, from coast to coast and from the media, and quite properly so.

We are asking whether or not the Prime Minister and members of the cabinet, including the Leader of the Government in the Senate as a member of the Privy Council, are prepared to announce today that there will be an independent investigation of all the circumstances surrounding this unfortunate Johnson affair to ensure that the guilty are apprehended, if there are guilty people to be apprehended. That is all we are saying. We do not need a distortion of the facts by the Leader of the Government.

Senator Flynn: What due process, when you speak of guilt?

Senator Perrault: You would have been a hanging judge!

Senator Flynn: You're a hanging judge!

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, I thought I heard the honourable senator say yesterday that the problem was broader than simply one athlete or one incident. That is the view of the government as well, which is why we are giving serious consideration to an inquiry into the generality of the problem, including the incident that the honourable senator and I have been talking about, the Johnson incident.

I ask the honourable senator to reflect on the duties of the Minister of State for Youth, Fitness and Amateur Sport—

Senator Flynn: There is no use in trying to have him reflect!

Senator Murray: Again, the medical finding has not been challenged. Again, the Olympic authorities, having heard the representations of the Canadian delegation, made their decision unanimously. At that point the Minister of State for Youth, Fitness and Amateur Sport had a decision to make. Does he accept the legitimacy, validity and authority of the decision that was made by the Olympic people or does he not? If he does, what action should he take on behalf of the Government of Canada? In my view, the minister acted in a way that is thoroughly commendable. Further, I have absolutely no doubt that the days ahead will vindicate his excellent judgment in the matter.

● (1420)

An Hon. Senator: Hear, hear!

Senator Perrault: You may applaud, but in today's Journal de Montréal there is a suggestion by the minister himself that he may have acted too soon or may have reacted in an inappropriate way.

Senator Flynn: That should not worry you!

Senator Perrault: It should not be this complicated to bring into being an independent investigation to determine the facts of this case, which are so troubling to so many Canadians. I will leave it at that.

Senator Flynn: Hot air!

Senator Perrault: Hanging judge, that's all you are!

Senator Flynn: You are the one speaking of people being guilty before they have been tried!

Senator Perrault: You and Judge Begbie!

UNITED NATIONS

IRAN-IRAQ BORDER PEACEKEEPING CONTINGENT—RETURN OF SOME CANADIAN MEMBERS

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, I have a question for the Leader of the Government in the Senate. First, let me say that I was pleased to hear his announcement today regarding the award to the Canadian Forces.

My question is about the Canadian Forces and their peace-keeping role on the Iran-Iraq border. I was disturbed by a news story that indicates that some of the members of the Canadian Forces monitoring the truce in the Iran-Iraq war will be coming home in the next few weeks. The story gives no explanation of why they are returning home. It is a vague story. It says that a:

—spokesman for External Affairs Minister Joe Clark, said Thursday night it was not yet clear how many of the soldiers will be returning.

It could be three or four. It could be a few dozen. It's a subject of discussion with the UN—

Can the minister tell us the reason for the return of these troops so quickly after their dispatch to that region?

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I have no idea. I surmise that, since some of the troops were only involved in setting up communications systems, their continued presence is no longer necessary. However, that is pure conjecture on my part. I shall make inquiries of my colleague, the Minister of National Defence.

ORDER PAPER QUESTION

LAPRADE FUND—REQUEST FOR ANSWER

Hon. B. Alasdair Graham: Honourable senators, I have to take the unusual step of asking the Leader of the Government whether or not he will answer today, in the period designated "Delayed Answers to Questions", my questions with respect to the LaPrade Fund, which have been outstanding for 20 months and which have been repeated by me on several occasions.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, my friend, the Deputy Leader of the Government, has three delayed answers today, but that one is not among them.

Senator Frith: I have to admit that that is informative—it is not helpful, but it is informative!

Senator Steuart: But you are on the list!

Senator Frith: Not the short list but the long list. That has to be a classic!

Senator Graham: Honourable senators, I expressed my admiration for the Leader of the Government on Tuesday of this week when, indeed, the deputy leader was able to provide the answers to five questions that had been asked in the last couple of weeks. But what is causing the delay in answering these questions that were placed on the order paper on February 3, 1987? I have repeated my request for answers on several occasions—indeed, this year as recently as earlier this week on September 27, earlier on September 13 and earlier on June 21. Obviously, the minister must have some reason why these questions have not been answered over a period of 20 months. I hope that the minister and the government are not taking this series of serious questions lightly.

Senator Murray: Honourable senators, my recollection is—and I thought I had conveyed this to the honourable senator—that a reply was almost ready to be tabled but was withdrawn by the department because some of the figures needed to be updated. I believe my recollection is correct with regard to the honourable senator's questions on the LaPrade Fund. In any case, I shall make inquiries and try to expedite the reply. We shall be sitting tomorrow, so I shall see what I can do.

Senator Graham: Can the Leader of the Government in the Senate tell us which department is responsible for providing this particular answer?

Senator Murray: I think there is more than one, but I believe it is the Department of Regional Industrial Expansion.

Senator Graham: I am looking at the assistant of the Leader of the Government in the Senate, who is in the gallery, with a view to finding out where the questions have been directed. Perhaps he could come down and send in a note that would enlighten the minister!

I hope there is nothing to hide with respect to the answer to my questions relating to the LaPrade Fund that has caused this highly unusual delay, which undoubtedly is establishing a record in this place—20 months.

Senator Murray: No, I do not think so.

Senator Graham: Would the Leader of the Government in the Senate give an undertaking to provide whatever information he has tomorrow morning when we sit?

Senator Murray: I do not have any information at the moment, but I shall see what I can obtain from colleagues.

DELAYED ANSWERS TO ORAL QUESTIONS

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have delayed answers to a number of questions.

There was a question on August 31 by Senator Stanbury, regarding External Affairs—Central America—Lack of Canadian Consular and Immigration Services. On September 20 there was a question by Senator Denis, regarding Canadian-United States Free Trade Agreement—Government Publicity Campaign. On September 21 there was a question by Senator Fairbairn, regarding National Defence—Pre-1968 Nerve Gas Testing at CFB Suffield, Alberta.

If honourable senators wish to have any of these answers read, I shall be happy to do so; otherwise I ask that they be printed as part of today's proceedings.

CANADA-UNITED STATES FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

GOVERNMENT PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN—STATUS DURING ELECTION—AVAILABILITY OF PUBLICATIONS IN OTHER LANGUAGES

Hon. Azellus Denis: I wonder whether my question to the Leader of the Government in the Senate, on the cost of publicity in favour of free trade, is included in the retarded answers on free trade.

Senator Frith: You are talking about the government! "Retarded" answer is the mot juste!

[Senator Murray.]

Senator Denis: We want to know how many millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money have been wasted in publicity—

Senator Murray: Don't jump to conclusions.

Senator Denis: —in order to try to sell our Canada to the United States.

Senator Perrault: Let's hear it.

Senator Frith: There is a really objective assessment.

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): I certainly cannot accept the premise that Senator Denis has put forward. However, in the interests of non-partisan information, I am only too happy to provide the following information:

$10 million has been allocated for the 87-88 fiscal year for seminars to prepare business people for new opportunities, for publications, and for advertising to support these important activities.

The complete breakdown of the budget is not available. The planned communications program has not yet been completed and so it is not yet possible to account for all attendant actual costs. A detailed breakdown of costs will be given by the Minister of International Trade at a later date.

With respect to questions on whether or not the government will continue to advertise after the writs are issued, no election call has been made, therefore, the question is hypothetical at this point.

Senator Frith: A masterpiece of Orwellian newspeak!

Senator Perrault: This show should be known as "Laugh In"!

Senator Denis: Is there any indication of the approximate price?

Senator Doody: I mentioned $10 million.

Senator Frith: Would you believe $40 million?

Senator Denis: Chicken feed; chicken feed!

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

CENTRAL AMERICA—LACK OF CANADIAN CONSULAR AND IMMIGRATION SERVICES

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have a delayed answer in response to a question asked in the Senate on August 31 last by the Honourable Richard J. Stanbury, regarding External Affairs—Central America—Lack of Canadian Consular and Immigration Services.

(The answer follows:)

Since 1984, Visa Officers of the Department of External Affairs have been assigned to both Canadian Embassies in Central America, namely Guatemala City and San Jose, Costa Rica.

At the present time, five Visa Officers are at the two missions, including two in Guatemala (with responsibility also for immigration from Honduras), and three in San Jose (with responsibility for Costa Rica, Panama, Nicaragua, and El Salvador). Because of the increased workload in San Jose, one Visa Officer will be transferred from Guatemala to San Jose, together with responsibility for immigration processing in Honduras, in October 1988. The realignment of responsibilities and the redeployment of one position was decided on the basis of ongoing assessments of program requirements and staffing needs.

In addition to the five Canada-based Visa Officers at the two embassies, there are also two locally-engaged Immigration Program Officers. Despite heavy workload, staffing is adequate to cope with the demand. All Central American countries are visited on a regular basis by Canadian Visa Officers. All immigration workload processing targets were met in 1987, including refugee quotas, and all targets are again being met in 1988. The increased activity in Panama is transitory and is related to the introduction of a Canadian visitor visa requirement for Panamanians. The workload is expected to subside and resources already deployed are expected to be able to cope. Staffing needs are monitored on an ongoing basis and the assignment of incremental resources will be considerable should a legitimate need be identified.

NATIONAL DEFENCE

PRE-1968 NERVE GAS TESTING AT CFB SUFFIELD, ALBERTA— HEALTH OF INVOLVED PERSONNEL

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I have a delayed answer in response to two questions raised in the Senate on September 21 last by the Honourable Joyce Fairbairn, regarding National Defence—Pre-1968 Nerve Gas Testing at CFB Suffield, Alberta—Health of Involved Personnel.

(The answer follows:)

The Minister of National Defence has directed that all efforts be made to identify and locate individuals who participated in nerve agent testing prior to 1968. Follow-up medical examinations will be provided if necessary to ensure that there are no long-term side effects.

In addition, Mr. William Barton, Chairman of the Canadian Institute for International Peace and Security, has been conducting a review of research, development and training in chemical and biological defence within DND and the Canadian Forces.

● (1430)

BROADCASTING BILL

SECOND READING—DEBATE ADJOURNED

Hon. Jean Bazin moved the second reading of Bill C-136, respecting broadcasting and to amend certain acts in relation thereto and in relation to radiocommunication.

He said: Honourable senators, it is well recognized that broadcasting is the most persuasive and pervasive cultural medium in Canada. It affects the heart of who we are: our being. I appreciate this opportunity to speak to you on the importance of this legislation and the reasons why this bill should be moved forward quickly.

I know that the power of broadcasting is well known to all senators. The power of radio and television to inform, to sell, to influence, to create "stars" or to provide people from coast to coast with a shared experience is enormous and unparalleled. While this bill seeks to carry the industry of broadcasting into the 21st century, it is doing so recognizing the central role it plays in the lives of most Canadians.

The average Canadian chooses to spend a great deal of time listening to radio and television. In just one week the typical Canadian listens to 18 hours of radio and watches 24 hours of television. It is therefore fundamentally important to our political and cultural sovereignty that our broadcasting system be an accurate reflection of who we are, reflect the values we share and depict how we live.

This legislation also deals with external pressures that are threatening the broadcasting system and endangering the ability of radio and television stations to continue to be strong and to play an important role.

The existing Broadcasting Act was passed in 1968. It is rooted in one technology, the use of over-the-air broadcasting transmitters. New technologies, which might not use traditional broadcasting frequencies, are making obsolete outdated definitions as to even what constitutes broadcasting. Already doubts have been raised as to whether some technologies are covered by the 1968 act, and we have had to go to court to obtain some rulings. Some have confirmed jurisdiction; others have not.

With each erosion of these definitions the ability of the government to pursue cultural and social objectives for broadcasting on behalf of all Canadians is also eroded.

Since 1968 much has happened to impact on broadcasting. The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the changing role of women, a greater recognition of the particular contributions of the French-speaking and English-speaking communities, the strength of our multicultural diversity, and the recognition of the special place of aboriginal peoples in Canadian society—these are all changing the way in which we approach broadcasting and what is expected of the medium. The pressure for legislation that recognizes this changed society grows every day.

Canada is a much different country today from what it was in 1968, and Bill C-136 reflects those changes. Let me elaborate briefly.

[Translation]

The last two decades have been characterized by an ever increasing awareness of human rights. Canada has patriated its Constitution and enshrined a Charter of Rights and Freedoms therein. Access for all Canadians to broadcasting services that are meaningful in terms of the Canadian reality and fair representation for the various points of view are among the rights given recognition in Bill C-136.

The presence of the two official languages is a reality that reaches beyond the constitutional realm; it has an impact on the entire broadcasting system. Bill C-136 explicitly acknowledges the existence of the two official languages and strongly requires that this be taken into account in all sectors of broadcasting. The CBC, as well as the CRTC, has special responsibilities in that regard.

This legislation recognizes the needs of various groups: Canadians living outside of urban areas, aboriginal peoples who want access to a broadcasting service in their own languages, Canadians with physical disabilities, as well as our many ethnic communities.

With the rapid growth in broadcast technology, Canadians are demanding an ever greater variety of alternatives. Our broadcasting system provides a truly remarkable range of radio and television signals. There are literally dozens of radio signals in the main cities and cable television carries dozens of channels.

The mix includes private and public stations, as well as Canadian programming in English and in French. Those alternatives are being expanded by new enterprises and technologies. The 1968 act now in force, which is based on a single technology, thwarts the economic development of broadcasting.

However, in their demands for more and better alternatives, Canadians are sending a message that is loud and clear. It is: "We want access to increased Canadian programs especially in prime time."

Any new legislation must set out the overall broadcast framework policy, outlining the objectives of the broadcasting system as a whole, as well as the mandate, structure, and powers of both the CRTC and the CBC. However, our ultimate concern must be the variety of Canadian programming available to Canadians.

[English]

Bill C-136 safeguards all these measures. It will strengthen broadcasting. It will enrich our culture and our national identity. It will permit us to embrace new technologies. It will strengthen Canadian programming. And, above all, it will provide the choices Canadians expect.

Since programming is the first and most important issue, permit me to elaborate on the approach taken in this bill. This bill does not seek to limit choice but to ensure that competitive Canadian programming is provided within the totality of choices available. That means we must provide additional Canadian drama and a variety of prime time English television and must increase the production qualities of French language television.

● (1440)

[Translation]

I think it is important to emphasize that this bill is not intended to prevent foreign programs from coming into Canada. It has an entirely different purpose. It seeks to encourage the production in greater number of Canadian programs, involving all the members of the broadcasting system.

The CBC has a fundamental role to play in the production of a greater number of quality Canadian programs. Bill C-136 stresses this crucial role of the CBC and, in particular, its responsibility for carrying Canadian programs.

The CBC will have to provide a uniquely Canadian outlook in its programming, whether it be news, entertainment, sports or drama. Its mandate, as set out in the bill, gives it a leadership role in the production of a variety of truly Canadian programs, especially popular drama in both official languages.

But responsibility in the field of programming is not left solely to the CBC. Under the new act, private broadcasters will also, for the first time, have to assume responsibility in this respect. The bill gives the regulatory agency, the CRTC, new means to better supervise the broadcasting system.

[English]

I have already mentioned that the bill establishes an alternative programming service. This service is increasingly, urgently needed to provide the kind of programming we want, but which only rarely appears or does not appear on our existing television screens. Programs for the regions, programming with a multicultural dimension, and programs of the performing arts will be part of this service's specific mandate, which is anchored in Bill C-136.

This bill also recognizes the unique contributions that distribution services are making. While cable is the most common method of distribution, other forms are also emerging: subscription television, satellite master antenna television, multi-channel, multipoint distribution systems, and direct-to-the-home systems, to name only a few. Bill C-136 addresses them in a uniform and technologically neutral manner so as to encourage the most cost effective use of technology. It also clearly expects them to give priority to Canadian programming.

In summary, let me recapitulate why Bill C-136 is vital for Canada. First, it states the primacy for Canadian programming. Second, it reflects our linguistic duality and responds to the differences in English and French broadcasting. Third, it ensures that Canadian culture, tastes and society are reflected in programming and in employment opportunities in the system. Fourth, it provides all Canadians with access to a wide range of radio and television signals. Fifth, it is technology-neutral and able to accommodate technological change. Sixth, it provides for an efficient and responsive CBC and CRTC.

● (1450)

This bill represents the culmination of a long process of consultation with the broadcasting industry, with representatives of many special interests, with the provinces, with members of Parliament and with the Canadian public. Coast-to-coast hearings have been conducted, first by the task force on broadcasting policy, known as the Caplan-Sauvageau Task Force, and later by the Standing Committee on Communications and Culture of the other House.

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Did they also go across the country?

Senator Bazin: They did. Both the task force and the committee produced lengthy and detailed reports, making hundreds of recommendations. These recommendations have been supplemented by dozens of briefs and representations to the legislative committee that examined this bill.

Inevitably, with any legislation of this scope and complexity affecting an industry with so many different sectors, there are many competing interests to be balanced. This bill goes a long way towards achieving a balance among those interests while holding firmly to the goals I have just reviewed.

As a result, the bill before us for consideration has the full support of both Mr. Caplan and Mr. Sauvageau and of most of the individuals and groups who initially expressed concerns, including the Friends of Canadian Broadcasting, ACTRA and others. This bill is the product of lengthy, intense and sustained effort on the part of the Minister of Communications. It is a thoughtful, necessary, non-partisan instrument intended to ensure that Canadians everywhere in this vast country have access to a broadcasting system that meets their demands and reflects their interests. This bill represents as much of a consensus as it is ever possible to achieve in an area where so many competing viewpoints must co-exist.

Honourable senators, it is time this process was drawn to a close. The bill before us is worthwhile and long overdue. It deserves expeditious passage.

On motion of Senator Frith, debate adjourned.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT, 1971

BILL TO AMEND—SECOND READING—DEBATE ADJOURNED

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government) moved the second reading of Bill C-158, to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971.

He said: Honourable senators, today I am pleased to begin the debate on the second reading of Bill C-158. This bill is an amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971 to extend the variable entrance requirement, the VER.

According to the provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971, a person applying for UI benefits must have a minimum of 14 weeks to qualify. But since the late 1970s the VER has been used to make this requirement more flexible and responsive to the needs of unemployed Canadians—especially those numerous Canadians who lose their jobs when they have only ten to thirteen weeks of insurable employment to their credit.

The UI program plays an important role in our social security system. UI benefits replace lost income. They help maintain the stability of local economies and they also help to protect the jobs of people employed in those communities.

According to the VER, the number of weeks that an unemployment insurance claimant needs in order to qualify depends upon the rate of unemployment in the region in which he or she lives. Therefore, in regions of high unemployment claimants can qualify for benefits with as little as ten weeks of insurable employment.

As honourable senators know, the present VER legislation is in effect only until January 3, 1989. We propose to renew it in order to enable thousands of Canadians living in regions where the economy is weaker to qualify for UI benefits.

Statistics show that the Canadian economy is doing well. However, in some regions economic recovery is slower and the rate of unemployment remains higher than the national average. A failure to extend the variable entrance requirement at this time would have serious consequences for those regions.

One of the basic principles of this country is that we are always ready when the need arises to help those regions that are experiencing economic difficulty.

The VER recognizes that it is more difficult to find and keep a job in a region of high unemployment. This is, in fact, one of the most important aspects of the UI program, since it takes into account the labour market conditions in each region of the country.

If the VER is not renewed, honourable senators, all claimants, as of January 4, 1989, will have to show that they have at least 14 weeks of insurable employment in order to be entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. This means that more than 80,000 unemployed Canadians could be unable to meet the entrance requirements to receive UI benefits.

Thousands of Canadians would thus find themselves in difficulty and most would have to turn to other sources to support themselves and their families. That would inevitably have an impact on provincial welfare programs. This government wishes to continue to provide financial support to Canadians in the designated regions; that is, those who need it most.

It is important that Bill C-158, to renew the VER for a 12-month period, be passed as quickly as possible. In this way unemployment insurance claimants will know where they stand with regard to their entitlement.

As I mentioned earlier, the VER enables us to recognize economic disparity between regions when deciding the entitlement of unemployment insurance claimants. It is in this connection that the VER was created and it is for this reason that we want to continue it for the next year.

I am asking the support of all honourable senators in passing this amendment for the renewal of the VER for a 12-month period to January 6, 1990. I thank honourable senators for their support, and I suggest that it may be appropriate to refer this bill to a Committee of the Whole for study, perhaps tomorrow morning, if honourable senators feel that committee study is necessary in this particular case.

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I intend to adjourn the debate on the second reading of this bill. I understand that, if everything goes as Senator Doody would like it to go, it will be presented for Royal Assent tomorrow, and not today. Am I correct in thinking that the ultimate deadline is January 4, 1989; that is, January next?

Senator Doody: That is correct.

Senator Frith: In other words, the benefits referred to by the honourable senator will continue until January 4, 1989, but not thereafter, unless this bill or a similar bill is passed before that date.

Honourable senators, I just want to look at Senator Doody's remarks, after which I will speak on second reading. As presently advised, I agree with Senator Doody that it would seem to be an appropriate bill for referral to Committee of the Whole. I assume that he will be able to produce the minister for that purpose.

Hon. Eymard G. Corbin: Honourable senators, before the adjournment of the debate I should like to ask Senator Doody a question. Is that not the same speech he made on the same subject a year ago?

Senator Doody: It seems to me, honourable senators, that I and other colleagues have had occasion to make this speech, or a version of it, each year for the past several years. I hope that the act is changed in such a way as to make it unnecessary to keep repeating this speech, but the essence of the need does not change. The variable requirement is an important part of the economy of some smaller communities in my province, and I suspect in Senator Corbin's province.

● (1500)

Essentially, Senator Corbin is absolutely right. This is a repetition of the same amendment that has been passed every year for the past several years.

On motion of Senator Frith, debate adjourned.

PATENT ACT

BILL TO AMEND—THIRD READING

Hon. Ian Sinclair, for Hon. M. Lorne Bonnell, moved the third reading of Bill S-15, to amend the Patent Act.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

[Translation]

Hon. Paul David: Honourable senators, to refresh our memory, briefly I will go over the history of Bill C-22 and Bill S-15.

Bill C-22 was introduced in the other place on November 7, 1986. The Senate sent it back twice with amendments before passing it, one year later, on November 19, 1987.

[Senator Doody.]

Bill S-15, which is sponsored by Senator Bonnell, aims at amending the Patent Act. It was introduced in the Senate on March 1, 1988. It was referred to the Standing Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce on June 21. The chairman of the committee, Senator Sinclair, produced an interim report which could be called a progress report, on September 14 and two weeks later he tabled his final report.

The interim report seemed to me to be well documented and objective, considering the complexity of data interpretation. The two main points from the interim report are the following:

First, in 1987 the price of drugs increased at a rate that was higher than the Consumer Price Index, but by only 2 or 3 per cent, which is much less, apparently, than opponents of Bill C-22 had feared.

Secondly, even the Association of Generic Product Companies, I gather, does not agree with the automatic sanction proposed by Bill S-15 in the case of patent drugs whose price increases faster than the CPI. The reason is that this industry is concerned that provinces, who buy large quantities of generic products, might adopt the same attitude towards their products when they are listed in provincial formularies.

In this progress report, the committee suggests it should study other data and hear further witnesses before tabling its final report.

On September 22, the committee heard and questioned Dr. Harry Eastman and I read the draft version of his testimony.

Allow me to summarize the nine points I believe were the most important in Dr. Eastman's testimony.

1. Dr. Eastman points out that he is the chairman of the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board. I think that the bill includes all drugs but the board only deals with patented medicines. In fact, the board doesn't have the mandate to monitor the evolution of generic drug prices.

2. The board is now made up of two members: Dr. Eastman and Dr. Goyer. Under the law, it could have three more members for a maximum of five. Mr. Ray Atkinson, the board's executive director, leads the whole administrative support team.

3. Since December 7, 1987 is the date of proclamation of Bill C-22, it was chosen by the board as the benchmark date for price controls rather than June 27, 1986 as proposed in Bill S-15.

4. To review any increase in the price of a patented medicine already on the market, the board takes into consideration a number of factors that you already know and that I will summarize:

a) the main one is the Consumer Price Index, since it can lead to a possible analysis of the price of a patented medicine deemed to be excessive. However, the board considers other factors in its review of price increases;

b) the prices of that medicine during the preceding five years, that is since 1983, which is a much longer period than the one proposed in Bill S-15;

c) any particular circumstances accounting for an increase would be taken into consideration. Dr. Eastman referred to quinine, which during the Vietnam War became a very scarce commodity and greatly increased in price because of that. It is a drug used medically in many entities and often in cardiology to control heart irregularity.

5. As another factor to evaluate a reasonable price for a new patent drug, Dr. Eastman established the following criteria. While they do not involve Bill S-15, it is worthwhile to recall them. Those factors are:

(a) comparison to other similar drugs;

(b) comparison to the median price of the same drug in seven industrialized nations with standards of living similar to ours, namely France, Italy, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, the United States and West Germany; and finally,

(c) any special circumstances and the budgets that were needed for research and development.

6. Those principles were used to draft regulations that have since been approved by Order in Council on September 15, 1988, copies of which were promised to committee members. They may have already been made available to the committee chairman.

7. Those regulations will be sent to patent drug companies along with forms, in order to inform them of the techniques and methodology that will be used by the Price Review Board. A number of seminars will be held to properly inform the parties involved, i.e. the entire innovating drug industry.

8. Where the price of a drug is deemed excessive, the board, under the Patent Act, has the authority to withdraw the patent for that drug and to add a second patent drug from the same company.

9. The board feels it will have all the information needed to perform its task as of January 15, 1989, that is four months from now.

After reading the testimony of that expert on the pharmaceutical industry, I could not find in the comments to the proposal to pass Bill S-15 unamended any argument that would convince me to support it. Quite the opposite.

I submit that the Patent Drug Review Board chaired by Dr. Eastman is an instrument that will prove efficient in the control of prices of both old and new patent drugs. Since the major criterion for old patent drugs is the comparison drug price-consumer price index, it is in line with the basic idea of Senator Bonnell's Bill S-15 without using that index as the sole reference, as the automatic reference to determine whether the price is excessive. Further, the other reference, being the comparison of price to its evolution over the five previous years, goes beyond June 27, 1986, the date put forward in Bill S-15.

Adding the comments I had today to the other reasons I explained at length in my speech of March 15, 1988, I am still very much opposed to the bill and I urge honourable senators to support my view.

• (1510)

[English]

Hon. Ian Sinclair: Honourable senators, as you know, Senator Bonnell is out of the country on Senate business, so I am speaking on his behalf and reminding you that, as set out in the report of the committee on Bill C-22 of October 1987—and I will read two parts of it to you from page 25 of the report—it states:

The PMAC made it clear that it views the mandate of the Board as requiring it to limit drug price increases to the rate of change in the Consumer Price Index, or less. That position was taken in its brief to the Committee; it was reiterated in response to questioning.

The Minister stated on a number of occasions that the Board is to keep the rate of drug price increases at or below the change in the CPI.

When Dr. Eastman was before the committee he pointed out that patented drugs that had notices of compliance and were on the market prior to December 7, 1987, would be deemed to be excessive if they exceeded the CPI. I repeat, they "would be deemed to be excessive." In other words, there was a rebuttable presumption, but the presumption was there. The tests for new drugs, which were not patented by that time, are quite different and are not touched by Bill S-15, as Senator David has indicated. There is where you look at these other countries, and so on.

But the rebuttable presumption that is now provided for in Bill C-22, and which is taken away by Bill S-15, is in accordance with the PMAC's undertaking as well as the undertakings of the minister when he appeared and stated on numerous occasions that the prices of these drugs would be limited to the CPI or less.

The statistical work is difficult. The disentanglement of the statistics is indeed difficult. But there is a clear statement on all of the statistics that is easily discernible. None of the statistics indicates that the prices of patented medicines are not exceeding the CPI—in fact, they have done so quite often.

As we pointed out in our report, we sent experts from the Library of Parliament to Greenshield in St. Catharines. They spent some time dealing with the data base of that company. During the period of 1987-1988, a full two years, they looked at more than 200 patented medicines that were paid for by Greenshield. They found 260 drugs that exceeded the rate of inflation by over 11 percentage points. As we say in our report, more disturbing is the discovery that 18 drugs of that sample—that is, 7 per cent of the sample—had price increases of over 50 per cent in January of this year, and ten of those drugs more than doubled in price in that month.

It was for that reason, honourable senators, to carry out the undertakings of the patent medicine association and the undertakings of the minister, that Bill S-15 was introduced by Senator Bonnell.

Why does the date in Bill S-15 go back to 1986? To give you the reason for that, let me just quote a statement made the other day by the Honourable Mr. Epp. He said, "Retroactive legislation is not done by our government."

That was a point that we raised. However, it was not followed in Bill C-22. As Senator David has noted, the benchmark under the Patent Drug Prices Review Board is December 7, a month after Bill C-22 was passed, and almost two years after the period of exclusivity was granted by Bill C-22. For those two reasons, this bill carries out the undertakings of the patent medicine association and the undertakings of the minister, and I urge honourable senators to pass it.

● (1520)

Hon. Jacques Flynn: I move the adjournment of the debate.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): No.

Senator Flynn: What do you mean, "No"?

Senator Frith: I mean no.

Honourable senators, I spoke to Senator Doody yesterday about this matter. I am not suggesting that he can make a commitment on behalf of Senator Flynn, but I want to make it clear, and there should be no surprise, that we had hoped to start debate on this bill yesterday. Obviously, we would have needed leave to do so. Leave was not granted, because Senator David was not ready to go ahead yesterday, and that is quite reasonable. However, we made it clear that we wanted a vote on the bill today, and that is why I hope Senator Flynn, if he wants to intervene in the debate, will go ahead today. We wish to have a vote on this matter today, and that is the understanding we had.

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, Senator Frith is absolutely right. Yesterday, when Senator Frith suggested that we dispose of the matter, I interceded on behalf of Senator David, who was most anxious to speak on this subject. It is one in which he has a great interest and to which he has devoted a lot of time. It was agreed that Senator David would be given the opportunity to speak today and that we would conclude the matter today. Obviously, I could not speak for everybody in the Senate. Perhaps I presumed too much, but I did tell Senator Frith that it was certainly all right with me if this thing came to a head today.

Senator Frith: Can you speak on the debate now, Senator Flynn?

Senator Flynn: Honourable senators, I do not think I am bound by the agreement.

Senator Frith: No.

Senator Flynn: However, I am used to being pushed by the majority. I have some experience in this place and I know how the system worked previously; when it was deemed necessary to push through legislation, the majority would oblige us to prestudy bills, and it obliged us to be ready for any date that the government wanted.

Senator Frith: We could never oblige you to prestudy bills.

[Senator Sinclair.]

Senator Flynn: Oh, yes. You have a very short memory.

Senator Frith: Someone has.

Senator Flynn: I have discussed this point on several occasions, and I challenge the honourable senator to deny that.

In any event, because I am not entirely prepared for today, I will say just a few words on the bill now. I was hoping to speak tomorrow.

● (1530)

[Translation]

Honourable senators, I must say I was extremely surprised by this report from the Standing Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce under the chairmanship of Senator Sinclair. Coming from this committee, it surprised me even more since the bill if not quite demagogic, is at least purely partisan. It is a vengeful bill which follows up on the formidable debate we had on Bill C-22. It is sponsored by Senator Bonnell who held up Bill C-22 God knows how many months, because I have not had the time to check the dates.

One sure thing is that the way the Liberal majority in the Senate treated Bill C-22 delayed the application of controls on the price of patent drugs for many months. If unjustified increases occurred, they are to be blamed on the filibuster which Senator Bonnell led on Bill C-22 with the help of Senator Sinclair and others.

Honourable senators, I must say that I am very distressed by Senator Sinclair's attitude towards Bill C-22 and S-15. I have a problem reconciling his personality with the kind of bill he wants us to pass today.

First of all, the bill is premature. It was revengeful but premature because Bill C-22 came into effect only last December and the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board started operating only recently. Regulations governing how the board will determine if a price is excessive have just come into effect. They were tabled at the last sitting of the Committee on Banking, Trade and Commerce, which I attended.

When he appeared before the committee, Dr. Eastman tabled a copy of those regulations. Therefore, Bill C-22 as passed by the Senate hasn't yet been fully tried and tested.

Senator Sinclair says that he wants to follow up on the minister's guarantee, but we should still give that guarantee a chance to be tested! It amounts to saying that because the minister said he wants to influence the price assessment in such or such a way we will impose strict regulations. Let us wait and see how the board members will act!

Because the minister said such or such a thing, that has to be the law word for word. I find that rather extraordinary. And this before we have had time, I repeat, to let what was Bill C-22 become a fully operative law.

The second point is that forcing the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board to suspend the patent in cases where the price is excessive does not make any sense in certain circumstances. If, as Senator David pointed out, the shortage of a given ingredient stems from factors quite beyond the drug manufacturer's control, the board has no choice and must withdraw the patent.

We were just talking about a crisis. An ingredient happens to be in short supply. We must pay a much higher price outside this country. The price cannot go up here in Canada so people will have to do without that drug because otherwise the patent is cancelled.

I am saying quite simply that this is an utterly idiotic principle. It is because some people still harbour bad feelings about Bill C-22 that Bill S-15 was introduced simply to salvage the pride of Senator Bonnell after his futile and harmful opposition to Bill C-22.

If the Senate is stupid enough to send this bill to the House of Commons at this time it will bear full responsibility for its decision. In any case I could not care less, Bill S-15 will die on the Order Paper of the other place.

[English]

Are you moving the adjournment of the debate?

Senator Frith: No. Senator Flynn's intervention reminds me of a statement Sir Winston Churchill is supposed to have made, that it took him at least three hours to prepare a good five-minute extemporaneous speech. I do not know how Senator Flynn could have prepared his speech any better if we had waited another day. I do not agree with what he said, but it was well delivered.

Senator Perrault: It took him all of five minutes to get it together.

• (1540)

The Hon. the Acting Speaker: It is moved by the Honourable Senator Sinclair, seconded by the Honourable Senator LeBlanc, that this bill be read the third time now. Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Some Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Senator Flynn: No.

Senator Phillips: On division!

Senator Frith: Honourable senators, technically, we should move the motion on behalf of Senator Bonnell, since he was the sponsor. Of course, that does not deal with the question of the vote.

An Hon. Senator: Is it on division?

Senator Flynn: As far as I am concerned, it is "no". I did want a recorded vote on this matter, but I would not want to be the only one to rise.

Senator McElman: Then rise. Don't sit there; show yourself.

The Hon. the Acting Speaker: Will those honourable senators in favour of the motion please say "yea"?

Some Hon. Senators: Yea.

The Hon. the Acting Speaker: Will those honourable senators who are against the motion please say "nay"?

Some Hon. Senators: Nay.

The Hon. the Acting Speaker: In my opinion the "nays" have it.

And two honourable senators having risen.

The Hon. the Acting Speaker: Please call in the senators.

• (1600)

The Hon. the Speaker: Let the doors to the chamber be locked.

Motion agreed to and bill read third time and passed on the following division:

YEAS

THE HONOURABLE SENATORS

Argue	Lefebvre
Buckwold	MacEachen
Cools	Marchand
Corbin	McElman
Denis	Molgat
Everett	Olson
Frith	Perrault
Gigantès	Sinclair
Graham	Stanbury
Guay	Steuart
Haidasz	(Prince Albert- Duck Lake)
Hays	Stewart
Kenny	(Antigonish- Guysborough)
Lang	Thériault
Langlois	Turner—29.
LeBlanc
(Beauséjour)

NAYS

THE HONOURABLE SENATORS

Asselin	Macdonald
Balfour	(Cape Breton)
Barootes	MacDonald
Bazin	(Halifax)
Bélisle	Ottenheimer
Bielish	Phillips
David	Poitras
Doody	Robertson
Doyle	Spivak
Flynn	Tremblay—18.

ABSTENTIONS

THE HONOURABLE SENATORS

Nil

The Hon. the Speaker: Let the doors be opened.

[Translation]

CONSTITUTION ACT, 1867

BILL TO AMEND—SECOND READING DEBATE CONTINUED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Molgat, seconded by the Honourable Senator Corbin, for the second reading of the Bill S-20, An Act to amend the Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate).—(Honourable Senator Asselin, P.C.).

Hon. Martial Asselin: Honourable senators, since I have presided over the proceedings of the Senate from time to time, for nearly four years, I think it would be appropriate for me to comment briefly on the tabling of this bill which deals with electing the Speaker of the Senate.

Strange as it may seem, at the present time the Speaker of the Senate is not elected, while the Speaker pro tempore is elected by the senators. Perhaps the bill's sponsor wanted to give us this opportunity to discuss the possibility of electing our Speaker so that the Speaker derives his authority from the same source.

Senator Molgat: I didn't realize my suggestion would be so well received!

Senator Asselin: When the bill was tabled in the Senate, the question arose whether, constitutionally speaking, the matter could be presented in this way. We know it is the prerogative of the Prime Minister and the Governor General in Council to appoint a senator to preside over the proceedings of the Senate.

If we consider the Constitution Act, 1982, especially when we are talking about the procedure for amendments to the Constitution of Canada, and we refer to section 44, it says:

44. Subject to sections 41 and 42, Parliament may exclusively make laws amending the Constitution of Canada in relation to the executive government of Canada or the Senate and House of Commons.

On constitutional ground, we are safe. This bill may be tabled in either of the two houses of Parliament and be passed there and receive royal assent.

Of course, when we are talking about electing a Speaker of the Senate, we have a picture of a modern Parliament that wants to keep up with the times, especially if we look at conferences and legislatures in general. I don't think anyone will question the need for electing the Speaker of the Senate.

For that matter, the experience of the House of Commons over the past year or two shows that the election of the Speaker has considerably improved the decorum within that chamber and given the Chair the authority needed to conduct objectively their debates.

I accept, therefore, the principle of an elected Speaker. I am of course in favour of this procedure. But when he introduced his bill, the sponsor acted very clearly. If this bill were adopted, this would mean that the senators on this side of the Senate would be greatly penalized, for they might have to wait eight or ten years before they become the majority and have one of them occupy the Chair, especially if the Speaker of the Senate is elected by the majority. Senators opposite might still have the chance, eight years hence, to elect "their" speaker.

Senator Corbin: Not necessarily!

Senator Asselin: My honourable friend opposite says "not necessarily," as if we did not know him. It might not be necessary if the Senate had not become such a biased political entity. When I came here in 1972, the Senate did not operate as it does today. I saw several times senators on the opposition and government sides taking positions on important issues without showing any political bias as is much too often the case today, either from the opposition or the government. So, when my honourable friend Senator Corbin says no, not at all—

Senator Corbin: No; I said "not necessarily."

Senator Asselin: Not necessarily? I suggest we would have to have on this side of the Senate a superstar for the opposition to accept one of us as Speaker.

Senator Lefebvre: You have several superstars.

Senator Asselin: May I continue? You are certainly a good candidate, but we do not see you often. You use to sit in the corner, but now that you have moved, you are much more visible.

Senator Lefebvre: That is better!

Senator Asselin: If he was invisible before, now he is much more visible.

As I was saying, honourable senators, the election of the Speaker of the Senate should not be made on the basis of one single piece of legislation. We should associate the election of the Speaker with many changes and amendments to our parliamentary customs in the Senate.

Suppose that you elect a Speaker who is called upon to rule on an important matter of procedure, point of order or question of privilege and that most honourable senators do not agree with his or her decision, even with the right to appeal or overrule such decision, I suggest we are wasting our time.

We have seen this during the present session. The officers of the Speaker and I worked for hours and hours on an important procedural decision. The Speaker reported his decision to the Senate. Senator Molgat rose and asked that the Speaker's decision be revoked, with the result that it is not the chair's rulings that carry weight but rather the decision of the majority, which can overrule the chair.

So if we want to elect a Speaker and keep these archaic provisions within our rules, I feel that we are going the wrong way.

Also, since the Speaker lacks a certain moral authority to conduct the proceedings, it has become necessary to remove from our rules provisions that are unacceptable in a modern, efficient Parliament.

For example, during this session, it has happened that the Speaker tried to intervene when some senators wanted to abuse the rules of procedure. I am not only talking about our friends across the floor but about all senators here present. We are told that under rule 15, the Speaker has the right to maintain decorum and order. For example, when a senator abuses the present rules for Question Period and gives a preamble that lasts 10 minutes—I have already checked and some senators have done that—before asking a question, and the Speaker was not allowed to intervene and to ask that senator to kindly put his question so that—

Senator Guay: You can talk about that with Senator Flynn!

Senator Asselin: Honourable senators, I was saying that other senators must be given a chance to ask questions and if we leave that permissive procedure on our books, it is no use having a Speaker of the Senate who is elected by the senators, if he has no power to intervene and call to order a senator who is abusing the rules.

● (1620)

[English]

Senator Olson: What about you and Senator Flynn?

Senator Asselin: Perhaps not myself in this session, because quite often I was sharing the duties. When I was a member of the opposition perhaps I also abused the rules. I am not speaking against you, Senator Olson—I know you abuse the rules quite often—but I am speaking generally about the method of procedure in the Senate.

[Translation]

Honourable senators, I say that if the only purpose of this legislation is to elect a Speaker without some major changes in the Senate structures and some of its obsolete rules of procedure, I think that we are wasting our time.

I do not agree with those who would consider a multi-stage approach with regard to changing the rules, the procedures or the structures of the Senate. Today, we would deal with the election of the Speaker; tomorrow, we would be considering honourable senators' attendance and so on. I think that a review of all those changes must be considered as a comprehensive plan.

We have always been reluctant over the years to initiate any changes. The Honourable Senator Molgat is aware of it because he was once the joint chairman of the Special Joint Committee on Senate Reform. That was several years ago.

Ensuing governments have neither accepted nor implemented any of the proposals we had suggested. Today we are still wondering how we should change the structures of the Senate.

If the Committee on Standing Rules and Orders chaired by Senator Molgat wants to put forward a global plan including the election of the Speaker, I think that he would find a strong supporter in me.

But if the election of the Speaker is used only to correct important deficiencies in our democracy without giving the Speaker of the Senate the powers he needs to oversee the debates of this house with dignity, then I feel that we are wasting our time discussing this bill.

In conclusion, I invite my colleague Senator Molgat and the members of the Committee on Standing Rules and Orders to tell us how extensive the reform of our structures should be so that even an elected Speaker would have the authority to direct properly the proceedings of this house.

In brief, it is a whole attitude towards the Chair which must be changed in order to enable it to carry out its duties with dignity and impartiality.

Self-discipline is not enough to bring about a general change in attitude.

[English]

Hon. Finlay MacDonald: Honourable senators, I should like to ask Senator Asselin a question. I believe that implicit in Senator Molgat's motion were consequential amendments to the rules, particularly the archaic rule 15. Am I correct in that assumption?

[Translation]

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, if I speak now, it will have the effect of closing the debate on the motion for second reading of this bill.

The Hon. the Speaker: No, Senator Molgat, because you are asked a question.

Senator Molgat: Honourable senators, according to the rules, I do not think I am entitled to answer questions unless I was the last to speak on the subject, except if I have unanimous consent.

Hon. Gerald Ottenheimer: All right, Senator Molgat, there is unanimous consent.

[English]

Senator Phillips: Go ahead and answer.

Senator Molgat: Senator MacDonald asked me that question immediately after my speech. My reply was that this is only one step in the reform. How far the reform will go after that will be up to the Senate. I am pleased that Senator Asselin has clearly stated that this first step is within our power and the power of the House of Commons. It does not have to be referred to the provinces.

I do not think there is any possibility that the Senate will give the Speaker—with all due respect to His Honour the Speaker—authority so long as he is appointed by someone else. We have to start with the first step of electing our own Speaker. Then we have to look at what rule changes we wish to make.

The rule changes would be up to the majority in the Senate. The Rules Committee would make recommendations, I presume, and then the Senate would have to decide.

Hon. Orville H. Phillips: Honourable senators, may I direct a question to Senator Molgat? Would he not agree that it would be of benefit to honourable senators to know what rule changes are required to have the Speaker elected? That would assist them in deciding whether they are in favour of having the Speaker appointed or elected.

Senator Molgat: Senator MacDonald and Senator Asselin touched on two changes, in particular. One is the right to appeal decisions of the Speaker; the other concerns his authority within the chamber. I know there are different points of view on these matters; indeed, a number of my colleagues do not agree that we ought to give our Speaker that additional power. We have heard speeches on the subject. I think it would be a forward step, but, again, it would be up to the majority.

There may be other changes, Senator Phillips, but those are the two that I know have been mentioned up to this point.

On motion of Senator Bélisle, for Senator Kelly, debate adjourned.

ROYAL ASSENT BILL

SECOND READING—ORDER STANDS

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Doody, seconded by the Honourable Senator Phillips, for the second reading of the Bill S-19, An Act respecting the declaration of royal assent by the Governor General in the Queen's name to bills passed by the Houses of Parliament.—(Honourable Senator MacEachen, P.C.).

Hon. Jacques Flynn: I assume that the honourable senator has not made up his mind on this matter. Is he still reflecting?

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): Yes, and in consultation.

Senator Flynn: I hope you will consult Senator Molgat and the reports that were made by the Rules Committee some years ago.

Senator MacEachen: Thank you.

Senator LeBlanc: Times change.

Order stands.

● (1630)

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

Hon. Charles McElman: Honourable senators, on behalf of this side of the house, I ask that all remaining orders stand.

Hon. Orville H. Phillips: Honourable senators, I ask that all remaining orders stand, then.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow at 10 a.m.

THE SENATE

Friday, September 30, 1988

The Senate met at 10 a.m., the Speaker in the Chair.
Prayers.

[Translation]

THE HONOURABLE LÉOPOLD LANGLOIS

TRIBUTES ON RETIREMENT FROM THE SENATE

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I should like to indicate briefly that one of our distinguished colleagues, the Honourable Senator Léopold Langlois, will retire from the Senate this weekend.

Senator Langlois was born in the region of Gaspé. A renowned Quebec lawyer, he served gallantly as a captain in the Royal Canadian Navy during World War II. It was in the uniform of the Royal Canadian Navy that Captain Langlois ran in the 1945 general election. He was elected and thus began his long and distinguished career as a Canadian parliamentarian.

Throughout his career as a member of the House of Commons and the Senate, Senator Langlois maintained a personal and dedicated interest in all matters affecting the Canadian Armed Forces.

Appointed to the Senate in 1966, he served with distinction, first as Deputy Leader of the Government and later as Deputy Leader of the Opposition. I know that in the parliamentary archives of Canada, the heated exchanges between Senator Langlois and his Quebec colleague Senator Jacques Flynn will have quite a special place. Senator Flynn will no doubt refer to them, and probably so will Senator Langlois more extensively later on.

Personally, I had the great pleasure and privilege to travel overseas in the company of Senator Langlois in the Fall of 1984 at the head of a delegation of Canadian veterans attending ceremonies commemorating the liberation of the Netherlands 40 years earlier. I have very good memories of this trip.

For several years, Senator Langlois acted as Chairman of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications, a position in which he showed great dedication.

Captain Langlois, I want to express to you my deep and sincere gratitude and that of the government for all you have accomplished for your country. I hope that your leaving the Senate will not mean the end of your active involvement in public affairs. I wish you good health, happiness, and God bless you.

[English]

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, Senator Murray has done an extremely thorough job of outlining the distinguished career of Senator

Langlois. It is a matter of regret that his service will no longer be available to the Senate of Canada, because his service both in the House of Commons and in the Senate has been one of dedication and reliability.

It occurred to me as Senator Murray spoke that Senator Langlois' career reaches very far into our political past. Not many among us entered the House of Commons in 1945 under the prime ministership of the late Mr. King and observed the rather tumultuous events that occurred in the immediate post-war period, and witnessed the development of major changes to our social legislation and the establishment of the foundations of the Veterans Charter, a matter, for example, in which Senator Langlois took great interest. Of course, that history is important in itself, but Senator Langlois has had the opportunity to observe the leadership of our party under Mr. St. Laurent, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Trudeau and, now, Mr. Turner; in the meantime, he also observed the leadership in the Commons of Mr. Diefenbaker in his most effective and, one might say, eloquent years. So it may be that now that he is relieved of the burdens of legislative duties Senator Langlois will turn his mind to putting on paper his impressions of these rich political experiences.

When I entered the House of Commons in 1953, Leopold Langlois was a seasoned parliamentarian. Those of us who entered were novices and stood in awe, particularly of the Prime Minister and ministers. They were a breed apart, only to be respected and seldom disagreed with. That has changed, but even in those days parliamentary secretaries, as they were called, were held in great esteem, because from that group of parliamentarians were selected the future ministers. If one were a parliamentary secretary, it was often the case that that person would become a minister. In Mr. Langlois' case, he was called to higher service and became a member of the Senate.

Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

Senator MacEachen: I remember all those days with great interest and a certain amount of nostalgia. It is a reminder of the inexorable march of time that Léopold Langlois, whom I still regard as a young man, has completed his career in the House of Commons and has completed his career in the Senate. I see him yet as he appeared to me in those days in 1953, when I had that great respect for senior parliamentarians I have referred to, and which in his case I have never lost.

● (1010)

[Translation]

Hon. Jacques Flynn: Honourable senators, I rise not to dwell on the debates mentioned earlier by the government leader in the Senate but to give my personal impressions on the life and career of Senator Léopold Langlois who is leaving us because he will be 75 this Sunday.

The theme of his life and career is the same obvious background: the sea! The Gaspesian sea at Sainte-Anne-des-Monts in the Gulf of St. Lawrence where he was born to his sailing father, Captain Octave Langlois.

It was near the same Gaspesian sea that he attended classical college at Gaspé and Rimouski.

Then he studied law at Laval University. That is where I went one year after him. He was one year ahead of me at Laval and at the Quebec Bar to which he was called in 1938. He began working immediately for a maritime insurance brokerage firm. When World War II broke out he joined the navy, as you would have guessed. He was discharged in 1945 with the rank of lieutenant commander. He could spend hours telling us about his adventures in the North Atlantic.

Celebrations for the victory in Europe had hardly begun when he went into politics. He was elected to the House of Commons in a maritime riding, the place where he grew up, the region of Gaspé.

As a professional lawyer he teamed up with William Morin, a colleague specializing in maritime law and a former deep-sea sailor.

He eventually became the senior partner of the legal firm Langlois, Drouin and Associates.

During his 12 years as MP for Gaspé he was first appointed Parliamentary Secretary to the Postmaster General and then, moving closer to the sea, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Transport.

He was defeated in 1957 but not by much—fewer than 100 votes. Until 1966 he worked full-time in maritime law for various firms and corporations specializing in shipping including, among others, the Association des propriétaires de navires du Saint-Laurent Incorporée, Groupe Desgagnés Incorporé, the Armateurs du Saint-Laurent Incorporés, and International Charterers (Bermuda) Limited. He was President of the Association des marins de la Vallée du Saint-Laurent Incorporée which is responsible for the Bernier marine museum of l'Islet-sur-Mer, an undertaking to which Senator Langlois devoted much of his time and for which we must all be grateful to him.

He was appointed to the Senate in 1966, so he has been in this house for over 22 years. Honourable senators will recall that he was Deputy Leader of the Government for many years. After that and until last spring he chaired our Transport and Communications Committee.

The Senate is indebted to him for his generous contribution in a number of fields but especially, I repeat, in his chosen field of activities, maritime law, where this institution benefited from his expert knowledge. I would recall that the Transport and Communications Committee he chaired until fairly recently proposed nearly 100 amendments and practically redrafted the Maritime Code which was designed to replace the Canada Shipping Act.

[Senator Flynn.]

Our colleague, who has now been a member of the Quebec Bar for 50 years, can also be proud of his 35 years in the House of Commons and in the Senate.

We in the Senate, like his many friends but especially those of Gaspé, are very proud of him.

Best wishes for good health so he may again and often see his region of Gaspé and the sea.

Our warmest greetings to his wife Ginette.

Hon. Martial Asselin: Honourable senators, as a senator from Québec, I have often come into contact with Senator Langlois. I would like to join my colleagues in saying that, with his departure, the Senate is losing a man who has left his mark on our major debates.

When I was called to the Senate in 1972, Senator Langlois was deputy government leader while Senator Flynn was the Leader of the Opposition. You can imagine the epic encounters that sometimes occurred. Those two Quebecers would clash in vigorous and complex debates especially when financial bills were the order of the day. But once the debate was over, calm and friendship would settle in and both combatants would let bygones be bygones.

Mention was made of his impressive military career. He always felt for the people of Québec a strong patriotism. National unity was not only a slogan for him, it was a living reality.

He was and still is a brilliant lawyer who is listed on the rolls as an expert in maritime law. He fought very famous cases before the Canadian courts. As we say in Québec, of men of the law of his calibre, he is a good lawyer.

I regret your departure, Senator Langlois. I will remember you as an honest man, a hard-working man and a brave man, as a senator who actively participated in the Senate's proceedings, a senator who has served his country well.

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I would like to add a few remarks in the context of what has already been said. They will be brief but sincere, and express my gratitude to Senator Langlois, more particularly for the time when I succeeded him as Deputy Leader of the Government. I would like to point out how much he helped me, especially at the very beginning, but also since then. He sat near me and gave me great advice. I also found his help valuable in other situations. He shared his experience in parliamentary affairs with me. As we say, I shall miss you and we all shall.

Hon. Gildas L. Molgat: Honourable senators, my colleagues who have spoken so far have summarized very well the outstanding naval, military, legal and parliamentary career of our colleague, Senator Langlois. I shall not dwell on this aspect. I shall rather speak very personally. When I arrived in the Senate in 1970, the first senator with whom I had to work was Senator Langlois. He was then Deputy Leader of the Government and I was appointed whip very soon after I arrived. Those of you who were here at that time will remember what our very good friend the Honourable Paul Martin was like. You can imagine Senator Langlois and me working with Senator Martin. It was always fun, sometimes frustrating and always very interesting. We worked together at that time. That is my first memory of that period in the Senate.

I also remember that every year at Christmas, Senator Langlois gave a small Christmas party in his office. He invited a very small group. Although I was a brand new senator, as whip I had the good fortune to be invited. There were famous singers like Senator Denis and others of that sort. It was always a fine occasion for this intimate circle of senators.

I have one regret, however. I was never able to accept Senator Langlois' invitation for a cruise on his boat that he kept in Quebec City. He invited me many times. Unfortunately, I was never able to accept.

I want to tell Senator Langlois how much I appreciated the opportunity to work with him and to thank him for the great friendship that we developed during that period. I wish him a long, happy retirement and a very happy birthday next Sunday.

• (1020)

[English]

Hon. Douglas D. Everett: Honourable senators, not to go over the ground that has been so well ploughed by others in respect of Senator Langlois' outstanding career, I would only like to mention, as an old naval man, that Senator Langlois joined the navy a few days after the beginning of the Second World War and remained in it until he was forced out by virtue of his having been nominated to stand for Parliament in 1945.

What is interesting about his career is that he was captain of at least two corvettes during the Second World War. Honourable senators are aware, of course, that much of the success of the allies in the Second World War was due to the very brave and determined men who sailed in those corvettes and kept supplies moving over to Britain and Europe. Not only was Senator Langlois on the Atlantic run, he was also on the Murmansk run.

One must remember that early in the war the Canadian navy was so ill equipped that the first corvettes sailed over with dummy guns that would not fire. These were brave men—they contributed greatly to the freedom of this world.

Honourable senators, throughout his life Senator Langlois has accomplished a great deal, in the House of Commons, in this chamber and as a lawyer, but I would recognize him most for what he accomplished as a naval officer in the defence of freedom.

Hon. Senators: Hear, hear!

[Translation]

Hon. Léopold Langlois: Honourable senators, this is a day I shall remember for a long time, not as a day of rejoicing but as the day on which I am about to be separated from many friends among my colleagues in this Chamber, although there were times when I did not entirely agree with all my colleagues, especially when they were in the Opposition, in relation to my party. There was some mention of my frequent exchanges with my friend Senator Flynn when he was Leader of the Opposition and I was his opposite number as Deputy Leader of the Government.

Senator Flynn and I always travelled together by car between Ottawa and Quebec City, when the Senate adjourned Friday afternoon. After a few exchanges in this chamber, one day Senator Flynn told me his daughter was indignant. She asked him, "How come you and Senator Langlois were at each other all afternoon and then you get in the same car to go to Quebec City, apparently without hard feelings"? I will never forget that. I know that when we disagree in this chamber on parliamentary issues, we may go overboard in our enthusiasm. However, nothing is ever said that might diminish the spirit of friendship that exists in this chamber. It is a memory I shall cherish for many years.

Earlier when I heard all this lofty praise, I wondered whether it was really addressed to me. I even pinched myself to be sure those kind words were about me, words reflecting the kind of friendship I have always appreciated here in the Senate with all members in this chamber, wherever they happen to sit. I shall cherish this memory for a long time. I also want to thank all those who so generously described my career in the Canadian navy and in the Senate.

I realize that when friends part, we may be tempted to exaggerate and in fact to say things straight from the heart because friendship has no bounds. I want to thank you all for your words of praise, which I accept as an expression of your friendship and kindness.

I shall never forget my years spent in the Senate, and I hope that during my retirement I shall live close enough to be able to come and say hello and maintain the bonds of friendship that have always existed among us. Thank you very much, and until we meet again.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

SIXTY-SEVENTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE PRESENTED AND ADOPTED

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc, Deputy Chairman of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, presented the following report:

Friday, September 30, 1988

The Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration has the honour to present its

SIXTY-SEVENTH REPORT

Your Committee recommends that the Senate retain the services of the Comptroller General of Canada, or failing him, a competent independent public accounting firm, to pursue the research already undertaken by your Committee regarding the travel expense allegations made against Senator Argue; and further

That the Intersessional Committee be empowered to carry out the said study during the possible dissolution of Parliament.

Respectfully submitted

ROMÉO LEBLANC
Deputy Chairman

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this report be taken into consideration?

Senator LeBlanc: Honourable senators, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(f), I move that the report be adopted now.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Motion agreed to and report adopted.

LEGAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL AFFAIRS

THIRTY-FOURTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE PRESENTED, PRINTED
AS APPENDIX AND ADOPTED

Hon. Jacques Flynn: Honourable senators, I have the honour of tabling the Thirty-fourth Report of the Standing Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs.

I ask that the report be printed as an appendix to the Debates of the Senate and the Minutes of the Proceedings of the Senate of this day and form part of the permanent records of this house.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Senator Flynn: Honourable senators, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(f), I move that the report be adopted now.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Senator Flynn: Honourable senators, perhaps I may provide a brief explanation. The committee had been given the mandate to examine the official French version of the Constitution Act, 1867, as provided in the Constitution Act, 1983.

This task was entrusted to a subcommittee of the committee I just mentioned. It carried out this task together with officials of the Department of Justice. We received an initial report from these officials. Following this report, we asked our former colleague, Senator Jean Lemoyne, to review the text that has been submitted to us. He did so. Senator Lemoyne's report was then discussed with the officials from the Department of Justice.

The text we are presenting now is one that should meet with general approval. I think it would be a good idea for the Senate to adopt it now. It would then be up to the other House to decide for itself whether it approves the text or will ask for another one.

Eventually, this text will be approved by the provincial legislatures. It's a long haul. At this stage, I think the Senate can assume it has finished its part of the task, for the time being. That is why I recommend adopting the report.

It will not be a tragedy if the report is not adopted before Parliament is dissolved. In any case, the process will have to start all over again, under a new committee. I do not think we should have any reservations about adopting this report now.

Motion agreed to and report adopted.

● (1030)

[English]

INTERNATIONAL CENTRE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENT BILL

REPORT OF COMMITTEE PRESENTED

Hon. John B. Stewart: Honourable senators, I have the honour to present the sixteenth report of the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, respecting Bill C-147, to establish the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development.

A Clerk at the Table:

Friday, September 30, 1988

The Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs has the honour to present its

SIXTEENTH REPORT

Your Committee, to which was referred Bill C-147, An Act to establish the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development, has in obedience to the Order of Reference of Wednesday, September 14, 1988, examined the said Bill and has agreed to report the same with the following amendments, comments, and recommendation:

Senator Stewart: Dispense!

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this report be taken into consideration?

Senator Stewart: With leave, later this day.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, allow me to intervene before we vote on the motion. I know that someone asked that we dispense with the reading of the report, and I believe that copies are being circulated. However, it is quite new to me and perhaps we could have it read.

A Clerk at the Table:

1. Page 2, clause 4: Strike out lines 20 to 26 and substitute the following:

"democratic institutions and human rights programs that give effect to the rights and freedoms enshrined in the International Bill of Human Rights. It will be a major goal of the Centre to help reduce the wide gap that sometimes exists between the formal adherence of states to international human rights agreements and the actual human rights practices of those states. Among the rights and freedoms to be promoted by the Centre are the economic right to a decent standard of living, the rights of persons not to be subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, and the democratic rights of freedom of speech and assembly, including the right to participate in periodic and genuine elections in a pluralistic political system. In carrying out those objects,

(a) to promote human rights and democratic development programs and activities in developing countries and elsewhere; and"

2. Page 10, clause 28:

(a) Strike out line 7 and substitute the following:

"28.(1) There shall be paid to the Centre out"

(b) Add, immediately after line 29, the following subclause:

"(2) In order to permit the Centre to undertake programs and activities in other than developing countries, it shall be free to use funds received from sources other than the Government of Canada for those purposes and from time to time funds additional to those specified in subsection 28(1) as may be paid to the Centre out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund for those purposes."

The amendments have two purposes:

(1) to emphasize, by drawing specific examples from the International Bill of Human Rights, that the Centre should be concerned with the development and strengthening of democratic institutions and human rights programs; and

(2) to make it clear that the Centre's focus of activities is not to be restricted to developing countries.

These amendments, which the Committee considered essential, conform fully with the purposes of the Centre as stated in the Bill. The Committee also wishes to see subclause 6(2) amended in the future to make it evident that the Centre need not seek formal approval for its activities from each foreign jurisdiction in which it might be conducting programs. Since such an amendment would have involved a matter of principle, which could have delayed the passage of the Bill, the Committee has limited itself to making a recommendation that subclause 6(2) be amended in the future.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN B. STEWART
Chairman

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, do we have the report that has been read? I have not received it.

Senator Doody: Nor have I.

Senator Flynn: I have the text of the amendment.

Senator MacEachen: This text has no status, because it is not included in the report. I do not know why it was circulated. This particular document does not contain the amendments that are in the report, as I understand it. I cannot compare them, because I do not have the report. Let us stand it.

Senator Stewart: Honourable senators, perhaps a word of explanation would help. A clerk at the Table read the report as it was approved by the committee. However, there were some discussions aimed at improving and making the wording of the two amendments acceptable to the government. I understand that copies of the amendments, which resulted from those discussions, have been given to senators by mistake. The amendments adopted by the committee are those in the report that was read by a clerk at the Table.

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, I am told that copies of the report will be available in five minutes.

Senator MacEachen: Let us stand it, then.

On motion of Senator Stewart, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(f), report placed on the Orders of the Day for consideration later this day.

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

On Notices of Motions:

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, this is the time when we usually get to the adjournment motion. Unfortunately, since I do not know what the adjournment time will be or what the schedule is immediately, I shall have to ask for leave to revert to it later this day.

The Hon. the Speaker: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

QUESTION PERIOD

DELAYED ANSWERS TO ORAL QUESTIONS CANADA-UNITED STATES FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

AVAILABILITY OF GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS IN OTHER LANGUAGES

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I have an answer to a question put on September 13, 1988, by our colleague, Senator Denis. The senator was inquiring about the government's intention to translate free trade pamphlets into various other languages.

The reply is that it is not the government's intention to translate free trade pamphlets into other languages beyond the four languages already available—Italian, Chinese, Portuguese, Greek—and our two official languages.

The decision to translate and print the pamphlets into these four languages was based on two factors, as discussed with the Secretary of State: the size of the language groups and the number within each linguistic group that does not utilize either English or French.

UNITED NATIONS

IRAN-IRAQ BORDER PEACEKEEPING CONTINGENT—RETURN OF SOME CANADIAN MEMBERS

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I have a delayed answer to a question asked by our colleague, Senator Molgat, concerning troops returning from the Gulf.

I had conjectured that perhaps the reason behind this question was that a number of personnel of the Canadian Forces there had been engaged in setting up communications systems, and, that work having been completed, they were returning home.

• (1040)

My shot in the dark turns out to have been a bull's eye. The information I have been given is that Canadian communications experts were sent to the gulf region to establish the systems and then turn them over to civilians. That work having progressed ahead of schedule, some of our troops are now returning home with their task accomplished.

ORDER PAPER QUESTION

LAPRADE FUND—REASON FOR DELAY IN ANSWERING

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): Honourable senators, I regret that Senator Graham is not here. With regard to his question on the LaPrade Fund, I can only say that the situation is as I suspected and indicated it was yesterday. The response to his question is still being processed. There had been a response produced and sent to Mr. de Cotret's office, but some inconsistencies were found in the reply, and I understand that Treasury Board is retracing the documents to correct these matters. As soon as this is done the reply will be provided in full.

[Senator Murray.]

ANSWER TO ORDER PAPER QUESTION OCEAN INDUSTRY DEVELOPMENT SUBSIDIARY AGREEMENT

PROJECTS IN NEWFOUNDLAND—ANSWER TABLED

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I now have the answer to a question asked by Senator Marshall in April of this year. It deals with the breakdown of all contributions made by the Government of Canada under the Canada-Newfoundland Ocean Industry Development Subsidiary Agreement and involves a number of subsections. Since this is a voluminous document, I ask that it be tabled. Then, if any honourable senator wishes copies, of course, they can be made available.

Answer tabled.

AGRICULTURE

DISPERSAL OF BREEDING HERDS IN DROUGHT-STRICKEN AREAS—TAX DEFERRAL ON LIVESTOCK SALES—EXCLUSION OF BRITISH COLUMBIA CATTLEMEN FROM PROVISION—REQUEST FOR ANSWER

Hon. Len Marchand: Honourable senators, does the Leader of the Government in the Senate yet have an answer to the question I raised with him a few days ago with respect to the tax deferral scheme? I am particularly interested in how that scheme applies to British Columbia, as he knows. I wonder if he can enlighten me, and other honourable senators, on the inquiry that I made of him.

Hon. Lowell Murray (Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations): I am sorry, honourable senators; I do not have any information on that matter at the moment. I shall make inquiries immediately and bring in the information as soon as I can.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT, 1971

BILL TO AMEND—SECOND READING

Leave having been given to proceed to Order No. 3:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Doody, seconded by the Honourable Senator Poitras, for the second reading of the Bill C-158, An Act to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971.—(Honourable Senator Frith).

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, as Senator Doody explained yesterday, the purpose of this bill is to extend the application of the VER—that is short for variable entrance requirement. In his intervention yesterday Senator Doody pointed out that this variable entrance requirement has been in effect since the late 1970s.

The general provisions of the act require that the qualification for unemployment insurance benefits be based on a minimum of 14 weeks. The variable entrance requirement has changed that in order to provide greater flexibility than the main provisions of the act provide.

● (1050)

As he pointed out, the number of weeks an unemployment insurance claimant needs under the variable entrance requirement, the VER, is calculated on the basis of unemployment in the region in which the applicant lives. That, of course, is obviously where the flexibility arises, because one can apply the VER to circumstances as they arise rather than applying the more procrustean bed of the general provisions.

The only question left is that raised by Senator Doody in responding to Senator Corbin, when he said that he hoped this annual ritual would be replaced with something more permanent. If this variable entrance requirement has been working as well as suggested, and if its design is as intelligent as it seems to be, namely, permitting flexibility in the entrance requirements for one of our most important social programs, unemployment insurance, why should we not change the act permanently? Not only has Senator Doody repeatedly given the speech he gave yesterday but I gave it too when I sat in his seat, because this provision has been in effect since the late 1970s.

Perhaps Senator Doody or the parliamentary secretary can tell us more about this. There may be a reason why it is being done on this temporary basis rather than being made permanent.

Of course, I support both the principle of the bill and Senator Doody's suggestion that it would be appropriate to refer the bill to Committee of the Whole.

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators—

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, I wish to inform the Senate that if the Honourable Senator Doody speaks now his speech will have the effect of closing the debate on the motion for second reading of the bill.

Senator Doody: Honourable senators, if I may, I shall respond briefly to Senator Frith's question about why we have not made the variable entrance requirement a permanent feature of the legislation.

I am told that this suggestion has been considered, but that it has been decided that entrenchment in the Unemployment Insurance Act would eliminate the possibility of reviewing entrance requirements in the event that regional and economic disparities were significantly reduced at any time. A permanency could weaken efforts and incentives to find new regional development approaches that would make regionally differentiated income support unnecessary, and, of course, any attempt to entrench this flexibility permanently would arouse considerable criticism from those people who have been lobbying for a tightening of the program.

However, I thank honourable senators for their support for this very necessary amendment to the act, and, after second reading, I ask the permission of the Senate to invite Mr. Jim Hawkes, the Parliamentary Secretary, and his official, Mr. McFee, to join us in Committee of the Whole.

Motion agreed to and bill read second time.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

The Hon. the Speaker: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, I move that the bill be referred to Committee of the Whole, and that the Senate do now resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole for that purpose.

The Hon. the Speaker: It is moved by the Honourable Senator Doody, seconded by the Honourable Senator Beaudoin, that this bill be now referred to Committee of the Whole.

Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Motion agreed to.

CONSIDERED IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

The Senate was accordingly adjourned during pleasure and put into a Committee of the Whole on the bill, the Honourable Senator Bélisle in the Chair.

The Chairman: Honourable senators, the Senate is now in Committee of the Whole to take into consideration Bill C-158, to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971.

Senator Doody: Honourable senators, may I have leave to invite Mr. Hawkes, the Parliamentary Secretary, and his official to join us in Committee of the Whole?

The Chairman: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

With leave, the Honourable Jim Hawkes, Parliamentary Secretary to the Deputy Prime Minister, and Mr. Gordon W. McFee, Director, Policy and Legislation, Employment and Immigration Canada, were escorted to seats in the Senate chamber.

The Chairman: Honourable senators, before introducing Mr. Jim Hawkes, the Parliamentary Secretary to the Deputy Prime Minister, I would suggest that anyone wishing to ask questions raise his or her hand in order to be recognized by the Chair.

Honourable senators, we are now in Committee of the Whole on Bill C-158, to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971.

Do you have an opening statement to make, Mr. Hawkes?

Mr. Jim Hawkes, Parliamentary Secretary to the Deputy Prime Minister of Canada: No, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Honourable senators, shall the title be postponed?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Chairman: Shall clause 1 carry?

Senator Frith: Mr. Chairman, I do have some questions.

The Chairman: Please proceed.

Senator Frith: Mr. Hawkes, the concept of the VER, that is, adding flexibility to entrance requirements, the flexibility being based on the rate of unemployment in particular regions where applicants reside, is somewhat impressive, because, as Senator Doody pointed out during second reading debate, and as we all know, rates of unemployment vary in our country and flexibility in the application of our social programs is one of the main bonds that keep our country together. The concept is a good one and it is generally agreed by all parties that it has worked very well.

If such a salutary concept has been so successfully applied, why do we have to proceed in this fashion every year or so? Why do we not make it a permanent part of unemployment insurance, which is one of the jewels in the crown of our social programs?

Mr. Hawkes: Thank you, senator. It is a pleasure to be here for the first time. I appreciate the invitation.

This particular amendment for the extension of a year has come before me on seven or eight occasions in my nine years in Parliament. I think a strong case can be made that we should deal with it in a different way in future.

● (1100)

At the moment there is an ongoing study, which was announced in August, related to the 48 regions. There are two sides to it. I think the principle is dealt with in the legislation before us, but the hidden part of it, if you like, is concerned with these questions: What are these regions? How do we determine their geography and how do we relate that to the percentage of unemployment that is there? I think the act as it is presently constituted provides the minister with the kind of flexibility he needs to adapt to changing circumstances in Canada. History has taught us that there could conceivably be too much rigidity in the system. If we tried to go too far in the statute form to lay things out for the future with rigid criteria, that could cause a problem.

Senator Frith: Could that not be solved by legislating ministerial discretion?

Mr. Hawkes: At the moment the act has that kind of discretion relating to the naming of the regions, for instance.

Senator Frith: But not the application of the VER to the regions.

Mr. Hawkes: No, that is correct.

Senator Frith: It does not. Why could we not pass an amendment to the act that would permit the minister to have the discretion that we are really continuing here anyway? Are we not continuing a ministerial discretion here for one year? As it says in the bill:

... the number ... shall be based on the regional rate of unemployment that applies to that person.

You say that is more rigid than a ministerial discretion and you do not want to make that rigid decision for all time or make it permanent. You want to keep doing it every year. Why is it important to keep doing it every year?

Mr. Hawkes: The historical reason for it is the expectation that we might have dramatic shifts in the unemployment rate. These things do vary. As a nation, we went through a period of very high unemployment and that was preceded by a period of very low unemployment. The notion of variable entrance and how to apply it is something that the government, over time and over several governments, has discovered works. The discretion that exists for the minister is related to the regions. You could make regions larger or smaller. You could redraw the boundaries. This particular amendment simply provides the legal authority to pay the cheques on the basis of the regions as determined by the minister.

Senator Frith: But why must that be temporary? All the section says is that the right to qualify for benefits, and I quote:

... shall be based on the regional rate of unemployment that applies to that person.

So it is only based on that. Why can it not be permanently established that it will be based on that? Why do you, annually, have to allow it to be "based on"? The principle is the same every year.

Mr. Hawkes: I guess if you go back to the 1970s, when the act was changed, there was a version of a proposed change which came in with an eight-week minimum, which would have been across the board, and there was a great deal of negotiation amongst parties and so on, and the act got written with the 14 to 20 weeks in it, as a reflection of that Parliament's view as to what the situation should be for the future. We then started bringing in this amendment with the variable entrance requirement as a temporary measure because of the rapid acceleration of some unemployment problems in the country.

The view has been that the economy would improve to the point where we really could go back to the purpose of the statute. This process has gone on now eight times in my nine years in Parliament. We have come forward with it as another temporary measure. Certainly, on this occasion we are coming forward with it as another temporary measure. However, Parliament has not revisited the issue of whether or not the statute in its current form is what Parliament wants. Perhaps, in a new Parliament, it may indeed be time to revisit the basic nature of the statute; but at this point it is before you today as another temporary measure, probably with the same logic behind it that, hopefully, the economy will improve to the point where the statute itself is sufficient for the future.

By January 1990 we may have achieved the kind of economic growth, which I think all members of this chamber and the other chamber would want to see, where unemployment rates are so low that we can just let this temporary provision lapse for the future.

Senator Frith: The only problem I have with that is that it is based on an assumption that the economic growth will be not only great but uniform. The whole purpose of this section is to allow the government to be flexible, because history has taught us that, even when we do have economic growth, it is not uniform across the country. We have seen that with reference to the west, for example. As Canadians, we know that we have transfer payments and all sorts of devices in place to enable us to respond as a government to the fact that we have regional disparity and that it is not always the same regional disparity. In other words, it varies. I thought that was the genius behind this formula. However, I am reminded of the sign that says, "There is no damn reason for it. It is just policy." Certainly there is nothing partisan about it, because, of course, the previous government did exactly the same thing.

However, Mr. Hawkes, it is not a big deal, because we can review it every year. It is not that much trouble, but it just seems a little silly to do it. When we have found that it is good in concept and good in application, why not make it a permanent thing, especially since all it is saying is that the criteria shall be based on the regional rate of unemployment?

There was a study done by Mr. Forget on unemployment insurance. What did he have to say about the VER? I do not mean in a lot of detail. Did he think it was a good idea or a bad idea? Did he think we should continue with the practice of renewing it annually or did he recommend that it be made permanent, or do you recall what he had to say about that?

Mr. Hawkes: I am searching my memory. It was a voluminous report, with a lot of recommendations and a lot of areas, and I do not recall his dealing specifically with the notion of VER.

Senator Frith: Or making a judgment for or against it?

• (1110)

Mr. Hawkes: I think the thrust of his report was to acknowledge the different employment situations throughout the country—that there were different problems in different industries, such as the fishing industry and other seasonal industries. He was trying to help us, as a nation, discern the difference between a social welfare program and an unemployment insurance program. He raised those kinds of issues, but the concept of VER is not something that he dealt with directly, as far as I can recall.

Senator Frith: But it was, to a large extent, based on the very situation that led to the establishment of the VER, namely, this variability in terms of unemployment rates, seasonal unemployment and regional variations in unemployment.

Mr. Hawkes: As one aspect, that is correct. He also raised the variability of individuals. The geographic concept is one, but the trainability of people, their background and so forth is another issue. We are trying to bring those into better alignment for the future.

Senator Frith: Clause 1(2) deals with subsection 17(7) of the main act. It repeals that subsection and substitutes the following:

(7) The Commission—

I take it that is the Unemployment Insurance Commission:

—may, with the approval of the Governor in Council and subject to affirmative resolution of Parliament, extend the period mentioned in subsection (6).

Subsection (6) is the one we have just been discussing and the one that is being extended.

What did subsection 17(7) say before?

Mr. Hawkes: As I understand it—and I will get a signal if I have misinterpreted this—the present wording would say 133 months, and that is replaced with the (6). So it refers to subsection (6), which specifically tells us what to do.

Senator Frith: But the commission at present—that is, before this amendment is effected—has this power of extension.

Mr. Hawkes: I am not sure I caught the question.

Senator Frith: I did not look up the original section to see what it says. The amendment we are being asked to pass gives to the commission, subject to approval of cabinet, and subject to an affirmative resolution of Parliament, the power to extend the period mentioned in subsection (6). We were talking about the fact that subsection (6) extends the period. I am trying to find out if we are delegating to the commission that right to extend that has been exercised by Parliament. In other words, you are not going to have to come back, because the commission is going to do the job you are now asking Parliament to do. Is that correct?

Mr. Hawkes: The notion of an affirmative resolution in Parliament is a simpler notion than putting an amendment through Parliament, with all of the stages involved in that. If you could come forward with an affirmative resolution that provided for parliamentary control of the extension, but in a simpler way, we would not have to go through all of the stages.

Senator Frith: I was going to come to the affirmative resolution question, but what do you say that means? Whatever right this gives to the commission, it is subject to the approval of the Governor in Council, which is the cabinet.

Mr. Hawkes: And then Parliament.

Senator Frith: In what way? In other words, it would not take effect unless approved by Parliament.

Mr. Hawkes: That is correct.

Senator Frith: That helps me with my first question, but I do want to know, so that we have it completely on the record, whether the commission now has any right of extending.

Mr. Hawkes: No.

Senator Frith: None?

Mr. Hawkes: None.

Senator Frith: So what we are doing is giving it the right to extend the period, subject to cabinet approval and subject to parliamentary approval, and this will not take effect until it gets both approvals.

Mr. Hawkes: If we pass this amendment, then they will have the right, on a date to be named in 1990, to issue the cheques on this basis. The power would exist for the commission to go to the Governor in Council and then to Parliament on the basis of the affirmative resolution to get that right for some future period of time.

Senator Frith: The right that the commission is being given here is to extend—that is the word that is being used. It states:

The Commission may . . . extend the period mentioned in subsection (6).

That means that next year the commission will be able to make the extension. Right now the commission cannot give the extension; you have to come to Parliament.

Mr. Hawkes: That is correct. Right now we would have to move an amendment to the act.

Senator Frith: And what you want to do is give the commission the power to do that. So if you come and see us next year, you or your successor will be here because the commission has extended it, but that will not take effect until cabinet has approved it and Parliament has approved it.

So if you or your successor came here next year, you would be coming here to ask us, in effect, to ratify what the commission had done.

Mr. Hawkes: What the commission has asked for in the form of—

Senator Frith: In terms of an extension.

Mr. Hawkes: Yes, but Parliament would control that.

Senator Frith: So unless you or your successor came here, it would not take effect, even though the commission had made that decision. Is that correct?

Mr. Hawkes: That is correct.

The Chairman: Honourable senators, if there are no further questions, shall clause 1 carry?

Hon. Senators: Carried.

The Chairman: Shall clause 2 carry?

Hon. Senators: Carried.

The Chairman: Shall the title carry?

Hon. Senators: Carried.

The Chairman: Shall I report the bill without amendment?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Chairman: Honourable senators, I want to thank Mr. Hawkes for appearing before the Committee of the Whole. This is Mr. Hawkes' first appearance before a Committee of the Whole in the Senate.

Mr. Hawkes: I hope that on any future occasion I shall be given the same courtesy as I have been given today. It has been an interesting experience, and I thank honourable senators.

[Senator Frith.]

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Honourable senators, the sitting of the Senate is resumed.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Hon. Rhéal Bélisle: Honourable senators, the Committee of the Whole, to which was referred Bill C-158, to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971, has examined the said bill and has directed me to report the same to the Senate without amendment.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, with leave, later this day.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

On motion of Senator Doody, with leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(b), bill placed on the Orders of the Day for third reading later this day.

● (1120)

BROADCASTING BILL

SECOND READING—DEBATE CONTINUED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Bazin, seconded by the Honourable Senator Bolduc, for the second reading of the Bill C-136, An Act respecting broadcasting and to amend certain Acts in relation thereto and in relation to radiocommunication.—(Honourable Senator Frith).

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, like most, if not all, Canadians, I am very conscious of the importance of broadcasting to our country. As Senator Bazin pointed out yesterday, it is important in all countries; but I do not think we are exaggerating its importance in Canada, and I do not think he was exaggerating its importance in Canada when he outlined the significant role that broadcasting has played in the development of our country. Our country is the second largest in the world and it is populated thinly, but in areas that are not only entitled to have broadcasting services but, in fact, require them for the purpose of holding the country together.

All my life I have had a peripheral role in broadcasting. I have not had it as a central theme of my life, as, for example, Senator Finlay MacDonald has, but I started in broadcasting at a young age. I was at Parkdale Collegiate where there was an active music program, and in my first form, as it was then called rather than Grade 9, Dr. Leslie Bell had a program for a mixed choir on the CBC. This would have taken place in 1937 or 1938, 50 years ago—no comment, please!

Senator Doody: You are young!

Senator Frith: I had been recruited, along with a friend of mine who was a tenor, I being a bass, to sing in that choir. Every Saturday night we trooped—

Senator Flynn: Give us a sample!

Senator Frith: Yes, later, on demand. As Bob Muir used to say, "I happen to have my music, but not really for that." Anyway, every Saturday night for a season we used to troop down to where the CBC studios were then, which was on Davenport Road in Toronto in the old Eddy Battery Factory on the top floor, and sing for our supper. It was not a highly paid job, but from that time on, throughout high school, university and Osgoode Hall Law School, I had bookings to sing from time to time; usually they were with the CBC, but also with CFRB, where I was an announcer for a while. So it has always played an important role in my life.

Senator Phillips: Does that give you a conflict of interest?

Senator Frith: Thank you, Senator Phillips. At the moment I am only booked for a performance in the choir at the St. James Anglican Church in Perth on Sunday, and that is an amateur offering—in terms of payment, not in terms of quality of course.

Senator Phillips: Church, you mean, not the singer!

Senator Frith: Both.

Honourable senators, I want to say that Canada has the best broadcasting system in the world. To say "best" one has to have a criterion or criteria. I think the criteria for judging a nation's broadcasting system should be the range of choices and the quality of what is offered. When we consider the choice that most Canadians have in radio and television, I would put it up against that of any country in the world. One is not compelled, for example, to listen to the CBC, but it is there. I consider the CBC FM radio service certainly the best I have ever heard in the world. When you think in terms of television and how many choices most Canadians have, and the stunning range of choices in terms of the kind of material and the quality of material, I believe we can be justly proud of our broadcasting system.

The principle of this bill is, of course, to keep the broadcasting legislation and the guidelines for broadcasting, or the statement of broadcasting policy, consistent with technological and other developments in the field. When one thinks that we do a review of the Bank Act every ten years, it is hardly surprising that a government would want to bring forward reviews of the Broadcasting Act. I do not want to denigrate the importance of the Bank Act in all our lives, but, barring overdrafts and other financial crises, we are not daily exposed to the provisions of the banking policy of the country as frequently and as intimately as we are to the broadcasting policy.

So at second reading, when we are debating the principle of the bill, I see no reason for controversy or serious disagreement, because we support the principle of this bill, which is, as I have said, to keep broadcasting policy and the expression of broadcasting policy in step with developments. I congratulate the government for bringing forward this review, and I think we might even consider making the review of broadcasting policy—that is, the review of the legislation applying to broadcasting—as regularly as we make our review of the Bank Act so that the minute we pass amendments to the Broadcasting Act we will be assured that someone will be out there keeping track of developments and working on a review every five or ten years, whichever seems appropriate. In fact, that is what takes place. These reviews are going on, but we do not acknowledge the fact by keeping our broadcasting policy up to date because within ten years we are going to have to have a review. I think that should be encouraged, and that is why I encourage the government and congratulate it for what it has done here.

It seems to me, honourable senators, that this bill should go to committee quickly. I would have no objection to its going to committee today after giving it second reading, but I do not want to make a commitment on behalf of other senators who may want to speak to it today or later. For myself, I am satisfied to have it go to committee today; however, I do want to spend a moment on some of the matters I hope the committee will look at and explain why I believe that a more than cursory judgment or examination by our committee is justified.

I think if we ask most Canadians what they think the main pillars of Canadian broadcasting are, the answer will be the CRTC—or its predecessors—the CBC, the private broadcasters and the cable system. That does not embrace every aspect of broadcasting in Canada, but there are very few aspects to the broadcasting policy in Canada or broadcasting activity in Canada that are not in some way related to either the CRTC, the CBC, the private broadcasters or the cable systems.

● (1130)

As honourable senators are aware, the CRTC is the current institutional version of its predecessor, the Board of Broadcast Governors. Some senators may have forgotten that, prior to that, the regulator of the broadcasting system in Canada was the CBC. I remember appearing before the old CBC when Davidson Dunton was its chairman, and I believe Senator Finlay MacDonald will remember doing so, as well. Senator MacDonald was an experienced and seasoned broadcaster at the time; I was a tyro lawyer, and, of course, rather impressed, at that young age, with the experience and dash of Finlay MacDonald, Jack Davidson, Murray Brown and their many colleagues, who were sometimes admiringly and warmly known in the business as "the Rat Pack". Senator MacDonald will remember that, although I am sure he is more proud of the association of that name with his group than perhaps others may be with a more recent group to whom the same badge has been applied.

The first of the pillars, then, although not necessarily in this order, is the CRTC, the others being, as I said, the CBC, the private and the public broadcasters. These four institutions do not always have the same interests. In many ways they are competitive, and there are times when, from the point of view of competition, the CBC is looked upon as an enemy of the private broadcasters. Public broadcasting and private broadcasting interests are not always the same. The CRTC is the regulator and, understandably, is not wildly popular with the regulatees.

Therefore, honourable senators, the reason I believe the committee will have to study this legislation and the reason the Senate cannot do its job unless it does so is that, although I think everybody supports the need for broadcasting policy review and change, all of the institutions that are active in the broadcasting field, although they are often opposed to each other, seem to agree on one thing—they are dissatisfied with this legislation. Because they have differing interests, one can understand that they do not always disagree with it for the same reason; but they all have some complaints about it. I believe we are going to have to listen to those complaints in order to do our job of dealing with this legislation in the Senate.

Let us examine the CRTC first. Over the last month or so I have compiled a rather thick file on this legislation and have included in it some useful summaries. I will spare honourable senators a detailed recitation of this material. I intend only to provide the highlights.

In an article published in the Montreal Gazette on September 22, a Mr. William Johnson did pull together a good deal of the material that I had gathered on the views of the CRTC. He makes Senator Bazin's and my point, in the beginning of that article, by saying:

Canada exists as a country because, in addition to being a community of laws, it is also a community of communications.

Senator Bazin and I agree on that. Mr. Johnson goes on to say, however, that Bill C-136, now before Parliament, threatens the unity of Canada as a community of communications and contains within it the seeds of fragmentation.

Senator LeBlanc: Hear, hear!

Senator Frith: Honourable senators, I point out that I am using that statement to introduce what Mr. Johnson has said about the CRTC. He states:

The bill attempts to decentralize the decision-making of the one body in this country which ensures the integrity, the consistency, the adequacy, the national purpose of our far-flung system of radio and television: the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC).

Mr. Johnson points out that the bill, through this decentralization, risks fragmenting and balkanizing what has been, up to the present, an integrated system, and that it would transform the decision-making process in four ways.

First, it abolishes the executive committee of the CRTC, which until now made most of the day-to-day decisions.

Secondly, it abolishes the collegial decision-making process in matters of licensing broadcasters. That is because until now the majority of the full-time members of the CRTC made the decisions, even if a smaller panel of members actually sat at the hearings. I have been involved in cases in which that has happened, as has Senator MacDonald, the process being that a panel, which can vary in size from case to case, hears the application. It then makes its decision and puts forward to a meeting of the entire commission a recommendation. The commission's decision might not be that which was recommended by the panel—although in my experience it usually was so far as I was able to guess.

[Senator Frith.]

Thirdly, the bill allows the establishment of regional offices of the CRTC outside the capital, with the requirement by law that the newly created regional commissioners must:

... reside in the region and within such distance of the regional office as is determined by the Governor in Council.

That cannot be considered all bad; I think we would agree that Canadians are constantly struggling with the size of the country in trying to balance regional needs and the need for overall planning. This is not the only piece of legislation in which a government has tried to move the decision-making process to the regions so that Canadians will not always be told that the matter has to be checked with Ottawa. In this way Canadians will not have the feeling that no decisions can be made at the regional level because eventually "City Hall", so to speak, will make the decision some distance away. And after all, Ottawa is some distance away from most Canadians.

However, this aspect of the legislation is questionable here. I believe the CRTC has grave reservations as to whether it is a good idea in this case. The bill before us states that the decisions on licensing can be taken by a panel of three CRTC members, with a vote of two out of three being considered as the decision of the whole panel and of the entire CRTC. I think the committee must ask: Is this carrying regional autonomy too far? It would be carrying that autonomy too far only if it were to result in incoherent cross-country policies; if it were to result in confusion on the part of broadcasters and people interested in the regulatory authority and activity of the CRTC as to the overall policy.

Since an important philosophy, or dynamic, behind the legislation before us is the need for an understanding and application of an overall policy, this proposal—as Mr. Johnson suggests, as I believe and as the commission worries—might be carrying regionalization to the point where it will destroy the overall objective of the bill.

Mr. André Bureau, who is chairman of the CRTC, appeared before the House of Commons committee studying Bill C-136. He is reported to have said:

● (1140)

The proposed regionalization concept, if adopted, would lead to the balkanization of this commission. This, coupled with binding panel decisions, will erode the consistency, uniformity and quality of the decision-making process.

I believe this concern was addressed in the other place. I say "addressed" rather than "dealt with", because I am not sure how successful they were in solving the problem. However, that is something for the committee to look at. The allegation is that the new regional commissioners, resident in their regions and backed by regionally hired staff, because they are to have staff there as well, would be considered spokesmen and champions of their region, as perhaps they should be, but they could lose touch with the coherent, country-wide vision of broadcasting that now animates the collegial decision-making of the CRTC members who sit together in the capital before a final decision is made. Thus, inconsistent decisions as between different parts of the country could be taken, as we pointed out.

The rationale for the proposal is justified on the basis that the person who hears the applications should make the decision. That is a very arguable point, but I think it has to be balanced, by the committee and by us when we receive the report from the committee against the need for an overall coherent policy. The media and communications section of the Canadian Bar Association, of which I am a member, argued, when appearing before the parliamentary committee, that the he-who-hears-decides principle as applied in this case faces the difficulty of the actual nature of the deciding process. The association said in its brief, "However, broadcasting proceedings before the commission are not generally of this kind." They were referring to disputes as to fact.

I think Senator MacDonald would agree that when we appeared before the CRTC or the BBG there were never any really big disputes about the facts. For example, there were never disputes as to what frequency was available, what the contours of the frequencies were, what the statistics were in terms of the size of the market, or what the statistics were as to the division of the market, as to the penetration of the market or as to the degree of American penetration. All these factors were important in arriving at a decision, but there were never any real disputes as to such facts.

Again, the Canadian Bar Association said:

However, broadcasting proceedings before the commission are not generally of this kind. In many if not most cases, the facts are not in dispute; rather, what is in issue is how the commission should respond to these facts in terms of its licensing policy.

That is what the commission usually takes into account, and I think we would all agree that that is what they should take into account. So that is the problem with that principle.

To continue the article, it goes on to say:

It makes little sense, however, for a body whose function it is to apply Parliament's policy in order to ensure that the cultural identity of a nation is preserved and strengthened.

In other words, it makes little sense to have a he-who-hears-decides approach apply, although that is a most useful approach when it comes to settling facts.

Let me use as an example—and I am sure that this is one with which Senator Bazin is familiar—the court of appeal in legal cases. The tryer of fact is usually not upset by the court of appeal. I cannot say "never", but, if you are appearing before a court of appeal and your ground of appeal is that the trial judge made a mistake in the assessment of the facts, you have a tough row to hoe. You have to show that he made a mistake in the application of law. So, to apply the analogy to this case, the finders of fact should perhaps not be the final deciders, because the real issue is the issue of the application and overall policy. So we would want the committee to look at that issue.

As I said, the government has made some changes to the bill. According to Mr. Johnson, those changes require:

—that at least two, and not just one, of the members of a panel must be full-time CRTC members, and further requiring that the panel members, before a decision, "shall consult other members of the commission or any officer of the commission for the purpose of ensuring a consistency of interpretation of the broadcasting policy."

However, there is still the question of whether fragmentation remains likely when just two members of the CRTC can make fundamental decisions for the entire CRTC. How significant is it that members must consult any officer of the commission? For example, how senior must that officer be? So there is one of the pillars of the broadcasting community who has reservations about this bill. I believe that the committee should assure itself, and be able to assure us, that these fundamental concerns—and they are not superficial or technical concerns—of the CRTC are taken into account. We are talking about the principle of the bill and the principle of the amendments when we talk about possible difficulties in the legislation when it comes to implementing an overall, coherent policy.

Honourable senators, I shall touch on the CBC, the private broadcasters and the cable company pillars, if I may call them that, and what their feelings are with regard to this legislation. However, I had spoken to Senator Doody about the possibility of the Senate adjourning at twelve o'clock for purposes of consultation on the legislation before us, including this legislation. I do not see Senator Doody in the chamber, but we had agreed that we would adjourn at about twelve o'clock to come back at one, one thirty or two o'clock.

Senator MacEachen: Two o'clock.

Senator Frith: Shall we take a two-hour break then?

Hon. Orville H. Phillips: Honourable senators, we are moving towards what we hope will be the passage of some legislation and Royal Assent this afternoon. I was hoping that we could come back earlier than two o'clock. I was hoping for one o'clock, but I am willing to meet the honourable senator halfway and say one thirty o'clock.

Senator Frith: I understand the concern raised by Senator Phillips and why he is suggesting an earlier time, but the difficulty is that some of the things we want to talk about relate to the whole question of Royal Assent. I can assure the honourable senator that we will make good use of the additional half hour, and we will try to use that additional half hour for the very purposes he has in mind. So, if we can, I would prefer that we adjourn until two o'clock.

Senator Phillips: Honourable senators, with the assurance just given me, that all legislation that is presently under study will receive Royal Assent this afternoon, I gladly agree.

Senator Frith: I did not hear that assurance. Will the senator who gave such an assurance please rise? Anyway, with the assurance I have given, that we will not waste the two hours and that the time will be directed to the whole question of the legislation before us and the wish to have it completed as soon as possible, I hope that we can adjourn until two o'clock.

On motion of Senator Frith, debate adjourned.

The Senate adjourned until 2 p.m.

At 2 p.m. the sitting of the Senate was resumed.

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I was speaking to Bill C-136 when I asked that the Senate do adjourn so that we could have a consultation with reference to legislation generally before us now, and particularly Bill C-144. I yield to Senator MacEachen.

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, I do not intend to address Bill C-136, but I should like to make a comment about the status of Bill C-144.

I think it appropriate at this stage to tell our colleagues in the Senate what our attitude on this side is towards Bill C-144, which is now before the standing committee. It is clear to us now that the Senate cannot do a proper job and complete this bill today. The reason is that the committee is still at work and witnesses are being heard this afternoon. There is at least one witness scheduled for tomorrow, and there are other considerations. Certainly, colleagues on my side on the committee have under consideration some proposals they would like to test with the minister, who has agreed to appear again before the committee. There is also the necessity of preparing a report to the Senate from the committee. We do not think it reasonable to attempt to complete that work today.

I must say that I do not know what the plans of the government are for Parliament next week. Accordingly, I do not know whether this work can be continued next week; only the Prime Minister and his colleagues know that.

I wish, however, to advise what we on this side are prepared to do with respect to Bill C-144. We are prepared to have the committee continue its work tomorrow, with a view to affording the committee enough time to report the bill tomorrow. We are prepared to have the consideration of that report completed in the Senate and, indeed, have Royal Assent tomorrow at some point, depending upon the progress that is made in committee. That is what we are prepared to do and, of course, it is up to the government to decide whether it wishes to accept this proposal, which, in turn, will depend on the importance and urgency the government attaches to Bill C-144.

[Senator Phillips.]

BROADCASTING BILL

SECOND READING

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Bazin, seconded by the Honourable Senator Bolduc, for the second reading of the Bill C-136, An Act respecting broadcasting and to amend certain Acts in relation thereto and in relation to radiocommunication.—
(Honourable Senator Frith).

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, just to recap where we were in terms of Bill C-136, I had summarized our position on this side and made it clear that, in my view, there is general support for the principle of this bill, that is, the review of broadcasting and radio-communication legislation. A regular review of this legislation should be encouraged and the government should be congratulated for bringing forward this review. Therefore, the bill should, as far as I am concerned—unless there are other senators who wish to speak to it—be given second reading and adopted in principle today and be referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Transport and Communications.

I then went on to point out that the committee would have its work cut out for it, because there is certainly not agreement among the four pillars of Canadian broadcasting—the CRTC, the CBC, the private broadcasters and the cable industry—on this bill. I did leave the implication that they were all opposed to it, but during the adjournment I ascertained that that is not the case with regard to the cable industry. During the break I had a discussion with Mr. Hind-Smith, the president of the Canadian Cable Television Association, and, speaking for the association, he told me that they are in favour of the legislation's passing. To the extent that in my earlier remarks I gave the impression, as I think I did, that the cable association is opposed to the bill, I was mistaken.

Let us turn now to the CBC. The CBC, publicly, both before the committee and in speeches made on its behalf, has also raised serious reservations about Bill C-136.

I return to my involuntary but very helpful researcher, Mr. Johnson of the Gazette, for openers. The question he particularly addressed, and which is also addressed in the comments by those speaking directly on behalf of the CBC, is that of separate French and English committees of the board of directors.

What is established in the bill is that within the CBC the board of directors will have two new language-based standing committees, each with its own chairman. Mr. Johnson's article quotes the bill:

"The board shall establish a standing committee of directors on English-language broadcasting and a standing committee of directors on French-language broadcasting."

Honourable senators, I believe that is dealt with in clause 43 of the bill.

However, the problem I believe the committee will have to investigate relates to why the law that will govern all broadcasting in this country requires the CBC to subdivide itself along these language lines at the top. One wonders: Was there a problem? I do not remember the Caplan-Sauvageau report dealing with that, although it may have, since it is some time since I looked at it. Was there some problem in communication between the English-speaking and the French-speaking branches of the top management of the CBC? One is tempted to infer from this legislation that there was, and that is somewhat worrying, because we are, after all, talking about communications, and one would like to think that our professional communicators can communicate and that there was no problem at the top requiring this schizophrenic move. Perhaps it was a practical problem requiring the intervention of the state in the structure of the CBC in order to create two boards of directors within the bosom of the overall top management and policy-directing institutions. After all, as we have found in dealing with the CRTC branch of the question, the reasons for the law are really not the pragmatic ones of how to make the CBC work, or how to make the CRTC work, or how to make the private broadcasters work, in the mechanical sense. What we are dealing with in this legislation is ideology and policy and coherent direction.

● (1410)

Does the new law say that, ideologically, we have to view Quebec as a distinct society requiring separate services—as do all francophones—to which they are all entitled? Does that have to be expressed in the management of the CBC? There are, of course, two distinct broadcasting services, both linguistically and culturally. I usually listen to the morning news on the CBC FM network, which I believe is the same as the one on the AM network, in English and French, usually the one at 6 a.m. and the other at 7 a.m., but sometimes one at 7 a.m. and the other at 8 a.m., and I find that I am getting a complete picture. However, on the English network I am certainly not getting a translation of what I heard on the French network, and vice versa. In my view, that is as it should be, because we are not simply looking at a translation service but at cultural expressions of the needs and feelings of the two Canadian societies. So it is not enough to have an authentically different, original French production.

Must we also have an authority structure that reflects distinct societies? Maybe so. I hope not, but that is something the committee will want to examine. To put that another way, the national coherence of the CBC is important. We found that national coherence can exist at the management level and still create two broadcasting services that serve the needs and express the aspirations of the two societies that make up Canada. I hope the committee will find out why that has to extend into the authority of the CBC management structure.

When Mr. Juneau was making his introductory remarks, he raised a viewpoint that I wish to highlight for the committee's consideration. On page 3, he said:

Bill C-136 was only tabled on June 23rd. It is this Act that will rule broadcasting in the years to come, not task force reports. Therefore, the Bill is crucial and so is the responsibility of this Committee and of Parliament.

In quoting Mr. Juneau, I do not want to take anything away from what the government did with the report of the task force. I think it was necessary and desirable, and I salute them for doing it. The special committee of the House also had hearings and dealt with various aspects of this problem, but, as Mr. Juneau says, what it finally comes down to and what actually speaks and rules is the act itself, and that is what is before us. It was an admittedly difficult task to bring together all the considerations of the various emanations and dimensions of broadcasting, plus the study and recommendation of the task force, plus the hearings of the committee. I take nothing away from the effort that the government was required to put into expressing all that in a bill. However, it does not change the fact that it was only able to do so as recently as June 23 of this year.

There were some comments made about the dropping of the word "enlightenment" from the mandate of the CBC, but I believe that also has been dealt with by the other place. I hope the committee will give us some assurances that that is so, because I had representations, as perhaps many other senators had, on the question of the CBC mandate and the changes that were made.

To quote from Mr. Juneau:

In an industry heavily influenced by commercial considerations, it is vital that Canada's public broadcaster march to a different drummer. The CBC has an obligation to produce programs that are "sharply, identifiably different from the values of American commercial television" to quote our 1985 document "Let's do it". Our producers must feel free, and indeed encouraged, to explore and experiment, both with program ideas and new technology. As a Corporation we must feel free to take risks.

Honourable senators will have noted from reading the admittedly vast quantity of material available on this question that that consideration and the consideration of American domination has, to repeat the verb, dominated the attitude and response of many experts in the field.

This, of course, brings us to the question of the priority to be given the public channels on the country's cable systems. To a large extent, that is what Mr. Juneau was dealing with. To quote from page 9:

The Bill declares that "distribution undertakings" should "accord priority to the carriage of Canadian programming services". It does not say that priority should be given to "programming of the national public broadcaster, and of other public broadcasting undertakings". This should be clearly stated for both radio and television. Simply put, it makes little sense to invest large amounts of public money in broadcasting and then not to make sure that this programming gets optimum distribution.

We know that most Canadians watch television through a cable service.

Senator McElman: I wish he had shown such concern in New Brunswick.

Senator Frith: Yes. I mentioned earlier that most places had this service, and I am glad Senator McElman raised that, because it is not the first time he has raised it with me.

Senator McElman: And it won't be the last.

Senator Frith: And I doubt that it will be the last.

I again turn to what Mr. Juneau says is our secondary concern:

You'll note in our brief that we have drawn attention to a change of wording in the new Bill that could interfere with the broadcasters' time-honoured right to freedom of expression.

And then, going to the last sentence in the top paragraph on page 10:

In the new Bill, this section appears to have been replaced by much weaker language which provides that "nothing in this Act shall be construed as requiring any person to obtain the approval of the Commission for the broadcasting of any particular program."

Now, what does that replace? It replaces these words:

The right to freedom of expression and the right of persons to receive programs, subject only to generally applicable statutes and regulations, is unquestionable.

Mr. Juneau goes on to state:

● (1420)

The problem with the wording is that it would not preclude the possibility of the Commission's intruding into the substance of individual programs. We must always remember that, if such powers exist, someone someday will insist that they be used.

Still dealing with the CBC's concerns, I quote from section 326 of the United States Communications Act, for comparison purposes. That states:

Nothing in this Act shall be understood or construed to give the Commission

—in that case, the FCC—

the power of censorship over the radiocommunications or signals transmitted by any radio station, and no regulation or condition shall be promulgated or fixed by the Commission which shall interfere with the right of free speech by means of radiocommunication.

The third area of concern Mr. Juneau raised relates to the independence of the CBC. I will not refer to long quotations, but I will refer those honourable senators who are interested in the concerns that he outlines and expands upon to page 11 and on in the introductory remarks he made in the intervention in the other place. Enough for the CBC.

They have other concerns. I am trying to pick out a few of them to illustrate why I think the committee has some work cut out for it in examining this legislation, if it is referred to the committee after it receives second reading.

[Senator Frith.]

I turn now to the third point, and that relates to private broadcasters. So far we have found deep concerns for the CRTC and deep concerns for the CBC; now for the private broadcasters. I shall quote from a letter that I received from the president and chief executive officer of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters. That association, as honourable senators know, is the association that represents the private broadcasters. The letter states:

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters (CAB) is the national trade association representing the great majority of private over-the-air, advertiser supported radio and television stations in Canada.

It goes on to state:

Our members are seriously concerned about recent proposed amendments to broadcasting legislation.

Honourable senators must remember that in many cases we have found that where the CBC is against something the private broadcasters are for it, though not always, and vice versa. But here we find that the same concern expressed by the CRTC and by the CBC—not necessarily on the same points, of course—is expressed by the private broadcasters.

Mr. McCabe, the president and chief executive officer of this association, when referring to the report of the legislative committee, goes on to say:

The Committee's report, however, included none of the crucial amendments requested by the CAB and other interested parties. As well, numerous amending motions at the report stage have been refused and it, therefore, appears that Bill C-136 will be passed by the House of Commons —this letter was written before it was passed—with many deficiencies and inadequacies.

I will skip a few of the paragraphs in the letter and come to the following:

The CAB finds it particularly disturbing that the proposed Act provides the Governor in Council with substantial directive power —that is the cabinet, of course—

over the detailed management and regulation of the broadcasting system and its participants.

The government can take the place of the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) in any instance.

I repeat that:

The government can take the place of the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) in any instance.

I continue with the quotation:

A political process will take the place of a quasi-judicial one in the interpretation of legislation and in the maintenance of the integrity of the broadcasting system. This will severely dilute the independence of the CRTC and provide the opportunity for political interference in the management of the Canadian broadcasting system. The CAB believes that such extensive control is inappropriate and should be removed from the proposed Act.

This letter was addressed to me, and I believe similar letters were addressed to other honourable senators. It goes on to state:

Bill C-136 should not receive your approval in its present form without the Senate having the opportunity to address the concerns that private broadcasters have expressed. We firmly believe that this matter requires special attention by you and your colleagues.

I, and I believe other senators, received a number of submissions from other private broadcasters and others engaged in and critically concerned with this broadcasting legislation. I have a few selections. The Humber Valley Broadcasting Company Limited states:

We are greatly concerned that the proposed Act fails to sufficiently define the structure of the Canadian broadcasting system and the principles that will keep it Canadian.

Another quotation is:

... we submit that it is necessary, in the public interest, to recognize and protect the foundation role of free over-the-air general service broadcasters.

This is a longer letter. That is all I will give to honourable senators as a sample.

British Columbia Television Broadcasting System Ltd. states:

The effectiveness of the CRTC as a regulator in maintaining a single national broadcasting system, the status of private broadcast services that serve all Canadians vis-à-vis non-broadcast services, and, indeed, the very structure of the Canadian broadcasting system and the principles that keep it Canadian are in question.

Bill C-136 should not receive your approval in its present form without the Senate having the opportunity to address the concerns of private broadcasters and others. We firmly believe that this matter requires special attention by you and your colleagues.

BCTV goes on to state:

BCTV supports those suggestions and proposes —that relates to suggestions regarding amended wording—

that a hearing be held so that private broadcasters may discuss the recommendations with you in person.

Obviously, the way to give that group the opportunity is to refer this bill to committee. I would recommend that it be referred to committee, and I believe I can say that Senator Bazin has that intention.

Then another quotation from the Fraser Valley Broadcasters Ltd.:

... Bill (C-136) completely ignores the urgent needs of radio broadcasters

—this is radio. Remember that the others related to television stations—

serving non-metropolitan markets across Canada.

This is a radio sample from the non-metropolitan markets. It goes on to state:

Not only are we ignored, but we are placed in jeopardy by this proposed legislation.

The entire Canadian broadcasting industry will suffer under this new Act and, as the smallest and most vulnerable members of that industry, community radio will suffer dearly.

So this is from a community radio station, which, as honourable senators will remember, is usually non-commercial and is established by a community to serve the community. The board of directors and shareholders are usually members of an association that is incorporated without share capital, the members often being the shareholders, although not always so.

To continue with the quotation from the community broadcasters:

Between the new Broadcasting Act and rumored changes to the Copyright Act we fear that smaller broadcasting companies will have little choice but to reduce service or sell out to the larger operators.

Please review Bill C-136 carefully should it come before the Senate... We hope that finally someone will consider the serious effects on community radio.

That is the end of that quotation and the end of the selection from that.

The last quotation of this kind, honourable senators, is from the other end of the country, Annapolis Valley Radio Limited:

● (1430)

The Committee's report, however, included none of the crucial amendments requested by CAB and other interested parties.

This is, in effect, a repeat, and I mention it to reinforce the quotations that I have already given from the proposals made by the CAB.

Then, honourable senators, I want to refer to one other item that I am having difficulty categorizing exactly. It is public broadcasting; it is not the CBC, but this is from another very important part of the broadcasting industry, which is the provincial services. I shall quote from a letter that I received from Mr. Ostry. He is the chairman and chief executive officer of TV Ontario, from the province I am happy to try to represent here in the Senate.

The 1968 Broadcasting Act was passed before provincial educational broadcasters, as such, were born.

That is the old act.

Therefore, it reads only that "facilities should be provided for educational broadcasting"

—understandably—

"in the Canadian broadcasting system."

Skipping a few lines, and continuing:

On average an audience of 6.5 million Canadians watches us

—that is TV Ontario, an educational service—

once each week. More than 80 per cent of Canadian homes can receive our services.

Collectively the four provincial governments, the federal government, the private sector and our viewers will contribute nearly $200 million to broadcasting and education this year. Together we employ 1500 people, and generate more than 2,000 hours of first-play —first-play only. Remember that many of these shows are repeated many times, as they ought to be—

Canadian production in both official languages.

Both the Report of the Task Force on Broadcasting Policy and the Standing Committee on Communications and Culture called for the recognition of provincial educational broadcasters as “integral” to the broadcasting system in a new act. Yet, to my surprise, Bill C-136 does not offer any regard for the recommendations of either of those two studies or the distinctively unique energy educational broadcasters infuse into the system.

Instead, Bill C-136 glances over our very existence and says only that “educational and community programs” should be among those provided by the system. Anyone might do that.

Page 4:

The effects of this legislation on Canadians cannot be underestimated. This is not just some “other” law. The Broadcast Act is to one of the largest industries in Canada what the criminal code is to the administration of justice. Broadcasting touches the lives of every man, woman, and child from the moment their clock-radio sounds in the morning until they switch off their television at night. Canadians drive to and from work with their car radios on and, for recreation, they jog, ski, bicycle and sun with portables. The average Canadian spends the equivalent of a day each week in front of the television, and children and young people spend more time watching television than they do in school.

Now, on the question of Canadian content on page 5.

For instance, the Bill is based on the assertion that Canada is today culturally sovereign. The broadcasting system, as defined in Section 3, “. . . provides . . . a public service essential to the maintenance and enhancement of national identity and cultural sovereignty . . .” In my mind, cultural sovereignty has a crystal clear meaning:

Here is Mr. Ostry’s comment:

A country might be said to possess cultural sovereignty if its people are supreme in their territory and control the production and distribution of their own books, films, music, plastic and decorative arts; and if its people have liberal access to the expression of their own culture in the languages of their choice and to the imaginative works of their own countrymen and countrywomen; and if its artists of all kinds find support and appreciation at home.

I do not think Canada has the luxury of assuming it is culturally sovereign. Eighty per cent of our publishing industry is in foreign hands. Ninety-seven per cent of films shown in Canada are foreign. Eighty-five per cent of records and tapes are based on imported master tapes. In broadcasting, 71 per cent of all television programs viewed by English-speaking Canadians on television are not Canadian; and the French-language culture is under siege from dubbed programs and a proliferation of English-language services.

If Mr. Ostry is right on the assumption of cultural sovereignty—

Therefore, Bill C-136 is based on a false premise. If it cannot be redrafted completely, it should be amended.

He closes by saying:

Canada would benefit greatly from the Senate’s serious consideration of this legislation and Senate recommendations for amendments.

Honourable senators, that brings me to the fourth pillar, and, as I mentioned earlier this afternoon, the fourth pillar is the—

Senator Doody: Is it as big as the other ones?

Senator Frith: I think Miss MacDonald would like it to be even bigger, because it is the one that supports the legislation, and that is the cable industry, according to what I am told by Mr. Hind-Smith.

Senator Doody: I was just thinking of Bill C-148. I thought we might be able to get that done before three o’clock.

Senator Frith: I think we might want to hear what the government is going to do about Royal Assent tomorrow, but we will hear from you on that in due course.

I do not have much more. I want to make this very short comment on the fourth pillar, and it is to say that the quotation I have been given from Mr. Hind-Smith is that the Canadian Cable TV Association is pleased with the bill. They do not feel that they need to appear before the committee, and they want the Senate to pass the bill as is. The committee may want to hear their views just the same.

Honourable senators, there are a few other points that I should like the committee to look at, which are of a more general application. I will pick them at random. One is the context of the Caplan-Sauvageau task force report. You will remember that in that report there was a warning against creating, in effect, a North American TV market, an idea embodied in this bill:

If the rights to show American programs in Canada were retained and exploited by American broadcasters, rather than being sold to Canadian broadcasters, it would be destructive of Canada’s broadcasting system, particularly private broadcasting. More important, it would create an even greater imbalance between foreign and Canadian programs and reduce Canada's ability to produce programs.

Honourable senators, some of the other concerns I have are as follows: I have mentioned briefly the fact that this legislation was only tabled on June 23 of this year. That has raised one other consideration the committee will want to examine; namely, the matter of process. Almost every witness appearing before the legislative committee charged with the study of Bill C-136 complained of this matter of process and the speed with which the act was being pushed. I reaffirm that I am not ignoring the work that was done in preparation for this legislation by the task force and by the House of Commons committee. The point is that all of that work had to be brought together in this bill. One can easily understand that it takes some time to do so, but that does not change the fact that this important legislation has only been tabled before Parliament for approximately three months.

● (1440)

The Canadian Bar Association, in its presentation to the legislative committee, said:

Given the importance of the new legislation, we are concerned that very little time has been given to interested groups to review the draft language of Bill C-136. In 1985 and 1986, many of the policy issues addressed in the Bill were given a full and comprehensive review as part of the work of the Caplan-Sauvageau Task Force on Broadcasting Policy. In 1987 and 1988, many of these policy issues were reviewed again, by the Standing Committee on Communications and Culture, which commented on these issues in its 4th, 5th, 6th and 15th Reports. However, the actual draft language of Bill C-136 has been available for review by the public for barely two months.

—as it then was.

It is apparent from just a cursory review that Bill C-136 raised numerous legal questions which require interpretation and clarification. This is hardly surprising, since the Bill represents the first thorough-going revision of the Broadcasting Act in 20 years. Given the all-encompassing nature of the changes to the Act, however, and the likelihood that once enacted, the new Broadcasting Act will be in place for a considerable period of time, it is essential in our view that Parliament provide a full opportunity for each clause to be carefully reviewed.

Honourable senators, I do not want to go into great detail, but there is remaining the whole question of the substance of the bill. It is said that the bill is "technologically neutral", meaning that the legislative process need not be unduly complicated by technological considerations. I think that is probably true, and we have already made the point that the main purpose of this legislation is ideological rather than strictly technological. However, I want to say that even on the technological side we have to be concerned with the definition of "program". We must refer to the committee the fact that Bill C-136 defines "program" to exclude alphanumeric material, effectively categorizing broadcasting undertakings into programming and non-programming. What problem does that create?

First, the alphanumeric material contained within a program transmission, such as the vertical blanking interval in a television signal used for closed captioning, would not be regulated, because, according to the CRTC in its brief to the legislative committee:

... the vertical blanking interval of a television signal can be considered to be separate and apart from the main transmission.

Secondly, a broadcasting undertaking could be deemed to be non-programming, and therefore not regulated by the CRTC, even though it could broadcast movies or television shows during prime time, so long as the undertaking was seen as being predominantly non-programming. On that point, I think it should be drawn to the committee's attention that the recommendation of the all-party unanimous report of the Standing Committee on Communications and Culture in the other place stated that:

It is essential that the Act clearly categorize all such services as "programming"...

In that way the providers of such services will be properly licensed as networks and made subject to the appropriate regulatory scrutiny. Under this approach, the commission will be able to exercise jurisdiction over such services. In the committee's view, they should not be excluded from scrutiny by an artificial definition of the word "programming".

Master antennae television, or MATV, may seem like a technical question, but it is less than technical to many residents and owners of condominiums. For years owners of apartment buildings have put up, and wanted the right to put up, master antennae so that they could receive a signal off the air and feed it through to the apartments. Some owners of condominiums who use MATV are concerned that certain provisions in Bill C-136 will consider them as "broadcasting undertakings" and therefore make them subject to regulation by the CRTC. Under the present act, the CRTC issued an exemption order to MATV systems. The minister has stated that the exemption would continue, but this has not allayed the fears of condominium residents, who would prefer to have the exemption written into law.

There is another side to this. If I were a condominium resident, my personal preference would be to have the ability to put up a dish or master antenna to receive these far distant signals in the condominium. These signals, however, may bypass the regulatory system, because the installations bringing in long distance signals are unregulated, which may be of concern to all those interested in the Canadian broadcasting system. This is a hot issue, honourable senators, and it is not just technological. As I say, there are two arguable sides to the question—the freedom to receive broadcasting signals as against the need for regulation of the systems bringing in distant signals that might completely break down the Canadian system.

Proceeding to the highlights, as it appears they will now be placed before the committee, I will turn to the matter of predominantly Canadian programming content. The present act specifies that programming provided by the Canadian broadcasting system should use predominantly Canadian creative and other resources. This has led to some confusion in interpretation, but, by and large, it has come to mean that programming should be "predominantly Canadian". The government had the perfect opportunity in the new act to clear up the confusion by adopting a recommendation of the sixth report of the Standing Committee on Communications and Culture, which called for the clarification of the meaning of "predominantly Canadian" so that it would be obvious that it meant that most of the programming provided should indeed be Canadian.

The government, however, did not do that. It did not even include the concept of "predominantly Canadian" in the original draft of Bill C-136. Only after pressure had been exerted by a great many witnesses, including representatives of the CRTC, did the government put this notion back into the bill. Unfortunately, the language used in the amendment is convoluted and the concept remains unclear. This is a crucial point in terms of this legislation and is one which the committee will, I hope, examine closely.

Tied into that issue is the question of foreign programming. The standing committee said:

The Act should be drafted so as to define the essential role of distribution undertakings as that of distributing Canadian radio and television services in French and English, both public and private, with first priority given to public sector Canadian services, followed by private Canadian services.

The idea behind this recommendation is that the foreign television services offered should be complementary to, and not in competition with, Canadian television services. The government's response to this reasonable idea was, "distribution undertakings should accord priority to the carriage of Canadian programming services." There is no mention of how to accord priority. You could infer that, as long as Canadian services were offered, any foreign service could also be provided. That would certainly lead to erosion of the quality of conventional Canadian services and potentially to the destruction of certain Canadian pay and specialty services.

● (1450)

We mentioned the question of broadcasting and education. I made some reference to this topic earlier in quoting from Mr. Ostry's letter expressing the concerns of TV Ontario, one of the leading educational broadcasting services in the country, if not the continent.

There are a couple of other important points. The first one is native language broadcasting. The Caplan-Sauvageau task force on broadcasting policy as well as the Standing Committee on Communications and Culture have stated that it would be beneficial to have broadcast programming in representative native languages. Bill C-136 makes no provision for this. We should hear from those interested in native language broadcasting in any event, but more particularly since the Caplan-Sauvageau report has underlined this concern.

[Senator Frith.]

Another concern with regard to the CBC and CRTC terms of office is that Bill C-136 would reduce the terms of office of the chairman of the CRTC and the president of the CBC to five years from the current seven years. This has the potential for hampering the ability of the agencies to operate at arm's length from the government. I am sure that honourable senators will not have trouble following this principle, because even those senators who, I believe, support the appointment of senators for a limited term rather than to age 75 agree that the term must be long enough to provide the kind of independence that is necessary for senators to exercise their legislative function independently, or, to relate that to the CBC and CRTC terms of office, to operate at arm's length from the government. I do not think that the present term of seven years is too long, as it permits the chairman of the CRTC and the president of the CBC to operate at that important arm's-length distance.

So the thrust of Bill C-136 is honourable and worthwhile, but there seem to be many areas which clearly need more examination. I have enunciated some of the areas of examination I believe have to be considered. Apart from the term, I do not feel that the roles of the CBC president and the CRTC chairman are clearly enough defined to reduce the potential, under the bill, for conflicts within the corporation. That is in addition to these two boards that are to be set up within it, one in the English language and the other in the French language.

There is also the question of the process. In an editorial published at the end of August, the Toronto Star took the view that the TV-radio bill needs more work. Part of that editorial reads:

Three influential executives from the Association of Canadian Film and Television Producers, the Canadian Film and Television Association and the Association des Producteurs de Film et de Vidéo du Québec also worry about the lack of debate. On Monday, they asked Prime Minister Brian Mulroney to "set aside partisan political objectives" that are driving Tory MPs to ram the bill into law with "undue haste."

Honourable senators who have studied this legislation and who have received representations on the bill may have other areas they want to red circle for committee attention. I hope I have illustrated that there are many important areas of controversy still outstanding that require examination by the Senate committee in order for the Senate to do its job. Therefore, I support second reading of this bill and the adoption of the bill in principle, provided it is referred for careful study to the Standing Senate Committee on Transport and Communications.

Senator Flynn: It is three o'clock; you are right on.

Senator Frith: Not quite; it is two minutes after.

Motion agreed to and bill read second time.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Honourable senators, when shall this bill be read the third time?

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, with leave, I move that the bill be read the third time now.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Is leave granted honourable senators?

Senator Frith: No.

Senator Flynn: Then, at the next sitting.

Senator Frith: Honourable senators, I move that the bill be referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Transport and Communications.

Senator Doody: More delays!

Senator Frith: If all you want to do is have bills go through without going to committee, why do you even bother to show up? Stay home and we will do your work.

Senator Flynn: Not with the way you do things.

On motion of Senator Frith, bill referred to the Standing Senate Committee on Transport and Communications.

[Translation]

PRIVATE BILL

GRENVILLE AGGREGATE SPECIALTIES LIMITED—MESSAGE FROM COMMONS

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore informed the Senate that a message had been received from the House of Commons with Bill S-21, to revive Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited and to provide for its continuance under the Canada Business Corporations Act, and to acquaint the Senate that they had passed the bill without amendment.

[English]

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT, 1971

BILL TO AMEND—THIRD READING

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government), moved the third reading of Bill C-158, to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971.

Motion agreed to and bill read third time and passed.

INTERNATIONAL CENTRE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENT

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ADOPTED

The Senate proceeded to consideration of the sixteenth report of the Standing Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, (Bill C-147, to establish the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development), presented earlier this day.

Hon. John B. Stewart moved the adoption of the report.

He said: Honourable senators, I should like to say a few words in explanation. First, I should like to call the attention of honourable senators to the fact that there is a misprint in the report. I draw attention to the first page of the report where the Arabic numeral "1" appears and where it states, "Page 2, clause 6:". Honourable senators, that should read "Page 2, clause 4:". It is correct in the marked copy of the bill which was returned from the committee.

● (1500)

Honourable senators will remember that this morning copies of certain amendments were given to them at their desks. After the committee had completed its work there were consultations, and it was decided that the purpose of the amendments could be achieved in ways different from the ways set forth in the report of the committee. I understand that an honourable senator will move that the report of the committee be amended to replace the original amendments with the new versions of those amendments.

Hon. Richard J. Doyle: Honourable senators, may I ask a question? Senator Stewart spoke of consultations. Would he describe those consultations in a little more detail?

Senator Stewart: I think I can help the honourable senator. He was at the committee and will remember that the spokesmen for the government had difficulty with certain aspects of the amendments proposed in committee, the amendments which, eventually, were adopted by the committee. Subsequent to the adoption of the amendments there were consultations with the office of the Secretary of State for External Affairs, and it is as a result of those consultations that the new version of the amendments has become available. It is not yet before the Senate.

Hon. Gerald Ottenheimer: Honourable senators, I should like to ask Senator Stewart whether, in the amendments that he will be moving, the term "pluralistic political system" is included.

Senator Stewart: The amendments I am moving, honourable senators, are those set forth in the sixteenth report. I have made the report and I have moved its adoption. What I have said is that another senator will propose that the report be amended, and I understand that that is acceptable, for the most part, to the government side.

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): Honourable senators, who is the mover of the amendment?

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): Honourable senators, before we go through this exercise, I think it important to establish whether it is intended that this bill will be given Royal Assent today.

Senator Flynn: You have to send it to the House of Commons.

Senator MacEachen: I think it ought to be made clear that the committee report, which was moved by Senator Stewart and adopted, was the committee report subsequent to the report made by the committee.

The office of Secretary of State for External Affairs and the office of the Honourable Monique Landry were in touch with members of the committee and, as a result of discussions, there are before us, as it were, agreed-upon amendments which would replace the original amendments proposed by the committee.

The understanding is that these amendments have been accepted by the government, and it is on that ground that we are prepared to support the bill. If they are not, then, of course, there is no point in sending them forward, and we will continue with the report.

Senator Doody: Honourable senators, if I may, Senator MacEachen is correct. The amendments that have been put forward are the result of negotiations between the committee and the minister involved or responsible, and it is our hope that, if we get this out of here in time today, it will receive favourable treatment in the House of Commons and be back here this afternoon for Royal Assent, which we have planned for about three-thirty, which is really pressing it at this point. In any event, it is our hope to get this through both houses and back here in time for Royal Assent today.

Senator Ottenheimer: Honourable senators, I am somewhat at a loss, so I am in someone's hands who probably has more information than I do—which is not difficult, I hasten to add before anyone else does.

If there has been agreement between the opposition and the government with respect to the deletion of the phrase “pluralistic political system”, then I do not wish to speak, but, if there is not, I should like to put on the record, briefly, my views on that criterion.

Senator Doody: Perhaps I can help. My understanding is that there has been some difficulty in reaching a mutual understanding—and I am subject to correction on this—on the phrase “pluralistic political system”. It is the hope of the government that the Senate will see fit to accept somewhat different wording. The phrase “democratic society” has been suggested to me. The phrase “pluralistic political system” is, I understand, a western language mode that causes problems in some other states around the world, and they have had some difficulty with it in the past. However, “democratic society” would convey much the same meaning, but would not have the same lack of acceptance or difficulty in other countries.

If honourable senators were agreeable to changing “pluralistic political system” to “democratic society”, of course it would be that much more acceptable. However, if the committee feels strongly on that and cannot change it, we shall take the amendments as they are.

Senator MacEachen: Honourable senators, I can throw some light on that point. It is true that there was considerable discussion on that particular point, and one member in particular stated that, if this were removed, he would not be prepared to see any of this go forward and would insist on the original report.

Therefore, I must say that under the present circumstances it is not possible to remove the phrase “pluralistic political system” from the text. That has been thoroughly canvassed and it would not be within my power to agree to an amendment without breaking faith with members of the committee.

Senator Doody: In any event, honourable senators, may I ask the Senate to pass the report, as amended, as quickly as possible?

Senator Molgat: I think we should hear from Senator Ottenheimer.

Senator Ottenheimer: Honourable senators, it is not my intention to speak at length, but I do wish to put on record my own objection to the terminology “pluralistic political system”.

As we are all aware, there are areas of the world where there are elections and where there is a one-party system. Obviously, this refers to that situation. Most of those countries are former colonies and had their own indigenous and logical system of development—cultural, social, political or whatever—interrupted by western colonial powers who drew arbitrary boundaries, made arbitrary decisions and interfered in a radical manner with the local development of that society.

No doubt honourable senators opposite, and perhaps on this side, have travelled more extensively in Africa than I have. I have done some travelling in francophone Africa with the AIPLF and more so in anglophone Africa with the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association. I have been in countries where there is a one-party system and I have discussed that with members of Parliament in various African countries. I recall having discussed it with one very distinguished person, Mr. Malecela, a Tanzanian, who was one of the seven eminent persons appointed by the Commonwealth Secretary General along with the Anglican Primate of Canada and five others.

• (1510)

Mr. Malecela was a minister in the Tanzanian government for many years. He was that country's first ambassador to the United Nations. So I use him as an example of a person with whom I have discussed this. I have also discussed it with others in Africa as well.

The point has been made to me—and, while I cannot prove it, it appears reasonable—that in some societies a multi-party system may engender or exacerbate ethnic problems. That leaves me somewhat equivocal on this, because I personally prefer, obviously, a multi-party system; but there are certain countries whose indigenous development has been interrupted by western intrusion, and here we are imposing or making reference to a political system which is largely the product, although not exclusively, of western society. Our political views basically come from Westminster, France and the Continent, and, to me, it appears that it can be interpreted—I do not say it is a fact—as an attempt to impose our political structures on people whose social, cultural and political development have been entirely different. To me, this appears to be the most important criterion. In some of these countries there are nominations and regular elections, and I understand that some nominations are contested and that in many instances incumbents are defeated in nominating conventions.

[Senator MacEachen.]

So there is that area of, for lack of a better term, accountability.

Anyway, I wish to put it on the record that I personally feel the reference to a criterion of a "pluralistic political system" makes it appear that we are attempting to impose upon others what obviously is very good for us, and may be very good in general, but may not be appropriate for all people in all societies at all periods of time.

Senator Stewart: Honourable senators will have noticed that I did not speak at any length on the first motion, the motion for the adoption of the committee report. However, prompted by Senator Ottenheimer's remarks, I should like to say a few things in explanation of the proposed amendments. It is unreasonable to use the word "impose".

Senator Ottenheimer used it at least three times. That is not the intention, I am sure, of the Parliament of Canada. What will happen in the work of this centre is that it will be initiating, encouraging and supporting cooperation between Canada and other countries toward certain ends. Among those ends will be an economic goal, namely, an adequate standard of living. We are not going to impose that. It is going to be encouraged.

The second kind of goal that will be sought will be certain standards in the administration of justice, and I quote:

The rights of persons not to be subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.

I suppose there might be some of us who would be willing to impose that kind of progressive reform if we could, but to impose it is beyond our competence.

The third kind of rights to be encouraged and supported will be political rights, including:

The rights of freedom of opinion and expression and the right to vote and be elected at periodic, genuine elections in pluralistic political systems.

Really, I think Senator Ottenheimer is being overly sensitive to the reaction that may take place in parts of the world to what is happening here today. I doubt that ambassadors will be recalled, or anything like that.

I want to call the attention of senators to another change. The original bill would have confined the operations of the centre to developing countries, but, if these amendments carry, it will be possible for the centre to support programs and activities for the benefit of countries other than developing countries. Because of that change in scope, it was necessary to make a change with regard to the financing of the centre. The financing that is provided in the bill as it now stands focuses on developing areas. The amendment will add a new subclause in clause 28, which will say that:

For the purpose of supporting programs and activities for the benefit of countries other than developing countries, the Centre may, in addition to such moneys as may be appropriated by Parliament for that purpose, receive and use moneys provided to it from sources other than the Government of Canada.

The effect of the two amendments is to make the goals of the centre more precise, focused, and explicit, and to allow the centre to work in countries other than developing countries.

There is also the provision for ways in which the centre may receive money to sustain operations in countries other than developing countries. Taken together, the two amendments constitute a complete package. I recommend them to the Senate.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Do I understand that Senator MacEachen will move some amendments?

Senator MacEachen: Yes. I would be pleased to move the amendment that was circulated earlier. If you indicate to me, Your Honour, that I should read it, I will do so. Otherwise I will move the amendment that has been circulated, which is an amendment to clause 4 and to clause 28. Honourable senators should have a copy. If the amendment motion is put, I might want to say just a word or two about it.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Honourable senators, copies of the amendment were circulated this morning. Should I dispense?

Some Hon. Senators: Dispense.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the report, as amended?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Senator MacEachen: Honourable senators, I have just a word or two about the purpose of the committee in amending clause 4. The objects of the centre are outlined in clause 4 and they are intended to give effect to the rights and freedoms enshrined in the International Bill of Rights. The International Bill of Rights, in turn, is based upon a number of international covenants.

There were two thoughts that certainly came to my mind and possibly to the minds of other members of the committee. These were, first, that the objects were not spelled out sufficiently, and the amendment is an effort to spell out more clearly the objects which otherwise would be found in the international covenants. That was the first thought, and the second thought was that the international covenants cited in the bill are undoubtedly widely accepted throughout the world, but widely ignored by many countries, as we all know. There is lip service to these covenants in many countries, and it was my thought that additional credibility would be given to our statement of objects if they were specified.

• (1520)

All the specifications, as I understand them, are drawn from the international documents, with the exception of "pluralistic political systems."

I may point out that that expression is less extreme from one point of view than a feeling that a number of the members of the committee had that there ought not to be any hesitation in possibly saying in the law that we are interested in promoting Canadian-style human rights and democracy. In other words, what would be the objection to giving an expression to values that we hold in Canada?

It was somewhat disconcerting to me that the minister said in her presentation that it was certainly not the intention of the centre to promote Canadian-style democracy and human rights. That provoked the thought in my mind: whose democracy and human rights, if not Canada's?

We dropped the thought because of some of the considerations which Senator Ottenheimer has raised, but it seems to me that it would not be objectionable to nudge slightly, incrementally, the statement of objects to include the thought that, from our point of view, genuine and periodic elections could be best attained in a pluralistic political system. It is not our intention; it is a thought. What is wrong about exposing that thought in other countries? We know it is resisted, because there are those who believe that democracy can be achieved in a single-party system, as the Soviet Union has attested over the years. Maybe the Soviets themselves are now understanding that pluralism has to be introduced in their society. I think it is a gentle nudge. Certain members of the committee want that to have been a more definite and aggressive nudge, but it is very gentle.

The other point that I think honourable senators ought to be aware of is that the promotion of these objects by the centre is financed from funds provided from the ODA budget, but the financing pertains only to developing countries. There is no funding provided, for example, for any activity in non-developing countries—for example, Poland. An activity by the centre in Poland would not be eligible for funding by the centre, because there are no funds provided, governmentally, for such activities. For example, if the centre wished to support the activities of Solidarity and the emerging pluralism in Poland, there would be no funds available from the centre.

But that is not to say that the centre could not go out and collect funds and find funds elsewhere to assist an effort in Poland or South Africa. That is why, honourable senators, an amendment was made to clause 28 not to appropriate funds for countries other than developing countries. This was to acknowledge and maybe draw attention to the desirability that funds might be appropriated by Parliament to the centre for that purpose. The centre could then receive and use money provided to it from sources other than the Government of Canada.

Those are the points that were raised that led to these amendments. A very interesting sentence is contained in the amendment to clause 4, which states that a major object will be to help reduce the wide gap that sometimes exists between the formal adherence of states to international human rights agreements and the actual human rights practices in states.

It seems to me that it ought to be at least a Canadian objective to disclose the reality in the world that there are states whose spokesmen rise in the international fora to give lip service to human rights, but whose performance falls far short of the actual doctrine in the covenants. What that sentence says is that we know that the discrepancy exists, and maybe it would be a good thing for the centre to try to reduce that by its programs.

[Senator MacEachen.]

Honourable senators, it was an interesting discussion in the committee with wide participation. We are not entirely satisfied that we have produced an ideal bill, but we attempted at least to put into it some of our own thinking.

I should acknowledge that I do appreciate that the office of the Secretary of State for External Affairs was sensitive to the views of the Senate committee and did go a long way to accommodate it, as we accommodated the reservations which the minister's office had about our original report.

Motion agreed to and report adopted.

THIRD READING

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: I understand that the report has already been adopted, as amended, so I shall put the question: When shall this bill, as amended, be read the third time?

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): With leave, now.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Is leave granted, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: With leave of the Senate and notwithstanding rule 45(1)(b), it is moved by the Honourable Senator Doody, seconded by the Honourable Senator Flynn, that this bill, as amended, be read the third time now.

Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Motion agreed to and bill, as amended, read the third time and passed.

● (1530)

ROYAL ASSENT BILL

SECOND READING—ORDER STANDS

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator Doody, seconded by the Honourable Senator Phillips, for the second reading of the Bill S-19, An Act respecting the declaration of Royal Assent by the Governor General in the Queen's name to bills passed by the Houses of Parliament.—(Honourable Senator MacEachen, P.C.)

Hon. Orville H. Phillips: Are you going to let Bill S-19 die?

Hon. Royce Frith (Deputy Leader of the Opposition): I don't know why. Is there going to be an election called tomorrow?

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen (Leader of the Opposition): We will deal with it next week.

Hon. Jacques Flynn: You will have to wait until next week.

Senator Frith: I will consider that. If you do Bill C-144 and have Royal Assent tomorrow, I will definitely consider speaking on that bill, if you want me to.

Order stands.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

SIXTY-SIXTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE ADOPTED

The Senate proceeded to consideration of the sixty-sixth report of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration (Senators' Guidelines), presented in the Senate on September 29, 1988.

Hon. Roméo LeBlanc moved the adoption of the report.
Motion agreed to and report adopted.

INTERNAL ECONOMY, BUDGETS AND ADMINISTRATION

SIXTY-FOURTH REPORT OF COMMITTEE ADOPTED

On the Order:

Resuming the debate on the motion of the Honourable Senator LeBlanc, P.C. (Beauséjour), seconded by the Honourable Senator Haidasz, P.C., for the adoption of the Sixty-Fourth Report of the Standing Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration (allegations against Senator Argue, P.C.), presented in the Senate on 14th September, 1988.—(Honourable Senator Argue, P.C.).

Hon. Hazen Argue: Honourable senators, I wish to speak to this motion. My position on the allegations made against me has been set out on two occasions in some detail: first, on the question of privilege that I raised in the Senate on July 5, 1988, as recorded on pages 3789 and 3790 of the Senate Hansard; and, second, in Part II of the sixty-fourth report of the Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, tabled in the Senate on September 14, 1988.

At this time I wish to thank the committee for including Part II in its sixty-fourth report, which is the explanation I provided on certain items. There are elements in the report with which I am not in agreement; however, I do not believe any useful purpose would be served by dealing with them at this time.

I wish to reiterate that at no time have I knowingly abused my privileges as a senator, and at no time has it been suggested that I received any personal benefit from the use of Senate services or supplies. When the subcommittee recommended that certain sums of money be paid, I accepted their recommendation. Those amounts have been paid. In fact, some payments were made by me before the subcommittee was struck.

I agree that the rules and procedures governing the use of Senate services and supplies should be reviewed. I hope that such a review will produce clearer rules and procedures in this area. I believe it would be of benefit to all members of the Senate to clarify these matters so that in the future there will be clear rules and procedures.

Finally, I deeply regret that the committee believes my conduct has reflected adversely on the Senate. This is not something I ever desired or intended to happen.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: It is moved by the Honourable Senator LeBlanc, seconded by the Honourable Senator Denis, that this report be adopted. Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, to adopt the motion?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Motion agreed to and report adopted.

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

Hon. C. William Doody (Deputy Leader of the Government): I move that all remaining orders stand, except if any honourable senator wishes to speak to any of the items at this time.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Is it agreed, honourable senators?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: May we have the same motion for Inquiries? Is it agreed?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

Hon. Eymard G. Corbin: Honourable senators, with respect to Inquiries, I do not see Senator Marshall rising; therefore, I must conclude that the writ is not prepared to be dropped soon.

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore: Is it your pleasure, honourable senators, that the Senate do now adjourn during pleasure until the call of the bell at approximately four o'clock?

Hon. Senators: Agreed.

The Senate adjourned during pleasure.

At 5.40 the sitting of the Senate was resumed.

INTERNATIONAL CENTRE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENT BILL

CONCURRENCE BY COMMONS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore informed the Senate that a message had been received from the House of Commons to acquaint the Senate that they had agreed to the amendments made by the Senate to Bill C-147, to establish the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development.

ROYAL ASSENT

NOTICE

The Hon. the Speaker pro tempore informed the Senate that the following communication had been received:

RIDEAU HALL

30 September 1988

Sir,

I have the honour to inform you that the Honourable Claire L'Heureux-Dubé, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, in her capacity as Deputy Governor General, will proceed to the Senate Chamber today, the 30th day of September, 1988, at 5.45 p.m., for the purpose of giving Royal Assent to certain Bills.

Yours sincerely,
Anthony P. Smyth
Deputy Secretary, Policy and Program

The Honourable

The Speaker of the Senate

Ottawa

The Senate adjourned during pleasure.

ROYAL ASSENT

The Honourable Claire L'Heureux-Dubé, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, in her capacity as Deputy Governor General, having come and being seated at the foot of the Throne, and the House of Commons having been summoned, and being come with their Deputy Speaker, the Honourable the Deputy Governor General was pleased to give the Royal Assent to the following bills:

An Act to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971 (Bill C-158, Chapter 63, 1988).

An Act to establish the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development (Bill C-147, Chapter 64, 1988).

An Act to revive Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited and to provide for its continuance under the Canada Business Corporations Act (Bill S-21).

The House of Commons withdrew.

The Honourable the Deputy Governor General was pleased to retire.

The sitting of the Senate was resumed.

The Senate adjourned until Monday, October 3, 1988, at 2 p.m.

The Thirty-third Parliament was dissolved by Proclamation of Her Excellency the Governor General on Saturday, October 1, 1988

APPENDIX

(See p. 4540)

LEGAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL AFFAIRS

THIRTY-FOURTH REPORT OF STANDING SENATE
COMMITTEE ON LEGAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL AFFAIRS

FRIDAY, September 30, 1988

The Standing Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs has the honour to present its

THIRTY-FOURTH REPORT

Your Committee, was authorized by the Senate on 19th December, 1986, to examine and report upon the First Report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee, tabled in the Senate on 17th December, 1986 (Sessional Paper No. 332-159).

On 16th July, 1988, your Committee retained the services of the Honourable Jean Le Moyne and asked him for his opinion on the language used in the First Report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee.

The following report was presented to your Committee on 31st August, 1988. The said report with which your Committee concurs, is as follows:

REPORT ON THE DRAFT OFFICIAL
FRENCH VERSION OF CERTAIN
CONSTITUTIONAL ACTS

FOREWORD

In accordance with the mandate entrusted to me, I have examined, strictly from a linguistic perspective, the First report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee responsible for providing the Minister of Justice with a draft official French version of certain constitutional Acts.

I am honoured to table my report to the Standing Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs which is chaired by the Honourable Senator Joan Neiman.

CHRONOLOGY OF EVENTS

1. July 1984: establishment of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee by the Minister of Justice, pursuant to section 55 of the Constitution Act, 1982.
2. November 18, 1986: the said Committee tabled its First Report to the Minister of Justice.
3. December 17, 1986: The First Report was tabled in the Senate.
4. December 19, 1986: the First Report was referred for consideration to the Standing Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs, chaired by Senator Joan Neiman.
5. March 31, 1987: the Honourable Senator Joan Neiman moved that membership on her committee be increased to 15.
6. May 27, 1987: the name of Senator Jean Le Moyne was added to the roster, bringing the membership to 15.
7. June 11, 1987: during a meeting of the Committee, a decision was made to create a five-member sub-committee to examine the First Report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee.
8. June 18, 1987: the sub-committee met for the first (and only) time. In attendance were the Honourable Senators Jacques Flynn, Nathan Nurgitz, Michel Cogger and Jean Le Moyne, along with Messrs Jules Brière, the present chairman of the Committee and R. Bergeron, Q.C., from the Department of Justice, and Mr. Jacques Rousseau from the Library of Parliament. During the meeting, Senator Jacques Flynn was elected to the Chair. Senator Arthur Tremblay was unable to attend.

9. June 28, 1988: a meeting took place between the Honourable Senators Flynn and Tremblay, the Honourable Jean Le Moyne, Mr. Robert Bergeron, Q.C. and Mr. Alexandre Covacs from the Department of Justice and the members of the Constitutional Drafting Committee.
10. July 16, 1988: the Standing Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs retained the services of the Honourable Jean Le Moyne and asked him for his opinion on the language used in the First Report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee.
11. August 31, 1988: the Honourable Jean Le Moyne tabled his report to the Standing Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs.

OVERALL IMPRESSIONS

I was apprised of the First Report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee on June 18, 1987 while still a Senator, that is at the first meeting of the sub-committee, as noted in the chronology of events. The sub-committee was scheduled to meet again in the fall and to undertake at that time a study of the report, based on our individual annotated copies. However, no further meetings were convened and I did not hear anything more about the report until I reached retirement age on February 17 last.

In the interim, I had read the report several times and begun to annotate it. How fortunate for me, since the contract I entered into with the Standing Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs contained deadlines best measured in hours rather than days. I had already completed the most important part of my work, and could thus devote the bulk, so to speak, of my official "time" to satisfying my curiosity about linguistic details. Circumstances, however, precluded my going over the draft version with a fine-tooth comb.

Parliament Hill would be a heavenly place if bills, reports, speeches, press releases and other such documents were written in as polished a fashion as the constitutional acts under consideration. That these texts were well written came as no surprise, given the reputation of the draftsmen and the exceptional competence of Mr. Alexandre Covacs, a legal linguist with the Department of Justice. My admiration for these draftsmen increases when I consider the linguistic and historical restrictions with which they had to contend. As a writer who has taken on the arduous task of revision more than once, I know that such restrictions and limitations are difficult to deal with.

The drafting committee has provided clear explanations in its foreword and notes. After reading the text carefully, one should, therefore, defer to its authority.

The text under consideration is not a translation, but rather an example of parallel drafting. What was originally conceived and drafted in English has been reworked and expressed in French in a style that, while technically accurate, reflects nevertheless the genius of the language. The result is an example of genuine bilingualism.

Which brings me to an insoluble problem. My mandate is clear, namely to give my opinion only of the French version of the revised acts. However, is it possible to separate the two versions to the point where style and substance, letter and spirit, are impervious to one another? Surely not, since constitutional law is expressed in clear terms. It enjoys its own language, indeed it is a language unto its own. On reading a piece of legislation, the layman can say with relative certainty whether that act is well written or, conversely, poorly written. However, it is always possible for some legal or constitutional subtlety to escape his understanding. The uninitiated cannot claim to have the technical expertise to appreciate every little nuance. In a field where the most subtle details are the norm, my comments suffer from literary vagueness. Hardly surprising, but yet no less perturbing to me.

OBSERVATIONS

Once again, the French in the first Report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee seems to me to be impeccable. In the following pages I will simply be commenting on terms, expressions and structures that struck me because they do not jibe with my own idiosyncrasies or because they are unfamiliar to me.

At the meeting of June 28, 1988 with the Honourable Senators Flynn and Tremblay, Messrs Bergeron and Covacs noted that the Constitutional Drafting Committee would find it extremely helpful to have me comment spontaneously on the French version of the text. In other words, they wanted me to give the English text no more than a passing glance. Thus I have tried to keep my observations simple.

To enable the reader to refer to the text as easily as possible, I have usually indicated only the page and the line, with the paragraph indicated where the lines are not numbered.

p. 3a, para. 2, line 4
p. 3a, para. 3, line 1

"experts" -- slight doubt about this word. My instinct would have been to write "spécialistes". Would "autorités" have been possible? Is the meaning commonly given to "expert" really accurate? (cf. Daviault)

p. 8a, line 9

"à" -- three times in succession (awkward but probably unavoidable, since it appears in section 55 of the Constitution Act, 1982)

p. 9, Schedule (title):

"Actualisation de la Constitution" -- as a translation for "Modernization" this seems forced to me, because of the (French) word's philosophical connotation (to pass from potentially to act). Even the Petit Robert, whose relaxed attitude is so useful in tight semantic corners, does not give "modernisation" as one of the meanings for "actualisation"; nor does Harrap's ("Actualiser", but not "actualisation"), the Larousse Encyclopédique or the Dictionnaire encyclopédique Quillet. I would settle for "Modernisation" (and "moderniser"), along with Littre and its fellows: "donner un caractère moderne, une tournure moderne" (Littre). Littre even includes "moderniser" ("to modern"), "moderné" ("moderned") (architectural terms): "restaurer pour de nouveaux usages, et dans un goût moderne, un ancien édifice", "un édifice moderné" !!! "Actualisation" (and "actuation" -- psych. and mech.) also has the meaning of making effective; in psychoanalysis, the act of reliving a scene from the past, a trauma of some kind, for example; projection of fantasies; etc. I vote for "modernisation".

p.13a

"assemblée législative" (see below same page)

p.17, lines 28, 29

p. 68, lines 8, 9

p. 86, line 2

p. 95, line 2

p. 65, lines 19, 20

p. 69, line 2

p. 90, lines 1, 2

"réunis en Parlement" -- I would like to be reassured about this expression (I did not have the needed instruments to check into it myself).

p. 17, lines 34, 35

"également" -- from yokels to U-speakers, everybody misuses this adverb; but the fact that the error is so common does not in my view justify a usage that flouts logic. We must be discriminating, or we end up very quickly with nonsense like "Madeleine se tenait également debout près du bar" ("Madeleine was standing equally beside the bar"), or "Étaient également présents, outre le défunt ..." ("were equally present, besides the deceased ..."). One stands or one sits, one is present or one is not present. Exactly what meaning is intended here for "également"? I suggest "aussi", "de la même façon", "de même", "en outre", "de façon égale", depending on the case.

Robert, Grévisse and other reference works rely too heavily on the idea of precedents. They treat French grammar (gravely ill for a long time now) as though it were the Common Law. It was all very well for Proust and his ilk to use "surtout que" and "malgré que"; I would never do so. I would not want to find myself obliged to write (seriously), as Raoul Ponchon does:

"Malgré qu'il pleuve, je pars à Gif, nous deux mon chien, surtout qu'il est malade, le pauvre Azor ...".

p. 27, line 9

The return of "également" -- could it not be changed to "choisi lui aussi ..." or "choisi de même parmi les députés"?

p. 33, line 1

And again "également" -- why not the holy simplicity of "le sont aussi ..."?

p. 19, line 21

"législatures"-- the words "législature" and "assemblée législative" recur frequently, sometimes with a capital "L" and "A", sometimes without, depending on the context. I did not of course expect to find anything suspicious about this, but since there is on-going general confusion about "legislature" and "assemblée législative", I am including a list of all the instances where these expressions appear:

p. 13 a, lines 28, 30, 31

p. 21, lines 36

p. 26 lines 26

p. 31, lines 16, 35

p. 32, lines 12, 15, 23, 32

p. 33, lines, 20, 29, 33, 39, 43

p. 34, lines, 1, 6, 9, 11, 30, 35, 37

p. 35, lines, 7, 9, 10, 15, 20, 27

p. 36, lines 3, 7, 12, 32, 35

p. 37, line 7

p. 38, lines, 19, 25, 27

p. 40, lines, 15, 36

p. 41, lines, 23, 25

p. 42, lines, 39, 42

p. 45, line, 10

p. 46, line, 42

p. 47, line, 1

p. 48, lines, 6, 20, 41

p. 49, lines, 6, 9, 25

p. 50, lines, 15, 20, 23

p. 51, line, 14

p. 52, line, 21

p. 59, no. 8

p. 62, lines, 29, 34

p. 63, lines, 22, 25
 p. 72, line, 14
 p. 74, line, 34
 p. 75, line, 8
 p. 76, line, 14
 p. 82, lines, 7, 35, 38
 p. 88, line, 30
 p. 90, lines, 22, 25
 p. 92, line, 21
 p. 95, line, 24

p. 27, lines 11, 12

"46. Le président dirige les débats de la Chambre des communes." English text: "The Speaker shall preside at all Meetings of the House of Commons."

In a letter to Senator Joan Neiman, dated April 21, 1987 (see Appendix A), the Honourable Eugene Forsey

(1) deplores the absence of anglophone draftsmen versed in the British Common Law on the Drafting Committee.

It should be borne in mind that the Committee's mandate was not to translate from the English but rather to draft in French. Furthermore, the francophone draftsmen had the benefit of the advice of English-speaking jurists colleagues of Mr. Bergeron at the Department of Justice. I would venture to recommend that the Subcommittee hear on this matter Mr. Jules Brière, Chairman of the Committee, and if need be Messrs Bergeron and Covacs. It would in any case be very interesting to see how the two groups of draftsmen proceed, from start to finish. There is no limit to what is worth knowing about the originality of a process that the Swiss (Mr Bergeron tells me) are seriously thinking of imitating.

(2) Mr Forsey also expresses concern about the passage cited above. Wrongly, I must say. To put everyone's mind at rest, here are the relevant definitions from Littré:

"Président: celui qui préside une assemblée, une réunion, un tribunal, et dirige les discussions, les débats, etc."

"Présider: occuper le premier rang dans une assemblée, avec droit d'y maintenir l'ordre et d'en régler la discussion."

"To preside" thus definitely means to direct the debate or discussion, while of course abstaining from any partisan interference. It is not for nothing that we call one Speaker or one chairman good and another unsatisfactory.

p. 28, lines 8, 16

"le recensement en cause" -- allusion to "chaque recensement décennal", p. 27, 11, 34, 35. A person may be "en cause" (party to a suit, incriminated - Larousse, Quillet), but a census? Can a census be implicated, incriminated, guilty? This use of "en cause" makes me think of the abuse of "impliquer" and "implication". For example: "s'impliquer dans l'action politique" ("implicated ((rather than "involved")) in politics"), "une constante implication dans les oeuvres de bienfaisance" ("ongoing implication ((rather than "involvement")) in good works"). The legal connotation of "en cause" and "implication" is very strong. Moreover, "implication" is also (not equally!) a term in logic. For a census to be "en cause" we would have to break through quite a thick wall of meaning. The phrase could read instead, "le dernier recensement", or "le dit..." or "le susdit recensement", or "le recensement le plus récent", or "le dernier recensement décennal", any of which would protect the poor census from the threat of imprisonment ...

p. 30, line 40

p. 34, line 24

"régistraires" -- just for the fun of it: in ch. VII of Pantagruel, where Rabelais is going through the catalogue of the wonderful books in the Library of Saint-Victor: "Les pétarrades des bullistes, copistes, scripteurs, abrégiateurs, référendaires et dataires, compilées par Regis" "The Insertions of bullists, copyists, writers, epitomizers, notaries, and reporters, compiled by Regis"). Before I checked, I could have sworn that "les régistraires" also had their crackerades ...

p. 35, line 10

"législation" -- by this is meant "the Law" as a whole rather than one piece of legislation, presumably? This word is universally misused.

p. 40, lines 15, 16 (see Appendix B, letter from the Honourable Eugene Forsey to Senator Joan Neiman, dated April 5, 1987)

"93. In and for each Province the Legislature may exclusively make Laws in relation to Education, subject and according to the following Provisions: ..."

"93. La législature de chaque province a, dans les limites et pour les besoins de celle-ci, compétence exclusive pour légiférer en matière d'éducation, compte tenu des dispositions suivantes: ..."

I remain convinced that the French version of this passage is perfectly correct, which Mr Forsey himself acknowledges at the end of his letter of April 21, while unfortunately at the same time referring to the French as "the new translation".

pp. 40, 40a, line 29 and Explanatory Note -- (just for the fun of it)

"syndic" -- Littre: "Celui qui est élu pour prendre soin des intérêts d'un corps (body), d'une réunion de créanciers, etc."

p. 72a, Explanatory Note, line 6

"la province en cause" -- no doubt it will have to be imprisoned along with the census on p. 28 of the Report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee and p. 13 (? 11?) of this report. One might, with the approval of Littre, dare to substitute "intéressée" or "concernée" or "touchée", although these past participles are not strictly honourable. But in no language are all usages strictly legitimate. "En question" might be a substitute, or if necessary an explanatory periphrase might be inserted. "En cause" still sticks in my gorge.

JACQUES FLYNN

Acting Chairman

APPENDIX (A)

Room 677-F
The Senate,
April 21, 1987

Dear Senator,

I have now secured a copy of the First report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee, and there are two things about it that make me uneasy, and make me thankful that your Committee is going to look it over.

First, there is no English-speaking person on the Committee. Of course, its job was to produce French versions, and that obviously meant that the members should be heavily French. But the job was also to produce French versions of Acts written in English, and it seems to me that it would have been wise to have one or two people, proficient in French, yes, but also familiar with English idiom and English legal terms in a way that few French-speaking people are likely to be. I'll give an example in a moment.

Second, and perhaps more important: I wonder if any of the Committee have had a training in the English Common Law. It ought to be possible to find Common Law lawyers who know French well. There must be many who have graduated from McGill, and, I suppose, the University of Ottawa.

As an example of the pitfalls which measures of this sort might avoid, I call your attention to the French translation of section 46 of the Constitution Act, 1867: "Le président dirige les débats de la Chambre des communes". That seems to me a dangerously inaccurate translation of: "The Speaker shall preside at all Meetings of the House of Commons". The English says nothing about the debates, and it certainly does not say that the Speaker shall "direct" the debates.

Now this may reflect only my limited knowledge of French. Perhaps it is a perfectly good translation, even the ideal translation. But I think it may need looking at.

There may well be other examples. I am, in any event, not competent to say much about such matters. But someone who is ought to go over the whole thing very carefully. Failure to do this might lead to some curious tangles, where two versions, equally authoritative, say different things.

Yours sincerely,

Eugene Forsey

The new translation seems to look after the point I raised about section 93 of the Act of 1867.

APPENDIX (B)

Room 277-F
The Senate
April 5, 1987

Dear Senator:

I see, by the Senate Hansard of March 31, that your Committee is to report on the first report of the French Constitutional Drafting Committee.

I hope it will look at section 93 of the Act of 1867.

In the Revised Statutes 1970, it begins, in French: "Dans chaque province..."; as a translation of "In and for each province". In the old BNA Act and Selected Statutes, it was always: "Dans et pour chaque province..."; as it should be.

I called attention to this when I was in the Senate, but without result.

Henry Hicks, and the late Alex Gorry, emphasized the possible importance of "for each province", and, therefore of "pour chaque province". Ask Henry! (Ask yourself!)

Sincerely,

Eugene Forsey

ABBREVIATIONS

1r, 2r, 3r	= first, second, third reading
amds	= amendments
com	= committee
div	= division
m	= motion
neg	= negated
qu	= question
ref	= referred
rep	= report
r.a.	= Royal Assent

Acts passed during the Session

PUBLIC ACTS

Chapter		Bill No.
	Assented to November 5, 1986
44	Income Tax Act amendment	C-11
	Assented to November 18, 1986
45	Canada Petroleum Resources Act	C-5
46	Maintenance of Ports Operations Act, 1986	C-24
	Assented to November 27, 1986
47	Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation Act	C-27
48	Income Tax Conventions Act	S-2
	Assented to December 19, 1986
49	Railway Act amendment	C-4
50	Senate and House of Commons Act amendment	C-20
51	Coastal Fisheries Protection Act amendment	C-26
52	Farm Improvement Loans Act amendment	C-31
53	Fisheries Improvement Loans Act amendment	C-32
54	Excise Tax Act and Excise Act amendment	C-14
55	Income Tax Act and a related Act amendment	C-23
56	Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971 amendment	C-16
57	Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization Act	C-25
58	Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax and Income Tax Act amendment and to repeal the Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax Act	C-17
59	Immigration Act, 1976 amendment	C-34
60	Salaries Act amendment	C-36
61	Appropriation Act No. 3, 1986-87	C-29
62	Appropriation Act No. 4, 1986-87	C-35
	Assented to March 25, 1987
1	National Archives of Canada Act	C-7
2	Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act amendment	C-12
3	Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Act	C-6
4	Radio Act amendment	C-3
5	Borrowing Authority Act, 1986-87 (No.2)	C-40
6	Appropriation Act No.5, 1986-87	C-47
	Assented to March 26, 1987
7	Canada Shipping Act amendment	C-39
8	Territorial Lands Act amendment	C-43
9	Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon Assets Disposal Authorization Act	C-45
10	Appropriation Act No. 1, 1987-88	C-48

Acts passed during the Session—Cont'd

PUBLIC ACTS—Cont'd

Chapter		Bill No.
Assented to March 31, 1987
11	Appropriation Act No. 2, 1987-88.....	C-49
Assented to April 1, 1987
12	Telelobe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture Act	C-38
Assented to April 14, 1987
13	Criminal Code (torture) Act amendment	C-28
14	Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-Secondary Education and Health Contributions Act, 1977 amendment.....	C-44
Assented to May 28, 1987
15	Softwood Lumber Products Export Charge Act	C-37
16	Export and Import Permits Act amendment	C-57
Assented to June 25, 1987
17	Unemployment Insurance Benefit Entitlement Adjustments (Pension Payments) Act	C-50
18	Canadian Exploration and Development Incentive Program Act.....	C-59
19	Bell Canada Act	C-13
20	Appropriation Act No. 3, 1987-88.....	C-65
Assented to June 30, 1987
21	Judges Act, Federal Court Act and Tax Court of Canada Act amendment	C-41
22	Shipping Conferences Exemption Act, 1987	C-21
23	Financial Institutions and Deposit Insurance System Amendment Act.....	C-42
24	Criminal Code and Canada Evidence Act amendment	C-15
25	Veterans Appeal Board Act.....	C-66
26	Financial Institutions Acts amendment	C-56
27	Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts Act.....	C-62
28	Small Businesses Loans Act amendment	C-63
29	Customs Tariff and Duties Relief Act amendment.....	C-69
30	Hazardous Products Act amendment.....	C-70
31	Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans Act	C-78
32	Customs Act amendment.....	C-80
33	Food and Drugs Act amendment	S-6
Assented to August 28, 1987
34	National Transportation Act, 1987	C-18
35	Motor Vehicle Transport Act, 1987	C-19
36	Maintenance of Railway Operations Act, 1987	C-85
Assented to September 16, 1987
37	Criminal Code, Immigration Act, 1976 and Citizenship Act amendment	C-71
Assented to October 8, 1987
38	Canagrex Dissolution Act.....	C-2
39	Bretton Woods and Related Agreements Act amendment.....	C-68
Assented to October, 16, 1987
40	Postal Services Continuation Act, 1987	C-86

PUBLIC ACTS—Cont'd

Acts passed during the Session—Cont'd

Chapter		Assented to November 19, 1987	Bill No.
41	Patent Act amendment		C-22
42	Supreme Court Act amendment		C-53
		Assented to December 17, 1987
43	Royal Canadian Mint Act and Currency Act amendment		C-46
44	Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971 amendment		C-90
45	Pension Act, War Veterans Allowance Act and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War Act amendment		C-100
46	Income Tax Act, Canada Pension Plan and Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971 amendment		C-64
47	Judges Act amendment		C-88
48	Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985 Act		C-94
49	Customs Tariff		C-87
50	Excise Tax Act amendment		C-101
51	Canada Labour Code amendment		C-97
52	Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited Act amendment		C-98
53	Citizenship Act (period of residence) amendment		C-254
54	Appropriation Act No. 4, 1987-88		C-95
		Assented to January 20, 1988
1	Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations Act		C-106
		Assented to February 4, 1988
2	Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment Act		C-104
3	Appropriation Act No. 5, 1987-88		C-108
		Assented to March 22, 1988
4	Corporations and Labour Unions Returns Act amendment		C-91
5	Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation Act,		C-96
6	Currency Act amendment		C-99
7	Borrowing Authority Act, 1988-89		C-109
		Assented to March 29, 1988
8	Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971 amendment		C-116
9	Appropriation Act No. 6, 1987-88		C-119
10	Appropriation Act No. 1, 1988-89		C-120
		Assented to April, 27, 1988
11	Emergency Preparedness Act		C-76
12	Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) Act		C-125
		Assented to May 25, 1988
13	Animal Pedigree Act		C-67
14	Customs Tariff Act amendment		C-118
		Assented to June 8, 1988
15	Copyright Act amendment		C-60
16	Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement Act amendment		C-102
17	Western Economic Diversification Act		C-113
		Assented to June 14, 1988
18	Excise Tax Act and Excise Act amendment		C-117
19	Cape Breton Development Corporation Act amendment		C-127

Acts passed during the Session—Cont'd

PUBLIC ACTS—Cont'd

Chapter

Bill No.

Assented to June 28, 1988

20	Tobacco Products Control Act	C-51
21	Non-Smokers' Health Act	C-204
22	Canadian Environmental Protection Act	C-74
23	Indian Act (designated lands) amendment	C-115
24	Customs Tariff (code 9956) Act amendment	C-135
25	Appropriation Act No.2, 1988-89	C-138

Assented to July 7, 1988

26	National Transportation Act, 1987 amendment	C-131
27	Canada Agricultural Products Act	C-141

Assented to July 21, 1988

28	Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation Act	C-75
29	Emergencies Act	C-77
30	Criminal Code (victims of crime) Act amendment	C-89
31	Canadian Multiculturalism Act	C-93
32	National Housing Act and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation Act amendments	C-111
33	Canada Labour Code Act amendment	C-124
34	Canada Exploration Incentive Program Act amendment	C-137
35	Immigration Act, 1976 amendment	C-55
36	Immigration Act, 1976 and Criminal Code amendment	C-84

Assented to July 18, 1988

37	Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters Act	C-58
38	Official Languages Act	C-72
39	Indian Lands Agreement (1986) Act	C-73
40	Railway Safety Act	C-105
41	Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture Act	C-121
42	Bretton Woods and Related Agreements Act amendment	C-126
43	Electoral Boundaries Readjustment (Chapleau) Act	C-308

Assented to August 18, 1988

44	Air Canada Public Participation Act	C-129
45	Western Grain Stabilization Act amendment	C-132
46	Canada Grain Act amendment	C-112
47	Canadian Wheat Board Act amendment	C-92
48	National Parks Act amendment	C-30
49	Quebec Courts Act amendment	C-145
50	Government Organization Act, Atlantic Canada, 1987	C-103

Assented to September 13, 1988

51	Criminal Code, Food and Drugs Act and Narcotic Control Act amendment	C-61
52	Indian Act (death rules) amendment	C-150
53	Lobbyists Registration Act	C-82
54	National Capital Act amendment	C-153
55	Income Tax and Related Acts amendment	C-139
56	Canadian International Trade Tribunal Act amendment	C-110
57	Indian Act (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) amendment	C-123
58	Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse Act	C-148
59	Blue Water Bridge Authority Act	C-210
60	Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) amendment	C-264

Assented to September 22, 1988

61	Tax Court of Canada Act amendment	C-146
----	---	-------

PUBLIC ACTS—Cont'dActs passed during the Session—Cont'dChapterBill No.Assented to September 22, 1988—Cont'd*

62	Heritage Railway Station Protection Act	C-205
----	---	-------

Assented to September 30, 1988

63	Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971 amendment	C-158
64	International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development Act	C-147

LOCAL AND PRIVATE ACTS*Assented to December 18, 1986*

64	Alliance Nationale Consolidated Act, 1945	S-3
----	---	-----

Assented to June 30, 1987

55	Windsor-Detroit Tunnel Act	S-11
----	----------------------------------	------

Assented to November 19, 1987

56	Yellowknife Electric Ltd. Act	S-10
----	-------------------------------------	------

Assented to December 17, 1987

57	Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society Act	S-14
----	---	------

Assented to July 21, 1988

66	Montreal Trust Company of Canada Act	S-13
----	--	------

Assented to September 30, 1988

67	Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited	S-21
----	---	------

"A People Apart—Natives in Saskatoon", special newspaper report, 176, 205, 267, 509

Aboriginal rights, 206

Education, 178, 206

Health situation, 179

Impact of white culture, 267

Incarceration rates, 179

Integration difficulties, 267

Inuit language difficulties re technology, 269

Media approach, 182

Native environmental knowledge, 268

Native youth, 182

Poverty, 179

Saskatoon Star-Phoenix, quotes, 177

Self-government, 180, 205

Senate legislative right re Indians and Indian lands, 207

Speakers: Senators

Adams, Willie, 267

Buckwold, Sidney L., 176

Marchand, Len, 181, 205

Abbott, Hon. Douglas Charles, P.C., (deceased Mar. 17/87) Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada (retired), tributes, 628, 665

Aboriginal peoples

Constitution, entrenchment of right to self-government, 436

Draft agreement, distribution of powers, 789

Failure of First Ministers' Conference to reach agreement, definition of "self-government", 785

Establishment of models of self-government north of 60, 786

First Ministers' Conference, March, 1987, treaty Indian representation, 673

Statement by Deputy Leader of Government, 675

Inuit of western Arctic land claims settlement, request for investigation of disbursement of funds, 1643, 1872

Leaked document, contents, government position, 3334

Micmac Treaty, meeting with government, 626

Native Economic Development Program

Inclusion of primary resource industries, government action, 488, 585

Native land claims, government policy, 235, 294

Post-secondary education

Courses on reserves, level of funding, 761, 788

Government support of outreach programs, 787, 961

Government policy, 359, 395

National forum, aboriginal representation, 788

Student assistance programs, 1091, 1339

Inadequacy, 1643

Self-government and native land claims, government policy, 4175

Services and recognition of rights, government policy, role of provinces, 3989

See also Constitution

Abortion

Borowski appeal to Supreme Court of Canada

Government request for delay, government legislative action, 4044

Lack of grounds, intervention by REAL Women, reason for government inaction, 3754

Equal access in provinces, decision of British Columbia re funding, 2654

Judgment of Supreme Court of Canada, government action, 2634

Rights of the unborn

Government policy, 3328

Government position, 2655

Introduction of legislation, 2655, 2981, 3101

Government accommodation with church leaders, 3283

Abortion—Cont'd

Rights of the unborn—Cont'd

Introduction of legislation—Cont'd

Government inconsistency, form of protection, 3285

Opportunity for free vote, government position, 3283

Report and draft legislation prepared for Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops, request for tabling, 3285

Role of the Senate in consideration of question, 3285

See also Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16

Adams, Hon. Willie

"A People Apart—Natives in Saskatoon", special newspaper report, 267

Impact of white culture, 267

Integration difficulties, 267

Inuit language difficulties re technology, 269

Native environmental knowledge, 268

Arctic sovereignty

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, relationship with, qu, 2320

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 549

Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4047

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3195

People of the territories, 3195

Powers of the provinces, 3196

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2342, 2470, 2861, 3012

Native Economic Program, qu, 1510

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

13th report, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3436

Territorial Lands bill C-43, 771

Forestry, 771

Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, 3224

Future oil exploration, 3224

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne

Consideration of Speech from the Throne, 9; termination of debate, 15

Motion for Address in reply, Hon. Michel Cogger, 22; seconded, Hon. Efstathios William Barootes, 24; Address in reply adopted, 257

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 253

Atkins, Norman, 171

Balfour, R. James, 251

Barootes, Efstathios William, 24

Bosa, Peter, 170

Cogger, Michel, 22

Croll, David A., 82

Doyle, Richard J., 202

Graham, B. Alasdair, 248

Hays, Daniel, 112

Hicks, Henry D., 125

MacDonald, Finlay, 110

MacEachen, Allan J., 36

Macquarrie, Heath, 121

Murray, Lowell, 44

Nurgitz, Nathan, 87

Robertson, Brenda, 129

Rowe, Frederick W., 148

Simard, Jean-Maurice, 152

Sinclair, Ian, 107

Steuart, D. G., 30

Adjournment

See Senate

Aerospace

Establishment of national agency, 4506

Afghanistan

See Canada-U.S.S.R. relations

Agriculture

Alberta, drought relief program

Criteria for qualification, 4213, 4238, 4462

Signing of agreement, 3864, 3921

Acid rain, effect on maple syrup production in Quebec, government action, 4260, 4262, 4490

Breeding herds in drought-stricken areas, dispersal of, tax deferral on livestock sales, 4174, 4223

Exclusion of British Columbia cattlemen from provision, 4465, 4478, 4542

British Columbia, withdrawal from marketing boards, 1880, 1885

Deficiency payments to western grain farmers

Delay in payment of second instalment, 958, 1057, 1175

1987 crop year, 1248, 1300, 1338, 1756, 1873, 2318

Government action, 1844, 1867, 1953, 2233

Request for answer, 1476, 2124

Drought relief program, enhancement, 4503

Eastern potato farmers, commitment by former minister, 4465

Farm Credit Corporation loans, moratorium, 527, 569

Request for answer, 566

Farm credit crisis

Assistance payments, request for information on, 2547

Discussions between government and banks, 958, 1057

Government action, 602, 851, 872

Request for clarification of delayed answer, 875

Farm debt, government action, 567

Financial assistance to producers, request for information, 2380

Government assistance, federal-provincial discussions, 16, 76

Grain, 1987-88 crop year

Decline in prices, government relief measures, 1642, 1872

Initial price, 584

Level of payment, government action, 1051, 1088

Grain, 1988-89 crop year

Initial payment, 2882, 3069, 3100

Request for answer, 3222, 3236

Request for additional information, 3286

Grain handlers' strike-lockout, progress of negotiations, 18

Interest-free loans to Ford Motor Company, request for comparable treatment for farmers, 555, 908

Potato industry

Inspection fees, request for reduction, 1871

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island

Effect of imposition of excise tax on potato chips, 1396

Stabilization payments for 1986 crop year, 1845

Prince Edward Island, government assistance, 3585, 3714

Subsidy payment for 1985 crop year, government action, 1871, 1954

West, effect of imposition of excise tax on red potato, 1397

Prince Rupert grain handlers' strike, current situation, 2382, 2442

Government action, 2319

Special Grains Program

Request for expediting of payments, 1316, 1580

Sugar-beet industry, government action, 959

Sugar-beet processing plant, Winnipeg, Manitoba, closing, 907

Tobacco farmers in southwestern Ontario, plight of

Agenda item at meeting of ministers of agriculture, government action, 3988, 4132

Government assistance, 3798, 4130

United States subsidies on grain exports, Canada-U.S. consultations, 2547

Viability of sector, government policy, 605

Agriculture—Cont'd

Western Canada, drought conditions

Effect on price of bread, 3795, 4131

Efficacy and propriety of government recommendations and action, 3796

Government assistance, 3265, 3337, 3349, 3673, 3710, 3755, 4365, 4462

Herd maintenance program, 3711

Meeting of ministers of agriculture, government action, 3462, 3472

Western grain farmers, government assistance, 35, 55

Basis of payment, 243

Western Grain Stabilization Program, final payment, 4366, 4462

Wheat

Effect of deficiency payment on two-price system, 336

U.S. subsidized exports to China, effect on Canadian farmers, government action, 423

See also Grain Western Grain Stabilization

Agriculture and Forestry, Standing Senate Committee

Authority to engage services, 668, 713

Authority to hear witnesses, 670

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3489

Canagrex dissolution, subject matter of Bill C-2, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118

Farm finance, authority to conduct study, 936, 969

Extension of deadline for report, 2380, 2881

Membership, 117

Prairie grain advance payments, subject matter of Bill C-12, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 231

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, territorial lands, subject matter of Bill C-43, tabled, 760

See Journals of the Senate

3rd, supplementary budget re study of farm finance, 1195, 1325

See appendix p. 1209

4th, Canagrex dissolution, subject matter of Bill C-2, tabled, 1336

See appendix p. 1365

5th, Canagrex Dissolution bill C-2, rep with observations, 1876

6th, "Financing the Family Farm to the Year 2000", tabled, 3252, 3351

Assistance to develop better management information, 3354

Banks' unwillingness to share costs of past credit errors, 3356

"Decoupling" concept, 3353, 3357

Farm Credit Corporation, 3357

Farm credit crisis, 3354

Interest-relief scheme, 3352

Policy to ensure lending institution capability to judge quality of loans, 3352

7th, Animal Pedigree bill C-67, rep without amdt, 3317

8th, Western Canada, drought conditions, 3509, 3564, 3597, 3631

Market deterioration, 3598

Personal stress on farmers, 3632

Program to assist with transportation costs of forage, water and livestock, 3564, 3598

Screenings, use for cattle feed, 3632

Seeding, 3632

Sell-off of herds, tax problem, 3564

9th, Western Grain Stabilization bill C-132, without amdt, 4174

10th, Canada Grain bill C-112, without amdt, 4174

11th, Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, with comments, 4198

12th, "Canadian Regulatory Process for Pesticides", 4258, 4363, 4376

Confusion re involvement of three departments and ministers, 4377

Agriculture and Forestry, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'dReports—Cont'd

12th, "Canadian Regulatory Process for Pesticides"—Cont'd

Pest Control Products Act problems, 4376

Review and licensing processes, 4363

See appendix p. 4284

Souris River, Saskatchewan, m to authorize study of granting of federal licence, 4465, 4480

Carried on div, 4482

Effects for downstream users, 4481

Transfer from Qu'Appelle River, 4481

Urgency, 4481

Territorial lands, subject matter of Bill C-43, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 620

Agriculture, western Canada drought conditions, motion to refer to committee, 3386, 3454

Action under Bill C-77, 3455

Brood cow herds, 3456

Erosion of topsoil, 3456

Forage growth, 3459

Herd maintenance program, 3458

Situation worse than 1930s, 3455

Taxation requirement on forced sell-out of herds, 3458

Waterholes, 3457

Zero rainfall, 3458

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 3458

Buckwold, Sidney L., 3460

Croll, David A., 3457

Doody, C. William, 3457

Macquarrie, Heath, 3456

Marchand, Len, 3457

Olson, H.A., 3454

Agriculture, need for comprehensive financial support program for grain producers, inquiry, 2380, 2506

Extension of programs, 2508

Farm Debt Review Boards, 2507, 2509

Special Grains Program, 2507

Western Grains Stabilization Plan levy, 2508

Speakers: Senators

Barootes, Efsthios William, 2508

Olson, H.A., 2506

Air Canada

Future of crown corporation, 167

Labour dispute, current situation, 2302, 2319, 2382, 2491

Indexing of pensions, 2243, 2291

Winnipeg, Manitoba, reduction in operations, 337

Air Canada public participation

Aeronautics Act, 4095

Capital requirement choices, 4094

Commercial crown corporations, 4094

Competition, 4094

Deregulation, 4094

Maintenance, 4098

Partial privatization, 4096

Rights of employees, 4096

Service to remote areas, 4094

Speakers: Senators

Kelly, William M., 4093

Sinclair, Ian, 4098

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4093; ref to com, 4098; rep without amdt but with comments, 4171; 3r, 4189; r.a., 4203

Air disaster

Ramstein Air Base, West Germany, collision of Italian Air Force demonstration team aircraft, condolences, 4211

Alberta

See Agriculture

Health and Welfare

Official Languages

Olympic Winter Games

Visitors

"All we, like sheep, have strayed...", 297

Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945

Amalgamation with Industrial Life Insurance Company, 168

Speakers: Senators

Cogger, Michel, 168

Frith, Royce, 169

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945 bill S-3. 1r, 121; 2r, 168; ref to com, 169; rep with amds, 232, 247; 3r, 266; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 288; r.a., 415

Amendments, observations or recommendations in or re committee reports

Agriculture and Forestry Committee report

8th, Western Canada, drought conditions, with recommendations, 3509

Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, with comments, 4171

See appendix p. 4180

Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945 bill S-3, with amds, 232, 247

Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation, subject matter of bill C-27, with observations, 269

Borrowing Authority, 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, with comments, 736

Canada Shipping bill C-39, with comments, 736

Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse bill C-143, with comments, 4378

Canadian Environmental Protection bill C-74, with amds, 3653

Canadian Exploration Incentive Program bill C-137, with amds, 4016

Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, with comments, 4198

Canagrex Dissolution bill C-2, with observations, 1876

Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, with amds, 1890

Copyright bill C-60, rep on message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amds, with recommendations, 3509, 3550

See appendix p. 3545

Copyright bill C-60, with amds, 2930, 3243, 3254, 3267

See appendix p. 2936

Criminal Code and Canada Evidence, subject matter of Bill C-15, with comments and recommendations, 1457

See appendix p. 1464

Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, with comments, 4237

See appendix p. 4253

Criminal Code (victims of crime) bill C-89, with comments, 3919

Emergencies bill C-77, rep of Committee of the Whole, with amds, 3750

Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (B), with observations, 2160

See appendix p. 2174

Amendments, observations or recommendations in or re committee reports—Cont'd

- Heritage Railway Stations Protection bill C-205, with comments, 4378
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, with amdts and observations, 3349
 - Message from Commons, accepting, rejecting and adding some amdts, 3707
 - See appendix p. 3361
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, revised message from Commons, with recommendations, 4057
 - See appendix p. 4079
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with 13 amdts, 2374
 - See appendix p. 2402
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amdts, 2974
 - See appendix p. 3024
- Immigration 1976, bill C-84, message from Commons, with recommendation, 4057
- Income Tax and Related Act, bill C-139, with comments, 4311
- Income Tax bill C-64, with observations, 2380
 - See appendix p. 2431
- Income Tax Conventions bill S-2, with amdts, 186
- Indian bill C-115, with amdt, 3685
- Indian bill C-123, with comments, 4349
- International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, with amdts, comments and recommendation, 4540
- Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, with comments, 4258
 - See appendix p. 4283
- Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters bill C-58, with observations, 4167
- Official Languages Joint Committee reports
 - 3rd, with recommendations, 1174
 - See appendix p. 1191
 - 4th, with recommendations, 1394
 - See appendix p. 1420
- Patent bill C-22, with amdts, observations, recommendations and recognition of dissenting opinion, 1640
 - See appendix p. 1652
- Patent bill C-22, with amdts, observations and recommendations, 1704
 - See appendix p. 1721
- Patent bill C-22, report of Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee on question and message from House of Commons, 1991
 - See appendix p. 2009
- Patent bill S-15, with comments, 4503
 - See appendix p. 4519
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, with amdt, 1448
- Railway Safety bill C-105, with amdt, 3885
- Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, bill S-7, with amdts, 3472
- Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, with recommendations, 971
- Statute Law amendment proposals document, with amdts, 2349
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-90, with recommendation, 2349
- Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3317
- Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, with amdts, 1432

Anderson, Hon. Margaret

- Criminal Code (protection of the unborn) bill S-16, 4281
- Severity of penalties, 4282

Andre, Hon. Harvie, Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs

- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1575

Animal pedigree

- Breed improvement, 3067
- Protection for raising or buying registered animals, 3067
- "Registered" in connection with "purebred", concerns, 3224
- Speakers: Senators
 - Bielish, Martha P., 3067
 - Marchand, Len, 3224

Animal Pedigree bill C-67. 1r, 2954; 2r, 3067, 3234; ref to com, 3224; rep without amdt, 3317; 3r, 3338, 3351; r.a., 3488

Appendices

- Agriculture and Forestry Committee reports
 - 3rd, special expenses for study of farm finance, 1209
 - 4th, Canagrex dissolution, subject matter of Bill C-2, 1365
 - 12th, "Canadian Regulatory Process for Pesticides", 4284
- Appendix to document by Senator Gigantès entitled: The Free Trade Agreement, 4336
- Appropriation No. 3, 1987-88 bill C-65, 1295
- Appropriation No. 4, 1987-88 bill C-95, 2439
- Appropriation No. 2, 1988-89 bill C-138, 3762
- Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française
 - Fifteenth General Assembly, fourth report, 184
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee reports
 - 3rd, income tax, subject matter of Bill C-23, 314
 - 4th, excise tax and excise, subject matter of Bill C-14, 209
 - 8th, Bell Canada reorganization, subject matter of Bill C-13, 317
 - 9th, Canadair Limited divestiture authorization, subject matter of Bill C-25, 385
 - 11th, Teleglob Canada reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of Bill C-38, 804
 - 13th, financial institutions and deposit insurance system, subject matter of Bill C-42, 1013
 - 14th, proposed budget, re special expenses to engage services for study of tax reform, 1224
 - 15th, financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-56, 1427
 - 17th, small businesses loans, subject matter of Bill C-63, tabled, 1470
 - 18th, customs tariff and duties relief, subject matter of Bill C-69, tabled, 1504
 - 19th, Patent bill C-22, rep on question and message from House of Commons, 2009
 - 21st, Income Tax bill C-64, with observations, 2402
 - 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, with amdts, 2936
 - 25th, Copyright bill C-60, message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amdts, 3545
 - 28th, Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4180
 - 30th, Canadian International Trade Tribunal bill C-110, with comments, 4341
 - 32nd, Patent bill S-15, interim report, 4427
 - 33rd, Patent bill S-15, with comments, 4519
- Bonnell, Hon. M. Lorne, text of speech on AIDS to Inter-Parliamentary Union, 2721
- Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association
 - 5th report, visit of delegation to Federal Republic of Germany, 1375
- Canada-France agreements negotiations
 - Agreed report of negotiations between Canadian and French representatives with respect to conditions for application of fishing agreement, 448
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, prospects of Canadian economy, 4081
- Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group, 28th meeting at Vancouver, B.C., interim report, 1610
- Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group, 29th meeting, Key West, Florida, report, 3816
- Comptroller General, budget 1978-79 through 1987-88, 2792

Appendices—Cont'd

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts
 - Committee of the Whole report
 - 2nd, authority to engage services and to incur expenses, 2300
 - Submissions Group report, 3037
- Emergencies bill C-77, Committee of the Whole, appended documents, 3724
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee reports
 - 3rd, proposed budget, re special expenses to study production and use of natural gas in Canada, 1227
 - 4th, proposed budget, re special expenses to study production and use of coal in Canada, 1230
 - 5th, proposed sale of Dome Petroleum Limited, 1366
 - 7th, proposed budget to engage services for study of proposed sale of Dome Petroleum, 1608
- Fisheries Committee reports
 - 1st, 134
 - 3rd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 320
 - 7th, supplementary budget, 4205
- Foreign Affairs Committee reports
 - 2nd, budget re study of international financial system and institutions, Canada's participation, 311
 - 4th, budget authorization re study of international financial system and institutions, 777
 - 7th, budget re study of External Affairs and National Defence estimates for 1987-88, 1257
 - 8th, budget re study of union of Turks and Caicos Islands with Canada, 1259
 - 9th, forgiveness of certain official development assistance debts, subject matter of Bill C-62, 1418
 - 10th, Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68, 1910
 - 11th, Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 2270
 - 12th, budget re study of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, 2514
 - 14th, study of elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, 3288
 - List of witnesses heard by committee, 3613
- Industrial and Regional Development Program, projects in Newfoundland, 2667
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 16th to 28th, 1187
 - 36th, guidelines for senators' research expenditures, 3262
 - 38th to 57th, supplementary budgets of committees, 3411
 - 53rd, Senators' travel policy, 3580
 - 64th, on allegations in press reports against Senator Argue, 4431
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-eighth Conference in Bangkok, Thailand, report, 2672
- Kohl, His Excellency Dr. Helmut, Chancellor of Federal Republic of Germany
 - Address to both houses, 3698
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee reports
 - 6th, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, 985
 - 10th, Criminal Code and Canada evidence, subject matter of Bill C-15, 1464
 - 15th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amdts and observations, 2402
 - 16th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, budget authorization to travel in Canada to study, 2511
 - 19th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amdts, 3024
 - 20th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, with amdts and observations, 3361
 - 25th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, revised message from Commons, with recommendations, 4079

Appendices—Cont'd

- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee reports—Cont'd
 - 31st, Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, with comments, 4253
 - 32nd, Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, with comments, 4283
 - 34th, rep on draft official French version of certain constitutional acts, 4563
- Mitterrand, François, President of France, address to both houses, 1079
- National Defence Committee reports
 - 2nd, budget to engage services to study Canada's land forces, 1292
 - 3rd, feasibility study of "Snowbirds" visit to NATO allies in Europe, 1618
- National Democratic Institute international observer delegation on the aborted Haitian election, statement, 2316
- National Finance Committee reports
 - 2nd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 260
 - 3rd, Estimates 1986-87, supplementary (A), 323
 - 4th, Estimates 1986-87, supplementary (B), 388
 - 5th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (A), 693
 - 6th, Estimates 1986-87, supplementary (C), 725
 - 11th, Estimates year ending Mar.31/88 (interim report), 1136
 - 12th, Estimates 1987-88, 1361
 - 13th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (B), 2174
 - 14th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (C), 2272
 - 16th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (D), 2598
 - 18th, Estimates year ending Mar.31/88, 2836
 - 19th, Estimates, 1987-88, supplementary (E), 2892
 - 21st, Estimates, 1988-89, supplementary (A), 3544
 - 23rd, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/89, 3611
 - 25th, Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency bill C-103 (Part 1), 3894
 - 26th, Estimates, 1988-89, 4156
- Native Council of Canada
 - Constitution, draft companion amendments, 2282
- Ocean Industry Development Program, projects in Newfoundland, 2664
- Official Languages Joint Committee reports
 - 3rd, amendments to the Official Languages Act, 1191
 - 4th, recommendations re implementation of Official Languages Act, 1420
- Patent amendment, correspondence re report of Special Committee on Bill C-22, 1686
- Poverty Line Update-1986, 2581
- Prescription drug prices, effect of proposed patent amendment, petitions, 1592
- Preventive Health Care Special Committee report
 - 1st, authority to incur special expenses, 3417
- Queen Beatrix, Her Majesty, Queen of the Netherlands, address to both houses, 3343
- Reagan, Ronald W., President of the United States, address to both houses, 862
- Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee reports
 - 1st, Statutory Instruments No. 35, 279
 - 2nd, Statutory Instruments No. 36, International Pacific Halibut Convention, 458
 - 3rd, Statutory Instruments No. 37, Fruits, Vegetables and Honey, 581
 - 4th, Statutory Instruments No. 38, Customs Tariff, 679
 - 5th, Statutory Instruments No. 39, Indian Act, 682
 - 6th, Statutory Instruments No. 40, Indian Act, 2105
 - 7th, Statutory Instruments No. 41, Various, 2109
 - 8th, Statutory Instruments No. 42, Crop Insurance, 2115

Appendices—Cont'd

- Regulatory Scrutiny Committee (formerly Regulations and Statutory Instruments Committee) report
 9th, Report No. 43, Public Service Employment, 3322
 Scrutiny of Regulations Committee (formerly Regulatory Scrutiny) report
 10th, Report No. 44, scrutiny of Statutory Instruments made by certain Statutory Courts, 3788
 Senate report on poverty, Poverty Line Update-1985, 93
 Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee reports
 2nd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 280
 3rd, Unemployment Insurance, 1971, subject matter of Bill C-16, 416
 6th, authority to engage services to study document entitled: "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force) —Service to the Public — Veterans", 1261
 14th, authority to incur special expenses, 3415
 17th, National Film Board, inquiry on report on film entitled "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", 3857
 Subcommittee on Child Care, report on House of Commons report entitled "Sharing the Responsibility", 3931
 Speaker's address on occasion of retirement of Hon. A. Irvine Barrow and Hon. Jean Le Moynes, 2775
 Special Committee on Subject Matter of Bill C-22 reports
 2nd, extracts from Minutes of the Proceedings, 1264
 3rd, evidence received at public hearings, 1375
 6th, with amends, observations, recommendations and recognition of dissenting opinion, 1652
 7th, with amends, observations and recommendations, 1721
 Supply to date for 1987-88, 2631
 Supply to date for 1987-88, 2970
 Supply, interim, April to June, 1988, 2972
 Terrorism and Public Safety Committee report
 1st, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 283
 Thatcher, Right Honourable Margaret, Prime Minister of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, address to both houses, 377980
 Transport and Communications Committee reports
 2nd, railways, subject matter of Bill C-4, 313
 4th, Canada Shipping bill C-39, with comments, 754
 5th, shipping conferences exemption, subject matter of bill C-21, 1363
 Tremblay, Hon. Arthur, tributes on receipt of Edouard-Montpetit Medal, text of addresses at ceremony, 2820, 2873
- Applebaum, Bernard, Director General, International Directorate, Dept. of Fisheries and Oceans
 Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 515
- Appropriation No. 3, 1986-87 bill C-29. 1r, 288; 2r, 303, 341; 3r, 363; r.a., 415
 See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-29)
- Appropriation No. 4, 1986-87 bill C-35. 1r, 362; 2r, 380; 3r, 399; r.a., 415
 See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-35)
- Appropriation No. 5, 1986-87 bill C-47. 1r, 739; 2r, 751; 3r, 752; r.a., 752
 See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-47)

Appropriation No.1, 1987-88 bill C-48. 1r, 739; 2r, 765; 3r, 775; r.a., 776

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-48)

Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49. 1r, 739; 2r, 767; ref to com, 769; rep without amdt, 781; 3r, 791; r.a., 803

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-49)

Appropriation No. 3, 1987-88 bill C-65. 1r, 1233; 2r, 1281, 1302; 3r, 1303; r.a., 1417

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-65)

Appropriation No. 4, 1987-88 bill C-95. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2383; 3r, 2443; r.a., 2510

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-95)

Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88 bill C-108. 1r, 2589; 2r, 2604, 2635; 3r, 2643; r.a., 2652

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-108)

Appropriation No. 6, 1987-88 bill C-119. 1r, 2954; 2r, 2964; 3r, 2965; r.a., 2969

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-119)

Appropriation No. 1, 1988-89 bill C-120. 1r, 2954; 2r, 2966; 3r, 2966; r.a., 2969

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-120)

Appropriation No. 2, 1988-89 bill C-138. 1r, 3748; 2r, 3758; 3r, 3759; r.a., 3778

See Estimates (Appropriation bill C-138)

Arctic sovereignty

Aboriginal peoples, participation in consultations, 2325

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, relationship with, 2320

Participation of territories, 2321

Canadian claim, negotiation, participation of territories, 2320

Environmental concerns, lack of consultation with aboriginal peoples, 3234

Argue, Hon. Hazen, P.C.

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 253

Agriculture

Deficiency payments to western grain farmers

Delay in payment of second instalment, qu, 958, 1057

Government action, qu, 1867

1987 crop year, qu, 1477,

Farm Credit Corporation loans, moratorium, qu, 527, 569

Request for answer, 566

Farm credit crisis

Discussions between government and banks, qu, 958, 1057

Government action, 604

Farm debt, government action, qu, 567

Government assistance, federal-provincial discussions, qu, 16

Grain handlers' strike-lockout, progress of negotiations, qu, 18

Interest-free loans to Ford Motor Company, request for comparable treatment for farmers, qu, 555, 908

Prince Rupert grain handlers' strike, current situation, qu, 2382, 2442

Government action, qu, 2319

United States subsidies on grain exports, Canada-U.S. consultations, qu, 2547

Western Canada, drought conditions, government assistance, qu, 4365, 4462

Herd maintenance program, qu, 3711

Request for answer, qu, 3421

Argue, Hon. Hazen, P.C.—Cont'dAgriculture—Cont'd

Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to refer to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3458

Forage growth, 3459

Herd maintenance program, 3458

Taxation requirement on forced sell-off of herds, 3458

Zero rainfall, 3458

Western grain farmers, government assistance, qu, 35, 66

Basis of payment, qu, 244

Western Grain Stabilization Program, final payment, qu, 4366, 4462

Wheat, U.S. subsidized exports to China, effect on Canadian farmers, government action, qu, 423,

Air Canada

Labour dispute, current situation, qu, 2302, 2319, 2382, 2491

Indexing of pensions, qu, 2243, 2291

Appropriation No. 4, 1986-87 bill C-35, 381

Advertising expenditure, 381

Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 782, 792

Farm Credit Corporation, 793

Financial institutional control, 794

Prairie agricultural crisis situation, 792

Royal Bank of Canada, 794

Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88 bill C-108, 2638

Exodus of farmers from the land, 2638

Summer fallow, 2640

Western Grain Stabilization Act, 2640

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 517, 533

Canada-France relations

Grain export subsidies, representations by Prime Minister to Prime Minister of France, qu, 1778

President of France, visit, fisheries dispute and agricultural subsidies, President's response and authority, qu, 1054

Canada Grain bill C-112, 4146

Canada Labour Code bill C-124, 4046

Canada Post Corporation

Collective bargaining, government policy, qu, 1398

Postal strike, appointment of mediator, government action, qu, 1398, 1509

Recommendation of conciliator, government action, qu, 1398

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Concerns of members of Parliament, government leader's position, qu, 2076

Implementation, government position on agreement of provinces, effect on territories' aspirations for provincial status, qu, 1935

Proposed study by Foreign Affairs Committee, suggested cross-Canada hearings, qu, 1936

Wheat, two-price system

Comments attributed to Premier of Saskatchewan, effect of entry into Canada of U.S. milling wheat, compensation to Canadian farmers for loss, qu, 1956

Effect on, qu, 2058

Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4014

Progress, 4014

Senate appointments, 4014

Canadian National Railways

Executive offices, relocation from Edmonton to Montreal, qu, 1476, 1581

Canadian Wheat Board

Isman, Barbara, reported appointment of, qu, 2548

Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, 4153

Producer car system, 4152

Volatility of commodity market, 4153

Argue, Hon. Hazen, P.C.—Cont'dConstitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2204, 2569, 2575, 2580, 2771, 2810, 3007

Energy

Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, govt. funding, qu, 3330

Excise Tax bill C-101, 2474

Considered in Committee of the Whole, 2481

Export markets, 254

Farm Credit, 254

Farm Improvement Loans bill C-31, 309, 346

Reaction to bank pressure, 346

Six-month extension of Act, 349

Foreign Affairs Committee

11th report, Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 2241

Grain

Canadian Wheat Board

Allocation of payments, qu, 244

Final payments for grades 1 and 2 spring wheat, qu, 295, 394, 530, 908

Hazardous Products bill S-4, 373, 595

Influence of tobacco industry, 595

Health and Welfare

Alberta nurses' labour dispute, federal-provincial consultations, possibility of settlement, qu, 2758

Health care

Motion for appointment of Special Senate Committee, 602, 1221, 2369, 2398, 2495

Aging society, 1221

Less costly preventive measures, 1222

Mental health, 1223

Motion in amendment, 2369, 2397

Provincial budgetary cutbacks, 1222

Stress factor cost, 1222

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, 2488

Immigration, deportation of Turkish national, inquiry, 2890, 2967

Increased immigration quotas to off-set declining birthrate, 2967

Industry

General Motors, interest-free loan

Request for interest-free loans to farmers, removal of moratorium on farm foreclosures, qu, 809, 909

Terms of contract re job guarantees, access to information, qu, 832, 909

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports

16th, Agriculture and Forestry Committee budget, 1206

30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1858

64th, allegations against Senator Argue, 4561

Labour

Railway back-to-work legislation, alleged unfair application of, qu, 2977, 3100

Larre, Reverend Father Lucien, O.C., felicitations on receipt of Thérèse Casgrain award, 288

Ministry

Request for appointment of Minister of State for Cooperatives, lack of response, qu, 4458

National Finance Committee

Estimates year ending Mar. 31/87, supplementary (B), 367

Patent bill C-22

Government brochure, distribution before possible enactment of legislation, qu, 2168

Argue, Hon. Hazen, P.C.—Cont'dPatent bill C-22—Cont'd

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2218

Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1408

Multinational corporations, 1409

Pharmaceutical industry

Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, qu, 235

Prairie Grain Advance Payments bill C-12, 590

Debt review board, lack of power, 592

Suffering of farm people, 591

Preventive Health Care, Special Senate Committee

1st report, authority to incur special expenses, 3385, 3441

See appendix p. 3417

Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, 2519, 2523

Appointment of arbitrator, 2521

Attitude of management, 2521

Computer issue, 2520

Union position, 2520

Privilege, 3789

Public Service

Indexing of pensions, status of legislation in Commons, qu, 2586

Senate

Debates, delay in production, 2442

Question Period

Request for answers, 1510, 2472, 2979

Trade

Imbalance between Canada and U.S.S.R., government policy, qu, 193, 240, 1984, 2245

United States Export Enhancement Program, suggested Canada-U.S.S.R. comprehensive trade agreement, qu, 2055

Transport

CN maintenance shops, Melville, Saskatchewan, proposed layoffs, qu, 1121, 1125, 1176

Construction of hotels adjacent to major airports, government policy, qu, 436

Port of Churchill, Manitoba

And port of Thunder Bay, Ontario, request for additional grain cars, qu, 1937

Premium earned by Canadian Wheat Board on sales of grain, qu, 1937

Regina International Airport, construction of hotel, local consultation, qu, 436, 558

Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, inquiry, 563, 613

Airports, 614

Climate, 614

Good-will, 614

Motion for association with Canada, 614

Social and economic opportunity, 616

United Grain Growers, 255

War veterans, benefits legislation, inquiry, 2237

Western Canada, economic situation 253

Western Grain Stabilization bill C-132, 4149

Exodus of farmers, 4149

Protection against foreclosure, 4149

Ratio of producer to government contributions, increase, 4150

Zuyk, Hon. Paul, the late, tribute, 253

Arms control, 171, 443, 445Askwith, Charles H.E., (deceased Sept. 27/87) former Acting Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod

Notice of memorial service, 1874

Asper, Izzy, Q.C.

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2798

Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C.

Banking, Trade and Commerce

Report of committee on bill C-22, anticipated date of presentation, qu, 1899

Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization bill C-25, 377

Sale to Bombardier, terms, 378

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2198

Constitution Act, 1867 bill S-20 (Speaker of the Senate), 4534

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3128

Quebec, 3128

Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul P.C., the late, tribute, 286

Felicitations on election as President of l'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, 2517

Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9, 1035

Least-developed countries category, 1035

Moratorium on debts incurred by African states in sub-Saharan, 1035

Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague, farewell words on retirement, 332

Indonesia

Kusumaatmadja, His Excellency Dr. Mochtar, Minister of Foreign Affairs, visit, 525

Langlois, Hon. Léopold, tribute on retirement, 4538

Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., farewell words on retirement, 332

Leclerc, Félix, the late, Quebec poet and musician, tribute, 4170

Speaker, acting, 33

Speaker pro tempore, 61, 159, 210, 227, 242, 329, 389, 433, 484, 501, 511, 551, 746, 779, 844, 869, 890, 899, 1019, 1048, 1117, 1297, 1333, 1730, 1754, 1785, 1803, 1810, 1838, 1856, 1930, 1939, 1960, 1984, 2286, 2471, 2517, 2531, 2547, 2586, 2589, 2601, 3222, 3231, 3252, 3264, 3447, 3489, 3572, 3636, 3668, 3706, 3864, 4037, 4056, 4084, 4110, 4128, 4165, 4186, 4194, 4207, 4235, 4255, 4311, 4349, 4365, 4378, 4404, 4465

Constitution, motion to refer First Minister's Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole, m in amdt, ruling, 1216

L'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, 25 representatives, visit, 4257

Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4210

Mitterrand, François, President of France, address to both houses Invitation to senators, 1047

Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, ruling re second reading, 3592

Patent bill C-22, message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, m to refer message and question to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, 1786

Radio bill C-3, six-month hoist motion, ruling, 746, 790

Senate

Intention to rule on procedural question re Bill C-103, 3573

Point of order (Senator McElman), 872

Privilege, m to refer to committee, 894

Standing Rules and Orders Committee

6th report, public petitions, 2850

Teleglobe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-38, 819

CRTC consumer protection, 820

Memotec Data Incorporated, 820

Pension plan, 820

Privatization, 820

Winding-down prohibition, 820

Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C.—Cont'd

Ward, Dr. Gerry, Lethbridge, Alberta, for Canadian Hunger Foundation, visit, 3685

World War I flyers, visit, 1123

Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française,
Fifteenth General Assembly, Quebec City, 96, 174

Ordre de la Pléiade, recipients, 176

See appendix p. 184

Speaker: Senator

Corbin, Eymard G.

Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française,
Sixteenth General Assembly, Yaoundé, Cameroon, 2779

Report of Canadian section tabled, 2779

Atcheson, Beth, Past Vice-Chair, Women's Legal Education and Action Fund

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2865

Atkins, Hon. Norman K. (Introduced in the Senate Oct. 1/86), 3

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 171

Community and family life enhancement, 173

Fiscal responsibility and social conscience, 174

Regional constitutional differences, 172

Violence in sport, 173

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, 170

Criteria for approving proposals, 120, 196, 238

Expenditure of new money, 2780

Ganong, David, status of, approval of payments to board members, investigation of, alleged loan irregularities, 4020, 4035

Introduction of legislation in Senate, 2356

Legislation to establish, government intention, mechanism to monitor departmental activities, appointment and composition of board, criteria for access to programs, 1646

Membership, availability of information, 1846

Minister's statement, 1170

Prince Edward Island, application for grant for manufacture of potato bags, 3757

Request for text of telex from Premier of Prince Edward Island, 36, 58, 80

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency bill C-103 (Part 1), 3r, 3887; message to Commons of division of C-103 and passage of part 1, without amdt, 3887; message from Commons of disagreement with Senate division of bill and request for return of bill undivided, 4040; order for division of bill rescinded, 4194

See Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103

Atlantic Enterprise Program

Projects in Newfoundland, 2657

Atlantic Provinces Economic Council, 111Auditor General

Budget for past 10 years, 2473

Report, motion to refer back to National Finance Committee, 420, 447

Role under Act, 2558

Austin Hon. Jack, P.C.

Abortion

Equal access in provinces, decision of British Columbia re funding, qu, 2654

Austin Hon. Jack, P.C.—Cont'd

Canada-United States relations

Canadian potash, introduction of legislation by Government of Saskatchewan, consultations with federal government, federal government representations in United States, qu, 1779, 1781

Softwood lumber, Canadian export tax, qu, 55, 99

Extent of application, qu, 335

Trade, U.S. tariff on Canadian shakes and shingles, government action on submission to International Trade Commission, qu, 4187, 4223

Communications

Teleglobe, proposed sale, qu, 245, 300

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord

Supreme Court of Canada, recommendations for appointment, qu, 957

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3172

Egregious error, 3173

Process, 3172

Unanimity, 3174

Energy

Western coal, cost of transporting to Ontario, government policy, qu, 426

Hansen, Rick

Appointment as Canada's Commissioner General to Expo '88, 2208

International whaling

Imposition of sanctions, government policy, qu, 2722, 2782, 2830

Ministry

Reported resignation of Minister of Agriculture, qu, 4437

Trade

GATT ruling, impact on B.C. fisheries, government action, qu, 2208

Balfour, Hon. R. James

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 251

Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 201

Canada-United States Days of Peace and Friendship

Designation of July 2 and 3, 1987, consideration of message from Commons, 796

Message concurred in, 843

175 years of peace and harmony, 796

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4355

Consumer prices, 4356

Dispute-settlement mechanism, 4357

Economic diversification, 4356

Import controls, 4358

Oil and gas sector, 4358

Protectionism, 4356

Saskatchewan, 4355

Tariff removal, 4356

Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group

28th meeting held at Vancouver, B.C., inquiry, 1473, 1535

Tabled, 2147

29th meeting at Key West, Florida, report tabled, 3790

See appendix p. 3816

Canadian Exploration and Development Incentives Program bill C-59, 1281, 1303, 4017

Flow-through share arrangement, 1303

Price instability impact, 1282

Productivity and cash flow increase, 1282

Canadian Exploration Incentive Program bill C-137, 3800

Equity financing, 3801

Flow-through shares, 3800

Balfour, Hon. R. James—Cont'd

- Canagrex Dissolution bill C-2, 1861, 1886
 - More efficient service through departmental cooperation, 1861
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3115
 - Federal-provincial cooperation, 3115
 - Immigration, 3115
 - Shared-cost programs, 3116
- Corporations and Labour Unions Returns bill C-91, 2561
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Reports
 - 2nd, Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 187
 - 10th, Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-121, 4110
 - Production and Use of Natural Gas in Canada, interim report, authority to publish and distribute, 3793
- International trade, 251
- Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon Assets Disposal Authorization bill C-45, 772
 - Background, 772
 - Devolution process, 772
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1960, 1970
 - Appointment of mediator-arbitrator, 1960
 - Extension of collective agreement, 1960
 - Foisy report, 1960
 - Termination of work stoppages, 1960
- Western Economic Diversification bill C-113, 3588

Bank of British Columbia business continuation

- Alternatives, 275
- CDIC assistance, 271, 274
- Employee and depositor protection, 273, 275
- Erosion of capital base, 270
- Erosion of confidence, 273
- Hongkong Bank of Canada, 271
- Importance of regional institutions, 272
- "Least bad" solution, 271
- Legal statute use, 275
- Legally-enforceable provisions, 276
- Motion re message to House of Commons, 276
- Speakers: Senators
 - Murray, Lowell, 270, 275
 - Perrault, Raymond J., 271
 - Sinclair, Ian, 274

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation C-27. 1r, 270; 2r, 270; 3r, 276; m re message to House of Commons, 276; r.a., 278Bank of Canada

- Crow, John, appointment as Governor, 354

Banking

- Bank of British Columbia, acquisition of, avoidance of income tax on deposit insurance payment, 2072
- Designation of Toronto as international centre, government policy, 77, 237
- Estey Commission of Inquiry, status of report, 67
- International banking centres, proposed legislation, government policy, 486, 908
- Matters within exclusive federal jurisdiction, government action, 526, 586
- Responsibility of government leader to provide answers, question of privilege, 2073

Banking, Trade and Commerce, Standing Senate Committee

- Air Canada public participation, subject matter of bill C-129, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3572, 3650, 3662
 - Negatived on division, 3665
 - Pre-study device, 3651, 3662
- Authority to engage services, 75
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 263, 291, 340, 485, 551, 670, 742, 809, 1048, 1140, 1412, 1810, 1843, 1877, 1930, 1939, 2161, 2797, 2882, 3616, 3775, 3987, 4042
- Bank of British Columbia business continuation, subject matter of Bill C-27, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 257
- Bell Canada reorganization, subject matter of Bill C-13, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
- Canadian International Trade Tribunal and Eldorado Nuclear Limited reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of Bills C-110 and C-121, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3637, 3666, 3675
 - Withdrawn, 4153
- Canadair Limited divestiture authorization, subject matter of Bill C-25, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 264
- Customs tariff and duties relief, subject matter of Bill C-69, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1297
- Excise tax and excise, subject matter of Bill C-14, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
- Financial institutions and deposit insurance, subject matter of Bill C-42, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 742
- Financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-9, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 63
- Financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-56, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 997
 - Report, availability of translation, 1396
- Income Tax Act, authority to study amending ways and means motion and subject matter of consequential legislation, 64
- Income tax, subject matter of Bill C-23, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 263
- Insurance companies, subject matter of Bill C-8, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 63
- Meeting, 1990, 3472
 - Cancellation, 1047
 - Change of venue, 1939
 - Electronic coverage, 1877
- Membership, 61
 - Negatived, 1835
- Petroleum and gas revenue tax, subject matter of Bill C-17, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 160
- Report of committee on Bill C-22
 - Anticipated date of presentation, 1899
 - Intentions of committee, 1903
- Reports
 - 1st, expenses incurred during 1st Session, 33rd Parliament, tabled, 73
 - See* Journals of the Senate
 - 2nd, income tax, subject matter of Bill C-11 and amending ways and means motion, 73
 - 3rd, Income Tax Conventions bill S-2, with amdts, 186
 - 4th, excise tax and excise, subject matter of Bill C-14, tabled, 187
 - See* appendix p. 209
 - 5th, petroleum and gas revenue tax, subject matter of Bill C-17, 243
 - 6th, Bank of British Columbia business continuation, subject matter of Bill C-27, with observations, 269
 - 7th, income tax, subject matter of Bill C-23, tabled, 290
 - See* appendix p. 314

Banking, Trade and Commerce, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd
Reports—Cont'd

- 8th, Bell Canada reorganization, subject matter of Bill C-13, tabled, 290
See appendix p. 317
- 9th, Canadair Limited divestiture authorization, subject matter of Bill C-25, tabled, 364
See appendix p. 385
- 10th, softwood lumber products export charge, subject matter of Bill C-37, authority to adjourn from place to place in Canada to study, 501
- 11th, Teleglobe Canada reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of Bill C-38, tabled, 783
See appendix p. 804
- 12th, softwood lumber products export charge, subject matter of Bill C-37, tabled, 935
- 13th, financial institutions and deposit insurance system, subject matter of Bill C-42, tabled, 996
See appendix p. 1013
- 14th, proposed budget to engage services for study of tax reform, tabled, 1213, 1306
See appendix p. 1224
- 15th, financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-56, tabled, 1396
See appendix p. 1427
- 16th, Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1448
- 17th, small businesses loans, subject matter of Bill C-63, tabled, 1457
See appendix p. 1470
- 18th, customs tariff and duties relief, subject matter of Bill C-69, tabled, 1473
See appendix p. 1504
- 19th, Patent bill C-22, rep on question and message from House of Commons, 1991, 2084, 2090
 Health care costs, 2085
 Positions of provincial governments, universities, pharmacology and medical research, organized labour and elderly and poor, 2086
 Promotion of research and development, 2085
 Protection of intellectual property, 2085
See appendix p. 2009
- 20th, tax reform, tabled, 2229, 2246, 2293, 2367, 2590
 Anti-avoidance provision, 2368
 Bias against families, 2294
 Capital gains, 2368
 Capitalization of soft costs in real estate, 2295
 Charitable donations, 2296, 2367
 Dividends, 2368
 Impact on middle-income group, 2246, 2294
 Investment income, 2294
 Medical expenses, 2367
 MURBS, 2295
 Necessary result of United States' actions, 2246
 Preferred shares, 2295
 Research and development, 2295
 Tax on investment part of life insurance, 2295
- 21st, Income Tax bill C-64, without amdt but with observations, 2380
See appendix p. 2431
- 22nd, Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation bill C-96, 2654
- 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, with amdts, 2930, 3243, 3254, 3267
 Appeal board, 3249
 Balance and orderly process, 3267
 Collective management, 3244
 Copyright material in education system, 3245

Banking, Trade and Commerce, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd
Reports—Cont'd

- 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, with amdts—Cont'd
 Costs, 3268
 Definition of "artistic work", 3244
 Exhibition-right principle, 3234
 Interests of creative artist vs. interest of the user, 3248, 3269
 Low rewards for creative people, 3248
 No retroactivity, 3246
 Support for the arts, 3268
See appendix p. 2936
 - 24th, Customs Tariff bill C-118, 3349
 - 25th, Copyright bill C-60, message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amdts, with recommendation, 3509, 3550
See appendix p. 3545
 - 26th, Excise Tax and Excise bill C-117, 3636
 - 27th, Canadian Exploration Incentive Program bill C-137, with amdts, 4016
 Technical deficiencies, 4017
 - 28th, Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, with comments, 4171
 Bilingualism, 4172
 Maintenance facilities, 4171, 4173
 Partialized public ownership, 4172
 Role of Air Canada as instrument to carry out public policy, 4171
 Share offering, 4172
See appendix p. 4180
 - 29th, Income Tax and Related Acts bill C-139, with comments, 4311
 - 30th, Canadian International Trade Tribunal bill C-110, with comments, 4333
See appendix p. 4341
 - 31st, Tax Court of Canada bill C-146, 4404
 - 32nd, Patent bill S-15, interim report, 4404, 4449
 Drug cost increases, 4450
See appendix p. 4427
 - 33rd, Patent bill S-15, with comments, 4503
See appendix p. 4519
 - Small Businesses Loans, subject matter of Bill C-63, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246
 - Softwood lumber products export charge, subject matter of Bill C-37, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 451
 - Tax reform, authority to conduct study, 997, 1048, 1336
 Extension of deadline for reporting, 2654, 2834
 - Teleglobe Canada reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of Bill C-38, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 551
- Barbados
 Barrow, Rt. Hon. Errol Walton, the late, Prime Minister, tribute, 1162
See also Visitors
- Barootes, Hon. Efstathios William
 Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 24
 Agricultural assistance, 26
 Agriculture
 Financial assistance to producers, request for information, 2381
 Western Canada, drought conditions, efficacy and propriety of government recommendations and action, qu, 3796
 Agriculture and Forestry Committee
 Reports
 6th, "Financing the Family Farm to the Year 2000", 3356
 8th, Western Canada, drought conditions, with recommendations, 3509, 3565

Barootes, Hon. Efstathios William—Cont'd

- Agriculture and Forestry Committee—Cont'd
 - Reports—Cont'd
 - 11th, Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, with comments, 4198
 - 12th, "Canadian Regulatory Process for Pesticides", 4376
 - Souris River, Saskatchewan, authority to study granting of federal licence, 4480
- Agriculture, need for comprehensive financial support program for grain producers, inquiry, 2508
 - Extension of programs, 2508
- Farm Debt Review Board, 2509
 - Western Grains Stabilization Plan levy, 2508
- Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88 bill C-108, 2640
 - Farm debt, 2642
 - International subsidies, 2641
 - Special Canadian Grains Program, 2641
- Borrowing Authority 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, 711
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 542
- Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 101, 147, 198, 201
 - Cash flow and tax credits, 202
 - Delineation, 202
 - Discovery license, 103
 - Exploration license, 103
 - Exploration Tax Credit, 202
 - Geological information, 148
 - New frontier energy policy, 102
 - Production license, 103
 - Profit-sensitive royalty structure, 102
- Buckwold, Hon. Sidney L., tribute on retirement as Honorary Colonel of North Saskatchewan Regiment, 3348
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4333
- Canada-United States relations
 - Canadian potash, imposition of U.S. tariff, government action, qu, 700
- Canadian Agricultural Products bill C-141, (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 3879
- Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4008, 4015, 4048
 - Annual report, 4009
 - Equality, 4008
 - Implementation, 4009
- Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, 4153
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2854
 - Point of order, 2911
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3527, 3773
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 2380
- Excise Tax and Excise bill C-117, 3577
- Export and Import Permits bill C-57, 1127, 1131
 - "Back-door" entry to U.S. steel market by offshore suppliers, 1127
 - Canada, a responsible and fair trader, 1131
 - Information collection amendment, 1128
- Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans bill C-78, 1565
 - Cooperatives, 1566
 - Cost-recovery fee, 1566
 - Low commodity prices, 1565
 - Marketing, 1565
 - Proclamation date delay, 1569
 - Refinancing option, 1566

Barootes, Hon. Efstathios William—Cont'd

- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3648
- Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation bill C-96, 2560, 2763
 - Harmonization and standardization on classification of goods, 2764
- Health care, motion to appoint special committee, 2497
- Inflation rates, 25
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report
 - 30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1859
- Larre, Reverend Father Lucien, O.C., felicitations on receipt of Thérèse Casgrain award, 286
- National debt, 29
- Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, 3236, 3242
 - Cash sale from crown corporation to territorial government, 3237
 - Federal subsidies of electricity rates, 3237
 - Movement of head office, 3237
- Organ Donor Week, 899
- Patent Act bill C-22, 1000, 1062
 - Consideration of Special Committee report, 1682
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, 1795
- Patent bill S-15, 2785, 3643
- Prairie Grain Advance Payments bill C-12, 588, 611, 629
 - Crop insurance, 612
 - Interest-free cash advances, 589
 - Process speed-up, 590
 - Seeding dates, 612
 - Suffering of farm people, 612
- Senate
 - Business, 767
 - Treatment of legislation, qu, 1615
- Senate, delays in consideration of legislation, 4251
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22, reports
 - 3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1636
 - 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1621
 - 7th, Bill C-22 with amdts, recommendations and observations, 1710
 - Motion in amdt, 1716
- Tax reform, 30
- Territorial Lands bill C-43, 769
 - Forest and fire management program transfer, 770
 - Political evolution of Northwest Territories, 770
- Unemployment, 25
- Western Grain Stabilization bill C-132, 4148, 4189
 - Crops covered, 4148
 - Fund deficit, 4149
 - Levy increases, 4149
 - Ratio of producer to government contributions, increase, 4151

Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine (retired Feb. 15/88)

- Customs Tariff and Duties Relief bill C-69, 1556
 - Procedural changes, 1556
- Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation bill C-96, 2587
- Railway bill C-4, 305
- Tributes, 2753
 - See also* appendix p. 2775

Barrow, Rt. Hon. Errol Walton, Prime Minister of Barbados, (deceased June 1/87)

- Tribute, 1162

Battle of Vimy Ridge

70th anniversary, tributes, 869

Bayefsky, Prof. Ann, Canadian Jewish Congress Constitutional Subcommittee on Meech Lake

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of The Whole, 2573

Bazin, Hon. Jean (Introduced in the Senate, Feb.3/87), 417

Broadcasting bill C-136, 4527

Alternative programming, 4528

Canadian programming, 4528

Official languages, 4528

Role of the CBC, 4528

Technology-neutral, 4528

Constitution

Constitution Amendment, 1987, m to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to legislative assemblies and four national aboriginal organizations, 3930

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3137

Amendments, 3138

Shared-cost programs, 3140

Supreme Court of Canada, 3137

Constitution, current state of negotiations, 1140

Withdrawn, 1809

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Tabling of resolutions, qu, 1165

Drouin, the late Hon. Mark Robert, P.C., former Speaker of the Senate, tribute, 1140

Income Tax and Related Acts bill C-139, 4231

Corporate changes, 4232

Personal changes, 4231

Patent bill C-22

Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1818

Quebec coalition for adoption of bill to amend, meeting, Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee representation, qu, 1812

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-90, 2293, 2382

Variable entrance requirement, 2293

Bean, Daryl T., National President, Public Service Alliance of Canada

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2921

Beatty, Hon. H. Perrin, Minister of National Defence

Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3527

Beaudoin, Hon. Gérard-A. (introduced in the Senate Sept. 28/88), 4501Bedford Institute of Oceanography, closing of Marine Ecology Laboratory, government policy and actions, inquiry, 856, 897, 917

Applied research and basic research, 857

Government support short of OECD standards, 856

Halifax Cronicle-Herald, quote, 897

International renown for original research, 859

Private sector funding of university research and development, 856

World ranking laboratory, 858

Speakers: Senators

Frith, Royce, 859

Hicks, Henry D., 856, 917

MacDonald, Finlay, 897

Bélisle, Hon. Rhéal

Acting Speaker of the Senate, 1920, 1951, 1991, 2156, 2777, 3046, 3278, 3347

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 493, 508, 511, 533, 560, 645, 714, 917

Canada Labour Code bill C-97 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 2484

Canadian Agricultural Products bill C-141 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 3872

Criminal Code (victims of crime) bill C-89, 3338

Ban on disclosure of identity, 3340

Creation of victim fine surcharge scheme, 3339

Entitlement of victim to reparation, 3338

Restitution, 3340

Use of photographic evidence in lieu of the property itself, 3339

Victim impact statement, 3339

Customs Tariff bill C-87 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 2475

Customs Tariff bill C-135 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 3760

Estonia, Sixty-ninth anniversary of Proclamation of Independence, 562

Excise Tax bill C-101 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 2479

Export and Import Permits bill C-57 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 1129

Felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 2486

Immigration, 1976 bill C-16 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 410, 412

India

Minister of Water Resources, Hon. D. Shankaranad, and High Commissioner Mr. S.J.S. Chhatwal, and delegation, visit, 1195

Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

21st report, Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, with amds, 3496

Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 216

McIntosh, Hon. Cameron Irwin, the late, former Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan, tribute, 4492

Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 3239

Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, Committee of the Whole (Chairman), 2523

Privilege, 1471

Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 830, 852, 1440, 1495, 2069

Apostolic Constitution 1982, 1498

Corporation sole, 853

Freedom, 1499

Monsignor Escrivà, 1499

Point of order, 1989

Secrecy or privacy, 1500

The Way, 1500

Senate

Business, 502

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116, (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 2963, 2964

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-158, (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 4543

Beliveau, Michael, Acting Executive Secretary, Maritime Fishermen's Union
Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 715

Bell Canada

Bell Canada Enterprises (BCE), 1304, 1342
BCE shares sale subject to CRTC approval, 1343
Bell Canada Enterprises use of Bell Canada as "cash cow", 1342
CRTC power to regulate telephone service, 1305
"In" power and "out" power, 1305, 1343
Three new powers for CRTC, 1305
See appendix p. 317
Speakers: Senators
Frith, Royce, 1342
Kelly, William M., 1304

Bell Canada bill C-13. 1r, 1233; 2r, 1304, 1342; 3r, 1400; r.a., 1417

Bell, Hon. Ann Elizabeth

"A People Apart—Natives in Saskatoon", special newspaper report, 207
Constitutional Accord, 1987
Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, motion to concur, 1275
Felicitations on return to chamber, 4420
Illiteracy in Canada, 600
Nanaimo Harbour Commission, inquiry into management and operation, qu, 166
Radio bill C-3, 745
New policy in taxation, 745
Six-month hoist motion, 745
Speaker's ruling, 746, 790
Senate
Delay in production of committee proceedings, question of privilege, 608
Official report
Quality of translation, 1297

Bell, Hon. Richard A., P.C., Q.C., (deceased Mar. 20/88)
Tributes, 2879

Bielish, Hon. Martha P.

Animal Pedigree bill C-67, 3067, 3338
Breed improvement, 3067
Protection for buying or raising registered animals, 3067
Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, 4153, 4199
Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3175
Distinct society, description, 3176
Process, 3175
Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2628, 2773
Excise Tax bill C-101, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2483
Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2877
Stanley Cup
Congratulations to Edmonton Oilers on winning National Hockey League championship, 1140

Bills, Commons Numerically

C-2 Canagrex Dissolution
C-3 Radio
C-4 Railway
C-5 Canada Petroleum Resources
C-6 Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation
C-7 National Archives of Canada

Bills, Commons Numerically—Cont'd

C-11 Income Tax
C-12 Prairie Grain Advance Payments
C-13 Bell Canada
C-14 Excise Tax and Excise
C-15 Criminal Code, Canada Evidence
C-16 Unemployment Insurance, 1971
C-17 Petroleum and Gas Revenue and Income Tax
C-18 National Transportation, 1987
C-19 Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987
C-20 Senate and House of Commons
C-21 Shipping Conferences Exemption, 1987
C-22 Patent, 1987
C-23 Income Tax and a related Act
C-24 Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986
C-25 Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization
C-26 Coastal Fisheries Protection
C-27 Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation
C-28 Criminal Code (torture)
C-29 Appropriation No.3, 1986-87
C-30 National Parks
C-31 Farm Improvement Loans
C-32 Fisheries Improvement Loans
C-34 Immigration, 1976
C-35 Appropriation No.4, 1986-87
C-36 Salaries
C-37 Softwood Lumber Products Export Charge
C-38 Teleglobe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture
C-39 Canada Shipping
C-40 Borrowing Authority, 1986-87 (No.2)
C-41 Judges, Federal Court, Tax Court of Canada
C-42 Financial Institutions and Deposit Insurance System Amendment
C-43 Territorial Lands
C-44 Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-secondary Education and Health Contributions, 1977
C-45 Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon Assets Disposal Authorization
C-46 Royal Canadian Mint and Currency
C-47 Appropriation No.5, 1986-87
C-48 Appropriation No.1, 1987-88
C-49 Appropriation No.2, 1987-88
C-50 Unemployment Insurance Benefit Entitlement Adjustments (Pension Payments)
C-51 Tobacco Products Control
C-52 Coasting Trade and Commercial Marine Activities
C-53 Supreme Court
C-55 Immigration, 1976
C-56 Financial Institutions
C-57 Export and Import Permits
C-58 Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters
C-59 Canadian Exploration and Development Incentive Program
C-60 Copyright
C-61 Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control
C-62 Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts
C-63 Small Businesses Loans
C-64 Income Tax
C-65 Appropriation No. 3, 1987-88
C-66 Veterans Appeal Board
C-67 Animal Pedigree
C-68 Bretton Woods and Related Agreements
C-69 Customs Tariff and Duties Relief
C-70 Hazardous Products and other Statutes

Bills, Commons Numerically—Cont'd

- C-71 Criminal Code, Immigration, 1976 and Citizenship
- C-72 Official Languages
- C-73 Indian Lands Agreement (1986)
- C-74 Canadian Environmental Protection
- C-75 Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation
- C-76 Emergency Preparedness
- C-77 Emergencies
- C-78 Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans
- C-80 Customs
- C-82 Lobbyists Registration
- C-83 The Senate and House of Commons
- C-84 Immigration, 1976
- C-85 Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987
- C-86 Postal Services Continuation, 1987
- C-87 Customs Tariff
- C-88 Judges
- C-89 Criminal Code (victims of crime)
- C-90 Unemployment Insurance, 1971
- C-91 Corporations and Labour Unions Returns
- C-92 Canadian Wheat Board
- C-93 Canadian Multiculturalism
- C-94 Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985
- C-95 Appropriation No. 4, 1987-88
- C-96 Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation
- C-97 Canada Labour Code
- C-98 Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited
- C-99 Currency
- C-100 Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War
- C-101 Excise Tax
- C-102 Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement
- C-103 Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987
- C-104 Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment, 1987
- C-105 Railway Safety
- C-106 Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations
- C-108 Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88
- C-109 Borrowing Authority, 1988-89
- C-110 Canadian International Trade Tribunal
- C-111 National Housing and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation
- C-112 Canada Grain
- C-113 Western Economic Diversification
- C-115 Indian
- C-116 Unemployment Insurance, 1971
- C-117 Excise Tax and Excise
- C-118 Customs Tariff
- C-119 Appropriation No. 6, 1987-88
- C-120 Appropriation No. 1, 1988-89
- C-121 Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture
- C-123 Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share)
- C-124 Canada Labour Code
- C-125 Northern Canada Power Commission (Share issuance and Sale Authorization)
- C-126 Bretton Woods and Related Agreements
- C-127 Cape Breton Development Corporation
- C-129 Air Canada Public Participation
- C-130 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation
- C-131 National Transportation, 1987

Bills, Commons Numerically—Cont'd

- C-132 Western Grain Stabilization
- C-135 Customs Tariff (Code 9956)
- C-137 Canadian Exploration Incentive Program
- C-136 Broadcasting
- C-138 Appropriation No. 2, 1988-89
- C-139 Income Tax and Related Acts
- C-141 Canada Agricultural Products
- C-143 Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse
- C-144 Canada Child Care
- C-145 Quebec Courts Amendment
- C-146 Tax Court of Canada
- C-147 International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development
- C-148 Canadian Centre for Management Development
- C-150 Indian (death rules)
- C-153 National Capital
- C-158 Unemployment Insurance, 1971
- C-204 Non-Smokers' Health
- C-205 Heritage Railway Station Protection
- C-210 Blue Water Bridge Authority
- C-254 Citizenship (period of residence)
- C-259 Patent Extension (Aspartame)
- C-264 Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use)
- C-308 Electoral Boundaries Readjustment (Chapleau)

Bills, Senate Numerically

- S-1 Railways (pro forma)
- S-2 Income Tax Conventions
- S-3 Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945
- S-4 Hazardous Products (tobacco and tobacco products)
- S-5 Marriage (Prohibited Degrees)
- S-6 Food and Drugs
- S-7 Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei
- S-8 Citizenship (foreign spouses)
- S-9 Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts
- S-10 Yellowknife Electric Ltd.
- S-11 Windsor-Detroit Tunnel
- S-12 Constitution, 1867 (Qualifications of Senators)
- S-13 Constitution, 1867 (Attendance of Senators)
- S-14 Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society
- S-15 Patent
- S-16 Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn)
- S-17 Montreal Trust Company of Canada
- S-18 Immigration, 1976
- S-19 Royal Assent
- S-20 Constitution, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate)
- S-21 Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited

Bills, Commons

- Air Canada Public Participation C-129. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4093; ref to com, 4098; rep without amdt but with comments, 4171; 3r, 4189; r.a., 4203
- Animal Pedigree C-67. 1r, 2954; 2r, 3067, 3223; ref to com, 3224; rep without amdt, 3317, 3r, 3338, 3351; r.a., 3488
- Appropriation No.3, 1986-87 C-29. 1r, 288; 2r, 303, 341; 3r, 363; r.a., 415
- Appropriation No.4, 1986-87 C-35. 1r, 362; 2r, 380; 3r, 399; r.a., 415

Bills, Commons—Cont'd

- Appropriation No.5, 1986-87 C-47. 1r, 739; 2r, 751; 3r, 752; r.a., 752
- Appropriation No.1, 1987-88 C-48. 1r, 739; 2r, 765; 3r, 775; r.a., 776
- Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 C-49. 1r, 739; 2r, 767; ref to com, 769; rep without amdt, 781; 3r, 791; r.a., 803
- Appropriation No. 3, 1987-88 C-65. 1r, 1233; 2r, 1281, 1302; 3r, 1303; r.a., 1417
- Appropriation No. 4, 1987-88 C-95. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2383; 3r, 2443; r.a., 2510
- Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88 C-108. 1r, 2589; 2r, 2604, 2635; 3r, 2643; r.a., 2652
- Appropriation No. 6, 1987-88 C-119. 1r, 2954; 2r, 2964; 3r, 2965; r.a., 2969
- Appropriation No. 1, 1988-89 C-120. 1r, 2954; 2r, 2966; 3r, 2966; r.a., 2969
- Appropriation No. 2, 1988-89 C-138. 1r, 3748; 2r, 3758; 3r, 3759; r.a., 3778
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency C-103 (Part 1). 3r, 3887; message to Commons of division of bill C-103 and passage of Part 1 without amdt, 3887; message from Commons of disagreement with Senate division and request for return of bill undivided, 4040; order for division of bill rescinded, 4194
- See* Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103
- Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation C-27. 1r, 270; 2r, 270; 3r, 276; m re message to House of Commons, 276; r.a., 278
- Bell Canada C-13. 1r, 1233; 2r, 1304, 1342; 3r, 1400; r.a., 1417
- Blue Water Bridge Authority C-210. 1r, 4170; 2r, 4201, subject matter ref to com, 4203; rep on subject matter, 4235; re-statement on order paper, 4236; 2r, 4236; 3r, 4237; r.a., 4403
- Borrowing Authority 1986-87, (No.2) C-40. 1r, 620; 2r, 637, 707; ref to com, 711; rep with comments, 736; 3r, 747; r.a., 752
- Borrowing Authority, 1988-89 C-109. 1r, 2825; 2r, 2847; ref to com, 2848; rep without amdt, 2880; 3r, 2880; r.a., 2890
- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements C-68. 1r, 1865; 2r, 1874, 1881; ref to com, 1883; rep without amdt, 1898; 3r, 1913; r.a., 1919
- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements C-126. 1r, 4037; 2r, 4090, 4137; ref to Committee of the Whole, 4149; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Brenda Robertson in the Chair, Hon. Tom Hockin, Minister of State (Finance) taking part in the debate, 4139; rep without amdt, 4143; 3r, 4167; r.a., 4169
- Broadcasting C-136. 1r, 4522; 2r, 4527, 4546, 4550; ref to com, 4557;
- Canada Agricultural Products C-141. 1r, 3789; 2r, 3868; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3871; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre Blais, Minister of State (Agriculture) taking part in the debate, 3872; rep without amdt, 3879; 3r, 3890; r.a., 3893
- Canada Child Care C-144. 1r, 4483; 2r, 4492, 4507; ref to com, 4517;
- Canada Grain C-112. 1r, 4111; 2r, 4145; ref to com, 4147; rep without amdt, 4174; 3r, 4189; r.a., 4203
- Canada Labour Code C-97. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2390, 2445; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2446; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 2484; rep without amdt, 2485; 3r, 2486; r.a., 2510
- Canada Labour Code C-124. 1r, 3917; 2r, 3923, 3993; ref to com, 3993; rep without amdt, 4017; 3r, 4046; r.a., 4109

Bills, Commons—Cont'd

- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation C-6. 1r, 562; 2r, 573, 629; 3r, 676; r.a., 752
- Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation C-75. 1r, 3918; 2r, 3924, 3994; ref to com, 3995; rep without amdt, 4056; 3r, 4090; r.a., 4109
- Canada Petroleum Resources C-5. 1r, 73; 2r, 101, 144; ref to com, 148; rep without amdt, 187; 3r, 198; r.a., 226
- Canada Shipping C-39. 1r, 562; 2r, 576, 613; ref to com, 613; rep with comments, 736; 3r, 763; r.a., 776
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation C-130. 1r, 4235; 2r, 4264, 4317, 4355, 4366, 4383, 4409, 4439; ref to com, on div, 4449;
- Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization C-25. 1r, 362; 2r, 377; 3r, 398; r.a., 415
- Canadian Centre for Management Development C-148. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4227, 4362, 4451; ref to com, 4454;
- Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse C-143. 1r, 4235; 2r, 4280, 4333; ref to com, 4335; rep with comments, 4378; 3r, 4378; r.a., 4403
- Canadian Environmental Protection C-74. 1r, 3328; 2r, 3386, 3561; ref to com, 3564; rep with amdt, 3653, 3674; 3r, 3687; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdt, 3748; r.a., 3778
- Canadian Exploration and Development Incentive Program C-59. 1r, 1212; 2r, 1281, 1303; 3r, 1304; r.a., 1416
- Canadian Exploration Incentive Program C-137. 1r, 3748; 2r, 3800, 3865; ref to com, 3865, rep with amdt, 4016; 3r, 4017; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdt, 4056; r.a., 4109
- Canadian International Trade Tribunal C-110. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4103, 4120; ref to com, 4127; rep with comments, 4333; 3r, 4355; r.a., 4403
- Canadian Multiculturalism C-93. 1r, 3987; 2r, 4008; ref to com, 4015; rep without amdt, 4017; 3r, 4046; r.a., 4109
- Canadian Wheat Board C-92. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4104, 4152; ref to com, 4153; rep with comments, 4198; 3r, 4199; r.a., 4203
- Canagrex Dissolution C-2. 1r, 1810; 2r, 1861; ref to com, 1864; rep with observations, 1876; 3r, 1886; r.a., 1919
- Cape Breton Development Corporation C-127. 1r, 3419; 2r, 3465, 3519; ref to com, 3520; rep without amdt, 3636; 3r, 3658; r.a., 3667
- Citizenship (period of residence) C-254. 1r, 2156; 2r, 2306; ref to com, 2307; rep without amdt, 2349; 3r, 2383; r.a., 2510
- Coastal Fisheries Protection C-26. 1r, 289; 2r, 307, 343; 3r, 365; r.a., 415
- Coasting Trade and Commercial Marine Activities C-52. 1r, 2954; 2r, 3066, 3259; ref to com, 3259
- Copyright C-60. 1r, 2633; 2r, 2644, 2767; ref to com, 2769; rep with amdt, 2930, 3243, 3254, 3267; 3r, 3270; message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amdt, 3419, 3463; m in amdt ref to com, 3464; rep with recommendation, 3509, 3550; r.a., 3635
- Corporations and Labour Unions Returns C-91. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2561; ref to com, 2562; rep without amdt, 2653; 3r, 2763; r.a., 2890
- Criminal Code and Canada Evidence C-15. 1r, 1333; 2r, 1413, 1488, 1525; 3r, 1527; r.a., 1590
- Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control C-61. 1r, 3917; 2r, 3922, 3992; ref to com, 3993; rep with comments, 4237; 3r, 4263; r.a., 4403
- Criminal Code, Immigration Act, 1976 and Citizenship C-71. 1r, 1754; 2r, 1783, 1787; ref to com, 1790; rep without amdt, 1803; 3r, 1812; r.a., 1854

Bills, Commons—Cont'd

- Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) C-264. 1r, 4212; 2r, 4213; ref to com, 4217; rep without amdt, 4221; 3r, 4242; r.a., 4403
- Criminal Code (torture) C-28. 1r, 779; 2r, 833, 878; ref to com, 878; rep without amdt, 897; 3r, 910; r.a., 929
- Criminal Code (victims of crime) C-89. 1r, 3287; 2r, 3338, 3430; ref to com, 3431; rep with comments, 3919; 3r, 3991; r.a., 4109
- Currency C-99. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2559, 2586; ref to com, 2587; rep without amdt, 2757; 3r, 2757; r.a., 2890
- Customs C-80. 1r, 1563; 2r, 1563; 3r, 1564; r.a., 1590
- Customs Tariff and Duties Relief C-69. 1r, 1554; 2r, 1554; 3r, 1556; r.a., 1590
- Customs Tariff C-87. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2386, 2443; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2444; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Thomas Hockin, Minister of State (Finance) taking part in the debate, 2475; rep without amdt, 2479; 3r, 2479; r.a., 2510
- Customs Tariff C-118. 1r, 3222; 2r, 3255, 3270; ref to com, 3271; rep without amdt, 3349; 3r, 3386; r.a., 3488
- Customs Tariff C-135 (code 9956). 1r, 3748; 2r, 3759; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3760; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Tom Hockin, Minister of State (Finance), Carol Nelder-Corvari, Dept of Finance taking part in the debate, 3760; rep without amdt, 3764; 3r, 3764; r.a., 3778
- Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture C-121. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4098; ref to com, 4103; rep without amdt, 4110; 3r, 4137; r.a., 4168
- Electoral Boundaries Readjustment (Chapleau) C-308. 1r, 4110; 2r, 4125, 4143; 3r, 4144; r.a., 4169
- Emergencies C-77. 1r, 3243; 2r, 3255, 3318, 3403, 3425; ref to com, 3429, 3468; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3468; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Gildas L. Molgat or Hon. Eymard G. Corbin in the Chair, Hon. H. Perrin Beatty, Minister of National Defence, Mr. W. Snarr, Mr. H.J.L. Molot, Ms. M. Ann Sunahara, taking part in the debate, 3526, 3578, 3623, 3716, 3766; rep with amdt, 3774; 3r, 3774; message from Commons of agreement with Senate amdt, 3917; r.a., 4109
- Emergency Preparedness C-76. 1r, 2825; 2r, 2883, 2908; ref to com, 2909; rep without amdt, 2974; 3r, 3068; r.a., 3251
- Excise Tax and Excise C-14. 1r, 310; 2r, 350, 370; 3r, 398; r.a., 415
- Excise Tax and Excise C-117. 1r, 3508; 2r, 3559, 3575; ref to com, 3477; rep without amdt, 3636; 3r, 3658; r.a., 3667
- Excise Tax C-101. 1r, 2470; 2r, 2473; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2475; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Thomas Hockin, Minister of State (Finance) taking part in the debate, 2479; rep without amdt, 2484; 3r, 2484; r.a., 2510
- Export and Import Permits C-57. 1r, 1117; 2r, 1127; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1129; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Mr. John McDermaid, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of International Trade taking part in the debate, 1129; rep without amdt, 1131; 3r, 1131; r.a., 1135
- Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans C-78. 1r, 1565; 2r, 1565; 3r, 1569; r.a., 1590
- Farm Improvement Loans C-31. 1r, 289; 2r, 309, 346; 3r, 366; r.a., 415
- Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-Secondary Education and Health Contributions, 1977 C-44. 1r, 900; 2r, 910, 3r, 916; r.a., 929
- Financial Institutions C-56. 1r, 1550; 2r, 1550; 3r, 1554; r.a., 1590

Bills, Commons—Cont'd

- Financial Institutions and Deposit Insurance System Amendment C-42. 1r, 1505; 2r, 1531; 3r, 1534; r.a., 1590
- Fisheries Improvement Loans C-32. 1r, 289; 2r, 309, 349; 3r, 366; r.a., 415
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts C-62. 1r, 1570; 2r, 1570; 3r, 1571; r.a., 1590
- Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation C-96. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2560, 2587; ref to com, 2587; rep without amdt, 2654; 3r, 2763; r.a. 2890
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 C-103. 1r, 3348; 2r, 3431, 3497, 3514; ref to com, 3519; m to instruct com to divide C-103 into two bills, 3566, 3598; rep on Part 1 (Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency) without amdt, 3885; message to Commons of division of bill and passage of Part 1, 3888; message from Commons of disagreement with Senate division and request for return of bill undivided, m to ref to com, 4040; message from Commons, bill attached, 4056, 4112; ref to com, 4118; order for division of bill rescinded, 4194; rep without amdt, 4194; 3r, 4198; r.a., 4203
- Hazardous Products and other Statues C-70. 1r, 1571; 2r, 1572; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1574; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Jean-Maurice Simard in the Chair, Hon. Harvie Andre, Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs and Mr. Morris Rosenberg, Legal Counsel taking part in the debate, 1574; rep without amdt, 1579; 3r, 1579; r.a., 1590
- Heritage Railway Station Protection C-205. 1r, 4212; 2r, 4244; ref to com, 4246; rep with comments, 4378; ref back to com, 4407; rep without amdt, 4456; 3r, 4468, 4474; r.a., 4482
- Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited C-98. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2391, 2446; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2447; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre H. Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate 2486; rep without amdt, 2489; 3r, 2490; r.a., 2510
- Immigration, 1976 C-34. 1r, 409; 2r, 409; ref to Committee of the Whole, 410; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Gerry Weiner, Minister of State (Immigration) taking part in the debate, 410; rep without amdt, 412; 3r, 412; r.a., 415
- Immigration, 1976 C-55. 1r, 2052; 2r, 2065, 2081, 2099; ref to com, 2119; rep with amdt and observations, 3349, 3395; 3r, 3402; message from Commons re acceptance, rejection or addition of certain amdt, 3707; revised message from Commons, 3748, 3764; ref to com, 4020; rep with recommendation, 4057, 4058, 4086; r.a., 4109
- Immigration, 1976 C-84. 1r, 1810; 2r, 1813, 1846; ref to com, 1851; rep with amdt, 2374; 3r, 2379; message from Commons, 2649, 2657, 2724; m for concurrence in Commons amdt and for non-insistence on Senate amdt, 2724, 2759; message and m ref to com, 2763; rep with amdt, 2974; 3r, 2976; message to Commons, 2976; message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdt and non-insistence on Senate amdt, 3996; ref to com, 4020; rep with recommendation, 4057, 4064; 4087; r.a., 4109
- Income Tax and a related Act C-23. 1r, 355; 2r, 373; 3r, 398; r.a., 415
- Income Tax and Related Acts C-139. 1r, 4212; 2r, 4231; ref to com, 4234; rep with comments, 4311; 3r, 4355; r.a., 4403
- Income Tax C-11. 1r, 73; 2r, 103; 3r, 121; r.a., 182
- Income Tax C-64. 1r, 2318; 2r, 2344; ref to com, 2348; rep with observations, 2380; 3r, 2443; r.a., 2510

Bills, Commons—Cont'd

- Indian C-115. 1r, 3582; 2r, 3638; ref to com, 3640; rep with amdt, 3685; 3r, 3685; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdts, 3748; r.a., 3778
- Indian (death rules) C-150. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4226; ref to com, 4227; rep without amdt, 4257; 3r, 4314; r.a., 4403
- Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) C-123. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4225, 4281; ref to com, 4281; rep with comments, 4349; 3r, 4366; r.a., 4403
- Indian Lands Agreement (1986) C-73. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4091; ref to com, 4093; rep without amdt, 4110; 3r, 4137; r.a., 4168
- International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development C-147. 1r, 4383; 2r, 4419; ref to com, 4420; rep with amdts, comments and recommendation, 4540; 4557; 3r, as amended, 4560; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdts, 4561; r.a., 4562
- Judges C-88. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2384; ref to com, 2386; rep without amdt, 2471; 3r, 2471; r.a., 2510
- Judges, Federal Court and Tax Court of Canada C-41. 1r, 1333; 2r, 1415, 1433; 3r, 1434; r.a., 1590
- Lobbyists Registration C-82. 1r, 4110; 2r, 4125, 4144; ref to com, 4145; rep with comments, 4258; 3r, 4314; r.a., 4403
- Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 C-24. 1r, 210; 2r, 211; ref to Committee of the Whole, 216; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 216; rep without amdt, 226; 3r, 226; r.a., 226
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 C-85. 1r, 1754; 2r, 1758; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1765; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Gildas L. Molgat in the Chair, Hon. Pierre H. Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 1765; rep without amdt, 1773; 3r, 1773; r.a., 1774
- Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment, 1987 C-104. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2539, 2559; 3r, 2586; r.a., 2651
- Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 C-19. 1r, 1413; 2r, 1434, 1481; ref to com, 1487; rep with amdts, 1641, 1662; 3r, 1704; concurrence by Commons in Senate amdts, 1754; r.a., 1774
- Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters C-58. 1r, 3918; 2r, 3926, 3997; ref to com, 3997; rep with observations, 4167; 3r, 4168; r.a., 4168
- National Archives of Canada C-7. 1r, 419; 2r, 429, 454; ref to com, 455; rep without amdt, 501; 3r, 532; r.a., 752
- National Capital C-153. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4228; ref to com, 4231; rep without amdt, 4311; 3r, 4355; r.a., 4403
- National Housing and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation C-111. 1r, 3789; 2r, 3890; ref to com, 3892; rep without amdt, 3919; 3r, 3991; r.a., 4109
- National Parks C-30. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4107, 4167; ref to com, 4167; rep without amdt, 4186; 3r, 4200; r.a., 4203
- National Transportation, 1987 C-18. 1r, 1297; 2r, 1316, 1436, 1487; ref to com, 1488; rep with amdts, 1640; 3r, 1702; concurrence by Commons in Senate amdts, 1754; r.a., 1774
- National Transportation, 1987 C-131. 1r, 3707; 2r, 3775; ref to com, 3776; rep without amdt, 3793; 3r, 3865; r.a., 3893
- Non-Smokers' Health C-204. 1r, 3547; 2r, 3591, 3621; ref to com, 3623; rep without amdt, 3653; 3r, 3673, 3714, 3765; r.a., 3778
- Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) C-125. 1r, 3069; 2r, 3236; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3239; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. William McKnight, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development taking part in the debate, 3239; rep without amdt, 3242; 3r, 3242; r.a., 3251

Bills, Commons—Cont'd

- Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon Assets Disposal Authorization C-45. 1r, 759; 2r, 772; 3r, 775; r.a., 776
- Official Languages C-72. 1r, 3885; 2r, 3998, 4021; ref to com, 4031; rep without amdt, 4084; 3r, 4118, 4132; r.a., 4168
- Patent C-22. 1r, 971; 2r, 997, 1029, 1059, 1344, 1400; ref to com, 1408; rep of com, 1619; rep with amdts, 1640, 1673; ref back to com, 1685; rep with amdts, 1704; 3r, 1730, m in amdt, neg, 1743; message to Commons, 1748; message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, 1775; m to ref message to com, 1785, 1790; m in amdt, 1799; neg, 1801; ref to com, 1801; rep of com, 1991, 2084, 2090; message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence upon certain Senate amdts, 2156, 2184, 2212; m to explore possibility of free conference, 2179; message to Commons of Senate concurrence, 2224; r.a., 2228
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) C-259. 1r, 1314; 2r, 1408; ref to com, 1411; rep with amdt, 1448; 3r, 1448;
- Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War C-100. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2392; 3r, 2396; r.a., 2510
- Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax and Income Tax C-17. 1r, 403; 2r, 403; 3r, 406; r.a., 415
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 C-86. 1r, 1960; 2r, 1960; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1970; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Gildas L. Molgat in the Chair, Hon. Pierre H. Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 1970; rep without amdt, 1982; 3r, 1982; r.a., 1983
- Prairie Grain Advance Payments C-12. 1r, 563; 2r, 588, 608; 3r, 629; r.a., 752
- Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations C-106. 1r, 2518; 2r, 2518; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2522; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre H. Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 2522; rep without amdt, 2529; 3r, 2529; r.a., 2530
- Quebec Courts Amendment C-145. 1r, 4170; 2r, 4189; ref to com, 4190; rep without amdt, 4199; 3r, 4199; r.a., 4203
- Radio C-3. 1r, 619; 2r, 676, 704; 3r, 744; r.a., 752
- Railway C-4. 1r, 289; 2r, 303; 3r, 340; r.a., 415
- Railway Safety C-105. 1r, 3419; 2r, 3465, 3520, 3552; ref to com, 3559; rep with amdt, 3885, 4007, 4048; 3r, 4058; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdt, 4110; r.a., 4168
- Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985 C-94. 1r, 2302; 2r, 2361; ref to com, 2362; rep without amdt, 2471; 3r, 2471; r.a., 2510
- Royal Canadian Mint and Currency C-46. 1r, 2118; 2r, 2154, 2168; ref to com, 2171; rep without amdt, 2286; 3r, 2305; r.a., 2510
- Salaries C-36. 1r, 412; 2r, 413; 3r, 413; r.a., 415
- Senate and House of Commons C-20. 1r, 289; 2r, 305; 3r, 340; r.a., 415
- Senate and House of Commons C-83. 1r, 1984; 2r, 2643, 2764, 3438; ref to com, 3450;
- Shipping Conferences Exemption, 1987 C-21. 1r, 1505; 2r, 1528; 3r, 1531; r.a., 1590
- Small Businesses Loans C-63. 1r, 1561; 2r, 1561; 3r, 1563; r.a., 1590
- Softwood Lumber Products Export Charge C-37. 1r, 1048; 2r, 1075, 1095; 3r, 1127; r.a., 1135
- Supreme Court C-53. 1r, 2068; 2r, 2080, 2098; ref to com, 2099; rep without amdt, 2207; 3r, 2225; r.a., 2228
- Tax Court of Canada C-146. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4242, 4263; ref to com, 4264; rep without amdt, 4404; 3r, 4439; r.a., 4482

Bills, Commons—Cont'd

- Tele globe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture C-38. 1r, 779; 2r, 819; 3r, 822; r.a., 827
- Territorial Lands C-43. 1r, 759; 2r, 769; 3r, 772; r.a., 776
- Tobacco Products Control C-51. 1r, 3547; 2r, 3588, 3661; ref to com, 3662; rep without amdt, 3751; 3r, 3764; r.a., 3778
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 C-16. 1r, 406; 2r, 406; 3r, 408; r.a., 415
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 C-90. 1r, 2229; 2r, 2293, 2305; ref to com, 2306; rep with recommendation, 2349; 3r, 2382; r.a., 2510
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 C-116. 1r, 2930; 2r, 2932; 2957; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2958; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Benoit Bouchard, Minister of Employment and Immigration taking part in the debate, 2963; rep without amdt, 2964; 3r, 2964; r.a., 2969
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 C-158. 1r, 4522; 2r, 4529, 4542; ref to Committee of the Whole, 4543; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Mr. Jim Hawkes, Parliamentary Secretary to Deputy Prime Minister taking part in the debate, 4543; rep without amdt, 4546; 3r, 4557; r.a., 4562
- Unemployment Insurance Benefit Entitlement Adjustments (Pension Payments) C-50. 1r, 1212; 2r, 1219, 1249; 3r, 1280; r.a., 1416
- Veterans Appeal Board C-66. 1r, 1463; 2r, 1493, 1527; 3r, 1528; r.a., 1590
- Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement C-102. 1r, 2930; 2r, 2958, 3224; ref to com, 3225; rep with amdt, 3317, 3341, 3434, 3447; 3r, 3473; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdt, 3572; r.a., 3635
- Western Economic Diversification C-113. 1r, 3348; 2r, 3389; ref to com, 3395; rep without amdt, 3572; 3r, 3588; r.a., 3635
- Western Grain Stabilization C-132. 1r, 4112; 4148; ref to com, 4152; rep without amdt, 4174; 3r, 4189; r.a., 4203

Bills, Private, Senate

- Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945 S-3. 1r, 121; 2r, 168; ref to com, 169; rep with amdt, 232, 247; 3r, 266; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 288; r.a., 415
- Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society S-14. 1r, 2090; 2r, 2119, 2127; ref to com, 2127; rep without amdt, 2240; 3r, 2293; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 2500; r.a., 2510
- Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited S-21. 1r, 4311; 2r, 4374; ref to com, 4374; rep without amdt, 4437; 3r, 4439; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 4557; r.a., 4562
- Montreal Trust Company of Canada S-17. 1r, 3616; 2r, 3659; ref to com, 3661; rep without amdt, 3751; 3r, 3800; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 3996; r.a., 4109
- Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei S-7. 1r, 830; 2r, 852, 1064, 1150, 1284, 1494, 1851, 2069; ref to com 2069; rep with amdt, 3472, 3495, 3513, 3592, 3804, 4190
- Windsor-Detroit Tunnel S-11. 1r, 1213; 2r, 1252, 1280; ref to com, 1281; rep with amdt, 1432; 3r, 1433; message from Commons that bill passed without amendment, 1563; r.a., 1590
- Yellowknife Electric Ltd. S-10. 1r, 1117; 2r, 1148; ref to com, 1149; rep without amdt, 1214; 3r, 1248; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 2118; r.a., 2228

Bills, Public, Senate

- Citizenship (foreign spouses) S-8. 1r, 901; 2r, 1063, 1255; ref to com, 1256; rep with amdt, 1890, 1913; 3r, 1914;

Bills, Public, Senate—Cont'd

- Constitution Act, 1867 (Attendance of Senators) S-13. 1r, 1393
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualifications of Senators) S-12. 1r, 1335; 2r, 2307, 2360, 2661, 2819; ref to com, 2819;
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate) S-20. 1r, 4235; 2r, 4360, 4471, 4533
- Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) S-16. 1r, 3420; 2r, 3476, 3690, 3801, 3865, 4123, 4281
- Food and Drugs S-6. 1r, 780; 2r, 834, 852; ref to com, 852; rep without amdt, 935; 3r, 963; r.a., 1590
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts S-9. 1r, 990; 2r, 1035; ref to com, 1037; withdrawn, 1050
- Hazardous Products (tobacco and tobacco products) S-4. 1r, 186; 2r, 371, 595; ref to com, 596; bill withdrawn, 3621
- Immigration, 1976 S-18. 1r, 3653; 2r, 3687, 3776; ref to com, 3777; rep without amdt, 4018; 3r, 4048
- Income Tax Conventions S-2. 1r, 61; 2r, 81, 100; ref to com, 101; rep with amdt, 186; 3r, 187; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 262; r.a., 278
- Marriage (Prohibited Degrees) S-5. 1r, 501; 2r, 592, 664, 795; ref to com, 795; rep without amdt, 1117; 3r, 1249;
- Patent S-15. 1r, 2722; 2r, 2783, 2831, 2960, 3450, 3641, 3715; ref to com, 3716; interim rep of com, 4404, 4449; rep with comments, 4503; 3r, 4530;
- Railways S-1 (pro forma). 1r, 9
- Royal Assent S-19. 1r, 4056; 2r, 4122, 4462

Binavince, Emilio, Canadian Ethnocultural Council

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2563

Blais, Hon. Pierre, Minister of State for Agriculture

- Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3872

Bliss, Dr. Michael, Department of History, University of Toronto

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2336

Blue Water Bridge Authority

- Increase in transport of hazardous goods, 4201
- Indemnity of Canadian members, 4201
- Piggybacking, 4202
- Subject matter referred to committee, 4203

Speakers: Senators

- Frith, Royce, 4201
- Kelly, William M., 4201

- Blue Water Bridge Authority bill C-210. 1r, 4170; 2r, 4201, subject matter ref to com, 4203; rep on subject matter, 4235; rein-statement on order paper, 4236; 2r, 4236; 3r, 4237; r.a., 4403

Bolduc, Hon. Roch (introduced in the Senate Sept. 28/88), 4501Bonnell, Hon. M. Lorne*Agriculture

- Acid rain, effect on maple syrup production in Quebec, government action, qu, 4262, 4490
- Eastern potato farmers, commitment by former minister, qu, 4465
- Potato industry
- Inspection fees, request for reduction, qu, 1871
 - New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island
 - Effect of imposition of excise tax on potato chips, qu, 1397
 - Potato stabilization payments for 1986 crop year, qu, 1845
 - Prince Edward Island, government assistance, qu, 3585, 3714
 - Subsidy payment for 1985 crop year, government action, qu, 1871, 1954

Bonnell, Hon. M. Lorne—Cont'd

- Agriculture—Cont'd
 - Minister's statement, 1173
 - Request for text of telex from Premier of Prince Edward Island, 36, 58, 80
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
 - Ganong, David, status of, approval of payments to board members, investigation of alleged loan irregularities, qu, 4020, 4035
 - Minister's statement, 1173
 - Prince Edward Island, application for grant for manufacture of potato bags, qu, 3757
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee report
 - 32nd, Interim report on Patent bill S-15, 4449
- Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141, 3871
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3873
 - Potato inspection, 3871
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 497, 512, 538
- Canada Post Corporation
 - Atlantic provinces, post office closures and amalgamations, qu, 235
 - Loss of die for new one-dollar coin, qu, 527, 586
 - Minister responsible, replacement, qu, 487, 488
 - Murray River, Prince Edward Island, closing of post office, presentation of petitions, 849, 903, 934, 990
 - Prince Edward Island, closing of rural post offices
 - Government policy, qu, 625
 - Rural post offices, 4491
 - Rural post offices, closing, government policy, qu, 425, 569
 - Security of new mail boxes, qu, 236
 - Transfer of post offices to private enterprise, number and location in Atlantic Canada, qu, 3617
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Inclusion of Canada's fresh water resource, qu, 3492, 3493
- Canada-United States relations
 - Bilateral trade, tariff on U.S. Christmas trees and English-language books, removal, qu, 435, 486
- Canada Winter Games, 1991
 - Request by Premier of Prince Edward Island for ACOA funding, qu, 3494
- Canadian sovereignty
 - The north, government policy, qu, 194, 299
 - Request for text of telex from Premier of Prince Edward Island, qu, 36, 58, 80
- Constitution
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2188
- Drug trafficking
 - Coastal protection, government action, qu, 487, 569
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3767
- Energy
 - Georges Bank drilling moratorium, preparation of legislation for Nova Scotia, qu, 3494
- Environment
 - Prince Edward Island
 - Alleged pollution of Hillsborough harbour, request for government assistance, qu, 361
 - Effect of pollution from sunken vessel "Irving Whale", qu, 2723, 2883
- External Affairs
 - Helsinki, Finland, reconsideration of proposal to close Canadian embassy, declaration of support, qu, 673
- Federal-provincial relations
 - Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 553

Bonnell, Hon. M. Lorne—Cont'd

- Federal-provincial relations—Cont'd
 - Equalization payments
 - Atlantic provinces, government policy, qu, 292
 - Provincial action, qu, 487, 628
 - Manitoba, Quebec and Prince Edward Island, qu, 296
- Fisheries
 - Canada-France agreement
 - Denial of threat to Premier of Newfoundland, qu, 531
 - Federal-provincial consultations, representation, qu, 506
 - Fish allocations, effect on northern cod stocks, qu, 423
 - Unanimity of cabinet decision, qu, 422
 - Mussel industry, government assistance, qu, 2304, 2491
 - Provision of fish to victims of natural disasters, government assistance, qu, 4405
 - Toxic mussels, progress of research, qu, 2723, 2883
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report
 - 14th, budget of Special Committee on study of subject matter of Bill C-22, 973, 1003
- Inter-Parliamentary Union
 - Seventy-eighth Conference, Bangkok, Thailand, 2547, 2661
 - See appendices p. 2672, 2721
 - Seventy-seventh Conference, Managua, Nicaragua, 1025, 1352
 - AIDS, 1353
 - Commemoration of 1989 centenary, 1353
- National defence
 - Nuclear-powered submarines, suggested purchase of British vessels, qu, 4439, 4490
 - Poisonous nerve gases, spraying of, qu, 3657, 3921
- Official languages
 - Alberta legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, qu, 3756
- Official Languages Committee report
 - 4th, recommendations re implementation of Official Languages Act, 1395
- Organ Donor Week, 899
- Patent bill C-22, 1744
 - Agricultural costs increase, 1744
 - Forestry and fishery concerns, 1744
 - Job loss, 1744
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2220
 - Message to Commons, 1748
 - Research and development costs to be borne by the rich, 1744
- Patent bill S-15, 2722, 2783
 - Drug companies' integrity re price increases following pledge to consider CPI, 2784
 - Merck Frosst, pricing, 2785
 - Power of Patented Medicine Prices Review Board, 2783
 - Rising insurance rates due to rising drug costs, 2784
- Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War bill C-100, 2394
 - Proclamation date, 2394
 - Residency requirement, 2394
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug price increases
 - Request for resignation of consumer affairs minister, qu, 2536, 2548
 - Rollback, government action, qu, 2532
 - Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, qu, 234
- Prescription drug prices
 - Proposed Patent Act amendment, effect, presentation of petitions, 780, 845, 971, 1025, 1333

Bonnell, Hon. M. Lorne—Cont'd

Prince Edward Island

- Equal application of benefits under provisions of B.N.A. act, qu, 3757
- Marine Atlantic ferry rates, increase in, qu, 2354, 2724
- Proposed fixed crossing to mainland
 - Availability of studies to members of Parliament, qu, 2163, 2292
 - Basis of awarding contract, qu, 2163
 - Credibility of government, qu, 2164
 - Icebreaking ferries, disposal of, qu, 2354
 - Minister of the Environment, status, qu, 2549
 - P.E.I. conditions precedent to preparation of proposals, qu, 2549
 - Possibility of referendum, qu, 2162
 - Railway link, qu, 2164, 2358
 - Request for cost estimates, veracity of newspaper statement, environmental impact of fixed crossing, creation of jobs in province, qu, 4460
 - Upgrading of highways, qu, 2354

Prince Edward Island, problems of transportation, inquiry, 3793

Problems of the aged, inquiry, 2956, 3271

- Abuse, 3273
- Community involvement, 3272
- Health care, 3272
- Housing, 3272
- Population increase in over-65 group, 3271
- Preparedness, 3272
- Projections for next quarter century, 3272
- Subject matter ref to com, 3274
- Transportation, 3272

Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute on retirement, 1839

Senate

- Business, 1696
- Filling of vacancies, role of provinces and territories, qu, 2209

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

- Childhood poverty and adult social problems, authority to study relationship, 3439
- Poverty, definitions and concepts, 3440

Reports

- 2nd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar. 31/87, 263
 - See appendix p. 280
- 10th, Unemployment Insurance, 1971, with recommendation, 2349
- 11th, Citizenship bill C-254, rep without amdt, 2349
- 18th, "Sharing the Responsibility", special House of Commons rep on child care, tabled, 3918
 - See appendix p. 3933
- 19th, National Housing, Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation bill C-111, without amdt, 3919
- 20th, Canada Labour Code bill C-124, without amdt, 4017
- 21st, Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, without amdt, 4017
- 22nd, Immigration, 1976 bill S-18, without amdt, 4018
- "Sharing the Responsibility", Special House of Commons Committee report, extension of deadline for presentation of report on, 3794

Sparrow, Hon. Herbert O., felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Science, 3616

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22

- Availability of translation of report, 1336, 1348
- Final report, timing, 1246
- Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 936, 963

Bonnell, Hon. M. Lorne—Cont'd

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22—Cont'd

Reports

- 2nd, extracts from minutes of committee proceedings, 1245, 1638
 - See appendix p. 1264
- 3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1358, 1630
 - See appendix p. 1375
- 4th, authority to engage services, 1472, 1473
- 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1619
- 6th, with amdts, observations, recommendations and recognition of dissenting opinion, 1640
 - Point of order, 1673
 - Referred back to committee, 1685
 - See appendix p. 1652
- 7th, with amdts, recommendations and observations, 1704

Sport

- Johnson, Ben, alleged mistreatment of World Champion Sprinter by Vancouver airport customs officials, government action, qu, 1871
- 1991 Canada Winter Games, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, government assistance, qu, 4019

Supreme court of Canada

- Appointment of Justice, provisions of Meech Lake Accord, qu, 3473

Transport

- Establishment of Canadian merchant marine, qu, 4380
- Northumberland Strait, proposed fixed crossing, number and nature of proposals, announcement by Prime Minister, qu, 4262
 - Public hearings on impact on fisheries of proposed fixed crossing, environmental study, qu, 4381, 4407
- Prince Edward Island
 - CN rail system, status of, prospective federal-provincial agreement, qu, 3711, 3990
 - Consultations on design of ferry, relocation of terminal, qu, 3584, 3920, 4132
 - Highway construction, government funding, qu, 3657
 - Proposed tunnel or causeway to mainland, qu, 58, 194, 236, 1787, 1874
 - Feasibility study, qu, 296, 361
 - Retention of dredges, qu, 4380

Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, establishment of permanent link, environmental impact, qu, 1845, 1954

Prince Edward Island-Nova Scotia ferry, government policy, qu, 194

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-90, 2383

Veterans Affairs

- War veterans allowance, eligibility and criteria for, qu, 3656, 4085

War Veterans Allowance and Civilian War Pensions and Allowances, motion re government consideration of amendment of legislation, inquiry, 3446, 3469

Exposure to radiation, 3470

Needy widows of veterans, 3470

Nursing home facilities, 3471

Veterans who clean up after war, 3470

War Veterans Allowance, inquiry, 2791, 3319

Financial support for veterans living abroad, 3319

Recognition for Korean War service, 3319

Treasury Board responsibility, 3321

Borrowing authority (Bill C-40)

Income tax refund seasonal demand, 637

Non-lapsing $2 million reserve, 637

Procedural deviation, 709

"Temporary loans", 748

Borrowing authority (Bill C-40)—Cont'd

Timing, 708, 749
Volatile exchange markets, 637

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 637
Flynn, Jacques, 749
Frith, Royce, 638
MacEachen, Allan J., 711
Stewart, John B., 708

See also National Finance Committee

Borrowing Authority 1986-87 (No. 2) bill C-40. 1r, 620; 2r, 637, 707; ref to com, 711; rep with comments, 736; 3r, 747; r.a., 752

Borrowing authority (Bill C-109)Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 2847
Stewart, John B., 2848

Borrowing Authority 1988-89 bill C-109. 1r, 2825; 2r, 2847; ref to com, 2848; rep without amdt, 2880; 3r, 2880; r.a., 2890

Bosa, Hon. Peter

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 170

Air disaster

Ramstein Air Base, West Germany, collision of Italian Air Force demonstration team aircraft, condolences, 4211

Arms control, 171

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, 170

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 495, 663

Canada-Iran relations

Normalization of diplomatic relations, government policy, qu,
3795

Canadian Centre for Management Development bill C-148, 4362

Funds, 4363

Universities' established programs, 4363

Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4010, 4047

Canadian identities program, 4010

History of policy, 4010

Implementation, 4012

Parliamentary Secretary to Minister of Multiculturalism, 4012

Ten policy statements, 4012

Citizenship bill C-254, 2306, 2383

Spouses of diplomats and armed forces personnel, 2306

Status of bill, request for Speaker's ruling, 2187

Citizenship bill S-8, 901, 1063, 1913, 1915

Ministerial discretion, 1063

Residence, 1063

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3141

Amendments, 3143

Equalization of rights, 3141

Public contribution, 3143

Referral to Supreme Court, 3143

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2139, 2568, 2806, 2871, 3013

Consumer and Corporate Affairs

Departmental investigation of tobacco as hazardous substance, alleged interference by minister, qu, 627

Currency bill C-99, 2586

External Affairs

Canadian Sikh community, distribution and purport of minister's letter, qu, 2894

Foreign Affairs Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sittings, 850

Foreign trade, 171

Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C., the late, tribute, 699

Bosa, Hon. Peter—Cont'd

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, message from Commons, bill attached, 4056

Guyana, Trinidad and Tobago, goodwill visit by Canadian Parliamentary delegation, inquiry, 3864, 4052

CIDA programs, 4053

Economy of Trinidad and Tobago, 4054

Immigration

Ministerial discretion, alleged abuse, qu, 195

Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, 2100, 3402

Complexity, 2101

Multiculturalism, 2100

Refugee determination system, 2101

"Safe countries", 2101

Sponsored immigration, 2100

Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, 1849

Application backlog, 1849

Queue jumping, 1850

Refugee assistance an indictable offence, 1850

Immigration, 1976 bill S-18, 3687, 3777, 4018, 4047

Burnet, Jean, Professor of Sociology, quotes, 3688

Multiculturalism, 3687, 3777

Preamble, 3687

International financial system and institutions

Canada's participation, report of Foreign Affairs Committee, request for response from Department of External Affairs,
qu, 1093

International trade

Footwear, removal of import quotas, government action, qu, 336,
467, 508, 568

Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-sixth Conference, Buenos Aires, 291, 441

Agenda, 442

Apartheid, 443

Arms limitation, 443

Measures to promote equality between men and women, 444

Twelve-Plus Group, 442

Italian Parliament, Chamber of Deputies member Hon. Mario Fras-son, visit, 4311

Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, considered in
Committee of the Whole, 1769

National Archives of Canada bill C-7, 454

Archival facilities, 455

Definition of "ministerial records," 454

Exceptions to authority of National Archivist, 454

National Archives Advisory Board membership, 455

National Congress of Italian Canadians, visit, 343

National DefenceCanadian Armed Forces

"Snowbirds" aerobatic team, reciprocal visits to NATO allies,
qu, 788

Nuclear-powered submarines, Non-Proliferation Treaty, government policy, qu, 1273, 1302

National Defence Committee

"Snowbirds" visit to NATO allies, feasibility study by special committee, 1049, 1290, 1752

Northern Italy, visitors from, 1777

Ontario

Student delegation from St. Robert's Catholic High School,
Thornhill, visit, 3670

Parliament

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Timetable for introduction of enabling legislation, qu, 3351

Parliament Hill

Condition of roadways, qu, 1937, 2292

Request for answer, 2166

Bosa, Hon. Peter—Cont'd

- Parliamentary Secretaries
- Suggested appointment of senators, qu, 467
- Patent bill C-22, 1034
- Point of order, 1748
- Suggested sittings in provincial capitals, qu, 1302
- Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute on retirement, 1841
- Royal Canadian Mint and Currency bill C-46, 2168
 - Aaron, Robert, Toronto Star column, quote, 2168
 - Marketing of one-dollar coin, 2169
 - Prohibition of coin collectors on Board of Directors of Mint, 2168
 - Winter Olympic coins, 2170

Senate

- Filling of vacancies, role of provinces and territories, qu, 2210
- Question Period
- Request for answers, 2493

Terrorism

- Internationally protected persons, federal-provincial jurisdictional agreements, qu, 452

Bouchard, Hon. Benoît, Minister of Employment and Immigration

- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2963

Breton, Professor Albert, Department of Economics, University of Toronto

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2731

Bretton Woods and related agreements (Bill C-68)

- Attitude of United States, 1883
- Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency, mandate, 1874
- Preponderance of international financial organizations, 1882

Speakers: Senators

- Doody, C. William, 1874, 1882
- Hicks, Henry D., 1881

See appendix p. 1910

Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68. 1r, 1865; 2r, 1874, 1881; ref to com, 1883; rep without amdt, 1898; 3r, 1913; r.a., 1919Bretton Woods and related agreements (Bill C-126)

- Assistance for poorest developing countries, 4090
- Eligible countries, 4141
- Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility Trust, 4090, 4138
- International Monetary Fund, 4138
- Remedial measures, 3138
- United States contribution, 4140

Speakers: Senators

- MacEachen, Allan J., 4137, 4139
- Phillips, Orville H., 4090
- and
- Hockin, Hon. Tom, Minister of State (Finance), 4139

Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126. 1r, 4037; 2r, 4090, 4137; ref to Committee of the Whole, 4139; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Brenda Robertson in the Chair, Hon. Tom Hockin, Minister of State (Finance) taking part in the debate, 4139; rep without amdt, 4143; 3r, 4167; r.a., 4169British Columbia

- Allocation of federal government contracts, 18
- Queen Charlotte Islands, suggested moratorium on Lyell Island logging activity, 673, 960

British Columbia—Cont'd

- South Moresby, establishment of national park, 1247
- Breakdown of negotiations, 3547
- Reported statement by Premier, discussions between Prime Minister and Premier, 1273
- Status of negotiations, 1338, 1399
- See also Visitors

Broadcasting

- Alternative programming, 4528
- Canadian Bar Association opinion, 4555
- Canadian programming, 4528, 4556
- CBC concerns, 4550
- Community radio stations, 4553
- Foreign programming, 4556
- Juneau, Pierre, quotes, 4551
- Master antennae television, 4555
- Linguistic divisions, 4551
- Official languages, 4528
- Ostry, Bernard, quotes, 4553
- Private broadcasters' concerns, 4552
- Programming and non-programming, 4555
- Public broadcasting, 4553
- Role of CBC, 4528
- Technology-neutral, 4528
- Terms of office of chairman of CRTC and president of CBC, 4556

Speakers: Senators

- Bazin, Jean, 4527
- Frith, Royce, 4546, 4550

Broadcasting bill C-136. 1r, 4522; 2r, 4527, 4546, 4550; ref to com, 4557;Brayère, Louis "Smokey", President, Native Council of Canada

- Constitution, First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2258

Buckwold, Hon. Sidney L.

- "A People Apart—Natives in Saskatoon," special newspaper report, 118, 176

- Education, 178
- Health situation, 179
- Incarceration rates, 179
- Poverty, 179
- Saskatoon Star-Phoenix*, quotes, 177
- Self-government, 180

Aboriginal peoples

- First Ministers' Conference, March, 1987, treaty Indian representation, 674

Agriculture

- Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to refer to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3460
- Wheat, effect of deficiency payment on two-price system, qu, 336

Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1412

Reports

- 25th, Copyright bill C-60, message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amts, 3551
- 28th, Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4173
- 32nd, Patent bill S-15, interim report, 4451
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 495
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
- Wheat, effect of two-price system, qu, 1942
- Government policy re compensation to farmers, qu, 2161
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4447

Buckwold, Hon. Sidney L.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States relations
 - Acid rain, Canadian stance, comments by U.S. Interior Secretary, qu, 565, 1629
 - Canadian potash, imposition of U.S. tariff, qu, 505
 - Government action, qu, 699
 - Trade, reduction of Canadian uranium exports to United States, government action, qu, 1641, 1662
- Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization bill C-25, 379
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2856
- Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16, 3804, 3867
- Croll, Hon. David A., tribute on 50th anniversary of General Motors strike, 844
- Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), considered in Committee of the Whole, 3762
- Diefenbaker Centre, University of Saskatchewan
 - Financial crisis, request for government assistance, qu, 1175
 - Further request for government assistance, qu, 1881, 1924
 - Government action, qu, 1400
 - Government response to request for assistance, 2161
- Denis, Hon. Azellus, P.C., felicitations on eightieth birthday, 753
- Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-121, 4100
 - Environmental controls, 4102
 - Foreign ownership, 4102
 - Mining in Saskatchewan, 4101
- Energy
 - Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, government funding and action, qu, 4043
- Excise Tax and Excise bill C-117, 3575
 - Inflation, 3576
 - Sales tax or value-added tax program, 3577
 - Tax payments speed-up, 3577
- External Affairs
 - Convention on Consular Rights, review of, qu, 2980, 3101
- Haddassah-Wizo, National Executive, visit, 844
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, ref back to com, 4408
- Income Tax bill C-11, 105
 - Child Tax Credit limitations, 105
- McIntosh, Hon. Cameron Irwin, the late, former Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan, tribute, 4491
- Montreal Trust Company of Canada bill S-17, 3660
- Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3240
- Patent, 1985 bill C-22, 999, 1344, 1406
 - Drug prices review board, 1347
 - Eastman report findings, 1345
 - Free trade implications, 1346
 - Promises not worth price, 1345
 - Province of Ontario, 1346
- Patent bill C-22
 - Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, qu, 2063
 - Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2183
- Patent bill S-15, 3641
 - Bill C-22 amendments, 3643
 - Drug Prices Review Board powers, 3644
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug Prices Review Board, role of, rollback of prices, government action, qu, 2533, 2655
 - Generic drugs, removal from sale, qu, 2536, 2655

Buckwold, Hon. Sidney L.—Cont'd

- Senate
 - Privilege, motion to refer to committee, 894
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 reports
 - 2nd, extracts from minutes of committee proceedings, 1639
 - 4th report, authority to engage services, 1534
 - 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1626
 - 7th, Patent amendment bill C-22 with amends, recommendations and observations, 1708
- Tribute, on retirement as Honorary Colonel of North Saskatchewan Regiment, 3348
- War veterans, benefits legislation, inquiry, 2237

Budget speech

- Accommodation for senators in Commons Gallery, 551, 2722

Business of the Senate

- See Senate, business

Cabinet

- Conflict-of-interest inquiries, assumption of ministers' legal costs, 607, 1338
- Statements attributed to Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources, request for government action, 3424

Caccia, Hon. Charles, P.C., M.P.

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2138

Cadieux, Hon. Pierre H., Minister of Labour

- Canada Labour Code bill C-97, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2484
- Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2486
- Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, considered in Committee of the Whole, 217
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1765
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1971
- Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2523

Cairns, Professor Hugh Allan, Department of Political Science, University of British Columbia

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2739

Cameron, Hon. Donald (resigned Sept. 19/87)

- Notice of resignation, 1884
- Tributes, 1885, 1887

Canada agricultural products

- Animal products, 3878
- Canadian Board of Arbitration and Review Tribunal, 3869
- Consignment sales, 3868, 3870, 3876
- Cost recovery, 3874
- Horticultural area, 3870
- Interprovincial trade, 3876
- Potato inspection, 3871, 3873, 3875
- Regulations, 3870, 3871, 3872
- "Rollers", 3868
- Search and seizure, 3878
- Temporary exemptions, 3869, 3875

Speakers: Senators

- Bonnell, M. Lorne, 3871, 3873
- Hays, Dan, 3869, 3877
- Olson, H.A., 3870

Canada agricultural products—Cont'dSpeakers: Senators—Cont'd

Robertson, Brenda M., 3868
and

Blais, Hon. Pierre, Minister of State for Agriculture, 3872

Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141. 1r, 3789; 2r, 3868; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3871; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre Blais, Minister of State (Agriculture) taking part in the debate, 3872; rep without amdt, 3879; 3r, 3890; r.a., 3893

Canada child care

Canada Assistance Plan, 4497, 4509

Child care initiatives fund, 4493

Chronology of legislation, 4492

Commercial agencies, 4494

Consequences of delay, 4495

Cook report, findings, 4508

Cost-sharing arrangements, 4494, 4516, 4511

Japanese experience, 4508

Legislative process, 4510

Native peoples, 4494

Number of additional spaces, 4494, 4509, 4512, 4515

Opposition of witnesses, 4510

Parental participation, 4495, 4507

People in poverty, 4497, 4498

Prestudy, 4516

Provincial jurisdiction, 4494

Provincial positions, 4510

Social justice and economic justice, 4493

Standards, 4494, 4496, 4512

Tax benefits to highest income bracket, 4509

Tax component, 4493

Top-up provision, 4494

Speakers: Senators

Marsden, Lorna, 4507

MacEachen, Allan J., 4511

Robertson, Brenda M., 4492, 4514

Thériault, L. Norbert, 4496

Canada Child Care bill C-144. 1r, 4483; 2r, 4492, 4507; ref to com, 4517

Canada Cup

Congratulations to winning Canadian team, 1843

Canada Day

Provincial/territorial committees, nomination of presidents and vice-presidents, 1757

Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, fifteenth meeting, Banff, Alberta, inquiry, 1920, 2298, 3226

Dialogue on fisheries and seal hunt, 3226

Effect of grain subsidy war between EEC and United States, 3227

Speakers: Senators

Macquarrie, Heath, 3226

Olson, H.A., 3227

Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, meeting in Italy, 74, 258

Speaker: Senator

Macquarrie, Heath, 258

Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, visit to Federal Republic of Germany, 525, 1352, 1449, 1502

See appendix p. 1369

Speaker: Senator

Leblanc, Fernand-E., 1449

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement

Consideration in Committee of the Whole, availability of Canadian Ambassador to France as witness, 1196

Fishing quotas in Canadian waters, negotiations to establish, 1337, 1400

French exploration in disputed zone, role of President of France, 1197, 1214

Progress of negotiations, 1870

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Mr. B. Applebaum, Director General, International Directorate, Dept. of Fisheries and Oceans, Mr. Lorne S. Clark, Senior Negotiator for Canada- France Maritime Affairs, Dept. of External Affairs, Mr. Gordon Cummings, President and Chief Executive Officer, National Sea Products, Mr. R. Shaw, Vice-President, National Sea Products, Hon. Thomas Siddon, Minister of Fisheries and Oceans, Hon. A. Brian Peckford, Premier of Newfoundland, Mr. Michael Beliveau, Executive Secretary, Maritime Fishermen's Union, Mr. Herbert Nash, Cape Breton Local, Maritime Fishermen's Union, Mr. Jacques Haché and Mr. Gastien Godin, Association des pêcheurs professionnels acadiens taking part in the debate, 493, 508, 511, 532, 560, 644, 714, 917

Arbitration, 652, 656, 922

Biologists' recommendations, 919

"Canadian waters", disputed zone, 520, 658, 922

Colonialism, 923, 924

Depletion of cod reserves, 923

Discussions leading to "agreed record", 518

European access to northern cod, 545

Factory freezer trawlers, 537, 721, 925

Foreign overfishing on nose and tail of bank, 655

French overfishing, 537, 645, 715, 920

Government negotiation policies, 546

Industrial equality with other industries, 653

Inshore fishery, 661

Leverage with foreign nations, 652, 659

Longlining, 717

Negotiations re St. Pierre and Miquelon, 925, 928

Provincial jurisdictional presence in resource management, 649, 927

Quota transfers, 716, 921

Reports of Subcommittee on Agenda and Procedure, 508, 560, 929

Speakers: Senators

Adams, Willie, 549

Bonnell, M. Lorne, 497, 512, 538

Bosa, Peter, 495, 663

Buckwold, Sidney L., 495

Corbin, Eymard G., 533

De Bané, Pierre, 548

Doody, C. William, 494, 508, 663

Doyle, Richard J., 548

Flynn, Jacques, 540

Frith, Royce, 494, 508, 511, 525, 533, 646, 662

Godfrey, John M., 535, 660

Hicks, Henry D., 497

LeBlanc, Roméo, 496, 524, 658

MacEachen, Allan J., 493, 508, 512, 533, 545, 649

Marshall, Jack, 512, 522, 538, 653, 661

Muir, Robert, 508

Murray, Lowell, 511, 533, 645

Olson, H.A., 495, 657

Petten, William J., 660

Robichaud, Louis J., 498

Roblin, Duff, 534

Rowe, Frederick W., 543, 655

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole—Cont'd
Speakers: Senators—Cont'd
 Stewart, John B., 537
 van Roggen, George, 495, 545, 656
 and
 Applebaum, Bernard, Department of Fisheries and Oceans, 515
 Beliveau, Michael, Maritime Fishermen's Union, 715
 Clark, Lorne S., Department of External Affairs, 515
 Cummings, Gordon, National Sea Products, 536
 Godin, Gastien, Association des pêcheurs professionnels acadiens, 918
 Haché, Jacques, Association des pêcheurs professionnels acadiens, 924
 Nash, Herbert, Cape Breton Local, Maritime Fishermen's Union, 717
 Peckford, A. Brian, Premier of Newfoundland, 645
 Shaw, Robert, National Sea Products, 540, 544
 Siddon, Hon. Thomas, Minister of Fisheries and Oceans, 513, 519
See also Fisheries
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, motion to refer to Committee of the Whole, 450, 455, 468
 Agreed record printed as appendix, 440
 Motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole, 482
 Point of order, 489
 Speaker's ruling, 491
 Provincial premiers' communiqué, 473
 Referred to Committee of the Whole, 482
 Senate resolved into Committee of the Whole, 492
 Speaker's ruling, 470
 Negatived on division, 471
See appendix p. 448
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries dispute
 Senate representation at negotiations, 830, 1629
- Canada-France relations
 Grain export subsidies, representations by Prime Minister to Prime Minister of France, 1778
 President of France, visit, fisheries dispute and agricultural subsidies, President's response and authority, 1054
- Canada grain
 Limitation of protection of securities posted with commission, 4145
 Terms of office for commissioners, 4146
 Time limits for pricing deferrals, storage and payments, 4145
Speakers: Senators
 Argue, Hazen, 4146
 Olson, H.A., 4147
 Spivak, Mira, 4145
- Canada Grain bill C-112. 1r, 4111; 2r, 4145; ref to com, 4147; rep without amdt, 4174; 3r, 4189; r.a., 4203
- Canada-Iran relations
 Normalization of diplomatic relations, government policy, 3794
- Canada Labour Code (Bill C-97)
 Compulsory employer contributions re employees on leave, 2390
Speakers: Senators
 David, Paul, 2390, 2445
 Marsden, Lorna, 2445, 2484
 and
 Cadieux, Hon. Pierre H., Minister of Labour, 2484
- Canada Labour Code bill C-97. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2390, 2445; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2446; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 2484; rep without amdt, 2485; r.a., 2510
- Canada Labour Code (Bill C-124)
 Agreement process, 3993
 Cape Breton coal mines, 3924
 Compliance to extent "practicable", 3924
 Cooperative consultations, 3993
 Occupational safety and health, 3923
 Worker inspectors, 3924
Speakers: Senators
 Argue, Hazen, 4046
 Marsden, Lorna, 3993
 Spivak, Mira, 3923
- Canada Labour Code bill C-124. 1r, 3917; 2r, 3923, 3993; ref to com, 3993; rep without amdt, 4017; 3r, 4046; r.a., 4109
- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic accord implementation
 Canada-Newfoundland Offshore Petroleum Board, 573
 Dissipation of expertise, 632
 Drilling rigs exodus, 631
 Equalization payments protection, 574
 Establishment of offshore development fund, 574
 Falling oil reserves, 633
 Government role in offshore development slump, 631
 Historical difficulties, 634
 Oil-spill compensation regime, 574
 OPEC pricing policies, 633
 Priority for competitive Newfoundland goods and services, 574
 Research fund for environmental studies, 574
 Terra Nova field, 631, 637
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 573, 635
 Frith, Royce, 635
 MacEachen, Allan J., 575, 629
 Rowe, Frederick W., 634
- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation bill C-6. 1r, 562; 2r, 573, 629; 3r, 676; r.a., 752
- Canada-Nova Scotia offshore petroleum resources accord implementation
 Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board, mandate and composition, 3925
 Activities and budget, 3994
 Diminution of offshore drilling, 3995
 Protection of Georges Bank, 3926, 3994
 Shared-management regime, 3925
Speakers: Senators
 Cochrane, Ethel, 3924
 MacEachen, Allan J., 3994
- Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation bill C-75. 1r, 3918; 2r, 3924, 3994; ref to com, 3995; rep without amdt, 4056; 3r, 4090; r.a., 4109
- Canada petroleum resources (Bill C-5)
 Canadian self-sufficiency, 145, 199
 Cash flow and tax credits, 199, 202
 Complacency, 146
 Delineation, 198, 202
 Discovery license, 103
 Exploration license, 103
 Exploration Tax Credit, 202

Canada petroleum resources (Bill C-5)—Cont'd

- Geological information, 148
- New frontier energy policy, 102
- PIP grants, 199
- Production license, 103
- Profit-sensitive royalty structure, 102
- Seismic work, 146
- Unemployment, 145
- Speakers: Senators
 - Barootes, E.W., 101, 147, 201
 - Hastings, Earl A., 144
 - Hays, Dan, 146
 - Olson, H.A., 198

Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5. 1r, 73; 2r, 101, 144; ref to com, 148; rep without amdt, 187; 3r, 198; r.a., 226Canada Post Corporation, 128

- Atlantic provinces, post office closures and amalgamations, 235
- Collective bargaining, government policy, 1398
- Loss of die for new one-dollar coin, 527, 586
- Minister responsible, replacement, 487, 488
- Murray River, Prince Edward Island, closing of post office, presentation of petitions, 845, 903, 934, 990
- Norwood Grove, St. Boniface, closing of post office, 58, 236
- Postal strike
 - Appointment of mediator, government action, 1398, 1399, 1479, 1509, 1648
 - Labour policy of government, 1399
- Prince Edward Island, closing of rural post offices
 - Government policy, 625
- Purpose of creation, 4350
- Recommendation of conciliator, government action, 1398
- Rural post offices, 4491
- Rural post offices, closing, government policy, 425, 569
- Security of new mail boxes, 236
- Sponsorship of U.S. television series "Amerika," 526, 586
- Transfer of post offices to private enterprise, number and location in Atlantic Canada, 3617
- Victoria, Prince Edward Island, closing of post office, presentation of petition, 3508

Canada shipping

- Inuit guides to protect ecology, 764
- Manually propelled and under-20-metres pleasure craft exemptions, 576
- Metric and imperial measures, 763
- Offshore drilling rigs, 613
- Public debate prior to regulatory changes, 765
- Safety at sea and environmental protection, 576
- Speakers: Senators
 - Frith, Royce, 763
 - Kenny, Colin, 613
 - MacDonald, Finlay, 576, 763
- See also* Transport and Communications Committee

Canada Shipping bill C-39. 1r, 562; 2r, 576, 613; ref to com, 613; rep with comments, 736; 3r, 763; r.a., 776Canada-United States Days of Peace and Friendship

- Designation of July 2 and 3, 1987, message from Commons, 759
- Consideration, 796,
- Message concurred in, 842
- 175 years of peace and harmony, 796
- Speakers: Senators
 - Balfour, R. James, 796
 - Corbin, Eymard G., 842

Canada-United States Days of Peace and Friendship—Cont'd

- Designation of July 2 and 3, 1987, message from Commons—Cont'd
- Speakers: Senators—Cont'd
- Frith, Royce, 797

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

- Adversely affected industries, transitional assistance for, 1942
- Availability of text, 1986, 4131
- Cost to public, 3800, 4131
- Benefits to Canada, suggested Senate committee hearings, 1930
- Bi-national tribunal, nationality of chairman, 1943
- Binding dispute-settlement mechanism
 - Establishment of bi-national tribunal, effect of, adjudication of application of Canadian law, 1944, 2079
 - Establishment of terms of reference for arbitration procedure, 1943
 - Findings of bi-national panel and trade commission, 1932
 - Right of retaliatory action by injured party, 1893, 1909, 1932, 2054
 - Point of order, Speaker's ruling, 2055
 - Order paper question, request for answer, 2210
- Briefing of premiers
 - Absence of representatives from Yukon and Northwest Territories, 1907
- British Columbia, exclusion from adjustment committee, 3223
- Canadian economy, effect on, 1987
- Concerns of members of government, government leader's position, 2073
- Cultural industries
 - Exemption of, conflicting views, 1941
 - Film distribution, status of legislation, 1894
- Data bases and information
 - Maintenance, protection and enhancement, 1895, 1912
- Date of signing, imposition of deadline, 2290
- Deferral of questions to committee, 3687
- Definition of non-tariff barriers, 1892
- Dispute settlement mechanism, 3797
- Document entitled "Elements of the Agreement", tabled, 1889
- Duty-free importation of U.S. manufactured products, 1896, 1912
- "Elements of the Agreement", request for tabling of initialled copy of document, 1920
- Energy pricing policy, 1986
- Energy provisions, final text of, delay in release, 2324
- Final text, date of release, 2231
- Final text and tariff appendices, referred to committee, 2374
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Possibility of referral to, 1988
 - Proposed study, suggested cross-Canada hearings, 1936
- Government commitment to U.S. government, possibility of further legislative action, 1902
- Government information program
 - Propriety and cost, 4354, 4380
 - Propriety, cessation on dissolution of Parliament, 4351
- Government publications, availability in other languages, 4379, 4541
- Government publicity campaign, 3549
 - Cost, status during election, availability of publications in other languages, 4459, 4526
 - Precedence for cost, 4460
 - Request for distribution of material giving opposing view, 4460
- Heavy water, status, 3494
- Impact of U.S. omnibus trade bill, treatment of subsidies, 1891, 1904
- Implementation, government position on agreement of provinces, effect on territories' aspirations for provincial status, 1935
- Inclusion of Canada's fresh water resource, 3492, 3493

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement—Cont'd

- Job creation, basis of prediction, 3920, 4131
- Negotiations, status of, 2357
- Parties and signatories, 1890
- Passage of Bill C-22
 - Effect of on reaching agreement, 1905
 - Reason for government concern, 1901
 - Request for tabling of initialled copy of document containing reference to Canada's undertaking re passage, 1921
 - Newspaper article, 1954
- Petition tabled, 4483
- Repercussion on Canada of possible U.S. trade legislation, 1892
- Request for grammatically correct French text, 3671
- Screening of takeovers, 1895
- Softwood lumber products, grandfathering of Memorandum of Understanding, 4188, 4224
- Statement by Prime Minister of United Kingdom re diminution of national personality, extent of knowledge, 3797, 3798
- Status of and statements attributed to Canadian Trade Ambassador, government position, 3423
 - Government restraint action, 3548
- Trade-remedy laws, application of, binding dispute-settlement mechanism, 2359
- Understandings between Canada and United States, 1942
- Water, bulk export of, provision for prohibition, 3795
- Wheat, effect on two-price system, 1942, 2058
 - Comments attributed to Premier of Saskatchewan, effect of entry into Canada of U.S. milling wheat, compensation to Canadian farmers for loss, 1956
 - Government policy re compensation to farmers, 2161
- See also* Foreign Affairs Committee

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation

- Advantages, 4268
- Agriculture, 4386, 4392, 4442
- American omnibus trade law, 4366
- Anti-dumping and countervail, 4270, 4384, 4389
- Atlantic provinces, 4442
- Attitude of big business, 4367
- Auto Pact, 4386, 4401
- Automobile trade, 4326
- Brewing industry, 4418
- Brown, George, quote, 4371
- Canadian psyche, 4402
- C.D. Howe Institute, quotes, 4385, 4387, 4441
- Chicken-Little complex, 4371
- Consultation, 4269, 4440
- Consumer prices, 4356, 4409
- d'Aquino, Thomas, quote, 4330
- Dispute-settlement, 4268, 4270, 4322, 4357, 4389, 4411
- Economic diversification, 4356
- Elements of Liberal proposal, 4270
- Energy, 4325, 4390, 4414, 4441
- Enhanced, secure access to U.S. market, 4268, 4321, 4372, 4384
- Establishment of crown corporations, 4327
- Exchange rate, 4367
- Expanding markets, 4368
- Fast-track procedure, 4384
- Fear and subservience, 4367
- Foreign Affairs Committee, 1982 recommendations, 4265
- Foreign ownership, 4328
- "Freer trade agreement", 4401
- GATT, 4321, 4367, 4401
- Government primary objectives for negotiations, 4267
- "Grandfathering", 4323, 4324
- "Harmonization", 4269, 4385, 4390
- Import controls, 4358, 4442

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation—Cont'd

- Issues not open to negotiation, 4267
 - Level playing field theory, 4320
- Jennings, Prof. Ivor, quote, 4439
- Lipsey, Dr. Richard G., quotes, 4319
- Macdonald commission, 1985, quotes, 4266
- Mandate theory, 4440
- Marketing boards, 4412, 4442
- Moral authority, 4399
- Motivation of fear, 4370
- Movement of capital from Canada to U.S., 4325
- Objectives, 4388
- Oil and gas sector, 4358
- Opposition rationale, 4273
- Partisan political direction, 4279
- Patriotism, 4418
- Period of restriction, 4391
- Potatoes, 4413
- Proportional access, 4386, 4414
- Protectionism, 4356, 4388, 4410, 4418
- Regional disparities, 4269
- Reform of the Senate, 4399
- Research, 4328
- Retaliation, 4322
- Robertson, Hon. Gordon, quotes, 4275
- Rohatyn, Felix, Lazard Frères, quote, 4328
- Role of the Senate, 4272, 4370, 4394, 4398, 4443
- Saskatchewan, 4355
- Sectorial negotiation, 4271, 4384
- Small business, 4327
- Social policies and programs, 4268
- Sovereignty, 4265, 4267, 4269, 4387, 4402
- Subsidies, 4326
- Tariff removal, 4356, 4367
- Tomatoes, 4413
- Trade dispute panels, 4385
- U.S. deficits, 4418
- Voices of reason, 4373
- Water, 4331, 4386
- See* appendix p. 4336
- Speakers: Senators
 - Balfour, R. James, 4355
 - Doyle, Richard J., 4370
 - Everett, Douglas, D., 4383
 - Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 4317
 - Lang, Daniel A., 4418
 - MacEachen, Allan J., 4387
 - Molson, Hartland de M., 4417
 - Murray, Lowell, 4264, 4359, 4440
 - Pitfield, P. Michael, 4439
 - Roblin, Duff, 4396, 4409
 - Stanbury, Richard J., 4366

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill

- C-130. 1r, 4235; 2r, 4264, 4317, 4355, 4366, 4383, 4409, 4439; ref to com, on div, 4449;

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, inquiry, 2068, 2102, 2171, 2501, 2647, 4454

- American input into energy management, 2502
- American unacceptance of loss, 2172
- Anticipation of future disruptions, 2506
- Binding dispute-settlement mechanism, 2647
- Bitumen and heavy oil resources, 2506
- Complacency, 2504
- Conservation, 2506

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, inquiry—Cont'd

- Development of renewable energy forms, 2506
- Energy, 2171, 2501
- Energy management, 2502
- Enhanced oil recovery, 2506
- European Common Market comparison, 2647
- Government attempt to change Canadian "habits", 2172
- Heilbroner, Robert L., economist, quotes, 2103
- Limitation of Canada's ability to pursue own policy path, 2506
- Market forces, 2503, 2506
- Order discharged, 4454
- Stockpiling scheme, 2505
- Supply patterns realignment, 2505
- Speakers; Senators
 - Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 2102, 2171, 2647
 - Hays, Dan, 2501

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, prospects of Canadian economy, inquiry, 4018, 4065

- Appeal and redress under GATT, 4069
- Carney, Hon. Pat, Minister for International Trade, quotes, 4070
- Economic Council of Canada, booklet entitled "Venturing Forth, An Assessment of the Canada-U.S. Trade Agreement", quotes, 4075
- Economic forecasts, 4075
- Exemption from "unfair" U.S. protectionist trade laws, 4072
- GATT economic theory, 4068
- International trade before Canada-U.S. agreement, 4067
- Propositions and proofs, 4067
- Protection under Free Trade Agreement, 4070
- Protection under GATT, 4068
- See appendix p. 4081*
- Speaker: Senator
 - Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 4065

Canada-United States free trade negotiations, inquiry, 263, 965, 1106

- Auto Pact agreement, 966
- Common external tariffs, 966
- Cultural identity, 968
- Customs unions, 966
- Diversification, 1108
- Duty remission scheme, 969
- "Fast track" procedure, 967
- Free trade and common market, 1107
- Free trade zone, 966
- Indigenous industries, 1109
- Job creation, 1107
- "Managed" free trade, 967
- National treatment, 968
- Non-tariff barriers, 965
- Non-U.S. investment increase, 967
- Reliance on GATT, 965
- Sectoral agreements, 966
- Social programs, 968
- Trade equilibrium, 1106
- U.S. exchange rate, 965
- U.S. protectionism, 1107
- Speakers: Senators
 - Everett, Douglas, D., 965
 - Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 1106
- See also Canada-United States relations, bilateral trade negotiations*

Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group, 28th meeting held at Vancouver, B.C., 1473, 1535

- Acid rain, 1537
- Arctic sovereignty, 1536

Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group, 28th meeting held at Vancouver, B.C.—Cont'd

- Canada's cultural industries, 1537
- Final report tabled, 2147
- See appendix p. 1610*
- Speakers: Senators
 - Balfour, James, 1535
 - Grafstein, Jerahmiel S., 1536

Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group, 29th meeting held at Key West, Florida

- Tabled, 3790
- See appendix p. 3816*

Canada-United States relations

- Acid rain
 - Canadian stance, comments by U.S. Interior Secretary, 565, 1629
 - Declaration by U.S. Administration, 671, 960
- Bilateral trade
 - Export of Canadian raw cedar logs, restriction, 436, 569
 - Tariff on U.S. Christmas trees and English-language books, request for removal, 435, 486
- Bilateral trade negotiations
 - Automotive trade, 528, 585
 - Government policy, 98, 167
 - Consequences of failure to reach agreement, effect of agreement on employment and Auto Pact, 622
 - Impact on interprovincial trade barriers, 66
 - Impediments to agreement, 293
 - Items for negotiation, 439, 531
 - "National treatment," definition, 142, 238
 - Ratification formula, government proposal, 604
 - Ratification instrument, nature of, 605
 - Role of provinces, government policy, 605
 - Status, 64, 97
- Canadian circuit boards, treatment by United States Customs, 3795, 4177, 4263
 - Request for answer, 4213
- Canadian potash
 - Imposition of U.S. tariff, 505
 - Government action, 699
 - Introduction of legislation by Government of Saskatchewan, consultations with federal government, federal government representations in United States, 1779, 1781
- Free trade negotiations
 - Advisory group, female representation, 1316, 1507
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism, government position, 1869
 - Budget for government publicity, 1121
 - Canadian and American approaches, 1477
 - Dispute settlement mechanism
 - Determination of subsidies, 702
 - Government action, 1782
 - Major outstanding obstacles, possibility of briefing, conditions precedent to signing agreement, 1811
 - Prospects for resumption, 1869
 - Reduction of regional disparities, 624
 - Remarks by U.S. senator, need for education, 871
 - Statement by Mr. Reisman on consultations between Prime Minister and President, 1778
 - Status, notification of provincial premiers, 1884
 - U.S. protectionist measures, government action, 742
- Natural gas exports
 - U.S. regulatory commission's decision, 1176, 1214
- Softwood lumber
 - Canadian export tax, 55, 99
 - Extent of application, 335

Canada-United States relations—Cont'dSoftwood lumber—Cont'd

- Export duty, possible exemption for maritime provinces, 703
- Threatened action by United States government, 335
- United States tariff, government policy re GATT decision, 98
- State dinner in honour of President and Mrs. Reagan, 1340
- Summit meeting in Ottawa
 - Communications to Prime Minister from provincial legislatures, request for tabling, 832
 - Memorandum of Understanding, elimination of anomalies re softwood lumber, 832, 910
 - Publications, suggested contents, 830
 - Reaffirmation of declaration, 871
 - Senate representation at state functions, 809
- Summit meeting in Quebec City
 - Declaration by Prime Minister and President on reduction and elimination of trade barriers, status of report, 871
- Trade
 - Imposition of tariff on publications, amount and distribution of revenue, 335, 362
 - Imposition of U.S. tariffs on Canadian forest products, mitigation of harmful effects, government action, 356
 - Reduction of Canadian uranium exports to United States, government action, 1641, 1662
 - U.S. tariff on Canadian shakes and shingles, government action on submission to International Trade Commission, 4187, 4223
 - United States tax on imported crude oil, government policy, 98

Canada-U.S.S.R. relations

- Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, speech, request for clarification of government policy on Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, 190, 239

Canada Winter Games, 1991

- Request by Premier of Prince Edward Island for ACOA funding, 3493

Canadair Limited divestiture authorization

- Sale to Bombardier, terms, 378

See appendix p. 385

Speakers; Senators

- Asselin, Martial, 377
- Buckwold, Sidney L., 379
- Molgat, Gildas L., 398

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization bill C-25. 1r, 362; 2r, 377; 3r, 398; r.a., 415Canada's international relations

- Report of Special Joint Committee, response of government, 292

"Canada's International Relations", inquiry, 883, 1109, 1157

- Acid rain, 885
- Approach in relations with U.S., 1158
- Arctic sovereignty, 886
- Benefit of the doubt, 1158
- Brown, George, Father of Confederation, quote, 1112
- Canada-United States relations, general comments, 883
- Collaboration with public, 1111
- Defence relations, 886
- Foreign ownership, 888
- Pearson, Lester, quotes, 1110
- Purpose and process, 1110, 1157
- Softwood lumber dispute, 887
- Sovereignty, 1111
- Space program, 886

"Canada's International Relations", inquiry—Cont'd

- Trade initiative, 887
- Trade irritants, 884
- Trade issues, 1112
- Urgency of issues in relationship with U.S., 1157
- U.S. protectionist actions, 884
- Speakers: Senators
 - Doyle, Richard J., 1109
 - MacEachen, Allan J., 883, 1157

Canada's International Relations, Special Joint Committee

1st report

- Expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, 159

See Journals of the Senate

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, 127

- Board of directors, inadequacy of regional representation, 4058
- Corner Brook, Newfoundland, radio-television station, 587
- Fiftieth anniversary congratulations, 135

Canadian Centre for Management Development

- Arm's length institution, 4227
- Case studies, 4452
- Consequences for universities, 4453
- Cost, 4452
- Funds, 4363
- Goals, 4227
- New department of government, 4452
- Treasury board, 4452
- Universities' established programs, 4363

Speakers: Senators

- Bosa, Peter, 4362
- Ottenheimer, Gerald, 4227
- Pitfield, P. Michael, 4451

Canadian Centre for Management Development bill C-148. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4227, 4362, 4451; ref to com, 4454;Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse

- Chronic pain clinics, 4335
- Establishment of crown corporation, 4280
- Information and expertise exchange, 4280
- Substance abuse by children, 4280

Speakers: Senators

- Haidasz, Stanley, 4333
- Kelly, William M., 4280

Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse bill C-143. 1r, 4235; 2r, 4280, 4333; ref to com, 4335; rep with comments, 4378; 3r, 4378; r.a., 4403Canadian environmental protection

- Ecosystem approach, 3388
- Enforcement and Compliance Policy, 3389
- Equivalency, 3387, 3562
- Federal-provincial consultation, 3562
- Federal polluters, 3562
- Framework to regulate chemicals in the marketplace, 3561
- National uniform environmental standards, 3387
- New substances, 3388
- Patchwork protection, 3561
- Rights of citizens, 3563
- Speakers: Senators
 - Kenny, Colin, 3561
 - Robertson, Brenda M., 3386

See also Energy and Natural Resources Committee

Canadian Environmental Protection bill C-74. 1r, 3328; 2r, 3386, 3561; ref to com, 3564; rep with amdts, 3653, 3674; 3r, 3687; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdts, 3748; r.a., 3778

Canadian exploration and development incentive program

Additional development drilling program need, 1284
Flow-through share arrangement, 1303
Marine drilling limits, 1283
Price instability impact, 1282
Productivity and cash flow increase, 1282

Speakers: Senators

Balfour, R. James, 1281, 1303
Olson, H.A., 1282

Canadian Exploration and Development Incentive Program bill C-59. 1r, 1212; 2r, 1281, 1303; 3r, 1304; r.a., 1416

Canadian Exploration Incentive Program

Equity financing, 3801
Flow-through shares, 3800

Speakers: Senators

Balfour, R. James, 3800
Sinclair, Ian, 3865

Canadian Exploration Incentive Program bill C-137. 1r, 3748; 2r, 3800, 3865; ref to com, 3865; rep with amdts, 4016; 3r, 4017; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdts, 4056; r.a., 4109

Canadian Human Rights Commission

Antonio Arcangel, appointment to Human Rights Tribunal, 192
Membership, 266

Canadian International Trade Tribunal

Amalgamation of Canadian Import Tribunal, Textile and Clothing Board and Tariff Board, 4103

GATT rules re trade clothing and textiles, 4121

General Preferential Tariff, 4121

Membership reduction, 4120

New direct access for complaints re import competition, 4103

Relationship to Canadian free trade bill, 4121

Workload, 4120

Speakers: Senators

MacEachen, Allan J., 4120
Ottenheimer, Gerald, 4103

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Canadian International Trade Tribunal bill C-110. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4103, 4120; ref to com, 4127; rep with comments, 4333; 3r, 4355; r.a., 4403

Canadian multiculturalism

Aboriginal peoples, 4013, 4047

Annual report, 4009

Canadian identities program, 4010

Equality, 4008

History of policy, 4010

Implementation, 4009, 4012

Non-derogation clause and amendment proposal, 4047

Parliamentary Secretary to Minister of Multiculturalism, position, 4012

Process as distinguished from policy, 4014

Progress, 4014

Senate appointments, 4014

Special nature of aboriginal cultures, 4047

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 4014

Canadian multiculturalism—Cont'd

Speakers: Senators—Cont'd

Barootes, Efstathios William, 4008, 4048

Bosa, Peter, 4010, 4047

Haidasz, Stanley, 4013

Watt, Charlie, 4046

Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93. 1r, 3987; 2r, 4008; ref to com, 4015; rep without amdt, 4017; 3r, 4046; r.a., 4109

Canadian National Railways

Appointment of chairman, 333

Executive offices, relocation from Edmonton to Montreal, 1476, 1581

London, Ontario layoffs

Job guarantees, 2124, 2232

Job security and retraining program, status and application, 2125

Possible delay of implementation, consultations with City Council and union, 2125

Supervisory positions, effect on and possible transfer of, 2125

Toronto cost-of-living compensation, 2125

Canadian Parliamentary Delegation to Belgium, visit, 115

Linguistic duality, 115

Speaker: Senator

David, Paul, 115

Canadian Pension Plan Advisory Board

Membership by federal constituency, 1648

Canadian Prime Ministers

Commemorative statues, 587

See also Prime Ministers, former

Canadian sovereignty

The north

Government policy, 194, 293, 299

Government protest to U.S. government, 296, 585

Canadian Transport Commission

Creation of new agency, effect on tenure of present commissioners, 1699, 1988

Canadian Wheat Board

Isman, Barbara, reported appointment, 2548

See Grain

Canadian Wheat Board (Bill C-92)

Attitude of elevator companies, 4107

Board's borrowing and investment, 4105

Payments to shippers to railway cars, 4105

Producer car system, 4152

Quota systems, 4105

Quota system for Canola, 4105

Volatility of commodity market, 4152

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 4152

Barootes, Efstathios W., 4153

Hays, Dan, 4106

Marshall, Jack, 4104

Olson, H.A., 4104

Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4104, 4152; ref to com, 4153; rep with comments, 4198; 3r, 4199; r.a., 4203

Canagrex dissolution

More efficient service through departmental cooperation, 1861

Need for coordination agency, 1863

"One-stop shopping", 1862

- Canagrex dissolution—Cont'd
Speakers; Senators
 Balfour, James, 1861
 Hays, Daniel, 1862
 Stanbury, Richard J., 1863
See also Agriculture and Forestry Committee
- Canagrex Dissolution bill C-2. 1r, 1810; 2r, 1861; ref to com, 1864; rep with observations, 1876; 3r, 1886; r.a., 1919
- Cape Breton Development Corporation
 Coalminers' contract negotiation, 606, 624
 Industrial Development Division
 Community representations re retention of, 2356
 Status of, 2355
 Office of president, status of incumbent, 607
 Presidency, appointment to fill vacancy, 3574, 3586, 4379
 Name of consulting firm, 3990
- Cape Breton Development Corporation (Bill C-127)
 Commercialization of technologies, 3519
 Devco, 3520
 To provide for capital advances of $50 million, 3465, 3519
Speakers; Senators
 Graham, B. Alasdair, 3519
 Phillips, Orville H., 3465
- Cape Breton Development Corporation bill C-127. 1r, 3419; 2r, 3465, 3519; ref to com, 3520; rep without amdt, 3636; 3r, 3658; r.a., 3667
- Capital punishment
 Opposition to reinstatement, press conference by political party youth representatives, 1272
- Carter, Hon. David, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta, visit, 2128
- CF-18 maintenance contract, 18, 59, 78, 79, 119, 128, 143, 160, 192, 238, 265
- Chalmers, Anne, Coordinator, Ottawa Office, Prairie Treaty Nations' Alliance
 Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2459
- Chaput-Rolland, Hon. Solange (introduced in the Senate Sept. 28/88), 4501
- Charbonneau, Hon. Guy, Speaker of the Senate
 Indonesia
 Gafur, His Excellency Abdul, Minister of Youth Affairs and Sports, visit, 1
 Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 1st, National Finance Committee budget, 188
 2nd, Energy and Natural Resources Committee budget, 188
 3rd, Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee budget, 189
 5th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee budget, 289
 9th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee supplementary budget, 450
 10th, research allocation for senators, 666
 11th, Public Service Dental Plan, 667
 12th, authority for release of 3/12 budget funds prior to June/87, 760
 13th, Special Committee on Terrorism and Public Safety budget, 972
 14th, Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 budget, 972
- Charbonneau, Hon. Guy, Speaker of the Senate—Cont'd
 Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports—Cont'd
 16th to 28th, 1174
See appendix p. 1187
 Kohl, His Excellency Dr. Helmut, Chancellor of Federal Republic of Germany, address to both houses
 Response, 3704
 Mitterrand, François, President of France, address to both houses
 Response, 1085
 Queen Beatrix, Her Majesty, Queen of the Netherlands, address to both houses,
 Response, 3346
 Reagan, Ronald W., President of the United States of America, address to both houses
 Response, 867
 Thatcher, Right Honourable Margaret, Prime Minister of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, address to both houses
 Response, 3784
 Visit of Senate delegation to Japan, 1175, 1325
 Canada's commitment to trade partnership, 1327
 Japanese direct investment in Canada, 1328
See also Speaker of the Senate
- Charter of Rights and Freedoms
 Resolution adopted by Legislative Assembly of Province of Ontario, 354
- Child abuse and neglect, 87, 131
- "Child Benefits: Proposal for a Guaranteed Family Supplement Scheme"
See Social Affairs, Science and Technology committee
- Child care
See Canada Child Care
 Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
- Child care, national policy, inquiry, 1315, 1457
 Canada Assistance Plan limitations, 1459, 1460
 Child Care Expense Deduction, 1459
 Improvement of parental leave and benefits, 1460
 Need for more services, 1458
 Non-profit vs. commercial, 1459
 Order withdrawn, 3931
 Parent involvement, 1459
 Quality, 1459
Speakers; Senators
 MacEachen, Allan J., 1460
 Spivak, Mira, 1457, 3931
See also Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
- Childhood poverty and adult social problems
See Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
- Chouinard, Mr. Justice Julien, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada (deceased Feb.6/87)
 Tributes, 463
- Christmas greetings, 415, 2509
- Citizenship
 Petition of Foreign Service Community Association on Bill C-254, tabled, 2159
 Status of Bill C-254, request for Speaker's ruling, 2187
 Speaker's statement, 2233

Citizenship (foreign spouses)

Ministerial discretion, 1063

Narrow application, 1914

Residence, 1063

Special situation of diplomats' spouses, 1914

Speakers: Senators

Bosa, Peter, 1063, 1915

Corbin, Eymard G., 1914

Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 1914

See also Social Affairs, Science and Technology CommitteeCitizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8. 1r, 901; 2r, 1063, 1255; ref to com, 1256; rep with amdts, 1890, 1913; 3r, 1914;Citizenship (period of residence)

Spouses of diplomats and armed forces personnel, 2306

Speakers: Senators

Bosa, Peter, 2306

Macquarrie, Heath, 2307

Citizenship (period of residence) bill C-254. 1r, 2156; 2r, 2306; ref to com, 2307; rep without amdt, 2349; 3r, 2383; r.a., 2510Clark, Lorne S., Senior Negotiator for Canada-France Maritime Affairs, Dept. of External Affairs

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 515

Clerk's Accounts

Statement tabled and referred to committee, 2068

Coastal fisheries protection

Expanded detection measures for violators, 308

Full observer coverage of foreign vessels, 343

Gear restrictions on Canadian fishermen, 366

Japanese permit for east coast tuna fishery, 309, 344, 365

Research versus policing, 344

Substantially increased fines, 308

Speakers: Senators

LeBlanc, Roméo, 343

Marshall, Jack, 307, 345, 365

Petten, William J., 343

Stewart, John B., 309, 344, 366

Coastal Fisheries Protection bill C-26. 1r, 289; 2r, 307, 343; 3r, 365; r.a., 415Coasting trade and commercial marine activities

Domestic cruise industry protection, 3066

Enforcement procedures, 3066

Removal of coasting trade provisions from Canada Shipping Act, 3066

To reserve coasting trade for ships flying the Canadian flag, 3259

Speakers: Senators

Langlois, Léopold, 3259

MacDonald, Finlay, 3066

Coasting Trade and Commercial Marine Activities bill C-52. 1r, 2954; 2r, 3066, 3259; ref to com, 3259;Cochrane, Hon. Ethel (Introduced in the Senate Nov. 25/86), 227

Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation bill C-75, 3924, 4090

Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board, mandate and composition, 3925

Protection of Georges Bank, 3926

Shared-management regime, 3925

Indian bill C-115, 3638, 3685

"Designation", 3638

Cochrane, Hon. Ethel—Cont'dIndian bill C-115—Cont'd

Land surrender process, 3638

Leasehold interests, 3639

New definition of "reserve", 3639

Taxation power for band councils, 3639

Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) bill C-123, 4225

Clarification of authority to make payments, 4225

Flexibility re amounts, 4225

Lemire, Francine

Tribute on receipt of Gold Medal at World Winter Games Of the Disabled, 2568

Newfoundland and its people, concerns and interests, inquiry, 2207, 2541

Cost sharing, 2545

Defence spending, 2544

Fisheries, 2545

Regional disparity, 2542

Regional economic development, 2542

Resources, 2545

Transfer payments, 2542

Transportation issues, 2545

Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute on retirement, 1841Royal Canadian Mint and Currency bill C-46, 2305Cogger, Hon. Michel

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 22

Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945 bill S-3, 168, 266

Amalgamation with Industrial Life Insurance Company, 168

Canada Cup

Congratulations to winning Canadian team, 1843

Chouinard, Mr. Justice Julien, the late, tribute, 463Constitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole (procedure)

Still photography pool authorized to record March 30 proceedings, 2907

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3161

Quebec, 3162

Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society bill S-14, 2090, 2119, 2293

Background, 2119

Judges bill C-88, 2384, 2471

Judicial independence, 2384

Triennial reviews, 2384

Montreal Trust Company of Canada bill S-17, 3659, 3800

Amalgamation of Montreal Trust Company and Montreal Trust Company of Canada, 3659

Background, 3659

National Transportation, 1987 bill C-137, 3775, 3865

Airline accessibility for disabled, 3775

Native peoples, self-government, 24Patent bill C-22, 997, 1405, 1733

Canadian researcher protection, 997

Consumer price protection, 997

Drug prices review board, 998

Intellectual property protection, 998

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2187

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amendments, m to refer question and motion to committee, 1795

Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1821

Price controls, 1406

- Cogger, Hon. Michel—Cont'd
 Patent bill C-22—Cont'd
 Ten per cent of total sales annual investment, 998
 U.S. and European pressure, 1405
 Patent bill S-15, 3641
 Drug Prices Review Board powers, 3641
 Peat Marwick study, 3642
 Quebec, five conditions for constitutional agreement, 24
 Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee reports
 6th, No. 40, Indian Act, 2090
 See appendix p. 2105
 7th, No. 41, Various, 2090
 See appendix p. 2109
 8th, No. 42, Crop Insurance, 2090
 See appendix p. 2115
 Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22
 Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 938
 Reports
 3rd, extracts from minutes of committee proceedings, 1633
 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1622
 7th, Patent Act amendment bill C-22, with amtds, recommendations and observations, 1705
- Committee of Selection
See Selection Committee
- Committee of the Whole
 Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126, 4139
 Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141, 3872
 Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 493, 508, 511, 532, 560, 644, 714, 917
 Canada Labour Code bill C-97, 2484
 Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, 1322, 1349, 1400, 1440, 1537, 1650, 1749, 2129, 2188, 2247, 2327, 2447, 2562, 2605, 2730, 2769, 2778, 2797, 2850, 2911, 2981, 3047, 3930
 Customs Tariff bill C-87, 2475
 Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), 3760
 Emergencies bill C-77, 3526, 3578, 3623, 3716, 3766
 Excise Tax bill C-101, 2479
 Export and Import Permits bill C-57, 1129
 Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, 1574
 Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, 2486
 Immigration, 1976 bill C-34, 409
 Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 216
 Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, 1765
 Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, 3239
 Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1970
 Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, 2522
 Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116, 2963
 Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-158, 4543
- Committees of the Senate
 Authority to meet during Senate adjournment, 64
- Committees, Special, Joint
 Canada's International Relations
 Constitutional Accord, 1987
- Committees, Special, Senate
 National Defence
 Official Languages bill C-72
 Preventative Health Care
 Subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)
 Submissions Group on the Meech Lake Constitutional Accord
- Committees, Special, Senate—Cont'd
 Terrorism and Public Safety
 Youth
- Committees, Standing, Joint
 Library of Parliament
 Official Languages
 Printing of Parliament
 Regulations and other Statutory Instruments (until Feb.3/88)
 Regulatory Scrutiny (from Feb.4/88-June 7/88)
 Restaurant of Parliament
 Scrutiny of Regulations (from June 7/88)
- Committees, Standing, Senate
 Agriculture and Forestry
 Banking, Trade and Commerce
 Energy and Natural Resources
 Fisheries
 Foreign Affairs
 Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration
 Legal and Constitutional Affairs
 National Finance
 Orders and Customs of the Senate and Privileges of Parliament
 Selection
 Social Affairs, Science and Technology
 Standing Rules and Orders
 Transport and Communications
- Commonwealth
 Conference at Vancouver, B.C., provincial participation, 1936
- Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, Thirty-second conference at London, England, 96, 577
 Apartheid and perspective of values, 580
Speakers: Senators
 MacEachen, Allan J., 580
 Macquarrie, Heath, 577
- Communications
 Foster Advertising, purchase of by U.S. conglomerate, use of Foster Advertising in Progressive Conservative campaign, 4188
 Teleglobe Canada, proposed sale, 245, 300
 Sale, investigation of insider trading, 503, 528, 555
 Sale to Memotec, investigation of insider trading, government action, 1866, 1868, 1880, 1956, 1989
 Request for answer, 1956, 2126
- Community and family life enhancement, 173
- Comptroller General
 Budget 1978-79 through 1987-88, 2782
See appendix p. 2792
- Concerns of the elderly, 85, 130
- Constitution
 Aboriginal rights
 Setting up of separate process for entrenchment, 2353
 Amending process, government position, 1396
 Amending resolution, time limit for consideration by the Senate, 2980
 Amendment provisions, future amendments, unanimity requirement, 980
 Amendment to implement concurrent jurisdiction over provincial resources, introduction, government action, 671, 704
 Constitutional Accord, 1987, tabled, 1163
 Advisers to government appearing before Special Joint Committee, 1699

Constitution—Cont'dConstitutional Accord, 1987—Cont'd

- Appointments to Supreme Court of Canada from Quebec, request for list of amendments acceptable to government, 3335
- Appointments to Supreme Court of Canada and other bodies, method, and application of other provisions between signing and proclamation, 3231
- Clause 16, status of women
 - Availability of legal opinions, 1645
 - Government action, 1644
 - Source of legal opinions, consultations with experts, nature and sources of advice, 1660
- Consideration by Nova Scotia legislature, 1167
- Consideration by Ontario legislature, 1167
- "Distinct society" clause, interpretation vis-a-vis anglophone Canadians, 3233
- Federal-provincial discussions on modification of terms, 3574
- Francophone minorities outside Quebec, 1164
- Possible government contract on consultancy work of certain witnesses appearing before Special Joint Committee, 1779
- Request for answer, 1992
- Possibility of amendment, 1165
- Possibility of amendments under seven-provinces-fifty-percent-of-the-population rule, 3490
- Possibility of recalling provincial legislatures, 1166
- Priority of consideration by House of Commons, 1166
- Quebec, definition as distinct society, 3235
- Suggested further consideration by First Ministers, 3252
- Tabling of resolution, position of Governments of New Brunswick and Manitoba, "Reunification of Constitutional Family", 3332
 - Position of Government of New Brunswick, 3335
- Tabling of resolutions, 1165
- Terminal date for approval, provision for withdrawal of provincial approval, 3254
- Venue for consideration by Parliament, 1166
- Views of former justice of Supreme Court of Canada, 3265
- First Ministers' Accord, 931
 - Agreement by provinces, undertakings offered to obtain, 1092, 1119
 - Communiqué tabled, 931
 - Date of presentation of text, 1028
 - Date of signing, 1093
 - Definition of Quebec as distinct society, effect on use of French outside Quebec, 945
 - Discussion by Parliament of proposal on Senate reform, 1697
 - Discussions between Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations and Premier of Manitoba, 1052
 - Effect on territories' aspirations for provincial status, 946, 954
 - Federal-provincial relations minister, role, 1090
 - Federal-provincial spending patterns, federal powers affecting broadcasting and banking, 1029, 1058
 - Federal spending power
 - Opting-out provisions, 1053, 1126
 - Position of Premier of Manitoba, 950
 - Fisheries roles and responsibilities, jurisdiction over Atlantic provinces' fisheries, 1122
 - Funding for cultural institutions, ability of Quebec to opt out, 1093, 1579
 - Implications of interpretative declaration, availability of legal opinions, recognition of Quebec as distinct society, applicability of term, 1028, 1058
 - Inclusion of interpretative section in resulting legislation, identification of and instructions to draftsmen, 980
 - Interpretation of text re agenda for First Ministers' conferences, 1122, 1197

Constitution—Cont'dFirst Ministers' Accord—Cont'd

- Judicial interpretation of terms, 943
- Legal action by territories, 1120
- "Patriation", use of term by government leader, request for clarification of meaning of accord, 955
- Possible postponement of conference, committee study and approval of resolution, 1050
- Premier of Quebec, reported reaction, 954
- Prime Minister's meetings with western premiers, 957
- Recognition of Quebec as distinct society
 - Advice given on definition and effect, 947
 - Definition and international ramifications, 939, 978, 1054, 1126
 - Effect on property and civil rights, 942
 - Maintenance of official bilingualism, 1027, 1058
 - Protection of anglophone minority, 943
 - Wording of earlier Liberal Party resolution, 952
- Recognition of Quebec as distinct society or as having distinct identity, distribution of powers, 951, 978
- Request for answers, 1167
- Request for tabling of correspondence, 1093
- Senate reform, 944, 1477
 - Recommendations for appointment, 946, 950
 - Quebec vacancy, 983
 - Source of proposal, 1089
- Suggested pre-study by committee, 953, 1092
- Supreme Court of Canada, recommendations for appointment, 957
 - Entrenchment of Court, 982
- Terminology of text, danger of classifying French-Canadians under two categories, 1124, 1197
- Question of privilege, 1124
- Yukon and Northwest Territories, method of appointment of senators and Supreme Court judges, 1615
- First Minister's Accord and agreed texts
 - Referral to Committee of the Whole, 1088
 - Senate timetable for completion of deliberations, 2795
- First Ministers' Conference
 - Aboriginal rights, agenda item, 945, 1090
 - Priority agenda item, 1123, 1125
 - Consultations with territorial governments, 1125
 - Status of Francophones outside Quebec, 876
- First Ministers' Conference, June 2, 1987, tabling of agreed texts, 1119
- First Ministers' conferences, participation by territories, 955
- Meech Lake accord, consultations with Premier-elect of New Brunswick, position of Government-elect of New Brunswick, 1952
- Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, 977
- Negotiations to include Quebec, government position, 621
- Possibility of simultaneous presentation of revised Official Languages Policy and text of accord, 1028, 1088
- Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories, appointment of members, 1777

Constitution Act, 1867, (Attendance of Senators) bill S-13. 1r, 1393

- Constitution Act, 1867, motion to amend by proclamation, 1297, 1354
- "At the Still Point of the Turning World: The Canadian Senate in an Age of Reform", C.E.S. Franks, quote, 1357
- Goldenberg-Lamontagne report, 1355
- Point of order, 1357
- Suspensive veto, 1355
- Speaker: Senator Godfrey, John, M., 1354

- Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualifications of Senators)
 Applicability to present senators, 2360
 Appropriateness of bill to amend Constitution Act, 2308
 Deletion of special provision for Quebec senators, 2309
 Discrimination against Indians, 2309
 Ministers of the Crown, 2361
 Property qualification, 2308, 2819
 Senate reform, 2309
Speakers: Senators
 Corbin, Eymard G., 2360
 Doody, C. William, 2661
 Frith, Royce, 2819
 Marchand, Len, 2307
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualification of Senators) bill S-12. 1r, 1335; 2r, 2307, 2360, 2661, 2819; ref to com, 2819;
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate)
 Administration, 4472
 Authority and power, 4473
 Election, 4361
 Flexibility, 4472
 House of Commons, 4361
 Order, 4472
 Power in the chamber, 4361
 Question Period, 4362
Speakers: Senators
 Asselin, Martial, 4534
 Frith, Royce, 4471
 MacDonald, Finlay, 4473
 Molgat, Gildas L., 4360, 4535
 Murray, Lowell, 4362
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate) bill S-20. 1r, 4235; 2r, 4360, 4471, 4533
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 1242, 3070, 3086, 3102, 3155, 3274, 3480
 Aboriginal rights, 3120
 Achievements, 3074
 Ambiguity, 3125, 3163
 Amendments, 3143, 3181, 3186
 Bilingualism, 3075, 3082, 3132
 Charter of Rights and Freedoms, 3085, 3190
 Compromise and conciliation, 3089
 Constitutional amending formula, 3167, 3214
 Creation of new provinces, 3136, 3146
 Democracy, 3195
 "Distinct society", 3079, 3121, 3128, 3147, 3157, 3163, 3212
 Conflict with Charter of Rights and Freedoms, 3193
 Description, 3176
 Interpretations, 3123, 3167, 3212
 Distribution of powers, 3124
 Duality, 3132, 3164
 Egregious error, 3173, 3200
 Equalization of rights, 3141
 Federalism, 3128
 Balance and centralization, 3158
 Federal-provincial cooperation, 3115, 3166
 Devolution of powers, 3185
 Federal-provincial rivalry, 3166
 First Ministers concept, 3200
 Fisheries clause, amendment of, 3136
 Fisheries jurisdiction, 3127, 3135, 3158
 "Fundamental characteristics," 3092
 French Canadians outside Quebec, 3201
 Fundamental law, 3163
- Constitution Amendment, 1987—Cont'd
 Future evolution, 3165
 Gender equality rights, 3110, 3187
 Human Rights Institute of Canada, position of, 3119
 Immigration provisions, 3115, 3161
 Inclusion of territories, 3094
 Individual rights and government power, 3161, 3190
 Isolation of Quebec, 3074, 3091, 3121
 Legal implications, 3081
 Motion for Message to Commons, 3222, 3274
See Journals of the Senate
 Minority language rights, 3148
 Motion for proposed Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3070
 Motion in amdt, 3086, 3102, 3151, 3211
 Carried as amended, 3218
 Motion re message to House of Commons, 3216, 3484
 Message, 3487
 Motion in amdt, neg, 3486
 Motion to adjourn debate, neg, 3485
 Point of order, 3218
 Speaker's ruling, 3221
 Multiculturalism, 3093
 National interest, 3200
 National programs and objectives, 3083, 3089, 3133, 3214
 National reconciliation, 3083
 New Brunswick, 3082, 3197
 Newfoundland, 3156
 North, problems and attitudes towards, 3116, 3118, 3144
 Notwithstanding clause, 3212
 Pactism, 3165
 Partnership and interdependence, 3214
 People of the territories, 3195
 Political unity, 3164
 Power of the provinces, 3196
 Process, 3107, 3159, 3169, 3172, 3175, 3200
 Proposed amendments, 3086, 3136, 3138, 3215
 Provincial equality principle, 3164
 Provincial positions in 1982, 3198
 Public hearings, 3115, 3143
 Quebec, 3156, 3162, 3164, 3167
 Bourassa, Robert, quote, 3159
 Ramifications, 3122
 Referral to Supreme Court, 3143, 3166, 3199
 Saskatchewan, 3083
 Schedule, Constitution Amendment, 1987, text, 1242
 Second round, 3160
 Senate reform, 3093, 3133, 3158
 Separatism, 3199
 Shared-cost programs and spending power, 3084, 3089, 3116, 3126, 3133, 3140, 3160, 3178, 3182
 Special Joint Committee of the Senate and the House of Commons, report, 3192
 Supreme Court, 3094, 3137
 Two visions of Canada, 3082, 3131, 3132, 3184
 Unanimity, 3095, 3146, 3174, 3177, 3214
Speakers: Senators
 Adams, Willie, 3195
 Asselin, Martial, 3128
 Austin, Jack, 3172
 Balfour, R. James, 3115
 Bazin, Jean, 3137
 Bielish, Martha P., 3175
 Bosa, Peter, 3141
 Cogger, Michel, 3161
 David, Paul, 3121
 Doyle, Richard J., 3107

Constitution Amendment, 1987—Cont'dSpeakers: Senators—Cont'd

Flynn, Jacques, 3166, 3216
 Frith, Royce, 3088, 3171
 Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 3158
 Grafstein, Jerahmiel S., 3170, 3190
 Hicks, Henry D., 3185
 Kirby, Michael, 3130
 Lucier, Paul, 3116
 MacEachen, Allan J., 3078, 3218
 Macquarrie, Heath, 3143
 Marsden, Lorna, 3109
 McElman, Charles, 3197
 Molgat, Gildas L., 3189, 3199
 Murray, Lowell, 3070, 3211
 Olson, H.A., 3177
 Ottenheimer, Gerry, 3155
 Pitfield, P. Michael, 3162
 Simard, Jean-Maurice, 3088
 Spivak, Mira, 3186
 Stewart, John B., 3123
 Tremblay, Arthur, 3179
 Wood, Dalia, 3147

Constitution Amendment, 1987, motion to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to Legislative Assemblies and four national aboriginal organizations, 3512, 3682, 3928, 4034, 4050

Dilemma vis-à-vis Meech Lake constitution reform process, 3683

Motion divided, 4034

Motion to transmit to Yukon and Northwest Territories and four national organizations, adopted, 4051

Motion to transmit to legislative assembly of each province, adopted, 4050

Precedents, 3929

Role of Senate in constitution amending process, 3682

Speakers: Senators

Flynn, Jacques, 4050
 Lang, Daniel A., 3928
 Watt, Charlie, 3682, 4034

Constitution, amendment, year of proclamation (Newfoundland Act), 1315, 1462, 1557

Enshrinement of educational rights for Pentecostal faith in Newfoundland, 1557

Referred to committee, 1557

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 1462
 Lewis, P. Derek, 1557

Constitution, current state of negotiations, inquiry, 1140

Withdrawn, 1809

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, (procedural business) 1322, 1349, 1650, 1749, 2594, 2769

Motion re appointment of submissions group, 2594

Motion re seating of witnesses, 1245, 1312

Motion re televising of proceedings, 1245, 1312, 1321, 1450, 1916, 1924, 1938, 1946

Motion re witnesses' expenses, 1245, 1311

Order re consideration in Committee of the Whole, 1865

Report of Submissions Group, tabled, 2981

See appendix p. 3037

Reports of Committee of the Whole

1st, Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories, formation of, 1751

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, (procedural business)—Cont'd

Reports of Committee of the Whole—Cont'd

2nd, authority to engage services and to incur expenses, 2286

See appendix p. 2300

Steering Committee

Relocation of meeting, 1332

Submissions group, recommendation to appoint, 2596

Membership, 2634

Motion re witnesses to be heard by group, 2770

Still photography pool authorized to record March 30 proceedings, 2906

Still photography pool authorized to record March 31 proceedings, 2956

Task Force, final report, 2778

See also Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories Meech Lake Constitutional Accord

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in

Committee of the Whole, Hon. Gildas L. Molgat in the Chair, Hon. Eugene Forsey, Hon. Charles Caccia, Hon. John W. Pickersgill, Mr. Georges Erasmus, Mr. Royal Orr, Mr. Stephen Scott, Mr. Louis "Smokey" Bruyère, Mr. Bradford Morse, Dr. Marguerite Ritchie, Prof. Theodore Geraets, Dr. Michael Bliss, Dr. Blair Williams, Mr. Ernie Daniels, Mr. Mark Gordon, Mr. George Corn, Mr. Joseph Wilder, Mr. Neil Finkelstein, Prof. Ann Bayefsky, Mr. E.L.R. Williamson, Mr. Emilio Binavince, Mr. Vincent J. MacLean, Dr. John A. Simms, Mr. Colin Irving, Dr. Susan Purdy, Mrs. Kathryn Manzer, Prof. Albert Breton, Prof. Hugh Allan Cairns, Prof. Alex B., Macdonald, Q.C., Mr. Izzy Asper, Q.C., Mrs. Ginette Rodger, Mr. Michel Simard, Prof. Albert W. Johnson, Mr. Jim Sinclair, Mr. Marc LeClair, Ms. Beth Atcheson, Ms. Lucie Lamarche, Hon. Donald F. Johnston, Mr. Daryl T. Bean, Rt. Hon. Pierre E. Trudeau, Mr. Frank Iacobucci and Dr. Norman Spector taking part in the debate, 1440, 1537, 1994, 2129, 2188, 2247, 2327, 2447, 2605, 2730, 2797, 2850, 2911, 2981, 3047, 3930

Abolition of the Senate, 2006, 2455

Aboriginal access to federal programs, 2467

Aboriginal and native peoples in Quebec, 2131,

Aboriginal issues, 2200, 2258, 2264, 3009, 3053

Aboriginal representations with provincial governments, 2861

Aboriginal rights, 1447, 1997, 2197, 2336, 2342, 2458

Aboriginal self-government (Métis), 2857

Aboriginal trusteeship, 2461

Alberta situation re French, 2250

Allegiance of premiers, 2335

Alternatives for Quebec, 2580

"Analysis of the Hearings" process, 2254

Annual conferences, 2743

Appointment of senators, 2000

Balfour Declaration, 2983

B and B Commission, 2984

Bilingual education, 2626

Bilingualism and dualism, 2993, 2997, 3013

Bill of Rights, 2983

Bonds of nationhood, 2850

Changes in amending formulae, 1446

Charter of Rights and Freedoms, 2984

Childcare, 2461

Citizen participation, 2744

Commissioner of Official Languages, quotes, 3063

Committee continuance during prorogation, 1749

Compact theory, 2994

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole—Cont'd

- Companion amendments, 2260
- See appendix p. 2282
- Compensation for opting-out, 1446, 2002
- Competitive relationships, 2732
- Confederation, strength, 2192
- Conflicting views of Constitution between citizens and government, 2740
- Constitution a guarantee for protection against a majority government, 2813
- Constitution role in Canadian society, 2741
- Constitutional agenda, 2736
- Constitutional interpretation of Canadian society, definition as per Charles Caccia, 2145
- Costs, 1749
- Danger for balance of federal system, 2336, 2813
- Decentralization, 1998, 3017
- Disintegration and intolerance in the country, 2448
- Distinct society clause, 1442, 2142, 2191, 2201, 2251, 2257, 2330, 2563, 2566, 2567, 2568, 2621, 2732, 2801, 2865, 2994, 3000, 3062
- Definition, 2799, 3013
- Distribution of powers, 1997, 2006, 2803
- Dream of one Canada, 2997
- Economic application of "distinct society" clause, 2737
- Effect on educational system in Quebec, 2005, 2615
- Elitist trend, 2452
- English minority in Quebec, size of, 1544
- Entrenchment, 2920
- Executive federalism, 2254, 2333, 2341, 2449, 2579, 2612, 2733
- Closed shop negotiations, 2807
- Family law, 2463
- Fathoming Meech Lake*, by Bryan Schwartz, 2745
- Federalism, future changes, 2135, 2991
- Federal-provincial conferences, 2851
- Federations, 2335
- First Ministers' conferences, agenda items, 2203
- Suggested procedure, 2855
- Fisheries, 2133, 2190, 2462, 2606, 3053
- French outside Quebec, 2613
- Fulton-Favreau formula, 2984
- Government above the law, 2332
- Immigration, 1444, 2140, 2563, 2573, 2799, 2990, 3051
- Imprecision and ambiguity, 2922
- Inclusio unius est exclusio alterius*, 1547, 2253, 2268, 2804, 2915
- International relations, 2994
- Interprovincial mobility of goods and capital, 2800
- Inuit, distinct society, 2466
- Inuit of northern Quebec lands, 2465
- James Bay Agreement, 2465
- Joint committee report, 2142
- Leadership conspiracy of silence, 2918
- Legitimacy of government domination in constitutional process, 2741
- Limitation of powers, 2457
- Linguistic duality and distinct society clause, 2000, 2606, 3050
- Long-term consequences, 2448
- Makivik Corporation, 2463
- Media cynicism, 2341
- Medicare, 2852
- Minority rights in Quebec, 2248, 2616
- Misstatements, 2329
- Multiculturalism, 2139, 2563, 2736, 3013
- "National objectives", 1539
- Compatibility, 2810

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole—Cont'd

- "National objectives"—Cont'd
- Health care services, 2808
- National reconciliation, 2995, 2997, 3008
- National referendum, 2798
- National standards and objectives, 2927
- National will, 2989
- Native self-government, 2469
- New Brunswick government, 2745, 2919, 3056
- Newfoundland, 3014
- New provinces, 2265, 2337, 2915, 3010, 3052
- Nonderogation clause, 2459
- "Non-status Indians", 2860
- North, 2201, 2259
- Notwithstanding clause, 2195, 2249
- "Objectives" different from "principles", 2853
- Official languages, 2623, 2913
- Overriding rule, 1538
- Parliamentary supremacy, 1546, 2136, 2142
- People denied final say over constitutional change, 2334
- Permanent parliamentary committee, value of, 2132
- Point of order, 2911
- Pollyanna-ism, 2337
- Prairie Treaty Nations' Alliance, communication with government, 2460
- Preamble, 2991, 3061
- Premier of New Brunswick, views, 2189
- Principle of duality, 1441
- Principle of interpretation, 1999
- Process, 2138
- Provincial greed, 2986
- Provincial veto power, 1997, 2806
- Provincialization, balkanization, 2747
- Quebec and the Charter, 3048
- Quebec, five demands, 2992
- Quebec sovereignty, 2204
- Referenda, 2341, 2748
- Reference to Supreme Court, 3060
- Regional disparities, 2748
- Rights of small minority groups, 2463
- Role of the Senate, 2261, 2580, 2798, 2918, 2998, 3004
- Section 2, 2564, 2572
- Section 106A, provincial compensation, 2814
- Senate, proposals on, 1443, 1545
- Senate reform, 1997, 2339, 2449, 2742, 2802, 2856
- Senate transformation to house of provincial delegates, 2851
- Senate veto, 3004, 3059
- Separatism, 2732, 3007
- Social peace, 2617, 2624
- Sovereignty-association status for Quebec, 2799
- Sovereignty of the people, 2987, 2996
- Spending powers and shared-cost programs, 1445, 2139, 2189, 2331, 2606, 2625, 2749, 2807, 2851, 2868, 2927, 3006, 3052
- Substantive provisions and interpretive clauses, 3050
- Stanfield, Robert L., quote, 2191
- Statement of Principles for a New Constitution, 2991
- Supreme Court, 1445, 1544, 2132, 2143, 2193, 2330, 2566, 2573, 2576, 2619, 2747, 2990
- Suspensive veto, 2802
- Symmetrical federalism, 3017
- Territorial principle, 2817
- Transitional formula, 2001
- Transfer of powers, 1446, 2917, 2986, 2987
- Triple-E Senate reform, 2800
- Two nations theory, 2916

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole—Cont'd

Unanimity, 2259, 2449, 2580, 2746, 2799, 2916, 2986, 3052
 Unilingual French Canada surrounded by English Canada, 2913
 Vagueness, 2566
 Victoria Charter scheme, 2252
 "Vouloir-vivre collectif", 2984, 2986
 "Western amendment", 2804
 Western Canada, 2449
 Women's concerns, 2130, 2190, 2565, 2574, 2866, 3002
 Wording, 1442, 1540, 1544
 Yukon and Northwest Territories, 1548, 2193, 2199, 2575, 2801, 2856, 3000

Speakers: Senators

Adams, Willie, 2469, 2861, 3012
 Argue, Hazen, 2569, 2810, 3007
 Barootes, Efstathios W., 2854, 2911
 Bielish, Martha P., 2628
 Bosa, Peter, 2139, 2568, 2806, 2871, 3013
 Buckwold, Sidney L., 2856
 Cottreau, Ernest G., 2613
 David, Paul, 2256
 Denis, Azellus, 2004, 2613, 2919
 Doody, C. William, 2614
 Doyle, Richard, J., 3003, 3059
 Everett, Douglas D., 2803
 Fairbairn, Joyce, 2136, 2262, 2460, 2856, 2915, 2926, 3010
 Flynn Jacques, 1540
 Frith, Royce, 1547, 1998, 2131, 2144, 2198, 2252, 2266, 2567, 2610, 2619, 2624, 2734, 2742, 2803, 2863, 2917, 2924, 3004
 Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 2736, 2800, 2811, 2915, 2926
 Grafstein, Jerahmiel S., 2197, 2205, 2617, 2735, 3016
 Guay, Joseph-Philippe, 2751
 Haidasz, Stanley, 2136, 2141, 2570, 2815, 3058
 Hays, Daniel, 2003
 Hicks, Henry D., 2338, 2608
 Lang, Daniel A., 1543, 2918
 Leblanc, Fernand-E., (Chairman), 2247
 LeBlanc, Roméo, 2463, 2621, 2627, 2751, 2806, 2813, 2855, 2920, 2928, 3012
 Lucier, Paul, 1548, 2193, 2202, 2575, 2742, 2920, 2923, 3010
 MacDonald, Finlay, 2451, 2802
 MacEachen, Allan J., 2339, 2737, 2744, 2852, 2999, 3050
 Macquarrie, Heath, 2006
 Marchand, Len, 2204, 2263, 2750, 2865, 3009
 Marsden, Lorna, 2132, 2140, 2194, 2254, 2335, 2450, 2565, 2612, 2617, 2733, 2743, 2749, 2805, 2811, 2855, 2862, 2920, 3002
 Marshall, Jack, 2133
 McElman, Charles, 2131, 3054
 Molson, Hartland de M., 2004, 2579
 Murray, Lowell, 3047
 Neiman, Joan, 2130, 2801, 2860
 Olson, H.A., 1997, 2453, 2804, 3003
 Ottenheimer, Gerald R., 2609, 3014
 Perrault, Raymond J., 2748, 3063
 Robichaud, Louis, 2000, 2250
 Stewart, John B., 1538, 2134, 2195, 2255, 2264, 2340, 2455, 2566, 2575, 2611, 2619, 2625, 2744, 2749, 2805, 2812, 2856, 3006
 Steuart, D.G., 2006
 Stollery, Peter, 2142, 2196, 2201, 2334
 Tremblay, Arthur, 2001, 3018
 Turner, Charles, 1996
 Watt, Charlie, 2136, 2461

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole—Cont'd

Speakers: Senators—Cont'd

Wood, Dalia, 2249
 and witnesses
 Asper, Izzy, Q.C., 2798
 Atcheson, Beth, Past Vice-Chair, Women's Legal Education and Action Fund, 2865
 Bayefsky, Prof. Ann, Canadian Jewish Congress, 2573
 Bean, Daryl T., National President, Public Service Alliance of Canada, 2921
 Binavince, Emilio, Canadian Ethnocultural Council, 2563
 Bliss, Dr. Michael, Dept. of History, University of Toronto, 2336
 Breton, Prof. Albert, Dept. of Economics, University of Toronto, 2731
 Bruyère, Louis "Smokey", President, Native Council of Canada, 2258
 Caccia, Charles, P.C., M.P., 2138
 Cairns, Prof. Hugh Allan, Dept of Political Science, University of British Columbia, 2739
 Chalmers, Anne, Prairie Nations' Treaty Alliance, 2459
 Corn, George, President, Canadian Ethnocultural Council, 2562
 Daniels, Ernie, Prairie Nations' Treaty Alliance, 2456
 Erasmus, Georges, National Chief, Assembly of First Nations, 2199
 Finkelstein, Neil, Canadian Jewish Congress, 2572
 Forsey, Eugene, 1441, 1538, 1995, 2130
 Geraets, Theodore, Professor of Philosophy, University of Ottawa, 2333
 Gordon, Mark, President, Makivik Corporation, 2463
 Iacobucci, Frank, Q.C., Deputy Minister of Justice, 3058
 Irving, Colin, Legal Counsel, Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards (Montreal), 2617
 Johnson, Prof. Albert W., Dept of Political Science, University of Toronto, 2850
 Johnston, Hon. Donald J., P.C. M.P., 2912
 Lamarche, Lucie, Chair, Government Liaison Committee, Women's Legal Education and Action Fund, 2867
 LeClair, Marc, Constitutional Coordinator, Métis National Council, 2859
 Macdonald, Prof. Alex B., Q.C., Simon Fraser University, 2746
 Maclean, Vincent J., Leader of the Opposition, Province of Nova Scotia, 2605
 Manzer, Kathryn, former National Vice-President, Canadian Parents for French, 2627
 Morse, Bradford, Professor of Law, University of Ottawa, 2262
 Orr, Royal, President, Alliance Québec, 2247
 Pickersgill, John W., P.C., 2188
 Purdy, Dr. Susan, National President, Canadian Parents for French, 2622
 Ritchie, Dr. Marguerite, Q.C., President, Human Rights Institute of Canada, 2327
 Rodger, Ginette, Exec. Director, Canadian Nurses Association, 2807
 Scott, Stephen, Professor of Law, McGill University, 2251
 Simard, Michel, Public and Government Relations Manager, Canadian Nurses Association, 2813
 Simms, Dr. John A., President, Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards (Montreal), 2615
 Sinclair, Jim, President, Métis National Council, 2857
 Spector, Dr. Norman, Secretary to the Cabinet for Federal-Provincial Relations, 3058
 Trudeau, Rt. Hon. Pierre Elliot, former Prime Minister of Canada, 2982
 Wilder, Joseph, J., Q.C., National Chairman, CJC Community Relations Committee, 2571

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole—Cont'd
Speakers:—Cont'd
 Williams, Dr. Blair, Dept. of Political Science, Concordia University, 2448
 Williamson, E.L.R., Consulting Economist and Teacher, 2577
- Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, inquiry, 977, 1040, 1102
 Australian system, 1044
 Deadlock, 1043
 Distribution of Senate seats, 1043
 Double dissolution, 1044
 Function and role of reformed Senate, 1041
 Party stranglehold, 1046
 Powers of the Senate, 1042
 Power to withhold supply, 1044
 Proportional representation system, 1042
 Quebec special provision re senators, 1044
 Restructuring, 1103
 Selection of senators, 1042
 "Single transferable vote" system, 1042, 1104
 Suspensive veto, 1104
 Triple E Senate, 1102
Speakers: Senators
 Olson, H.A., 1102
 Roblin, Duff, 1040
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole, 1159, 1179, 1198, 1211, 1215
 Constitutional independency and responsibility, 1183, 1203
 Date of reporting, 1179, 1183
 Deportment, 1182, 1185
 Motions in amendment, 1200; 1215
 Speaker's rulings, 1211, 1216
 Points of order, 1200
 Reasons, 1160
 Referred to Committee of the Whole, 1218
 Suggestion to televise, 1160, 1180
 Timing, 1183
 Unanimity requirement, 1204
 Witnesses, 1180
 1982 procedure, 1184
Speakers: Senators
 Frith, Royce, 1182
 Lang, Daniel A., 1182
 MacEachen, Allan J., 1159, 1215
 Murray, Lowell, 1198
 Olson, H.A., 1203
 Phillips, Orville H., 1179
- Constitutional Accord, 1987, Special Joint Committee
 Commons members, 1480
 Establishment, message from House Commons
 Motion to concur, 1233, 1274
 Motion concurred in, 1279
 Point of order, 1236
 Speaker's ruling, 1272
 Report, 1865
 Extension of deadline for presentation of report, 1803
 Order withdrawn, 3225
 Senate members, 1432
- Consumer and Corporate Affairs
 Departmental investigation of tobacco as hazardous substance, alleged interference by minister, 627
- Cook, Hon. Eric, (deceased Aug.24/86), tribute, 11
- Cools, Hon. Anne C.
 Barrow, Rt. Hon. Errol Walton, the late, Prime Minister of Barbados
 Tribute, 1162
- Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society
 Background, 2119
Speakers: Senators
 Cogger, Michel, 2119
 Frith, Royce, 2127
- Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society bill S-14, 1r, 2090; 2r, 2119, 2127; ref to com, 2127; rep without amdt, 2240; 3r, 2293; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 2500; r.a., 2510
- Copyright
 Bill C-60, request for correspondence between Council of Ministers of Education of Canada and Federal-Provincial Relations Minister, 2977, 3101
- Copyright (Bill C-60)
 Amendments to benefit cultural industries, 2645
 Collectives, 2769
 Exhibition rights, 2768
 Mechanical reproduction rights provision, 2769
 Retroactivity, 2768
 Software protection, 2645
 Statute of limitations clause, 2768
 Use of copyright for destruction, 2645, 2767
 See appendices p. 2936, 2545
Speakers: Senators
 Doyle, Richard J., 2644
 Marsden, Lorna, 2767
 See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
- Copyright bill C-60, 1r, 2633; 2r, 2644, 2767; ref to com, 2769; rep with amds, 2930, 3243, 3254, 3267; 3r, 3270; message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amds, 3419, 3463; m in amdt ref to com, 3464; rep with recommendations, 3509, 3550; r.a., 3635
- Corbin, Hon. Eymard
 "A People Apart—Natives in Saskatoon", special newspaper report, 432, 509
 Abbott, Hon. Douglas Charles, P.C., the late, tribute, 665
 Agriculture
 Potato industry
 New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, effect of excise tax on potato chips, qu, 1396
 Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, Fifteenth General Assembly, Quebec City
 4th Report, 96, 174
 Ordre de la Pléiade, recipients, 176
 See appendix p. 184
 Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1412
 Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141, 3869
 Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3875
 Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 533
 Canada-Iran relations
 Normalization of diplomatic relations, government policy, qu, 3794
 Canada Labour Code bill C-97, 2390, 2445
 Canada-United States Days of Peace and Friendship
 Designation of July 2 and 3, 1987, message from Commons, 842

Corbin, Hon. Eymard—Cont'd

- Citizenship
 - Petition of Foreign Service Community Association on bill C-254, tabled, 2159
- Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, 1914
 - Narrow application, 1914
- Citizenship (period of residency) bill C-254, 2383
- Constitution
 - Amendment to implement concurrent jurisdiction over provincial resources, introduction, government action, 672
 - Francophone minorities outside Quebec, qu, 1164
- First Ministers' Accord
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, maintenance of official bilingualism, qu, 1027, 1058
 - Terminology of text, danger of classifying French-Canadians under two categories, question of privilege, 1124
- First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1324, 2188
- First Ministers' Conference, status of Francophones outside Quebec, qu, 876
- Meech Lake accord, consultations with Premier-elect of New Brunswick, position of Government-elect of New Brunswick, qu, 1952
- Possibility of simultaneous presentation of revised Official Languages Policy and text of accord, qu, 1028, 1088
- Constitution Amendment, 1987
 - Motion in amdt, 3172
- Constitution Act, 1867 bill S-12, 2360
 - Applicability to present senators, 2360
 - Ministers of the Crown, 2360
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1453, 1917, 1925
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and signed texts to Committee of the Whole
 - Point of order, 1201
- Constitution, proposed amendment, 1987
 - Motion in amdt, 3088
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons
 - Motion to concur, point of order, 1236
- Customs Tariff bill C-87, 2389
- Economic development
 - Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, exclusion of large enterprises from infrastructure projects, qu, 1923
- New Brunswick
 - Fate of federal government projects announced during provincial election campaign, qu, 1940, 2492
 - Lieutenant Governor, status of, qu, 2818
 - Prospects for introduction of new projects before and after provincial election, qu, 1923
- Emergencies bill C-77, Committee of the Whole, (Chairman), 3623
- External Affairs
 - Counter-terrorism measures, invitation to attend briefing, order of precedence, propriety of inclusion of staff, qu, 675, 790
 - East Bloc countries, official visit to, Senate representation, qu, 897, 962
 - Invitations from department to parliamentarians, order of precedence, qu, 761, 790
 - Parliamentary delegation to India, composition, exclusion of senators, qu, 674, 790
- Federal government and crown corporations
 - Selection process for procurement of services and tendering of contracts, inquiry, point of order, 2834

Corbin, Hon. Eymard—Cont'd

- Federal-provincial relations
 - Equalization payments to poorer provinces, government policy, qu, 392, 438
- Foreign affairs
 - Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, reaction of Progressive Conservative Party, 2845
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - 11th report, Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 2242, 2296, 4154
- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 2398, 2493
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4469, 4474
 - Ref back to com, 4407
 - Technical discrepancies, 4469
- Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, 2392, 2489
- Human rights and fundamental freedoms
 - Motion for proposed standing committee, 2371
- Indian Affairs
 - Maliseet Nation land claim, request for appointment of impartial negotiators, qu, 360
 - Tobique Indian band land claim
 - Request for appointment of impartial negotiators, qu, 393, 572
 - "Technical breach claim", definition, qu, 832, 909
- Judges bill C-88, 2385
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 2288
 - Report, 21st, Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, with amds, 3804
- Maritime provinces
 - Trans-Canada Highway upgrading, request for government assistance, qu, 2352
- National Defence Committee
 - Report
 - 1st, authority to engage services and to travel, 1106
- National Finance Committee
 - Reports
 - 4th, Estimates, 1986-87, supplementary (B), 364, 367
 - 7th, post-secondary education, 817
- New Brunswick
 - Authors of official bilingualism in province, qu, 1951
- Official languages
 - Alberta, rights of Francophones, statement of Premier Getty, qu, 4506
 - C.D. Howe Institute document distributed by Hon. John Crosbie, unavailability of French text, qu, 4312
- Official Languages Act.
 - Consultations by Secretary of State, injustice to parliamentarians, qu, 1299
 - Status of bill to amend, qu, 1094, 1299
- Official Languages bill C-72, 4136
- Official Languages Committee reports
 - 1st, establishment of quorum, 240, 246
 - 4th, recommendations re implementation of Official Languages Act, 1395
 - 5th, Calgary Olympic Winter Games, disregard for language provisions in Charter re failure to make adequate provision for French- language television, 2472
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1411
- Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War bill C-100, 2395
- Prescription drug prices, effect of proposed patent amdt, presentation of petitions, 1334

Corbin, Hon. Eymard—Cont'd

- Radio bill C-3, 678, 705, 744
 - Implications for New Brunswick, 706
 - Provincial opposition, 745
- Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1284, 1494, 1851
 - Compliance with provincial laws, 1853
 - Equal treatment before the law for all non-profit corporations, 1853
 - Only a front, 1288
 - Regard for women, 1288
 - Weakness in laws on corporations, 1286
- Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee
 - Authority to examine subject matter of (regulation-making powers) clauses of certain bills, 825
- Senate
 - Absence of Leader of the Government from chamber, 1337
 - Adjournment, 1582
 - Business, 1787, 1928
 - Inquiries, point of order, referral to rules committee, 2227
 - Treatment of legislation, 1616
 - Cost of production of appendices in Debates and Minutes, 3864
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, 391, 2442
 - Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 400, 402
 - Official report
 - Quality of translation, 1297
 - Privilege, 1124, 1471
 - Privilege, motion to refer to committee, 893
 - Question Period, request for answers, 2473
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 3439
- Small Businesses Loans bill C-63, 1562
 - Fishermen's loss of special identity, 1562
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee reports
 - 13th, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3438, 3447
 - 25th, Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) bill C-123, 4349
- Standing Rules and Orders Committee
 - Report, 13th, committee reports on bills, m to ref back to com, 3810
- Transport
 - CN Shops, Moncton, closing, plight of New Brunswick, request for action, qu, 811
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-16, 407
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-90, 2305, 2382
 - Forget Commission, 2305
 - Necessity for permanent variable entry provision, 2305
- War Veterans Allowance, amendment of Act, inquiry, 3321
- Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, 1255

Corn, George, President, Canadian Ethnocultural Council

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2562

Corporations and labour unions returns

- Confidentiality, 2561
- Foreign ownership of Canadian corporations, 2561
- Paper burden reduction, 2561
- Speakers: Senators
 - Balfour, James, 2561
 - Marsden, Lorna, 2562

Corporations and Labour Unions Returns bill C-91. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2561; ref to com, 2562; rep without amdt, 2653; 3r, 2763; r.a., 2890Correctional Service of Canada

- Resignation of Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, 3584
- Request for further information, 4019, 4044
- Request for tabling of Comptroller General documents, 3988

Corrections

- Effect of privatization and reduced services, 142
- Parole of inmates, 198

Cottreau, Hon. Ernest G.

- Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2756
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2613
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2756

Criminal Code and Canada evidence

- Admissibility of evidence from children, 1414
- Child sexual abuse and child prostitution, 1413
- Establishment of treatment centres for information gathering and dissemination, 1526
- Greater equality under law for abused children, 1489
- Improvement of arrangements for children's testimony, 1414, 1491
- Rehabilitation, 1490
- Review process, 1527
- Rights of the accused, 1492
- Sexual interference, invitation to sexual touching and sexual exploitation, three new offenses, 1414, 1490
- Statistical data, 1491, 1526, 1527
- Vagrancy, 1490
- Video taped testimony and standards, 1489

Speakers: Senators

- Fairbairn, Joyce, 1488
- Flynn, Jacques, 1526
- Frith, Royce, 1415
- Hicks, Henry D., 1492
- Neiman, Joan, 1525
- Nurgitz, Nathan, 1413, 1527

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Criminal Code and Canada Evidence bill C-41. 1r, 1333; 2r, 1413, 1488, 1525; 3r, 1527; r.a., 1590Criminal Code, food and drugs, narcotic control

- Drug trafficking, 3922
- "Enterprise crime", 3922
- Laundering of drug money, 3993
- "Proceeds of crime", 3922
- United Nations draft convention, 3922

Speakers: Senators

- Nurgitz, Nathan, 3922
- Stanbury, Richard J., 3992

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61. 1r, 3917; 2r, 3922; 3992; ref to com, 3993; rep with comments, 4237; 3r, 4263; r.a., 4403Criminal Code, immigration and citizenship

- Deschênes Report, 1783, 1788
- Privilege of immigration, 1790
- War crimes and crimes against humanity, 1783, 1788

Speakers: Senators

- Doyle, Richard J., 1783
- Flynn, Jacques, 1790
- Grafstein, Jerahmiel S., 1787
- Hicks, Henry D., 1790
- Macquarrie, Heath, 1789
- Perrault, Raymond J., 1789

Criminal Code, Immigration Act, 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71. 1r, 1754; 2r, 1783, 1787; ref to com, 1790; rep without amdt, 1803; 3r, 1812; r.a., 1854

Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use)

Addiction statistics, 4214
Availability of syringes for veterinary use, 4216
Head shops, 4215
Message, 4214
"Recreational drugs", 4216
Volunteer action, 4215

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 4213
Frith, Royce, 4215
Neiman, Joan, 4242
Olson, H.A., 4216

Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) bill C-264. 1r 4212; 2r, 4213; ref to com, 4217; rep without amdt, 4221; 3r, 4242; r.a., 4403

Criminal Code (protection of the unborn)

Anti-abortion stance rooted in natural law, 3866
Borowski case, 3867
Declaration of Geneva, 3866
Declining birth rate, statistics, 3691
Evolution of society, 3691
Five circumstances for moral exceptions, 3692
Fundamental to continuance of society, 3476
Hippocratic oath, 3478
Legal system responsibility, 3803
Moral fabric of society, 4124
Moral obligations, 4124
Morris, Dr. Heather, address, quote, 3802
Origins of human life, 3690
Penalties, 3866
Physicians for Life, press release, quote, 3802
Precedence of life over ownership right of disposal, 3692
Protection of handicapped, 3479
Responsibility, 4124
Rubenstein, Arthur, quote, 3479
Scientific evidence, 3477
"Serious therapeutic reasons", 3477
Severity of penalties, 4282
Victims of rape or incest, 3479

Speakers: Senators

Anderson, Margaret, 4281
David, Paul, 3690
Guay, Joseph-Philippe, 3865
Haidasz, Stanley, 3476
Kelly William M., 4124
Macdonald, John M., 3801

Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16. 1r, 3420; 2r, 3476, 3690, 3801, 3865, 4123, 4281

Criminal Code (torture)

Commission on Human Rights, 824
Conformity with United Nations conventions, 833, 878
Escape clause, 878
Expansion of rules of jurisdiction, 833

Speakers: Senators

Nurgitz, Nathan, 833
Stanbury, Richard J., 878

Criminal Code (torture) bill C-28. 1r, 779; 2r, 833, 878; ref to com, 878; rep without amdt, 897; 3r, 910; r.a., 929

Criminal Code (victims of crime)

Ban on disclosure of identity, 3340
Ban on publication, 3430
Creation of victim fine surcharge scheme, 3339
Detention and return of property, 3430
Entitlement of victim to reparation, 3338
Gathering of meaningful statistics on impact of changes to justice system, 3992
Imprisonment in default of payment of restitution, 3992
Imprisonment without appeal, 3992
Publication bans, 3991
Restitution, 3340
Use of photographic evidence in lieu of the property itself, 3339
Victim impact statement, 3339
Speakers: Senators
Bélisle, Rhéal, 3338
Neiman, Joan, 3430, 3991

Criminal Code (victims of crime) bill C-89. 1r, 3287; 2r, 3338, 3430; ref to com, 3431; rep without amdt but with comments, 3919; 3r, 3991; r.a., 4109

Croll, Hon. David A.

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 82

Agriculture

Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to ref to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3457

Cameron, Hon. Donald, tribute on resignation from the Senate, 1888

Guaranteed annual income, 83

McGrand, Hon. Fred A., the late, tribute, 4255

Phillips, Hon. Lazarus, the late, tribute, 418

Poverty Line Update, 83, 2547

See appendices p. 93, 2581

Senior citizens, observation of special week in tribute, 696, 802

Debt of gratitude, 802

Heritage of social capital, 802

Services for the elderly, 85

Tributes on 50th anniversary of General Motors strike, 844

Crow, John, appointment as Governor of Bank of Canada, 354

Cummings, Gordon, President and Chief Executive Officer, National Sea Products

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 536

Currency

Exchange fund, 2560

Speakers: Senators

Bosa, Peter, 2586

Marshall, Jack, 2559

Currency bill C-99. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2559, 2586; ref to com, 2587; rep without amdt, 2757; 3r, 2757; r.a., 2890

Customs

Safety conditions, working conditions and facilities at international bridges and tunnels, 1563

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 1563

Frith, Royce, 1563

Customs bill C-80. 1r, 1563; 2r, 1563; 3r, 1564; r.a., 1590

Customs tariff and duties relief

Goods made/not made in Canada, 1555

Customs tariff and duties relief—Cont'd

Manufacturers requested changes re maintaining competitiveness, 1554

Procedural changes, 1556

Technical changes, 1555

Speakers: Senators

Barrow, A. Irvine, 1556

Simard, Jean-Maurice, 1554

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Customs Tariff and Duties Relief bill C-69. 1r, 1554; 2r, 1554; 3r, 1556; r.a., 1590

Customs Tariff (Bill C-87)

18 month transition period proviso, 2477

Governor-in-Council discretion, 2444, 2477

Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System, 2386

Revenue-neutral bill, 2389

Speakers: Senators

Hicks, Henry D., 2443

Robertson, Brenda M., 2386, 2444

and

Hockin, Hon. Thomas, Minister of State (Finance), 2475

Customs Tariff bill C-87. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2386, 2443; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2444; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Thomas Hockin, Minister of State (Finance) taking part in the debate, 2475; rep without amdt, 2479; 3r, 2479; r.a., 2510

Customs tariff (Bill C-118)

Duties removal from certain products not made in Canada, 3255

Speakers: Senators

Rossiter, Eileen, 3255

Sinclair, Ian, 3270

Customs Tariff bill C-118. 1r, 3222; 2r, 3255, 3270; ref to com, 3271; rep without amdt, 3349; 3r, 3386; r.a., 3488

Customs Tariff (Bill C-135)

Continuance of prohibition of pornographic, seditious and hate literature, 3761

Hate literature, 3763

Importation of obscene materials, 3760

Obscenity, 3763

Obscenity provisions of Criminal Code and Bill C-54 re Free Trade Agreement, 3762

Speakers: Senators

Buckwold, Sidney L., 3762

Frith, Royce, 3760

Phillips, Orville H., 3759

Stewart, John B., 3762

and

Hockin, Hon. Tom, Minister of State (Finance), 3761

Nelder-Corvari, Carol, Tariff Officer, International Trade and Finance Branch Department of Finance, 3763

Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956). 1r, 3748; 2r, 3759; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3760; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Tom Hockin, Minister of State (Finance), Carol Nelder-Corvari, Tariff Officer, Dept of Finance, taking part

Daniels, Ernie, Interim President, Prairie Treaty Nations' Alliance

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2456

Davey, Hon. Keith

Canada-United States relations

Summit meeting in Ottawa, suggested contents of publications, qu, 830

Commonwealth

Conference at Vancouver, B.C., provincial participation, qu, 1936

Communications

Foster Advertising, purchase by U.S. conglomerate, use of Foster Advertising in Progressive Conservative campaign, qu, 4188

Sport

Johnson, Ben, alleged mistreatment of World Champion Sprinter by Vancouver airport customs officials, government action, 1870

David, Hon. Paul

Canada Labour Code bill C-97, 2390, 2445, 2486

Compulsory employer contributions re employees on leave, 2390

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4332

Canadian parliamentary delegation, visit to Belgium, 54, 115

Linguistic duality, 115

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 2256

Motion to televise proceedings, 1925

Report, 2nd, authority to incur expenses, 2287

Constitution Amendment, 1987

Motion in amdt, 3121

Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16, 3690

Declining birth rate, statistics, 3691

Evolution of society, 3691

Five circumstances for moral exceptions, 3692

Origins of human life, 3690

Precedence of life over ownership right of disposal, 3692

Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 1992, 2398

Aging population, 1993

Conventional medicine, 1993

Funding, 1993

Integration of various parallel medicines, 1994

Stress, 1993

Income Tax bill C-11, 103, 121

Child Tax Credit prepayment, 104

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report 11th, 668

Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee report

16th, budget re study of Immigration, 1976 bill C-55 and authority to travel, 2500

Lévesque, Hon. René, the late, former premier of Quebec, tribute, 2118

Organ Donor Week, 900

Patent bill C-22, 1029, 1730

Clinical research, 1731

Contribution of innovative pharmaceutical industry, 1030

Intellectual property protection reduction, 1733

Message from Commons for concurrence in certain Commons amtds and for non-insistence on certain Senate amtds, 2159, 2185

Pharmaceutical sector development, 1732

Price increase, 1736

Protection of intellectual resources, 1032

Patent bill S-15, 2831, 2962, 4530

Consumer Price Index, 2832

Drug Prices Review Board, power, 2832

Generic and innovative producers both guilty of increases, 2833

Patented Medicine Prices Review Board, mandate, 4530

David, Hon. Paul —Cont'd

- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
- Childhood poverty and adult social problems, authority to study relationship, 3407

Deaths

- Abbott, Hon. Douglas Charles, P.C. (March 17/87), 628
- Askwith, Charles H.E. (Sept. 27/87), 1874
- Barrow, Rt. Hon. Errol Walton (June 1/87), 1162
- Bell, Hon. Richard A., P.C., Q.C. (Mar. 20/88), 2879
- Chouinard, Mr. Justice Julien (Feb. 6/87), 463
- Cook, Hon. Eric (Aug. 24/86), 11
- Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C. (Dec. 11/86), 285
- Dunton, Davidson (Feb. 7/87), 484
- Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C. (Mar. 21/87), 697
- Grant, George Parkin, (Sept. 27/88), 4502
- Hayden, Hon. Salter A. (Dec. 30/86), 417
- Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C. (Nov. 19/86), 227
- Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C. (May 27/88), 3504
- Leclerc, Félix (Aug. 9/88), 4170
- Lévesque, Hon. René (Nov. 1/87), 2117
- MacDonald, Hon. John Joseph (Sept. 24/86), 11
- MacNeill, John Forbes, Q.C. (July 27/88), 4165
- Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C. (Aug. 28/88), 4207
- McGrand, Hon. Frederic A. (Sept. 4/88), 4255
- Phillips, Hon. Lazarus (Jan. 5/87), 417
- Rousseau, Hon. Yvette (Mar. 17/88), 2875
- Welch, Hon. Frank Corbett (Sept. 3/86), 11

De Bané, Hon. Pierre, P.C.

- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
- Minister's statement, 1174
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee report
- 28th, Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4173
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 548
- Canada-United States relations
- Free trade negotiations
- Major outstanding obstacles, possibility of briefing conditions precedent to signing agreement, qu, 1811
- Reduction of regional disparities, qu, 624
- Constitution
- First Ministers' Accord
- Terminology of text, danger of classifying French-Canadians under two categories, qu, 1124, 1197
- First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2135
- First Ministers' Conference, aboriginal rights, agenda item, qu, 945
- Federal government and crown corporations, selection process for procurement and tendering of contracts, inquiry, 159, 2834
- Withdrawn, 3342
- Patent bill C-22
- Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, m to refer to committee, 1798

Denis, Hon. Azellus, P.C.

- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
- 19th report, Patent bill C-22, rep on question and message from House of Commons, 2097
- Canada Child Care bill C-144, 4499
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
- Government information program, propriety and cost, qu, 4354, 4380
- Government publications, availability in other languages, qu, 4379, 4541

Denis, Hon. Azellus, P.C.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement—Cont'd
- Government publicity campaign, qu, 3549
- Cost, status during election, availability of publications in other languages, qu, 4459, 4526
- Precedence for cost, qu, 4460
- Canada-United States relations
- Free trade negotiations, budget for government publicity, qu, 1121
- Christmas greetings, 415
- Constitution
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
- "Distinct society" clause, interpretation vis-a-vis anglophone Canadians, qu, 3233
- Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, tribute, 12
- Constitution
- Constitutional Accord, 1987, possibility of amendment, qu, 1165
- Constitution Act, 1867 bill S-12, 2819
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1350, 2004, 2613, 2919
- Corrections
- Parole of inmates, qu, 198
- Felicitations on eightieth birthday, 753
- Expression of appreciation, 759
- Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague, tribute, 332
- Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 332
- Parole
- Release of inmates, qu, 22
- Patent bill C-22, 1034
- Senate
- Adjournment
- Motion in amendment, 2150
- Role of Senator Flynn in Question Period, qu, 2079
- Vacancies, filling of, reason for delay, qu, 3548, 3585

Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C. (Deceased Dec. 11/86), tributes, 285Dickson, the Rt. Hon. Brian, Chief Justice of Canada

- Royal Assent, 182

Diefenbaker Centre, University of Saskatchewan

- Financial crisis, request for government assistance, 1175
- Further request for government assistance, 1881, 1924
- Government action, 1400
- Government response to request for assistance, 2161

Disarmament

- United States-U.S.S.R. agreement on nuclear weapons reductions, statement by Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, government position, 2351

Document entitled "New Direction for the Financial Sector", inquiry, 390, 403, 1011Documents tabled

- See Journals of the Senate

Dome Petroleum Limited

- See Energy and Natural Resources Committee

Doody, Hon. C. William, Deputy Leader of the Government

- Aboriginal peoples
- First Ministers' Conference, March, 1987, treaty Indian representation, 674
- Statement by Deputy Leader of Government 675
- Inuit of western Arctic land claims settlement, request for investigation of disbursement of funds, 1872

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Aboriginal peoples—Cont'd
 - Native Economic Development Program, inclusion of primary resource industries, government action, 585
 - Post-secondary education
 - Government policy, 395
 - Student assistance programs, 1339
- Abortion
 - Rights of the Unborn, introduction of legislation, 2981
- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne
 - Termination of debate, 15
- Agriculture, 1057
 - Acid rain, effect on maple syrup production, government action, 4490
 - Alberta, drought relief program
 - Criteria for qualification, 4213, 4239, 4462
 - Signing of agreement, 3921
 - Breeding herds, dispersal of in drought-stricken areas, tax deferral on livestock sales, 4223
 - British Columbia, withdrawal from marketing boards, 1880, 1885
 - Deficiency payments to western grain farmers
 - Delay in payment of second instalment, 1057
 - Government action, 2233
 - 1987 crop year, 1338, 1873
 - Farm credit crisis
 - Discussions between government and banks, 1057
 - Government action, 851
 - Grain, 1987 crop year, decline in prices, government relief measures, 1872
 - Interest-free loan to Ford Motor Company, request for comparable treatment for farmers, 908
 - Moratorium on Farm Credit Corporation loans, 569
 - Potato industry, subsidy payment for 1985 crop year, government action, 1954
 - Prince Edward Island potato industry, government assistance, 3714
 - Special Grains Program
 - Request for expediting of payments, 1316, 1580
 - Tobacco farmers in southwestern Ontario, plight of
 - Agenda item at meeting of Ministers of Agriculture, government action, 4132
 - Government assistance, 4130
 - Western Canada, drought conditions
 - Effect on price of bread, 4131
 - Government assistance, request for answer, 3447, 4462
 - Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to refer to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3457
 - Western Grain Stabilization Program, final payment, 4462
- Agriculture and Forestry Committee
 - Authority to engage services, 669
 - Canagrex dissolution, subject matter of Bill C-2, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
 - Prairie grain advance payments, subject matter of Bill C-12, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
 - Territorial lands, subject matter of Bill C-43, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 620
- Air Canada
 - Labour dispute, current situation, 2491
- Appropriation No. 3, 1986-87 bill C-29, 303, 342, 363
- Appropriation No. 4, 1986-87 bill C-35, 380, 399
- Appropriation No. 5, 1986-87 bill C-47, 751
- Appropriation No. 1, 1987-88 bill C-48, 765, 775
 - See Journals of the Senate*
- Appropriation No. 2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 739, 767, 791, 795
- Appropriation No. 3, 1987-88 bill C-65, 1281, 1303
 - See appendix p. 1295*

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Appropriation No. 4, 1987-88 bill C-95, 2383
 - See appendix p. 2439*
- Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88 bill C-108, 2604, 2643
 - See appendix p. 2631*
- Appropriation No. 6, 1987-88 bill C-119, 2954, 2965
- Appropriation No. 1, 1988-89 bill C-120, 2966
- Appropriation No. 2, 1988-89 bill C-138, 3758
 - See appendix p. 3786*
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
 - Criteria for approving proposals, 196, 238
 - Request for text of telex from Premier of Prince Edward Island, 80
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency bill C-103 (Part 1), 3887
- Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation bill C-27, 276
- Banking
 - Designation of Toronto as international centre, government policy, 237
 - International banking centres, proposed legislation, government policy, 908
 - Matters within exclusive federal jurisdiction, government action, 586
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 263, 291, 485, 670, 742, 809, 1140, 1877
- Bank of British Columbia business continuation, subject matter of Bill C-27, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 257
- Bell Canada, subject matter of Bill C-13, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
- Canadair Limited divestiture authorization, subject matter of Bill C-25, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 264
- Customs tariff and duties relief, subject matter of Bill C-69, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1297
- Excise tax and excise, subject matter of Bill C-14, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
- Financial institutions and deposit insurance, subject matter of Bill C-42 authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 742
- Financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-9, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 63
- Income tax, subject matter of Bill C-23, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 263
- Income Tax Act, authority to study notice of amending ways and means motion and subject matter of consequential legislation, 64
- Insurance companies, subject matter of Bill C-8, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 63
- Reports
 - 10th, softwood lumber products export charge, subject matter of Bill C-37, authority to travel in Canada to study, 501
 - 19th, Patent bill C-22, rep on question and message from House of Commons, 2087
- Small business loans, subject matter of Bill C-63, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246
- Softwood lumber products export charge, subject matter of Bill C-37, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 451
- Barbados, visit of High Commissioner, Peter George Morgan, 354
- Blue Water Bridge Authority bill C-210, 4236
- Borrowing Authority 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, 620, 637, 707, 711, 738, 747
 - Income tax refund seasonal demand, 637
 - Non-lapsing $2 million reserve, 637
 - Volatile exchange markets, 637
- Borrowing Authority, 1988-89 bill C-109, 2847, 2880
- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68, 1874, 1882
- Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency, mandate, 1874

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126, 4039
- British Columbia
 - Queen Charlotte Islands, suggested moratorium on Lyell Island logging activity, 673
 - South Moresby, establishment of national park, status of negotiations, 1338
- Cabinet
 - Conflict-of-interest inquiries, assumption of ministers' legal costs, 1338
- Cameron, Hon. Donald
 - Notice of resignation from the Senate, 1884
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 494, 663, 714
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 451, 456, 470, 478
 - Senate resolved into Committee of the Whole, 492
 - Fishing quotas in Canadian waters, negotiations to establish, 1338
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries dispute
 - Senate representation at negotiations, 830
- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation bill C-6, 573, 635, 676
 - Canada-Newfoundland Offshore Petroleum Board, 573
 - Canada Shipping bill C-39, 613
 - Equalization payments protection, 574
 - Establishment of offshore development fund, 574
 - Oil-spill compensation regime, 574
 - Priority for competitive Newfoundland goods and services, 574
 - Research fund for environmental studies, 574
 - Terra Nova field, 637
- Canada Post Corporation
 - Loss of die for one-dollar coin, 586
 - Norwood Grove, St. Boniface, closing of post office, 236
 - Postal strike, appointment of mediator, 1479, 1509, 1648
 - Rural post offices, closing, government policy, 569
 - Sponsorship of U.S. television series "Amerika", 586
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism
 - Effect of establishment of bi-national tribunal, adjudication of application of Canadian law, 2079
 - Findings of bi-national panel and trade commission, right of retaliatory action by injured party, point of order, 2054
 - Point of order, 2055
 - Order paper question, request for answer, 2210
 - Deferral of questions to committee, 3687
 - Final text and tariff appendices, referral to committee, 2374
 - Foreign Affairs Committee, possibility of referral of agreement to, 1988
 - Government publicity campaign, status during election, availability of publications in other languages, 4526
 - Job creation, basis of prediction, 3920, 4131
 - Softwood lumber products, grandfathering of Memorandum of Understanding, 4224
 - Text of, availability and cost to public, 4131
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, inquiry, order discharged, 4454
- Canada-United States relations
 - Acid rain
 - Declaration by U.S. Administration, 671
 - Bilateral trade
 - Definition of "national treatment", 238
 - Restriction on export of Canadian raw cedar logs, 569
 - Bilateral trade negotiations
 - Automotive trade, 585
 - Canadian circuit boards, treatment by U.S. Customs, 4177, 4263
 - Request for answer, 4213

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Canada-United States relations—Cont'd
 - Free trade negotiations
 - Advisory group, female representation, 1316, 1507
 - Status, notification of provincial premiers, 1884
 - Softwood lumber, Canadian export tax, 99
 - Summit meeting in Ottawa
 - Communications to Prime Minister from provincial legislatures, request for tabling, 832
 - Memorandum of understanding, elimination of anomalies re softwood lumber, 832, 910
 - Publications, suggested contents, 831
- Trade
 - Imposition of tariff on publications, amount and distribution of revenue, 362
 - U.S. tariff on Canadian shakes and shingles, government action of submission to International Trade Commission, 4223
- Canada-U.S.S.R. relations
 - Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, speech, request for clarification of government policy on Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, 239
- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation
 - Board of Directors, inadequacy of regional representation, 4058
- Canadian Environment Protection bill C-74, 3687
- Canadian National Railways
 - Executive offices, relocation from Edmonton to Montreal, 1476, 1581
 - London, Ontario, job guarantees, 2232
- Canadian sovereignty
 - The north
 - Government policy, 299
 - Government protest to U.S. government, 585
- Canadian Transport Commission
 - Creation of new agency, effect on tenure of present commissioners, 1988
- Christmas greetings, 2509
- Citizenship bill C-254
 - Speaker's statement, 2234
- Citizenship bill S-8, 1255
- Communications
 - Telelobe, proposed sale, 299
 - Telelobe Canada, sale to Memotec, investigation of insider trading, government action, 1881, 1989
 - Request for answer, 1956, 2126
- Constitution
 - Amending resolution, time limit for consideration by Senate, 2980
 - Amendment to implement concurrent jurisdiction over provincial resources, government action, 671, 704
 - Constitution amendment, 1987, m to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to legislative assemblies and four national aboriginal organizations, 3928
- First Ministers' Accord
 - Federal-provincial spending patterns, federal powers affecting broadcasting and banking, 1058
 - Funding for cultural institutions, ability of Quebec to opt out, 1579
 - Implications of interpretative declaration, availability of legal opinions, recognition of Quebec as distinct society, applicability of term, 1058
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, maintenance of official bilingualism, 1058
 - Senate reform, 1477
- First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1323, 1349, 1440, 1749, 1994, 2614, 3930
 - Committee continuance during prorogation, 1749
 - Costs, 1749

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Constitution—Cont'd
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole—Cont'd
 - Motion re witnesses to be heard by Submissions Group, 2771
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1452, 1938, 1946
 - Order re consideration in Committee of the Whole, 1865
 - Report of Committee of the Whole, 1752, 2774
 - Steering committee
 - Recommendation re appointment of submissions group, 2595
 - Relocation of meeting, 1332
 - Still photography pool authorized to record March 30 proceedings, 2907
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualifications of Senators) bill 12, 2661
- Constitution amendment, year of proclamation (Newfoundland Act), 1315, 1462
- Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, inquiry, 1103
- Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, tribute, 13
- Copyright
 - Bill C-60, request for correspondence between Council of Ministers of Education and Federal-Provincial Relations Minister, 2977
- Copyright bill C-60, 2633, 2769
 - Message from Commons for non-insistence on Senate amends, 3463
- Corporations and Labour Unions Returns bill C-91, 2763
- Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, 3917
- Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) bill C-264, 4213, 4242
 - Addiction statistics, 4214
 - Head shops, 4216
 - Message, 4214
 - "Recreational drugs", 4216
- Criminal Code (torture) bill C-28, 910
- Currency bill C-99, 2587, 2757
- Customs bill C-80, 1563, 1564
- Customs Tariff bill C-87, 2388
- Customs Tariff, Duties Relief bill C-69, 1554, 1556
- Diefenbaker Centre, University of Saskatchewan
 - Financial crisis, further request for government assistance, 1881
- Drug trafficking
 - Coastal protection, government action, 569
- Economic development
 - New Brunswick, fate of federal government projects announced during provincial election campaign, 2492
- Economic Summit, 1988
 - Agricultural subsidies, request for progress report, 4085
 - Debt strategy re-energizing, possible Canadian proposal, interpretation of delayed answer, request for more specific answer, 3618
- Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-121, 4137
- Emergencies bill
 - Government's intention re legislative action, 1478, 1648
- Emergencies bill C-77, 3468, 3750
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3526, 3543
- Emergency Preparedness bill C-76, 3068
- Employment
 - Summer Youth Employment Program, 395
- Employment equity
 - Canadian Human Rights Act, status of amendments, 1507
 - Compliance with act, 3713
- Energy
 - Dome Petroleum-Amoco Canada transaction, availability of documents to government, 1507

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Energy—Cont'd
 - Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, government funding, 3618
 - Monitoring of oil and gas companies following termination of PGRT, 79, 395
 - Monitoring of use of funds following termination of PGRT, government participation in Syncrude, 361
 - Natural gas, Alberta's withholding of export licence approval and alleged distinction between types of gas, role of federal government in negotiations, 298
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1118
- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord implementation, subject matter of Bill C-6, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 34, 70
- Canada petroleum resources, subject matter of Bill C-5, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 33, 69
- Extension of deadline for final report, 2843
- Enterprise Cape Breton
 - Possible assistance to Financial Engineering Corporation, 298
- Environment
 - Great Lakes, pollution, government action, 2492
 - National Task Force on Environment and Economy, report, government action on recommendations, 2245
 - PCBs, government inventory of storage sites and guidelines for storage and disposal, 4314
 - Prince Edward Island, effect of pollution from sunken vessel "Irving Whale", 2883
 - Raferty-Alameda Dams Project, issuance of licence, protection of Manitoba's interests, 4461
 - Responsibility of government to conduct study, 4490
- Estimates 1986-87
 - Supplementary (B), ref to com, 340
 - Supplementary (C), ref to com, 602
- Estimates 1987-88, ref to com, 563
 - Supplementary (A), ref to com, 563, 582
 - Supplementary (C), ref to com, 2207
 - Supplementary (D), ref to com, 2532
 - Supplementary (E), ref to com, 2817
- Estimates, 1988-89, ref to com, 2779
 - Supplementary (A), ref to com, 3447
- Excise Tax and Excise bill C-14, 398
- Excise Tax bill C-101, 2475
- External Affairs
 - Canadian passports, applications for, revision of regulation re guarantors, 4130
 - Central America, lack of Canadian consular and immigration services, 4526
 - Convention on Consular Rights, review of, 2981
 - Counter-terrorism measures, invitation to attend briefing, order of precedence, propriety of inclusion of staff, 675, 790
 - Helsinki, Finland, reconsideration of proposal to close Canadian embassy, declaration of support, 673
 - Invitations from department to parliamentarians, order of precedence, 762, 790
 - Parliamentary delegation to India, composition, exclusion of senators, 675, 790
- Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans bill C-78, 1565, 1569
- Federal-provincial relations
 - Equalization payments to Atlantic provinces, provincial action, 628
 - Equalization payments to poorer provinces, government policy, 392

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Fiji, current political situation, 1506, 1879, 1881
 - Government stance at Commonwealth Conference, consultations with Fijian community, 1885, 2126
 - Violation of human rights, government action, 1879
- Finance
 - Canadian dollar, value of, 4111
 - Document entitled "New Directions for the Financial Sector," 389
- Financial Institutions bill C-56, 1550, 1554
- Fisheries
 - Canada-France negotiations, schedule of meetings, 850
 - Mussel industry, government assistance, 2491
 - Toxic mussels, progress of research, 2883
 - West Coast Salmon Enhancement Program, government policy, 362
- Fisheries Committee
 - Authority to study fish marketing in Canada, 69
 - Canada-France negotiations, schedule of meetings, 763
 - Coastal fisheries protection, subject matter of Bill C-26, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 264
 - Report, 5th, "Marketing of Fish in Canada", (2nd interim), 2661
- Foreign affairs
 - Greek-Turkish relations, government action, 761, 877
 - Nicaragua, cancellation of visit of Vice-President, 239
 - Panama, safety and security of vice-president, government representation, 4177
 - Paraguay, status of Senor Hermen Rafael Saguier, government knowledge and action, 4177
 - Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, reaction of Progressive Conservative Party, 2830, 2931, 2981
 - Syria, joint action by Canada and other nations, 301
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Authority to study elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, 2148
 - Forgiveness of certain official development assistance debts, subject matter of Bill C-62, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill C-62, 1570
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9, withdrawn, 1050
- Fur industry
 - Proposed British labelling of Canadian products, government action, 3921
- Government
 - Legislative provision for expenditures, 4085
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, message from Commons, bill attached, 4056
 - Order for division of bill rescinded, 4194
- Grain
 - Canadian Wheat Board, final payments for grades 1 and 2 spring wheat, 394, 908
- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, 1572, 1579
- Health
 - Tainted mussels, date of availability of evidence and date of warning, 2492
- Health and Welfare
 - Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome
 - Education, research and treatment, government assistance, 3620
 - Government action, 571, 1055
 - AIDS, AZT drug, availability in Canada, 2491
 - Alberta nurses' labour dispute, federal-provincial consultations, possibility of settlement, 2759

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Health care, m for appointment of Special Committee and m to refer motion to committee, 2369
 - Motion in amendment, 2495
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4471
 - Ref back to com, 4407
- Human rights
 - Japanese Canadians, government apology and compensation, 428, 2491
 - Status of negotiations, 1478
- Illiteracy
 - Remedial measures, government policy, 394
- Immigration
 - Alleged abuse of ministerial discretion, 393
 - Refugee status, government policy, 98
 - Status of interested Laplanders, government policy, 237
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-34, 409, 412
 - Transportation funding for refugee settlement, 409
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, 2119
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, message from Commons, 2651
 - Message and motion ref to com, 2763
- Income Tax bill C-64, 2347
- Income Tax Conventions bill S-2, 61, 81, 101, 187
 - Tax-sparing, 82
- Indian Affairs and Northern Development
 - Alleged misuse of Manitoba Indian band funds, 99, 395
 - Control of education, impact of Master Tuition Agreement, government action, 3424
 - Lubicon Crees of Alberta, settlement of claims, release of negotiator's report, appointment of new negotiator and mediator, 1880, 2210
 - Lubicon Lake Indians, negotiations for Alberta reserve, appointment of negotiator, 1989
- Self-government, government policy, 392
- Tobique Indian band land claim
 - Request for appointment of impartial negotiators, 393, 572
 - "Technical breach claim", definition, 832, 909
- Indian bill C-150, 4314
- Industry
 - Aerospace, allocation of CF-18 service contracts, 79, 265
 - Awarding of contract to Canadair, technology transfer, 197
 - Rejection of IMP bid, government reasons, 196, 236
 - Awarding of CF-5 contract to Bristol Aerospace Ltd., status, 569
 - Free trade agreements including targeted subsidies, 909
 - General Motors, interest-free loan
 - Effect on free trade negotiation, targeted subsidies, request for information, 909
 - Request for interest-free loans to farmers, removal of moratorium on farm foreclosures, 909
 - Terms of contract re job guarantees, access to information, 833, 909
 - Nova Scotia, possible manufacture and export of armaments by West German company from proposed plant, 299, 568
 - Sydney Steel Corporation, future of plant, 235
 - Future rail market prospects, status of report, 392, 414
 - Modernization plan, status, 763
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 10th, 667
 - 31st, 1951
 - Withdrawn, 2053
- International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, 4557
- International trade
 - Footwear, removal of import quotas, government action, 568
- International whaling
 - Imposition of sanctions, government policy, 2830

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., the late, tribute, 228
- Justice
 - Canada Commission of Inquiry on War Criminals, status of report, 362
 - Nazi war criminals, prosecution of, status, 4223
- Kohl, His Excellency Dr. Helmut, Chancellor of Federal Republic of Germany,
 - Address to both houses, June 16, 1988, printed as appendix, 3685
 - See appendix p. 3698
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - Archives of Canada, subject matter of Bill C-7, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 263
 - Authority to examine subject matter of (rights and freedoms) clauses of certain bills, 801
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 433, 464, 485, 1890
 - Authority to study 1st report of French Constitutional Drafting Committee, 390
 - Criminal Code, Canada Evidence Act, subject matter of Bill C-15, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 139
 - Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon assets disposal authorization, subject matter of Bill C-45, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 670
 - Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, authority to study draft, 428
- Reports
 - 2nd, Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945 bill S-3, with amds, 247
 - 19th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amds, 2976
- Labour
 - Railway back-to-work legislation, alleged unfair application of, 2977
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - 21st report, Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, with amds, 3496
- Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 211, 216, 226
- Conciliation commissioner's findings, 212
- Container clause, 212
- Dangers for export trade, 214
- Longshoring dispute background, 211
- Meech Lake Constitutional Accord
 - Appointment of senators to serve on Submissions Group, 2634
- Ministry
 - Role of Deputy Prime Minister, 265
- Mitterrand, François, President of France, address to both houses, 1048
- Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, 1486
- National Capital Commission
 - Disappearance of commemorative rock from Dow's Lake, Ottawa, 4130
- National defence
 - Canadian Armed Forces
 - Appointment of senior officers, female representation, 2829
 - Political rights of spouses, status of regulations, 4314
 - Role of women and homosexuals, white paper, government policy, 361
 - Committee study of concerns of military families, status of report and nature of recommendations, 1873
 - Defence policy, availability of white paper, 675, 909
 - Poisonous nerve gases, spraying of, 3921
 - Report, 3rd, feasibility of "Snowbirds" visit to NATO allies, 1752
 - Nerve gas testing (pre-1968) at CFB Suffield, Alberta, health of involved personnel, 4527
- Nuclear-powered submarines
 - Non-Proliferation Treaty, government policy, 1302
 - Suggested purchase of British vessels, 4490

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- National Defence Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3511
- National Finance Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 896
 - Estimates referred to committee
 - Year ending Mar 31/87
 - Supplementary (B), 368
 - Supplementary (C), 750
 - Federal-provincial fiscal arrangements and federal post-secondary education and health contributions, 1977, subject matter of Bill C-44, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 870
 - Post-secondary education and training, authority to continue study of government activities, 14
- Reports
 - 9th, Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 781
 - 16th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (D), 2604
 - 25th, Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3885
- National Gallery
 - Child-care facilities, 3713
- National Statistics Council
 - Membership, regional representation, 81, 1506
- National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1703
- Newfoundland
 - Breakdown of specific federal government spending, replies by ministers tabled, 1865
- Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3673
- Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon Assets Disposal Authorization bill C-45, 774
- Ocean Industry Development Subsidiary Agreement, projects in Newfoundland, answer tabled, 4542
- Official languages
 - Annual report of Commissioner, percentage of Anglophones in federal public service in Quebec, 2957
 - Report of Commissioner, reactions, 2978
 - Status of French in Alberta and in provincial legislatures, 2358
 - Teaching of second official language in Quebec, funding provisions of federal-provincial protocol, 2979
- Official Languages bill C-72, 4118, 4137
- Official Languages Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sittings and adjournments, 138
 - Estimates, 1987-88, supplementary (E), Privy Council vote 15e, ref to com, message to Commons, 2827
 - Estimates, 1988-89, Privy Council Vote 15, ref to com, message from Commons, 2777
 - Privy Council vote 15 ref to com, 2780
 - Proposed advisory council, composition, role and terms of reference, 1509
 - Report of Commissioner referred to Standing Joint Committee, 292, 420, 785, 2908
 - Senate members, message to Commons, 132
- Parliament Hill
 - Condition of roadways, 2292
- Parliament, Joint Committee
 - Message from Commons referred to Rules and Orders Committee, 133
- Parliamentary Employment and Staff Relations
 - Delay in proclamation of Act, 81, 100
- Patent Act
 - Appointment of special committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 prior to receipt of legislation, 826

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Patent bill C-22, 1344
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amtds and for non-insistence on certain Senate amtds, 2213
 - Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2184
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1835
- Patent bill S-15, 4532
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1314, 1448
- Penitentiaries
 - Double-bunking, government action, 237
 - Enfranchisement of inmates in federal elections, 4058
 - Port-Cartier, Quebec, proposed prison, factors governing location, effect of additional cost on inmate programs, 237
- Persons Award, notice of presentation ceremony, 2008
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug price increases
 - Date of restriction of, 2656
 - Possible government request for explanation from PMAC or multinational drug companies, 2656
 - Rollback powers of minister, 2656
 - Drug Prices Review Board
 - Coming into force of powers, drug price increases, basis of statistics, requests re drug pricing, 2655
 - Role of, rollback of prices, government action
 - Drug price increases, compensation to provinces, 2656
 - Generic drugs, removal from sale, 2655
 - Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, 299
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1982
- Post-secondary education
 - Federal-provincial scholarships, allocation of funds, 2977
 - Request for answer, 3386
 - Government action or policy, 4488
 - National forum, request for conclusions, 2231
 - Request for progress report on prospective national forum, 1506
- Prescription drug prices
 - Effect of proposed Patent Act amendment, presentation of petitions, 1334
- Prince Edward Island
 - Marine Atlantic ferry rates, increase in, 2724
 - Proposed fixed crossing to mainland, 2302
 - Availability of information, invitations to tender for construction, 2359
 - Availability of studies, general design or concept, 2292
 - Documents tabled, 2315
 - Environmental assessment and review, 2358
 - Railway link, 2358
 - Submission of proposals, names of companies of consortia, financial arrangements, nature of proposals, 3888
- Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2522, 2529
- Quebec Courts Amendment bill C-145, 4199
- Radio bill C-3, 745
- Railways bill S-1 (pro forma), 9
- Railway bill C-4, 340
- Reagan, Ronald W., President of United States, address to both houses printed as appendix, 844
 - See appendix p. 861
- Refugees
 - Disposition of ship used for transportation, 1872
 - Thailand, turning back of boats, safety of passengers, government policy, 2830
- Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee
 - Senate members, message to Commons, 133

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Reproductive technology
 - Request for appointment of Royal Commission, government action, 2829
- Research and Development
 - National Research Council funding, government policy, 144, 301
 - Scientific meeting in Stockholm, Canadian representation, 394
- Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985 bill C-94, 2471
- Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute on retirement, 1840
- Royal Assent bill S-19, 4056, 4122, 4463
 - Alternative process, 4122
 - Australian example, 4122
- Royal Canadian Mint and Currency bill C-46, 2153, 2170
 - Coin expert on Board of Directors, 2170
 - Increase in borrowing powers, 2154
 - Increase in size of board of directors, 2154
 - Issuance of share capital, 2154
- Salaries bill C-36, 413
- Senate
 - Adjournment, 1, 3, 15, 64, 119, 189, 226, 277, 383, 414, 451, 457, 510, 602, 671, 776, 830, 896, 929, 1119, 1168, 1297, 1336, 1473, 1582, 1697, 1753, 1861, 1884, 1958, 1960, 2090, 2148, 2227, 2289, 2350, 2470, 2493, 2529, 2586, 2758, 2818, 2875, 2930, 2976, 3046, 3447, 3490, 3572, 3637, 3686, 3709, 3777, 3888, 4108, 4128, 4165, 4200, 4238, 4437, 4477, 4523
 - Business, 62, 329, 356, 408, 502, 621, 644, 760, 767, 815, 819, 826, 907, 1537, 1559, 1662, 1951, 2090, 2154, 2269, 2401, 2444, 2470, 2529, 2634, 2730, 2774, 2816, 2872, 3023, 3065, 3446, 3488, 3668, 3684, 3815, 4258, 4561
 - Anticipated legislation, 391
 - Emergencies bill, resolution into Committee of the Whole at 6 p.m. May 31, 1988, 3489
 - Legislative program, 1478
 - Committee proceedings, availability, 1702
 - Culleton, William J., Assistant Editor of Debates of the Senate (English), felicitations on completion of 25 years' service, 1865
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, 353, 391, 2442
 - Motion to call officials of Printing Bureau before the Senate, 383, 401
 - Jarvis, Dale M., felicitations on completion of 25 years' service, 2054
 - Official report
 - Correction, 355, 665
 - Ministry list, 852
 - Question period
 - Delayed answers, availability, 1509
 - Expression of appreciation, 395
 - Order paper question, request for clarification, 1507
 - Requests for answers, 240, 1509, 2473, 2493, 2957, 2978
 - Vacancies, filling of, reasons for delay, 3585
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-20, 305, 340
 - Industrial composite and industrial aggregate, 305
 - Salaries adjustment formula, 306
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 1984
- Senate reform
 - Appointments, submission of names to Prime Minister, 1579
- Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories
 - Report, interim, deadline for presentation and extension of deadline for final report, 2289
 - Reduction of quorum, 2053
- Shipbuilding
 - Class 8 icebreaker, design, Canadian icebreaking technology, government policy, 570

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Shipping Conferences Exemption, 1987 bill C-21, 1531
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - Reports
 - 15th, Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3653
 - 18th, "Sharing the Responsibility", House of Commons rep on child care, tabled, 3918
 - See appendix p. 3933
 - Unemployment Insurance, 1971, subject matter of Bill C-16, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 139
 - Veterans affairs, authority to study document entitled: "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force)—Service to the Public—Veterans," 310
- Solicitor General
 - Canadian Security Intelligence Service, request for confidential files from provinces, 4490
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act), Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 906
- Availability of translation of report, 1336
- Reports
 - 1st, 905
 - 4th, authority to engage services and to travel, 1474
 - 6th, Patent bill C-22, with amendments, 1680
 - 7th, Patent bill C-22 with amended amendments, 1705
- Sport
 - Definition of 'age of puberty', 80
- Standing Rules and Orders Committee report
 - 13th, committee reports on bills, 3807
- Statistics Canada
 - Restoration of funding for census public-use sample tape, effect on Canadian students of necessity to use U.S. data, 2232
- Status of women
 - Canadian job strategy, availability of funds, 1477, 1648
- Statute law amendment proposals, referred to committee, 2072
- Supreme Court bill C-53, 2225
- Tax reform
 - White paper, twenty consultants
 - Female representation, 1339
 - Names and gender, request for tabling, 1339, 1476
- Teleglobe Canada
 - Reorganization and divestiture, apparent leak re Memotec bid, request for answers, 831, 851
- Teleglobe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-38, 779, 822
- Thatcher, Right Honourable Margaret, Prime Minister of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, address to both houses, 3751
- See appendix p. 3780
- Tibet
 - Dalai Lama's five-point peace plan and new initiative, government position, 4111
- Trade
 - Imbalance between Canada and U.S.S.R., government policy, 240, 2245
- Transport
 - Air traffic control service, transfer from Ottawa to Gatineau, 1873
 - Atlantic Marine and CN Marine Board of Directors, lack of francophone members, 908
 - Canadian airports, firefighting facilities, government action, 762
 - Canadian National Railways, restoration of Sorel-Nicolet branch line, 2723
 - CN freight rates, disallowance of increase, 393, 428
 - CN maintenance shops, Melville, Saskatchewan, proposed layoffs, 1176

Doody, Hon. C. William—Cont'd

- Transport—Cont'd
 - Montreal-Sudbury railway service, possible abandonment, government policy, 1339
 - Municipal airports, funding, government policy, 585
 - New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, establishment of permanent link, environmental impact, 1954
 - Northumberland Strait, public hearings on impact on fisheries of proposed fixed crossing, environmental study, 4406, 4407
 - Port of Churchill, Manitoba and port of Thunder Bay, Ontario, request for additional railway cars, 2357
 - Port of Churchill, Manitoba
 - Maintenance and use of facilities, 4224
 - Shipment of grain through, request for answer, 4224
 - Maintenance of facilities and transportation of grain to port, 300, 1881
 - Shipment of grain through, 4213
 - Prince Edward Island
 - Consultations on design of ferry, relocation of terminal, 3920, 4132
 - Proposed tunnel or causeway to mainland, 236, 1874
 - Smoking prohibition on commercial flights, 394
 - Winnipeg International Airport, public parking, 1580
- Transport and Communications Committee
 - Motor vehicle transport by extra-provincial undertakings, subject matter of Bill C-19, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246
 - National transportation, subject matter of Bill C-18, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246
 - Radio, subject matter of bill C-3, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
 - Railways, subject matter of Bill C-4, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118
 - Shipping conferences exemption, subject matter of Bill C-21, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 264
 - Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-90, 2306
 - Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116, 2932, 2957, 2963
 - Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-158, 4529, 4543, 4557
 - Variable entrance requirement extension, 4529
 - United Kingdom, visit of Select Committee on televising House of Commons' proceedings, 4458
 - United nations
 - Iran-Iraq border peacekeeping contingent, sharing of cost, 4241
 - Venice Summit, 1987, 1241
 - Veterans Affairs
 - War Veterans Allowance, eligibility and criteria for, 4085
 - Western Economic Diversification
 - Criteria for program support, 2847
 - Delivery system for program, 2847
 - Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, 1255, 1280
 - Yukon
 - Government travel service, changes, effect on local business people, 1056
- Doyle, Hon. Richard J.
 - Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 202
 - Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee reports
 - 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, 3246
 - 25th, Copyright bill C-60, message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amtds, with recommendation, 3509, 3550
 - See appendix p. 3545
 - Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 548
 - Canada's International Relations, inquiry, 1109
 - Brown, George, Father of Confederation, quote, 1112
 - Collaboration with public, 1111
 - Pearson, Lester, quote, 1110

Doyle, Hon. Richard J.—Cont'd

- Canada's International Relations, inquiry—Cont'd
 - Purpose and process, 1110
 - Sovereignty, 1111
 - Trade issues, 1112
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4333, 4370
 - Brown, George, quote, 4371
 - Chicken-Little complex, 4371
 - Secure market, 4372
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3107
 - Process, 3107
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, (procedural business)
 - Still photography pool authorized to record March 30 proceedings, 2907
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3003, 3059
- Copyright bill C-60, 2644
 - Amendments to benefit cultural industries, 2645
 - Software protection, 2645
 - Message from Commons, m for non-insistence on Senate amtds, 3419
 - Use of copyright for destruction, 2645
- Criminal Code, Immigration, 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71, 1783, 1812
 - Deschênes Report, 1783
 - War crimes and crimes against humanity, 1783
- Food and Drugs bill C-6, 834
 - Food and drugs regulation standards, 835
 - Inspection of transport, 836
 - Labatt Lite Beer case, 834
 - Labelling, packaging, selling or advertising compliances, 836
 - Product identities, 834, 836
 - Trade and commerce limitation clause, 835
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3645
- Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C., the late, tribute, 698
- Grant, George Parkin, the late, Canadian scholar, tribute, 4502
- Illiteracy in Canada, inquiry, 1038
 - Adult Basic Education Program for penitentiary inmates, 1039
 - Committee of "friends", 1040
 - Frontier College, 1038
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee report
 - 11th, Criminal Code, Immigration 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71, rep without amdt, 1803
- Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, 4125
 - Access, clarity, openness, simplicity, 4126
- National Archives of Canada bill C-7, 429, 532
 - Access to archival material, 430
- Senate, delays in consideration of legislation, 4251
- St. Patrick's Day
 - Tributes to St. Patrick and the Irish people, 619
- Standing Rules and Orders Committee report
 - 13th, committee reports on bills, 3810

Drouin, the late Hon. Mark Robert, P.C., former Speaker of the Senate
Tribute, 1140

Drug trafficking

Coastal protection, government action, 484, 569

Dunton, Davidson (Deceased Feb.7/87), former Chairman of CBC and President, Carleton University, tributes, 484

Economic development

- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, exclusion of large enterprises from infrastructure projects, 1923
- New Brunswick
 - Fate of federal government projects announced during provincial election campaign, 1940, 2492
 - Prospects for introduction of new projects before and after provincial election, 1923

Economic renewal, 107, 153Economic Summit

Venice, Italy, agriculture as agenda item, 1120

Economic Summit, 1988

- Agricultural subsidies, request for progress report, 3710, 4085
- Brazil, role of World Bank, Canadian government position, 3337
- Debt as global problem, agenda item, 3266, 3336
- Debt strategy, re-energizing, possible Canadian proposals, 3266, 3336, 3350
 - Interpretation of delayed answer, request for more specific answer, 3421, 3618
- Third World debt problem
 - Measures to relieve, affected countries, application to Latin American countries, 3709
 - Role of World Bank, government position, 3266

Education

Establishment of federal-provincial task force on national standards, 78

Education, school system, role of parents, role of national commission of francophone parents, government support, inquiry, 2724Eldorado Nuclear Limited

- Environmental controls, 4102
- Foreign ownership, 4102
- Job security, 4099
- Merger and privatization of Eldorado and Saskatchewan Mining Development Corporation, 4099
- Mining in Saskatchewan, 4101
- Ownership and voting conditions, 4099
- Regulatory framework, 4099
- Waste management, 4100
- Speakers; Senators
 - Buckwold, Sidney L., 4100
 - MacDonald, Finlay, 4098
- See also* Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-121.
1r, 4040; 2r, 4098; ref to com, 4103; rep without amdt, 4110; 3r, 4137; r.a., 4168

Electoral boundaries readjustment

Speakers; Senators
Flynn, Jacques, 4125, 4143
Frith, Royce, 4143

Electoral Boundaries Readjustment (Chapleau) bill C-308. 1r, 4110; 2r, 4125, 4143; 3r, 4144; r.a., 4169

Emergencies bill

- Examination in Committee of the Whole
 - Motion re appearance and seating of witnesses, 3617
 - Motion to authorize still photography and televising of proceedings, 3617
- Government's intention re legislative action, 1478, 1648

Emergencies (bill C-77)

- Appropriation by Governor General's Warrant, 3625
- British emergency provisions, 3318
- Censorship, 3404
- Charter and International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights override, 3539
- Charter of Rights and Freedoms' notwithstanding clause, 3626, 3718
- Conscription, 3767
- Conscription and internment, 3531
- Consultation with provinces, 3404
- CSIS Act, 3539
- Delegation of authority of Parliament to Governor in Council, 3403, 3426
- Detention and search and seizure, 3720
- Double veto or scrutiny, 3529
- Emergency doctrine, 3528
- Federal-provincial consultations, 3258, 3528
- Government accountability, 3529
- Incarceration based on racial or ethnic heritage, 3531
- International emergencies, 3256
- Internment, 3627
- Motion in amdt, 3767, 3771, 3773
- National emergency, definition, 3256
- Overseas service, 3624
- Parliamentary control over Governor in Council, 3717
- Parliamentary Review Committee, 3773
 - Membership, 3536, 3540
- Power to tax, 3720
- Preservation of fundamental rights and freedoms, 3529
- Privacy Act and Freedom of Information Act, 3719
- Public order emergencies, 3256, 3538
- Public welfare emergencies, 3256, 3537, 3719
- "Reasonable grounds", 3628, 3722
- Secret orders, 3718
- Single house power of revocation, 3258
- Special temporary measures during national emergency, 3255
- Taxation, 3625
- War emergencies, 3256
- War Measures Act replacement, 3255
- See appendix p. 3724
- Speakers: Senators
 - Bonnell, M. Lorne, 3743
 - Flynn, Jacques, 3743
 - Frith Royce, 3720, 3745
 - Hicks, Henry D., 3403
 - Kelly, William M., 3255, 3318
 - Marsden, Lorna, 3719
 - Olson, H.A., 3744
 - Roblin, Duff, 3745
 - Stewart, John B., 3425, 3531, 3624, 3717, 3743
 - and witnesses
 - Beatty, H. Perrin, Minister of National Defence, 3527
 - Molot, H.J.L., General Counsel, Advisory and Administrative Law Section, Department of Justice, 3625
 - Snarr, W., Executive Director, Emergency Preparedness Canada, 3624
 - Sunahara, M. Ann, Legal Counsel, National Association of Japanese Canadians, 3716

Emergencies bill C-77. 1r, 3243; 2r, 3255, 3318, 3403, 3425; ref to com, 3429, 3468; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3468; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Gildas L. Molgat or Hon. Eymard G. Corbin in the Chair, Hon. H. Perrin Beatty, Minister of National Defence, Mr. W. Snarr, Mr. H.J.L. Molot and Ms. Ann Sunahara, taking part in the debate, 3526, 3578, 3623, 3716, 3766; rep with amdts, 3774; 3r, 3774; message from Commons of agreement with Senate amdts, 3917; r.a., 4109

Emergency preparedness

- Coordination of government response to emergencies, 2884
- Role of Minister of National Defence, 2908
- Role of Solicitor General, 2885
- Statutory basis for Emergency Preparedness Canada, 2884

Speakers: Senators

- Hicks, Henry D., 2908
- Kelly, William M., 2883

Emergency Preparedness bill C-76. 1r, 2825; 2r, 2883, 2908; ref to com, 2909; rep without amdt, 2974; 3r, 3068; r.a., 3251

Employment

- St. Boniface, Manitoba, closing of hog division of Canada Packers plant, request for government assistance, 440, 453
- Suggested interest-free loan from government, 815, 962
- Summer Youth Employment Program, 358, 395

Employment and Immigration

- Canada Employment and Immigration Advisory Council, members, 1479

Employment equity

- Canadian Human Rights Act, status of amendments, 1300, 1507
- Compliance with Act, 3574, 3713
- Government Consultants International, compliance with Federal Government Contracting Program, 3754

Energy

- Canadian gas, price to U.S. consumers, 143, 162
- Decline in natural gas prices, government policy, 77
- Dome Petroleum-Amoco Canada transaction
 - Availability of documents to government, 1299, 1507
 - Current situation, 1581
- Federal-provincial conference, security of supply, government policy, 424, 438, 467
- Georges Bank drilling moratorium consultation with Government of Nova Scotia, 3099, 3236, 3267
- Preparation of legislation for Nova Scotia, 3494
- Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, government funding, 3329, 3618
- Government funding and action, 4043
- Monitoring of oil and gas companies following termination of PGRT, 57, 67, 79, 395
- Request for reply, 357
- Monitoring of use of funds following termination of PGRT, government participation in Syncrude, 297, 361
- Natural gas, Alberta's withholding of export licence approval and alleged distinction between types of gas, role of federal government in negotiations, 76, 298
- New Brunswick, addition to Lepreau nuclear power plant, 1896
- Oil and gas industry, relief of severe economic problems, government policy, 233
- Tar sands processing plant, Fort McMurray, Alberta, status, 2829, 2846, 3100
 - Effect of OSLO Agreement, 4484
 - Government funding, 3330
 - Government participation, 4261

Energy—Cont'd

- Tar sands processing plant, Fort McMurray, Alberta, status—Cont'd
 - Government's financial commitment, 3573, 3583
 - Date of commencement of project, 4042
- Western coal, cost of transporting to Ontario, government policy, 426

Energy and Natural Resources, Standing Senate Committee

- Authority to engage services, 74
- Authority to meet during Senate sittings, 138, 1074, 1117, 2380, 4042
- Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord implementation, subject matter of Bill C-6, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 34, 70
- Canada petroleum resources, subject matter of Bill C-5, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 33, 69
- Coal in Canada, production and use, authority to study, 741, 775, 816
- Dome Petroleum Limited, proposed sale
 - Authority to conduct study, 997
 - Authority to permit coverage of public proceedings by electronic media, 1087
- Membership, 62
- Natural gas in Canada, production and use, authority to study, 741, 776, 816
 - Extension of deadline for final report, 2843, 2890, 3793

Reports

- 1st, expenses incurred during 1st Session, 33rd Parliament, tabled, 73
 - See Journals of the Senate*
- 2nd, Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 187
- 3rd, budget re study of production and use of natural gas in Canada, 1213
 - See appendix p. 1227*
- 4th, budget re study of production and use of coal in Canada, 1213
 - See appendix p. 1230*
- 5th, Dome Petroleum Limited, proposed sale, 1347
 - See appendix p. 1366*
- 6th, Dome Petroleum Limited, proposed sale, report on extension of reporting date, 1347, 1502
- 7th, budget to engage services to study proposed sale of Dome Petroleum, 1527
 - See appendix p. 1608*
- 8th, Canadian Environmental Protection bill C-74, with amends, 3653, 3674
- 9th, Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation bill C-75, 4056
- 10th, Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-121, 4110
- 11th, National Parks bill C-30, 4186
- 12th, "Natural Gas Deregulation and Marketing", 4257, 4421
 - Authority to restrict energy exports, 4424
 - Core market, 4421, 4423
 - Disadvantaged regions, 4422
 - Environmental problems, 4422
 - Long-term policy, 4421
 - Market forces, 4421
 - Pan-Alberta Gas, 4423
 - Proposed Free Trade Agreement, 4422, 4424

Energy, long-term needs, 113Enterprise Cape Breton

- Agricultural projects, funding of, powers, role of Board of Directors, 3654

Enterprise Cape Breton—Cont'd

- Approved projects, 3654
- Arrow LM Manufacturing Company, financial assistance, conflict-of-interest guidelines, calling of tenders, establishment of price, 4365, 4381
- Policies to be followed, 3654
- Possible assistance to Financial Engineering Corporation, 121, 298
- See also Regional Industrial Expansion*

EnvironmentAcid rain

- Agreement with provinces to reduce emissions, repudiation by Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, 583
- Request for copy of Canadian eight-point proposal, 3286
- Environmental Protection Service, number of person-years, 4457
- Great Lakes, pollution of, government action, 2320, 2492
- Lead in gasoline, deadline for elimination of, 4176, 4222
- Minister's proposals on energy efficiency and alternative initiatives, status of, 4046
- National Task Force on Environment and Economy, report, government action on recommendations, 2076, 2245
- Number of person-years in department, effect on department's programs, 4456

PCBs

- Air transportation of waste, application of prohibition, 4485
- Government inventory of storage sites and guidelines for storage and disposal, 4262, 4314
- Location of transportable incinerators, 4466, 4478
- Regulations for transportation of, 4466, 4478
- St-Basile-Le-Grand storage site, financial assistance for victims of fire, 4263
- Storage sites, inspection of, availability of inspectors, 4457
- Prince Edward Island
 - Alleged pollution of Hillsborough harbour, request for government assistance, 361
 - Effect of pollution from sunken vessel "Irving Whale", 2723, 2883
- Radioactive waste, disposal, 19
- Rafferty-Alameda Dams Project, issuance of licence for, protection of Manitoba's interests, 4379, 4461, 4467
- Responsibility of government to conduct study, 4458, 4468, 4490
- Toxic waste research, efficacy of reduction in National Research Council budget, 4466

Erasmus, Georges, National Chief, Assembly of First Nations

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2199

Estimates

- Parliament vote 10, message from Commons, 562
- Privy Council vote 15, message from Commons, 562
- Message to Commons, 564

Estimates (Appropriation bill C-29)

- Commissions of inquiry, 342
- Treasury Board contingency fund, 341

Speakers: Senators

- Doody, C. William, 303, 342, 363
- Frith, Royce, 303, 341, 363
- Stewart, John B., 341

Estimates (Appropriation bill C-35)

- Advertising expenditure, 381
- Special Canadian Grains Program, 381

Speakers: Senators

- Argue, Hazen, 381
- Doody, C. William, 380

- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-35)—Cont'd
Speakers: Senators—Cont'd
 Frith, Royce, 380
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-47)
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 751
 Frith, Royce, 751
See appendix p. 758
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-48)
 Oil and gas industry drilling incentives, 766
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 765
 Frith, Royce, 766
 Stewart, John B., 767
See Journals of the Senate
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-49)
 Farm Credit Corporation, 793
 Financial institutional control, 794
 Prairie agricultural crisis situation, 792, 794
 Royal Bank, 794
 Special Canadian Grains Program, 791, 794
Speakers: Senators
 Argue, Hazen, 792
 Doody, C. William, 767, 794
 Stewart, John B., 767, 791
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-65)
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 1282
 Frith, Royce, 1281, 1302
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-95)
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 2383
 Frith, Royce, 2384
See appendix p. 2439
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-108)
 Debt review boards, 2637
 Exodus of farmers from the land, 2638
 Farm debt, 2642
 International subsidies, 2641
 Summer fallow, 2640
 Western Grain Stabilization Act, 2640
 Special Canadian Grains Program, 2635, 2641
Speakers: Senators
 Argue, Hazen, 2638
 Barootes, Efstathios W., 2640
 Doody, C. William, 2604
 Olson, H.A., 2604, 2634
See appendix p. 2631
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-119)
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 2964
 Frith, Royce, 2965
 Stewart, John B., 2965
See appendix p. 2970
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-120)
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 2966
 Frith, Royce, 2966
See appendix p. 2972
- Estimates (Appropriation bill C-138)
Speakers: Senators
 Doody, C. William, 3758
 Frith, Royce, 3759
See appendix p. 3786
- Estimates referred to National Finance Committee
 Year ending Mar.31/87
 Supplementary (A), 189, rep of com, 291
See appendix p. 323
 Supplementary (B), 340, rep of com, 364, 367
See appendix p. 388
 Supplementary (C), 602, rep of com, 695, 750
See appendix p. 725
 Year ending Mar. 31/88, 563, rep of com, 1117, 1185, 2886, 2968
 Supplementary (A), 563, rep of com, 666, 714
See appendix p. 693
 Supplementary (B), 1754, rep of com, 2160, 2234
See appendix p. 2174
 Supplementary (C), 2207, rep of com, 2242, 2310
See appendix p. 2272
 Supplementary (D), 2532, rep of com, 2589, 2604
See appendix p. 2598
 Supplementary (E), 2817, rep of com, 2880
See appendix p. 2892
 Year ending Mar. 31/89, 2779, rep of com, 2826, 3582, 3677, 4128, 4178
See appendices p. 2836, 3611, 4156
 Supplementary (A), 3447, 3508, 3564
See appendix p. 3544
See also National Finance Committee
- Estimates, 1987-88
 External Affairs and National Defence estimates referred to Foreign Affairs Committee, 585
- Estonia
 Sixty-ninth anniversary of Proclamation of Independence, 562
- Everett, Hon. Douglas D.
 Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee report
 20th, tax reform, 1987, 2296, 2367
 Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries
 Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, Speaker's ruling, 480
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4383
 Agriculture, 4386
 Auto Pact, 4386
 C.D. Howe Institute, quotes, 4385, 4387
 Countervail and antidumping, 4385
 Fast-track procedure, 4384
 GATT, 4384
 Market access, 4384
 Proportional access, 4386
 Sectorial agreements, 4384
 Trade dispute panels, 4385
 Water, 4386
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, inquiry, 2172
 Canada-United States free trade negotiations, inquiry, 263, 965
 Auto Pact agreement, 966
 Common external tariff, 966
 Cultural identity, 968
 Customs unions, 966
 Duty remission scheme, 969
 "Fast track" procedure, 967
 Free trade zone, 966

Everett, Hon. Douglas D.—Cont'd

Canada-United States free trade negotiations, inquiry—Cont'd

"Managed" free trade, 967

National treatment, 968

Non-tariff barriers, 965

Non-U.S. investment increase, 967

Reliance on GATT, 965

Sectoral agreements, 966

Social programs, 968

U.S. exchange rate, 965

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2803

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, message from Commons of disagreement with Senate's division of bill, 4117

Langlois, Hon. Léopold, tribute on retirement, 4539

Official Languages bill C-72, 4006 4135

English minority in Quebec, treatment, 4006

Patent bill C-22

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdt and for non-insistence on Senate amdt, m to refer to committee, 1794

Powers of the Senate, 1794

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdt and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdt, 2214

Transport and Communications Committee reports

8th and 9th, Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19 and National Transportation bill C-18, 1668

Unemployment Insurance, Commission of Inquiry report, inquiry, 1168

Excise tax and excise (Bill C-14)

Consequences of tax increases and price escalations, 351, 370

Regressive nature of sales taxes, 350

Sales tax increase, 350

See appendix p. 209

Speakers: Senators

Leblanc, Fernand-E., 370

Roblin, Duff, 350

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Excise Tax and Excise bill C-14. 1r, 310; 2r, 350, 370; 3r, 398; r.a., 415

Excise tax and excise (Bill C-117)

General tax reform, 3559

Inflation, 3576

Sales tax of value-added tax program, 3577

Tax payment speed-up, 3560, 3577

Speakers: Senators

Buckwold, Sidney L., 3575

Flynn, Jacques, 3559

Excise Tax and Excise C-117. 1r, 3508; 2r, 3559, 3575; ref to com, 3477; rep without amdt, 3636; 3r, 3658; r.a., 3667

Excise Tax (Bill C-101)

Fuel Tax Rebate Program extension, 2474

Methods of obtaining rebates, 2452

Off-road operations, 2480

Rebates to fishermen, 2481

Refunds to farmers for gasoline and diesel fuel, 2480

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 2475

MacDonald, Finlay, 2473

Excise Tax (Bill C-101)—Cont'd

Speakers: Senators—Cont'd

Olson, H.A., 2475

and

Hockin, Hon. Thomas, Minister of State (Finance), 2479

Excise Tax bill C-101. 1r, 2470; 2r, 2473; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2475; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Thomas Hockin, Minister of State (Finance), taking part in the debate, 2479; rep without amdt, 2484; 3r, 2484; r.a., 2510

Export and import permits

"Back-door" entry to U.S. steel market by offshore suppliers, 1127

Canada a responsible and fair trader, 1131

Exchange of information, 1130

Importance for our trade relations with U.S., 1130

Monitoring proposal, 1130

Speakers: Senators

Barootes, Efstathios W., 1127

McElman, Charles, 1128

and

McDermid, John, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of International Trade, 1129

Export and Import Permits bill C-57. 1r, 1117; 2r, 1127; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1129; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Mr. John McDermid, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of International Trade taking part in the debate, 1129; rep without amdt, 1131; 3r, 1131; r.a., 1135

Export markets, 254External Affairs

Canada-United States test and evaluation program agreement, forecast of projects, 983

Canadian arms

Export permits issued in 1985 and 1986, 1145

Sale to foreign countries or non-Canadian agencies, 1142

Canadian passports, applications for, revision of regulation re guarantors, 4130, 4383

Canadian Sikh community

Distribution and purport of minister's letter, 2794

Central America, lack of Canadian consular and immigration services, 4222, 4526

Convention on Consular Rights, review of, 2981, 3101

Counter-terrorism measures, invitation to attend briefing, order of precedence, propriety of inclusion of staff, 675, 790

Deployment of nuclear weapons affecting Canadian sovereignty, government policy, 1094

East Bloc countries, official visit to, Senate representation, 897, 962

Foreign service appointments, maintenance of professionalism, government policy, 337

Helsinki, Finland, proposed closing of Canadian embassy, request for reconsideration, 565, 582

Declaration of support, 673

Statement of appreciation of minister's action, 676

Invitations from department to parliamentarians, order of precedence, 761, 790

Parliamentary delegation to India, composition, exclusion of senators, 674, 790

Fairbairn, Hon. Joyce

Aboriginal peoples

Leaked document, contents, government position, qu, 3334

Post-secondary education

Courses on reserves, level of funding, qu, 761

Fairbairn, Hon. Joyce—Cont'd

- Aboriginal peoples—Cont'd
 - Post-secondary education—Cont'd
 - Government support of outreach programs, qu, 787, 961
 - National forum, aboriginal representation, qu, 788
- Agriculture
 - Deficiency payments to western grain farmers for 1987 crop year, 1756, 1873
 - Viability of sector, government policy, qu, 605
 - Western Canada, drought conditions, government assistance, qu, 3265, 3337, 3673
 - Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to ref to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3460
 - Social crisis, 3460
- Agriculture and Forestry Committee
 - 8th report, Western Canada, drought conditions, 3632
- Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2756
- Constitution
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Clause 16, status of women, availability of legal opinions, qu, 1645
 - Consultations with experts, qu, 1661
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2136, 2201, 2262, 2460, 2856, 2859, 2915, 2926, 3010
 - First Ministers' Conference, aboriginal rights, priority agenda item, qu, 1123
- Criminal Code, Canada Evidence bill C-15, 1488
- Greater equality under law for abused children, 1489
- More humane court surroundings for children, 1491
- New offences to protect from sexual contact and exploitation, 1490
- Rehabilitation, 1490
- Statistical data, 1491
- Vagrancy, 1490
- Videotaped testimony and standards, 1489
- Education
 - Establishment of federal-provincial task force on national standards, qu, 78
- Energy
 - Minister's proposals on energy efficiency and alternative initiatives, status of, qu, 4046
- Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C., the late, tribute, 699
- Government of Canada
 - First Ministers' Accord, dissemination of information, possibility of similar action on illiteracy and learning disabilities, qu, 1700
- Hastings, Hon. Earl A., felicitations on receipt of John Howard Society of Ontario humanitarian award, 71
- Illiteracy
 - Long-term government commitment, establishment of monitoring body, qu, 4365
 - Remedial measures, government policy, qu, 296, 394, 426
- Illiteracy in Canada, 390, 596
 - "Beat the Street" program, 599
 - Community tolerance and involvement, key to solution, 599
 - Frontier College, 598
 - Government funding for nation-wide network of involvement, 600
 - National issue, 600
 - Public awareness, 598
 - "The Right to Read—Tutor's Handbook," 600
- Indian Affairs and Northern Development
 - Alleged misuse of Manitoba Indian band funds, qu, 55, 99
 - Lubicon Lake Indians, negotiations for Alberta reserve, appointment of negotiator, qu, 1869, 1989
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2756

Fairbairn, Hon. Joyce—Cont'd

- Literacy Day, government initiatives, qu, 4241
 - Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4210
 - National Defence
 - Nerve gas testing (pre-1968) at CFB Suffield, Alberta, health of involved personnel, qu, 4466, 4526
 - Minister's statement, qu, 4467
 - New senators, words of welcome, 231
 - Official languages
 - Alberta legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, qu, 3756
 - Olson, H.A., 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons, 1212
 - Penitentiaries
 - Double-bunking, government action, qu, 79, 237
 - Post-secondary education
 - Proposed national forum, "Equality of Opportunity", form, qu, 20
 - Prescription drug prices
 - Effect of proposed Patent Act amendment, presentation of petitions, 1333
 - Petitions tabled, 1614
 - Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2879
 - Transport
 - CN freight rates, increase, qu, 295
 - Disallowance, 393, 428
 - Ward, Dr. Gerry, Lethbridge, Alberta, for Canadian Hunger Foundation, visit, 3685
- Farm credit, 254
See Agriculture
- Farm finance
See Agriculture and Forestry Committee
- Farm improvement and marketing cooperatives loans
 Adjustments by executive branch regulation, 1568
 Cooperatives, 1566
 Cost-recovery, 1566
 Debt servicing charges, 1567
 Distress in agricultural sector, 1568
 Low commodity prices, 1565, 1567
 Marketing, 1565
 Proclamation date delay, 1569
 Refinancing, 1566
- Speakers: Senators
 Barootes, Efstathios William, 1565, 1569
 Hays Daniel, 1568
 Olson, H.A., 1567
- Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans bill C-78. 1r, 1565; 2r, 1565; 3r, 1569; r.a., 1590
- Farm improvment loans
 Reaction to bank pressure, 346
 Six-month extension of program, 309, 346
- Speakers: Senators
 Argue, Hazen, 309, 346
 Phillips, Orville, H., 309
- Farm Improvement Loans bill C-31. 1r, 289; 2r, 309, 346; 3r, 366; r.a., 415
- Federal government and crown corporations, selection process for procurement of services and tendering of contracts, inquiry, 159
 Point of order, 2834
 Withdrawn, 3342

Federal-provincial fiscal arrangements, federal post-secondary education and health contributions

- Adjustments following 1986 census, 911
- Calculation of standard, 913
- Evaluation of equalization system, 911
- Financial stabilization program, 911
- Forgiveness of overpayment, 913
- Per capita deficiencies, 914
- Principles, 910
- Protection of government from rapid growth, 911
- Protection of provinces from rapid drop, 911
- Tax reform, 915

Speakers: Senators

- Simard, Jean-Maurice, 915
- Stewart, John B., 912
- Tremblay, Arthur, 910

Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-secondary Education and Health Contributions, 1977 bill C-44. 1r, 900; 2r, 910; 3r, 916; r.a., 929

Federal-provincial relations

- Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 552
 - Equality of treatment of provinces, effect of awarding of CF-18 contract, 139
 - Equalization and financial matters
 - Tabling of correspondence between Manitoba Minister of Finance and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
 - Tabling of correspondence between Premier of Manitoba and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
 - Tabling of correspondence between Premier of Quebec and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
 - Tabling of correspondence between Quebec Minister of Finance and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
 - Equalization payments
 - Atlantic provinces, government policy, 292, 294
 - Provincial action, 487, 628
 - Manitoba, Quebec and Prince Edward Island, 296
 - Poorer provinces, government policy, 392
 - Request for answer, 438
- See also Fisheries

Felicitations

- Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C., President of l'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, 2517
- Bélisle, Hon. Rhéal, 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633
- Bell, Hon. Ann Elizabeth, on return to chamber, 4420
- Culleton, William J., Assistant Editor of Debates (English), 25 years' service, 1865
- Denis, Hon. Azellus, P.C., eightieth birthday, 753
- Gendron, Larry, retirement after 30 years of service, 2605
- Hastings, Hon. Earl A., John Howard Society of Ontario humanitarian award, 71
- Hicks, Hon. Henry D., on return to chamber, 4501
- Jarvis, Dale M., Director of Personnel, 25 years' service, 2054
- King, Harold, A., Senate Postmaster, retirement, 1505
- Larre, Reverend Father Lucien, O.C., Thérèse Casgrain award, 286
- Macdonald, Hon. John M., Honorary Doctorate of Laws, 3347
- Murray, Hon. Lowell, appointment to Priorities and Planning Committee of Cabinet, 464
- Phillips, Hon. Orville H., 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633
- Sparrow, Hon. Herbert O., Honorary Doctorate of Science, 3615
- Walker, Hon. David J., 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633

Fiji

- Current political situation, 1052, 1506, 1879, 1881, 1885
- Government position, 1951
- Government stance at Commonwealth Conference, consultations with Fijian community, 1884, 1913, 2126
- Request for answer, 1400
- Violation of human rights, government action, 1878, 1885

Finance

- Bank rate increase, government action, 3583
- British Petroleum, sale of shares, reported request of Canadian government, 2077
- Canadian dollar, value of, 4111
- Document entitled "New Directions for the Financial Sector," 389, 390, 403, 1011
- Ontario budget, effect on interest rates, 3585
- Stock market activity, congratulations to Minister of Finance for statements and action, 1991

Financial institutions

- Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation
 - Implementation of recommendations of Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, 485
- Negotiations with provinces on regulation, status, 1090
- See appendix p. 1427
- See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Financial institutions (Bill C-56)

- Conflict potential, 1552
- Exempt market, 1553
- Exigencies of international competition, 1551
- Financial institutions able to set up securities firms, 1551
- "Four pillars" policy, 1550
- Mutual life insurance company deemed Canadian if head office is in Canada, 1551
- "Securitization", 1552
- Superintendent of Financial Institutions, 1551
- Speakers: Senators
 - Kelly, William M., 1550
 - Sinclair, Ian, 1552

Financial Institutions bill C-56. 1r, 1550; 2r, 1550; 3r, 1554; r.a., 1590

Financial institutions and deposit insurance system amendment

- Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation borrowing authority increase, 1531
- CDIC board appointments, 1533
- Deposit insurance, 1532
- Risk-related capital requirements, 1533
- Superintendent of Financial Institutions, 1531
- See appendix p. 1013
- Speakers: Senators
 - Flynn, Jacques, 1531
 - Sinclair, Ian, 1532

Financial Institutions and Deposit Insurance System Amendment bill C-42. 1r, 1505; 2r, 1531; 3r, 1534; r.a., 1590

"Financing the Family Farm to the Year 2000"

See Agriculture and Forestry Committee

Finkelstein, Neil, Canadian Jewish Congress Constitutional Subcommittee on Meech Lake

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2572

First Ministers' Accord*See* Constitution

Meech Lake Accord

Fiscal responsibility and social conscience, 174Fisheries

Canada-France negotiation of agreement

Agreed record of negotiations, status, request for copy of Note Verbale, 503

Allocation of northern cod quotas, 433

Availability of negotiators, 4438

Denial of threat to Newfoundland premier, 531

Effect of 1984 exchange of notes, 451

Exclusion of Atlantic provinces and Department of Fisheries representatives, 434

Federal-provincial consultations, fish allocations, government policy, 420

Representation, 506

Fish allocations

Effect on northern cod stocks, 423

Status of 1972 treaty, rights of French vessels in Gulf of St. Lawrence, 464, 465

Grounds for not proceeding, 433

Licensing of French vessels in disputed zone, 451

Request for tabling, 427

Schedule of meetings, 763, 850

Unanimity of cabinet decision, 422, 423

See appendix p. 448

Canada-France relations

Dispute-settlement negotiations

Former agreement, status of, 3235

Geographic location of fishing patterns and quotas, 3233

Judicial arbitration and selection of mediator, status, 3232

Request for appearance of former ambassador to France and Minister of Fisheries and Oceans before Committee of the Whole, 3097, 3235

Status and possible mediation, 3204, 3206, 3222, 3266

Request for copy of new agreement, location of quotas, 3282

Referral of dispute to International Court of Justice, government position, 3098, 3232

Request for appearance of Minister for International Trade before Committee of the Whole, 3098

Mussel industry, government assistance, 2304, 2491

Provision of fish to victims of natural disasters, government assistance, 4405

Toxic mussels, progress of research, 2723, 2883

Trade, United-States' cancellation of perishable product agreements, 4484

Entry in U.S. of Canadian seafood products, 4503

West coast boundary waters dispute, resolution, government position, 422

West Coast Salmon Enhancement Program, government policy, 333, 362

See also Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundariesFisheries, interim committee report on freshwater fisheries, response of Manitoba minister, inquiry, 2207

Withdrawn, 2540

Fisheries and Oceans

Canadian Saltfish Corporation, directors, 1480

Fisheries improvement loans

Budget, 349

Inland fishery, 349

Six-month extension of program, 310

Fisheries improvement loans—Cont'dSpeakers: Senators

LeBlanc, Roméo, 349

Molgat, Gildas L., 349

Robertson, Brenda, 309, 349

Thériault, L. Norbert, 349

Fisheries Improvement Loans bill C-32. 1r, 289; 2r, 309, 349; 3r, 366; r.a., 415Fisheries, Standing Senate Committee

Boston Seafood Show, Mar. 8-10, 1988, authority to attend, 2722

Coastal fisheries protection, subject matter of Bill C-26, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 264

Fish marketing in Canada, authority to study, 33, 82

Authority to publish and distribute 2nd interim report, 1473

Membership, 62

Reports

1st, 118, 122

See appendix p. 134

2nd, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 159

See Journals of the Senate

3rd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 291, 383

See appendix p. 320

4th, study of fish marketing in Canada, request for extension of date for final report, 780

5th, Marketing of Fish in Canada (2nd interim), tabled, 2318, 2362, 2661

Aquaculture, 2364

Consultation, 2363

Domestic market, 2365

"Equity principle", 2362

GATT ruling, 2366

Pacific Salmon Treaty, 2362

Sport fishing, 2364

Surimi, 2365

6th, extension of date of final report, 2825

7th, supplementary budget, 4199

See appendix p. 4205

Fish marketing in Canada, (interim report), 90, 132, 383, 559

Consumption, 91

Freshwater Fish Marketing Corporation, 90

Recreational fishery, 91

"Single-desk" selling, 90

Flynn, Hon. Jacques, P.C.

Agriculture and Forestry Committee

Authority to engage services, 713

Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 738

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency bill C-103 (Part 1), message to Commons, 3887

Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Intentions of committee re report on Bill C-22, qu, 1903

Report

19th, Patent bill C-22, rep on question and message from House of Commons, 2084, 2095

Borrowing Authority 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, 712, 749

Timing, 749

Cameron, Hon. Donald, tribute on resignation from Senate, 1887

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 540

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Concerns of members of government, government leader's position, 2075

Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization bill C-25, 398

Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, 1915

Flynn, Hon. Jacques, P.C.—Cont'd

- Constitution
 - First Ministers' Accord, 931
 - Senate timetable for completion of deliberations, qu, 2795
- First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1322, 1540, 1650, 1750, 2129, 2338
- Motion to televise proceedings, 1450
- Report, 2nd, authority to engage services and to incur expenses, 2288
- Motion to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to Yukon and Northwest Territories and four national aboriginal organizations, 4051
- Motion to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to legislative assembly of each province, 4050
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3166
- Constitutional amending formula, 3167
- Distinct society, interpretive rule, 3167
- Message to Commons, proposed motion, 3216, 3218
- Motion for message to Commons, 3484
- Procedure, 3169
- Proposed further amdt, 3216
- Quebec, 3167
- Referral to Supreme Court, 3166
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, motion to concur, 1239
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualification of Senators) bill S-12, 1335
- Criminal Code and Canada Evidence bill C-15, 1526
- Criminal Code, Immigration, 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71, 1790
- Crimes against humanity, 1790
- Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), considered in Committee of the Whole, 3763
- Denis, Hon. Azellus, P.C., felicitations on eightieth birthday, 753
- Electoral Boundaries Readjustment bill C-308, 4125, 4143
- Emergencies bill C-77, 3407
 - Censorship, 3404
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3767
 - Motion in amdt, 3771
 - Motion to ref to com, 3429
- Excise Tax and Excise bill C-117, 3559, 3577, 3658
 - Part of general tax reform, 3559
 - Tax payments speed-up, 3560
- External Affairs
 - Foreign service appointment, maintenance of professionalism, government policy, 338
- Financial Institutions and Deposit Insurance System Amendment bill C-42, 1531, 1534
 - Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation borrowing authority increase, 1531
 - Superintendent of Financial Institutions, 1531
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103
 - Message from Commons of disagreement with Senate division of bill, 4117
 - Financial provisions, 4117
 - Motion to instruct committee to divide bill into two bills, 3603
 - Point of order, 3567
- Grey Nuns in Canada, 250th anniversary, 1949
- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 2226
 - Motion to refer motion to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, 2226, 2397
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4475
- Income Tax and a related Act bill C-23, 373, 398
 - Alternative minimum tax, 374, 377
 - Flow-through share provision, 374
 - Refundable federal sales tax, 374
 - RRSP contribution changes, 374

Flynn, Hon. Jacques, P.C.—Cont'd

- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 14th, Special Committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22, budget, 973, 1000
 - 30th, 1857
- Jalbert, René M., C.V., C.D., tribute re act of heroism, 1026
- Judges and Federal Court and Tax Court of Canada bill C-41, 1415, 1434
 - Indexation of salaries and pensions, 1415
 - Retirement age, 1416
 - Supernumerary judges, 1416
- Langlois, Hon. Léopold, tribute on retirement, 4537
- L'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, delegation visit, 4257
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee report
 - 34th, rep on draft official French version of certain constitutional acts, 4540
 - See appendix p. 4563
- MacNeill, John Forbes, Q.C., the late, former Clerk of the Senate and Clerk of the Parliaments, tribute, 4165
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1771
- Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4209
- National Finance Committee
 - Estimates 1986-87, supplementary (B), 368
 - Report, 25th, Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3886
- Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3592, 3765
- Patent amendment, 1987 bill C-22, 1736, 1746
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, m to refer to committee, 1785, 1793
 - Motion in amdt, 1800
 - Priority, 1800
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1817
- Patent bill S-15, 4532
 - Timing, 4532
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1409
- Prescription drug prices
 - Effect of proposed Patent Act amendment, presentation of petitions, 1025, 1334
- Quebec Courts Amendment bill C-145, 4189
- Radio bill C-3, 746
- Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1495
- Senate
 - Adjournment, 2, 2149
 - Point of order, 2153
 - Business, 1696, 2227, 3070, 4258
 - Constitution, motion for proposed Constitution Amendment, 1987 and any motions in amendment made first item of business, 3096
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 402
 - Privilege, 3491
 - Privilege, motion to refer to committee, 892
 - Role in Question Period, 2079
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 3438
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - 13th report, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3450
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)
 - Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 939

Flynn, Hon. Jacques, P.C.—Cont'd

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)—
Cont'd

Reports

- 3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1636
- Order withdrawn, 2102
- 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87
- 6th, Patent amendment bill C-22, with amds, 1673
- 7th, Patent amendment bill C-22 with amended amds
- Motion in amdt, 1715

Standing Rules and Orders Committee reports

- 5th, voting procedure, 2849
- 7th, seating in chamber for former senators, 2910, 3250
- 13th, committee reports on bills, 3807

Terrorism and Public Safety Committee

- Authority to publish and distribute report during adjournment, 1337
- Authority to revise and table French version of report at a later date, 1660

Tobacco Products Control bill C-51, 3661

- Parliamentary intervention to restrict individual freedoms, 3661

Trade

- Imbalance between Canada and U.S.S.R., United States export enhancement trade program, suggested Canada-U.S.S.R. comprehensive trade agreement, 2056

Tremblay, Hon. Arthur

- Tribute on receipt of Edouard-Montpetit Medal, text of addresses at ceremony printed as appendix, 2818

See appendix p. 2820

Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, 1280, 1432Food and drugs

- Food and drugs regulations standards, 835
- Inspection of transport, 836
- Labatt Lite Beer case, 834
- Labelling, packaging, selling or advertising compliances, 836
- Product identities, 834, 836
- Trade and commerce limitation clause, 835, 852

Speakers: Senators

- Doyle, Richard J., 834
- Frith, Royce, 852, 852

Food and Drugs bill S-6. 1r, 780; 2r, 834, 852; ref to com, 852; rep without amdt, 935; 3r, 963; r.a., 1590Foreign affairs

- Canadian relations with Syria, government position, 96
- Contras, possible acceptance as refugees, 2231
- Greek-Turkish relations, government action, 761, 877
- NATO, Secretary General, Lord Carrington, statement, 877
- Iraq, alleged use of chemical weapons against Kurds, government action, 4313, 4405
- Nicaragua, cancellation of visit of vice-president, 195, 239
- Panama, safety and security of vice-president, government representation, 4046, 4177
- Paraguay, status of Senor Hermen Rafael Saguier, government knowledge and action, 4043, 4177
- Saudi Arabia, replacement of Sheik Yamani, 120
- Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, reaction of Progressive Conservative Party, 2782, 2830, 2844, 2931, 2981, 3101
- Syria, joint action by Canada and other nations, 264, 301
- Verification of signatories to committee report, 4313

Foreign Affairs, Standing Senate Committee

- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 464, 564, 620, 697, 785, 849, 977, 1890, 2119, 2160, 2229, 4086, 4517

Foreign Affairs, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, elements of, authority to study and report, 2148

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3489, 3525, 3607, 3645, 3695, 3810

Order discharged, 4335

Process, 3813

Protectionism, 3646

Specificity, 3696

Views of Government of Ontario, 3646

See appendix p. 3613

Forgiveness of certain official development assistance debts, subject matter of Bill C-62, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246

International financial system and institutions, Canada's participation, authority to continue study, 138

Authority to extend final report presentation date, 695

Meeting, 906

Cancellation, 3508

Membership, 117

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 137

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, international financial system and institutions, report on Canada's participation, 290, 383, 1019

See appendix p. 311

3rd, international financial system and institutions, authority for extension of reporting date, 695

4th, international financial system and institutions, budget authorization, 760

See appendix p. 777

5th, International financial system and institutions, tabled, 1019

American participation, 1020

Canada's role, 1022

Capital flight, 1020

Commercial banks, 1020

Commodity prices increase, 1020

International Monetary Fund, 1020

Third World external debt, 1019

World Bank, 1020

"Writing down" and "provisioning", 1021

6th, External Affairs and National Defence estimates, 1087, 1159

7th, budget to study External Affairs and National Defence estimates, 1241, 1289

See appendix p. 1257

8th, budget to study union of Turks and Caicos Islands with Canada, 1241, 1289

See appendix p. 1259

9th, forgiveness of certain official development assistance debts, subject matter of Bill C-62, tabled, 1393

See appendix p. 1418

10th, Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68, 1898

See appendix p. 1910

11th, Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 2240, 2296, 4154

Lack of effective government in islands, 2241

Public views, 2297, 4154

See appendix p. 2270

12th, budget re study of elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, 2500

See appendix p. 2514

13th, Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, elements of, extension of date for reporting, 2954

Foreign Affairs, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'dReports—Cont'd

- 14th, Study of elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, 3278
- See appendix p. 3288
- 15th, Authority to travel outside Canada to study and report on elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, 3278
- 16th, International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, with amdts, comments and recommendation, 4540, 4557
- Financing, 4559
- Pluralistic political system, 4558

Foreign trade, 171Forest industry, economic contribution and status, 249*Forgiveness of certain official development assistance debts (Bill C-62)

- African economies, 1570
- Canada's international reputation, 1570
- Least less-developed countries (LLDC), 1571

Speakers: Senators

- Hicks, Henry D., 1571
- Rossiter, Eileen, 1570

Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill C-62. 1r, 1570; 2r, 1570; 3r, 1571; r.a., 1590Forgiveness of certain official development assistance debts (Bill S-9)

- Future Official Development Assistance to be grants, not loans, 1036
- Least-developed countries category, 1035
- Moratorium on debts of African states in sub-Saharan, 1035

Speakers: Senators

- Asselin, Martial, 1035
- Hicks, Henry D., 1036

Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9. 1r, 990; 2r, 1035; ref to com, 1037; withdrawn, 1050Forsey, Hon. Eugene

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1441, 1538, 1995, 2130

France

- Mitterrand, François, President, address to both houses, 1048
- See appendix p. 1079
- See also Canada-France agreements Canada-France relations Fisheries

Francophone Summit

- Human rights violations as agenda item, government action, 1779

Fraser, Hon. John A., Speaker of the House of Commons

- Reagan, Ronald W., President of the United States, address to both houses, 1987, response, 868

Free trade

- See Canada-U.S. free trade

Free trade initiatives, 109Freshwater Fisheries, response of federal and provincial ministers to interim report of Fisheries Committee, inquiry, 1336, 1557

- Northern dependency on commercial freshwater fishing, 1557
- Ontario region, 1558
- Western region, 1558

Freshwater Fisheries, response of federal and provincial ministers to interim report of Fisheries Committee, inquiry—Cont'dSpeaker: Senator

- Marshall, Jack, 1557

Frith, Hon. Royce, Deputy Leader of the Opposition

- Abbott, Hon. Douglas Charles, P.C., the late, tribute, 665

Aboriginal peoples

- Constitution, entrenchment of right to self-government, draft agreement, distribution of powers, qu, 789

Agriculture

- Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to ref to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3460

Agriculture and Forestry Committee

- Authority to engage services, 668
- Souris River, Saskatchewan, authority to study granting of federal licence, 4481

- Territorial lands, subject matter of bill C-43, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 621

Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4097

- "All we, like sheep, have strayed...", 297

Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945 bill S-3, 169, 247Animal Pedigree bill C-67, 3351*Appropriation No.3, 1986-87 bill C-29, 303, 341, 343, 363*Appropriation No.4, 1986-87 bill C-35, 380

- Special Canadian Grains Program, 381

Appropriation No.5, 1986-87 bill C-47, 751Appropriation No.1, 1987-88 bill C-48, 766*Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 739*Appropriation No.3, 1987-88 bill C-65, 1281, 1302*Appropriation No.4, 1987-88 bill C-95, 2384*Appropriation No.5, 1987-88 bill C-108, 2643*Appropriation No.6, 1987-88 bill C-119, 2965*Appropriation No.1, 1988-89 bill C-120, 2966*Appropriation No.2, 1988-89 bill C-138, 3759*Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency

- Criteria for approving proposals, qu, 120, 196, 238

- Minister's statement, 1171

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency bill C-103 (Part 1), message to Commons, 3888Banking

- Responsibility of government leader to provide answers, qu, 2073

Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

- Air Canada public participation, subject matter of Bill C-129, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3662

- Authority to engage services, 76

- Authority to meet during Senate sittings, 742

- Electronic media coverage of meeting, 1877

Bill C-22, anticipated date of presentation of report, 1900

- Intentions of committee, 1904

Meeting, 1990

- Cancellation, 1047

Financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-56, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 997Reports

- 10th, subject matter of Bill C-37, authority to travel in Canada to study, 501

- 19th, Patent bill C-22, rep on message and question from House of Commons, 2087

- 20th, Tax reform in Canada, 2590

- 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, with amdts, 3254

Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2753Bell Canada bill C-13, 1342

- Bell Canada Enterprises use of Bell Canada as "cash cow", 1342

- BCE shares sale subject to CRTC approval, 1343

- "In" and "out" powers, 1343

Bell, Hon. Richard A., P.C., Q.C., the late, tribute, 2880

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Blue Water Bridge Authority bill C-210, 4201, 4236
- Piggybacking, 4202
- Borrowing Authority 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, 620, 638, 708, 713, 738
 - Non-lapsing $2 million reserve, 639
- Broadcasting bill C-136, 4546, 4550
 - Canadian Bar Association opinion, 4555
 - Canadian content, 4556
 - CBC concerns, 4550
 - Community radio stations, 4553
 - Concerns of private broadcasters, 4552
 - CRTC, 4548
 - Foreign programming, 4556
 - 'He-who-hears-decides' approach, 4549
 - Juno, Pierre, quotes, 4551
 - Linguistic divisions, 4551
 - Master antennae television, 4555
 - Ostry, Bernard, quotes, 4553
 - Programming and non-programming, 4555
 - Public broadcasting, 4553
 - Regionalization, 4548
 - Terms of office of chairman of CRTC and president of CBC, 4556
 - Unity of Canada, 4548
- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126, 4037
- Cameron, Hon. Donald, tribute on resignation from Senate, 1887
- Canada Child Care bill C-144, 4483, 4500, 4517
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 494, 508, 511, 525, 533, 560, 646, 653, 662, 714
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 450, 456, 468
 - Speaker's ruling, 471
 - Negatived, 472
 - Motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole, 482
 - Report of Committee of the Whole, 724
 - Request for agreed record to be printed as appendix, 440
 - See appendix p. 448
 - Senate resolved into Committee of the Whole, 492
- Canada Labour Code bill C-97, 2390
- Canada-Newfoundland Accord Implementation bill C-6, 635
- Canada Shipping bill C-39, 763
- Canada-United States Days of Peace and Friendship
 - Designation of July 2 and 3, 1987, consideration of message from Commons, 797
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Dispute settlement mechanism, establishment of bi-national tribunal, effect of, adjudication of application of Canadian law, qu, 1945
 - Final text and tariff appendices, referral to committee, 2374
 - Foreign Affairs Committee, possibility of referral of agreement to, qu, 1988
 - Inquiry, 2648
 - Parties and signatories, qu, 1890
 - Passage of Bill C-22, request for tabling of initialled copy of document containing reference to Canada's undertaking re passage, newspaper article, qu, 1954
 - Petition tabled, 4483
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4360, 4446, 4449
- Canada-United States relations
 - Acid rain
 - Declaration by U.S. Administration, qu, 671, 960, 1629
 - Bilateral trade negotiations, items for negotiation, qu, 439, 531
 - Canadian potash, imposition of U.S. tariff, government action, 700

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Canada's International Relations, inquiry, 1112
- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, fiftieth anniversary congratulations, 135
- Canadian Centre for Management Development bill C-148, 4228
- Canadian Environmental Protection bill C-74, 3389
- Canadian Exploration and Development Incentives Program bill C-59, 1304
- Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4014
- Chouinard, Mr. Justice Julien, the late, tribute, 463
- Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, 1064
- Citizenship (Period of residence) bill C-254, 2307
- Communications
 - Telelobe Canada, sale to Memotec, investigation of insider trading, qu, 1868
- Constitution
 - Amending process, government position, qu, 1396
 - Amending resolution, time limit for consideration by the Senate, 2980
 - Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories, appointment of members, 1777
- Constitutional Accord, 1987, tabled, 1163
 - Appointments to Supreme Court of Canada and other bodies, method, and application of other provisions between signing and proclamation, qu, 3231
- First Ministers' Accord
 - Agreement by provinces, undertakings offered to obtain, qu, 1119
 - Date of presentation of text, qu, 1028
 - Date of signing, qu, 1093
 - Federal-Provincial Relations Minister, role, qu, 1090
 - Implications of interpretative declaration, availability of legal opinions, recognition of Quebec as distinct society, applicability of term, qu, 1028, 1058
 - Legal action by territories, qu, 1120
 - "Patriation", use of term by government leader, request for clarification of meaning of Accord, 956
 - Premier of Quebec, reported reaction, qu, 954
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society
 - Definition and international ramifications, 941, 978
 - Distribution of powers, 979
 - Effect on property and civil rights, 943
 - Senate reform, 945
 - Recommendations for appointment, Quebec vacancy, 983
 - Future amendment of amendment provisions, unanimity requirement, 981
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualifications of Senators) bill S-12, 1335, 2819
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate) bill S-20, 4362, 4471
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3088, 3217
 - Inclusion of territories, 3094
 - Isolation of Quebec, 3091
 - Message to Commons, 3217, 3222, 3487
 - Motion for, 3274, 3485
 - Motion in amdt, 3171
 - Multiculturalism, 3093
 - Senate reform, 3093
 - Supreme Court, 3094
 - Unanimity, 3095
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, motion to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to legislative assemblies and four national aboriginal organizations, 4034, 4051

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1322, 1349, 1440, 1447, 1540, 1547, 1650, 1750, 1994, 1998, 2008, 2131, 2144, 2188, 2247, 2252, 2341, 2344, 2447, 2567, 2610, 2619, 2624, 2734, 2742, 2803, 2809, 2863, 2868, 2917, 2924, 3004, 3930
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, (procedural business)
 - Committee continuance following prorogation, 1750
 - Expenses, 1750
 - Motion re appointment of submissions group, 2594
 - Motion re seating of witnesses, 1245, 1312
 - Motion re televising of proceedings, 1245, 1312, 1321, 1451, 1916, 1924, 1946
 - Motion re witnesses' expenses, 1245, 1311
 - Motion re witnesses to be heard by Submissions Group, 2770
 - Order re consideration in Committee of the Whole, 1865
 - Report of Committee of the Whole, 1325, 1352, 1752, 2206, 2774
 - Still photography pool authorized to record March 30 proceedings, 2906
 - Still photography pool authorized to record March 31 proceedings, 2956
 - See also* Meech Lake Constitutional Accord
- Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, 1047
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole, 1182, 1216
- Constitutional independence and responsibility, 1183
- Date of reporting, 1183
- Department, 1185
- Timing, 1183
- 1982 procedure, 1184
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1234, 1277
- Constitutional Accord, 1987, Special Joint Committee
 - Consideration of report, order withdrawn, 3225
 - Extension of date for presentation of report, 1803
- Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society bill S-14, 2127
- Copyright bill C-60, 2634, 3254, 3463
- Criminal Code, Canada Evidence bill C-15, 1415, 1493, 1526
- Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, 3917
- Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) bill C-264 4215
 - Head shops, 4215
 - Volunteer action, 4215
- Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16, 3693
- Customs bill C-80, 1564
- Customs Tariff bill C-87, 2387, 2478
- Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), 3760
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3737
- Denis, Hon. Azellus, P.C., felicitations on eightieth birthday, 753
- Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C., the late, tribute, 285
- Dunton, Davidson, the late, tribute, 484
- Electoral Boundaries Readjustment bill C-308, 4143
- Emergencies bill C-77, 3429, 3468
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3628, 3718, 3769
 - Examination in Committee of the Whole
 - Motion re appearance and seating of witnesses, 3617
 - Motion to authorize still photography and televising of proceedings, 3617
- Energy
 - Canadian gas, price to U.S. consumers, qu, 143, 162

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Authority to engage services, 74
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1074, 1118
 - Authority to study production and use of coal in Canada, 816
 - Authority to study production and use of natural gas in Canada, 816
- Environment
 - Acid rain, agreement with provinces to reduce emissions, repudiation by Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, qu, 583
- Estimates 1986-87, supplementary (B), ref to com, 340
- Estimates 1987-88, ref to com, 563, 582, 714
 - Supplementary (E), ref to com, 2817
- Excise Tax and Excise bill C-14, 351
- Export and Import Permits bill C-57, 1129
- External Affairs
 - Helsinki, Finland, proposed closing of Canadian embassy, request for reconsideration, 565, 582
 - Statement of appreciation of minister's action, 676
- Federal-provincial relations
 - Equality of treatment of provinces, effect of awarding of CF-18 contract, qu, 139
- Finance
 - Document entitled "New Directions for the Financial Sector," 390
- Fisheries
 - Canada-France relations
 - Dispute settlement negotiations, status and possible mediation, 3206
- Fisheries Committee
 - 1st report, 122
- Food and Drugs bill S-6, 852
 - Trade and commerce limitation clause, 852
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 849, 4086, 4517
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation
 - Order discharged, 4335
- Reports
 - 1st, authority to travel, 1024
 - 11th, Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 2298
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9, 1036, 1050
- Godfrey, Hon. John Morrow, tribute on retirement, 1391
- Government of Canada
 - First Ministers' Accord, dissemination of information, possibility of similar action on illiteracy and learning disabilities, 1701
- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, 1573, 1576
 - Items not covered by disclosure provisions, 1574
 - Uniformity, 1574
- Hazardous Products (tobacco and tobacco products) bill S-4, 373, 596
- Health care, m for appointment of special committee, 2226, 2369, 2397, 2499
 - Motion in amdt, 2494
 - Motion to refer motion to committee, 2369, 2397
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4475
 - Ref back to com, 4407
- Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, 2392, 2488
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-34, 412
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, 2052, 2119, 3402

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, 1814, 1851
 - Message from Commons, 2651, 2660, 2724
 - Motion for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, ref to com, 4020
 - Respect for human rights and adherence to international obligations, 2660
- Income Tax bill C-64, 2345
 - Ref to com, 2348
- Income Tax Conventions bill S-2, 82, 101
- Industry
 - Aerospace, awarding of CF-18 service contract to Canadair, technology transfer, qu, 141, 197
 - Foreign firms bidding on contracts in Canada, government policy, 140
 - General Motors, interest-free loan
 - Effect on free trade negotiations, targeted subsidies, request for information on government policy, 813
 - Future rail market prospects, status of report, 414
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee
 - Authority for senators to act on behalf of committee during adjournments or recesses and between sessions and Parliaments, 1730
- Reports
 - 1st, 2nd and 3rd, committees' budgets, 188
 - 4th, 262
 - 5th, 289
 - 6th, 290
 - 7th, Senate estimates, 1986-87, tabled, 355, 399
 - 8th, Fisheries Committee, supplementary budget, 355
 - 9th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, supplementary budget, 450, 509
 - 10th, research allocation for senators, 666
 - 11th, membership in Public Service Dental Plan, 668, 752
 - 12th, release of 3/12 of approved funds, 760
 - 13th, Special Committee on Terrorism, budget, 973
 - 14th, Special Committee on bill C-22, budget, 973, 1000, 1005
 - 15th, schedule of authorized salary revisions, tabled, 1048
 - 16th, Agriculture and Forestry Committee budget, 1198, 1220, 1306
 - 17th to 28th, committee budgets, 1221, 1306
 - 29th, Special Joint Committee on 1987 Constitution Accord budget, 1856
 - 30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1856
 - 31st, Salary scale for senators' secretaries, tabled, 1920
 - Withdrawn, 2053
 - 31st (revised), 2052
 - 32nd, Senate estimates, 1988-89, tabled, 2490
 - Withdrawn, 2652
 - 32nd (revised), tabled and adopted, 2652
 - 33rd, financial operation of committees, 2817, 2887
 - 34th, salary revisions for unrepresented employees, 2955, 2967
 - 35th, transportation allowance adjustment, 3204
 - 36th, guidelines for senators' research expenditures, 3252, 3271
 - See appendix p., 3262
 - 37th, benefits for unrepresented employees, 3384, 3441
 - 38th to 52nd, approved supplementary committee budgets, 3384, 3441
 - See appendix p. 3411
 - 53rd, Senators' research expenditures, 3582
 - 55th, budget re examination of Bill S-4, 3636
 - Withdrawn, 3665
 - 55th, (revised), Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee budget, 3752, 3863
 - 56th, improvements to PSMIP plan, 3697, 3723

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee—Cont'd
- Reports—Cont'd
 - 57th, Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee budget, 3753, 3863
 - 58th, Energy and Natural Resources Committee budget, 3753, 3863
 - 59th, Energy and Natural Resources Committee budget, 3753, 3863
 - 60th, printing requests: submission by Ottawa Citizen, 3880
 - 61st, collective agreement with operational employees, 3918, 4015
 - Subcommittee on budgets, meeting, 168
- International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, 4419
- Jalbert, René, C.V., C.D., tribute re act of heroism, 1026
- Judges and Federal Court and Tax Court of Canada bill C-41, 1416, 1433
- Judges bill C-88, 2385
- Labour
 - British Columbia longshoremen's lockout, government action, 34
 - Langlois, Hon. Léopold, tribute on retirement, 4538
 - Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 415
 - L'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, delegation visit, 4257
 - Leclerc, Félix, the late, poet and muscian, tribute, 4170
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - Authority to engage services, 232
 - Authority to examine subject matter of (rights and freedoms) clauses of certain bills, 801
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 433, 560
 - French Constitutional Drafting Committee, study of 1st report, membership, 620
- Reports
 - 19th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amdts, 2976
 - 30th, Blue Water Bridge Authority, subject matter of Bill C-210, 4236
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2753
- Lévesque, Hon. René, the late, tribute, 2117
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, 1760
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 1765, 1766
 - Right of public to rail service, 1760
 - Right to settle industrial disputes by collective bargaining, 1760
- Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4208
- Marriage (prohibited degrees) bill S-5, 593
- Meech Lake Constitutional Accord
 - Submissions Group
 - Authority to permit coverage by electronic media, 2758
 - Membership, 2634
- Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment, 1987 bill C-104, 2539, 2559
- Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, 1484
- Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters bill C-58, 3997
- National Archives of Canada bill C-7, 430, 532
- National Capital bill C-153, 4228
 - Municipal tensions, 4230
 - Powers, 4231
- National Defence
 - Appointment of special committee, 840
- National Defence Committee
 - 1st report, authority to travel, 1024, 1105, 1131
- National Film board
 - Inquiry on report of film "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss" referred to committee, 1560

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- National Finance Committee
 - Authority to engage service, 92
 - Federal-provincial fiscal arrangements and federal post-secondary education and health contributions, 1977, subject matter of Bill C-44, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 870
 - Post-secondary education and training, authority to continue study of government activities, 14
- Reports
 - 2nd, 266
 - 4th, Estimates, 1986-87, supplementary (B), 368
 - 6th, Estimates, 1986-87, supplementary (C), 750
 - 7th, Post-secondary education, 817, 1502
 - 9th, Appropriation No.2, 1987-88, 782
 - 14th, Estimates, 1987-88, supplementary (C), 2311
- National Film Board
 - "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", motion to refer report back to committee, 1115
- National Finance Committee report
 - 25th, Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3887
- National Housing, Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation bill C-111, 3892
 - Social housing, 3892
- National Transportation, 1987 bill C-19, 1439, 1487
- Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3592, 3673, 3714, 3765
 - Concern about adding tobacco products to Hazardous Products Act, 3715
 - Indemnity of the Crown, 3714
 - Objection from Via Rail, 3715
 - Point of order, 3592
 - Withdrawal of Bill S-4, 3621
- Official Languages bill C-72, 4023, 4132
 - Attitudes, 4133
 - Courts, 4024, 4135
 - Equitable participation, 4025
 - Language of "use", 4025
 - Laurendeau-Dunton Commission report, quotes, 4133
 - Management by Treasury Board, 4025
 - Opportunities for unilinguals, 4026
 - Order in Council regulations, 4024, 4135
 - Preamble, 4023
 - Quotas, 4134
 - Role of Commissioner, 4136
- Official Languages bill C-72, m for appointment of special committee to study prior to receipt of legislation, withdrawn, 3931
- Official Languages Committee
 - Estimates, 1988-89, Privy Council vote 15 ref to com, message from Commons, 2777
 - Message to Commons, 133
- Reports
 - 1st, establishment of quorum, 240, 247
 - 4th, recommendations re implementation of Official Languages Act, 1395
- Status of legislation, qu, 2758
- Order of Canada, notice of investiture ceremony, 3252
- Parliament
 - Legislative role of Senate, 4352
- Parliamentary Employment and Staff Relations
 - Delay in proclamation of Act, qu, 64, 81, 99
- Parole
 - Release of dangerous inmates, 22

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Patent Act
 - Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, 2059
 - Appointment of special committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 prior to receipt of legislation, 785, 826, 837
- Patent bill C-22, 998, 1734
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2187
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence upon Senate amdts, 1777
 - Motion to refer question and message to committee, 1791
 - Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2180
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1817
- Patent bill S-15, 2963, 3645, 3715, 4532
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1314, 1410, 1448
- Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax and Income Tax bill C-17, 404
 - PGRT background, 404
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, qu, 234, 299
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1961, 1971, 1982
 - Attempt to break union, 1963
 - Draconian legislation, 1962
 - Five-year suspension provision, 1971
 - Too-harsh penalties, 1963
- Prescription drug prices
 - Proposed Patent Act amendment, effect, presentation of petitions, 1025, 1334
- Problems of the Aged, inquiry
 - Subject matter ref to com, 3274
- Quebec Courts Amendment bill C-145, 4189
- Radio bill C-3, 746
- Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1495, 2069
- Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee
 - Authority to study subject matter of (regulation-making powers) clauses of certain bills prior to receipt of legislation, 823
- Reports
 - 1st, 262
 - 2nd, 643
- Regulatory Scrutiny Committee
 - Report, 9th, Public Service employment, 3341
- Remembrance Day, "Lest We forget", 186
- Research and development
 - Bedford Institute of Oceanography, closing of Marine Ecology Laboratory, government policy and actions, 858
 - International renown for original research, 859
- Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985 bill C-94, 2362
- Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2876
- Royal Assent
 - Alternative procedure, notice of motion, 784
 - Withdrawn, 2546
- Salaries bill C-36, 413
- Senate, 1194
 - Absence of Leader of the Government, 1338, 1506
 - Acting Opposition Leader in absence of Opposition Leader and Deputy Leader from chamber, 3490
 - Adjournment, 1, 190, 277, 510, 1026, 1168, 1298, 1586, 1697, 1958, 2148, 4128, 4165, 4350
 - Motion in amdt, 2152

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Senate—Cont'd
 - Business, 63, 243, 621, 761, 767, 816, 826, 845, 950, 1582, 1907, 1912, 1919, 1939, 1951, 2123, 2206, 2227, 2268, 2445, 2730, 3023, 3070, 3360, 3668, 4084, 4259
 - Emergencies bill, resolution into Committee of the Whole at 6 p.m., May 31, 1988, 3489
 - Christmas greetings, 415
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, 353, 356, 391
 - Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 383, 399
 - Motion withdrawn and order discharged, 509
 - Question of privilege, Speaker's statement, 431
 - Gendron, Larry, felicitations on retirement after 30 years' service, 2605
 - Government leader's stationery, use for communication re Oerlikon Aerospace, 438
 - Jarvis, Dale M., felicitations on completion of 25 years' service, 2054
 - Minutes of the Proceedings*, correction, 4455
 - Official report, ministry list, 852
 - Point of order (Senator McElman), 873
 - Privilege, 644, 829, 948
 - Conflict-of-interest inquiry from office of Minister of Justice, 1696
 - Question Period
 - Delayed answers, 1579
 - Availability, 1509
 - Expression of appreciation, 395
 - Role of Senator Flynn in Question Period, 2079
 - Summer adjournment, date, qu, 1301
 - Tempus fugit*, 2068
 - Senate and House of Commons bill C-20, 306, 340
 - Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 3438, 3450
 - Senate, delays in consideration of legislation, inquiry, 4247
 - Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories
 - Interim report, deadline for presentation and extension of deadline for final report, 2290
 - Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - Childhood poverty and adult social problems, authority to study relationship, 3407
 - Reports
 - 13th, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3436, 3448
 - 25th, Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) bill C-123, point of order, 4349
 - Tobacco products control, motion to authorize study of subject matter of Bill C-51, 1876
 - Veterans Affairs, authority to study document entitled "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review—Service to the Public—Veterans", 208
- Special committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)
 - Meeting, 878
 - Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 937
- Power to engage services, 1461
 - Withdrawn, 1753
- Reports
 - 2nd, status, 1242
 - 4th, authority to engage services, 1474
 - 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1623
 - 6th, Patent amendment bill C-22, with amdts, 1674
 - 7th, Patent amendment bill C-22, with amended amdts
 - Motion in amdt, 1716
 - 15th, Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3653

Frith, Hon. Royce—Cont'd

- Standing Rules and Orders Committee
 - Authority to re-examine Appendix III of Rules of the Senate, 714
 - Report, 7th, seating in chamber for former senators, 2911
- Supreme Court bill C-53, 2099, 2225
 - Number and complexity of cases, 2099
- Supreme Court of Canada
 - Appointment of replacement for the late Mr. Justice Chouinard, qu, 564
- Tax Court of Canada bill C-146, 4243
- Tax reform
 - White paper
 - Twenty consultants, female representation, government leader's answer to question, right of senators to ask questions, 1300
- Terrorism
 - Motion for appointment of Special Senate Committee, 59
- Terrorism and Public Safety Committee
 - Authority to extend date of final report, 996
 - Authority to publish and distribute report during adjournment, 1337
- Tibet
 - Dalai Lama's five-point peace plan, government position, qu, 3656, 4111
 - New initiative, 3712, 4111
 - Request for answer, 4084
- Transport and Communications Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3864
 - Report, 4th, Canada Shipping bill C-39, 736
- Tremblay, Hon. Arthur
 - Tribute on receipt of Edouard-Montpetit Medal, text of addresses at ceremony printed as appendix, 2818
- Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada
 - Referred to committee, 642
- Unemployment Insurance Benefit Entitlement Adjustments (Pension Payments) bill C-50, 1212, 1220
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116, 2957, 2963
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-158, 4530, 4542
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 4544
 - Entrenchment, 4543
 - Variable entrance requirement, 4543
- Visit of Senate delegation to Japan, 1457
- Waite, Mr. Terry
 - Special emissary of Archbishop of Canterbury, rumoured tragic developments, qu, 452
- War Veterans Allowance and Civilian War Pensions and Allowances, government consideration of amendment of legislation, 3445
- Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, 1213, 1252, 1280, 1433
 - Bill to correct omission from 1953 act, 1254
 - History, 1253
- Yellowknife Electric Ltd. bill S-10, 1149, 1249

Fruit and vegetable customs orders validation

- Authority to levy certain seasonal tariffs, 2763
- Free Trade Agreement, 2764
- Harmonization and standardization on classification of goods, 2764
- Retroactive validation of customs duties collected without authority, 2561
- Speakers: Senators
 - Barootes, Efsthios William, 2560, 2764
 - Barrow, A. Irvine, 2587
 - Olson, H.A., 2763

- Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation bill C-96. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2560, 2587; ref to com, 2587; rep without amdt, 2654; 3r, 2763; r.a., 2890

Fur industry—Cont'd

- Proposed British labelling of Canadian products, government action, 3583, 3921

General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT)

- Provincial participation at meeting, 2550

Geraets, Theodore, Professor of Philosophy, University of Ottawa

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2333

German-Canadian Conference

- Atlantik Brücke*, meeting at Frankfurt, West Germany, inquiry, 2207, 2238

Speakers: Senators

- Kelly, William M., 2238
- MacEachen, Allan J., 2238

Germany, Federal Republic of

- Kohl, His Excellency Dr. Helmut, Chancellor, address to both houses, 3685
- See appendix p. 3698

Gigantès, Hon. Philippe DeaneAgriculture

- Western Canada, drought conditions, efficacy and propriety of government recommendations and action, qu, 3796
- Barrow, A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2757
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Availability of text, qu, 1984, 4131
 - Cost to public, qu, 3800, 4131
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism
 - Findings of bi-national panel and trade commission, qu, 1932
 - Right of retaliatory action by injured party, qu, 1893, 1909, 1932, 2054
 - Point of order, Speaker's ruling, 2055
 - Order paper question, request for answer, 2210
 - Canadian economy, effect on, qu, 1987
 - Deferral of questions to committee, qu, 3687
 - Dispute settlement mechanism, qu, 3797
 - Energy pricing policy, qu, 1986
 - Government publicity campaign, qu, 3549
 - Request for distribution of material giving opposing view, qu, 4460
 - Impact of U.S. omnibus trade bill, qu, 1904
 - Job creation, basis of prediction, qu, 3920, 4131
 - Request for grammatically correct French text, qu, 3671
 - Screening of takeovers, qu, 1895
 - Trade-remedy laws, application of, binding dispute-settlement mechanism, 2359
 - Water, bulk export of, provision for prohibition, qu, 3795
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4277, 4317
 - Automobile trade, 4326
 - d'Aquino, Thomas, quote, 4330
 - Dispute-settlement procedures, 4322
 - Energy, 4325
 - Enhanced, secure market, 4321
 - Establishment of crown corporations, 4327
 - Foreign ownership, 4328
 - GATT, 4321
 - Grandfathering, 4323
 - Level playing field theory, 4320
 - Lipsey, Dr. Richard G., quotes, 4319
 - Movement of capital to U.S., 4325
 - Research, 4328
 - Retaliation, 4322
 - Rohatyn, Felix, quote, 4328

Gigantès, Hon. Philippe Deane—Cont'd

- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130—Cont'd
 - Small business, 4327
 - Subsidies, 4326
 - Water, 4331
 - See appendix p. 4336
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, inquiry, 2068, 2102, 2171, 2647
 - American unacceptance of loss, 2172
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism, 2647
 - Energy, 2171
 - European Common Market comparison, 2647
 - Government attempt to change Canadian "habits", 2172
 - Heilbroner, Robert L., economist, quotes, 2103
- Canada-United States free trade negotiations, inquiry, 1106
 - Diversification, 1108
 - Free trade and common market, 1107
 - Hoax to stress job creation, 1107
 - Indigenous industries, 1109
 - Trade equilibrium, 1106
 - U.S. protectionism, 1107
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, prospects of
 - Canadian economy, inquiry, 4018, 4065
- Appeal and redress under GATT, 4069
- Carney, Hon. Pat, Minister for International Trade, quotes, 4070
- Economic Council of Canada, booklet entitled "Venturing Forth, An Assessment of the Canada-U.S. Trade Agreement", quotes, 4075
- Economic forecasts, 4075
- Exemption from "unfair" U.S. protectionist trade laws, 4072
- GATT economic theory, 4068
- International trade before agreement, 4067
- Propositions and proofs, 4067
- Protection under Free Trade Agreement, 4070
- Protection under GATT, 4068
- See appendix p. 4081
- Canada-United States relations
 - Bilateral trade negotiations, government policy, consequences of failure to reach agreement, effect of agreement on employment and Auto Pact, qu, 622
 - Canadian circuit boards, treatment by United States Customs, qu, 3795, 4177, 4263
 - Request for answer, 4213
 - Canadian potash
 - Imposition of U.S. tariff, government action, qu, 701
 - Introduction of legislation by Government of Saskatchewan, consultations with federal government, federal government representations in United States, qu, 1782
- Free trade negotiations
 - Canadian and American approaches, qu, 1477
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism, government position, qu, 1869
 - Dispute settlement mechanism, government action, qu, 1782
 - Major outstanding obstacles, possibility of briefing, conditions precedent to signing agreement, qu, 1812
 - Reduction of regional disparities, qu, 624
- Child care, national policy, inquiry, 1460
- Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, 1914
 - Special situation of diplomats' spouses, 1914
- Constitution
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Appointments to Supreme Court of Canada from Quebec, request for list of amendments acceptable to government, qu, 3335

Gigantès, Hon. Philippe Deane—Cont'd

- Constitution—Cont'd
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987—Cont'd
 - Possibility of amendments under seven-provinces-fifty-percent-of-the- population rule, qu, 3490
 - First Ministers' Accord
 - Judicial interpretation of terms, qu, 943
 - Senate reform, qu, 1477
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 2736, 2800, 2811, 2915, 2926
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1456
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3158
 - Immigration, 3161
 - Individual rights and government power, 3161
 - Process, 3159
 - Quebec, Robert Bourassa, quote, 3159
 - Second round, 3160
 - Spending power, 3160
- Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16, 3693
- Finance
 - Document entitled "New Directions for the Financial Sector," 389
 - Ontario budget, effect on interest rates, qu, 3585
- Foreign affairs
 - Greek-Turkish relations, government action, qu, 761, 877
 - NATO, Secretary General, Lord Carrington, statement, 877
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3814
- Government of Canada
 - Satellite communications network, establishment, qu, 1844
- Greece
 - One hundred-sixty-sixth anniversary of War of Independence, 734
- Housing
 - Interest-free mortgages, request for government action, qu, 812
- Illiteracy in Canada, inquiry, 1808
- Immigration, 1976 bill S-18, 3689
 - Development of Canadian culture, 3689
- Industry
 - Free trade agreements including targeted subsidies, qu, 815
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee
 - 30th report, 1859
- International finance
 - Cancellation of debts, qu, 567
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - 21st report, Regional Vicar For Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, with amds, 3513
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2757
- Macedonia, inquiry, 3793, 4015, 4032
 - Defence by NATO, 4032
 - Regional nationalism, 4033
 - "Who are Macedonians?", 4033
- Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, 1484
- National Film Board
 - Referral of inquiry on report of film "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss" back to committee, 1560
- Official Languages bill C-72, 4007
 - Attitude in Quebec, 4007
- Patent bill C-22, 1059
 - "Entrance" price, 1061
 - Intellectual property, 1060, 1062
 - Limited drug research in Canada, 1061
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amds and for non-insistence in certain Senate amds, 2185

Gigantès, Hon. Philippe Deane—Cont'd

- Patent bill C-22—Cont'd
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, m to refer to committee, 1795
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1822
 - Multinationals' commitment to R&D, provision of punitive measures for non-compliance, qu, 1903
 - Pharmaceutical companies, commitments, qu, 2079
 - Price gouging, 1060
 - Use of foreign patents without price gouging, 1061
 - Privilege, 1843, 2653, 3491
 - Public Service
 - Government treatment of political or partisan statements by members, qu, 3549
 - Radio bill C-3, 677
 - St. Patricks Day
 - Tributes to St. Patrick and the Irish people, 619
 - Senate
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes
 - Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 402
 - Senate reform
 - Appointments, submission of names to Prime Minister, qu, 1091, 1579
 - Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - Authority for Subcommittee on Training and Employment to meet during Senate sitting, 1175
 - Motion withdrawn, 1311
 - Authority to study Consultation Paper on Training and document entitled "Employment Opportunities: Preparing Canadians for a Better Future," 74, 133
 - Report
 - 9th, "In Training, Only Work Works", 2648
 - "Some of My Best Friends Didn't Look Like Me," inquiry, 3547, 3633
 - Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act amendment)
 - Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 937
 - Report
 - 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1625
 - Trade propaganda, nature of, inquiry, 3583, 3678
 - "We Gave Too Much and Were Not Given Enough", inquiry, 4186, 4377
- Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague (retired Dec. 18/86), tributes, 329
- Glemp, His Eminence Jozef Cardinal of Poland, felicitations on visit, 54
- "Global Challenge and Canadian Federalism, The",
Speech by Gordon Robertson, document tabled in response to request, 4378
- Godfrey, Hon. John M. (retired June 25/87)
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1141
 - Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries, 535, 660
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole
 - Speaker's ruling negated, 479
 - Constitution
 - First Ministers' Accord
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, effect on property and civil rights, 943
 - Wording of earlier Liberal Party resolution, qu 952

Godfrey, Hon. John M.—Cont'd

- Constitution Act, 1867 (Attendance of Senators) bill S-13, 1393
- Constitution Act, 1867, motion to amend by proclamation, 1297, 1354
 - "At the Still Point of the Turning World: The Canadian Senate in an Age of Reform," C.E.S. Franks, quote, 1357
- Goldenberg-Lamontagne report, 1355
- Suspensive veto, 1355
- Withdrawn, 1393
- Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, 1045
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, motion to concur, 1238
- Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-secondary Education and Health Contributions, 1977 bill C-44, 914
- Food and Drugs bill S-6, 836
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 850
- Income Tax and a related Act bill C-23, 375
 - Alternative minimum tax, 376
 - Refundable federal sales tax, 376
 - RRSP contribution changes, 375
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee
 - 11th report, 668
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - Authority to examine subject matter of (rights and freedoms) clauses of certain bills, 696, 800
- National Defence
 - Appointment of special committee, 840, 854
 - Canadian Armed Forces
 - "Snowbirds" aerobatic team, reciprocal visits to NATO allies, 788
- National Finance Committee reports
 - 4th, Estimates 1986-86, supplementary (B), 369
 - 7th, Post-secondary education, 818
- Newspaper report of interview, apology and correction, 1391
- Official Languages Committee
 - Report, 1st, establishment of quorum, 241, 246
- Patent Act
 - Appointment of special committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 prior to receipt of legislation, 837
- Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee
 - Authority to examine subject matter of (regulation-making power) clauses of certain bills, 696, 821
 - Report, 1st, Statutory Instruments No. 35, 262
 - See appendix p. 279
- Royal Assent, alternative procedure, qu, 339
- Senate
 - Concurrent sittings of the Senate and committees, attendance of members, 860
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)
 - Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 936
- Telelobe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-38, 822
 - Marshall, Paul, President of CIDC, 821
- Privatization, 821
- Tributes on retirement, 1391
 - Response, 1393
- Visit, 2661

Godin, Gastien, Association des pêcheurs professionnels acadiens

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 918

Gordon, Mark, President, Makivik Corporation

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2463

Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C., (deceased Mar.21/87), tributes, 697Government

- Legislative provision for expenditures, 3657, 4085

Government House

- Historic plaque ceremony, guest list, 395

Government of Canada

- Contracts for consultancy work, 2359
- First Ministers' Accord, dissemination of information, possibility of similar action on illiteracy and learning disabilities, 1700
- Satellite communications network, establishment, 1844

Government organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987

- ACOA annual budget, 3515
- Action program, 3516
- Atlantic region dissatisfaction, 3432
- Area included in amendment, 4195, 4197
- Aulds Cove, 4195
- Autonomy and composition of new board, 4197
- Basic infrastructure, 3515
- Coal division, 3501
- Community-level infrastructure, 3499
- Consolidation of IRDP and Atlantic Enterprise Program, 3433
- Coordination of federal economic and industrial development activities, 3601
- Creation of Department of Industry, Science and Technology (DIST), 3501
- Decentralization of decision-making power to the region, 3599, 4196
- Destruction of Devco, 3502
- Devco, history and future, 3500, 3516
- Dismemberment of Cape Breton Development Corporation, 3499
- Division of assets and liabilities, 3599
- Encouragement for entrepreneurship and business productivity, 3519
- Enterprise Cape Breton, 3518
- George, Roy, Professor of Economics, Dalhousie University, quotes, 3516, 3599
- Industrial division of Devco, 3601
- Linkage of ACOA and ECBC, 4197
- Message from Commons re division of bill in two, 4112
 - Financial provisions, 4117
 - Money bills, 4118
 - Powers of the Senate, 4117
 - Ross report, 1918, quote, 4116
 - "The Government of Canada", R.M. Dawson and Norman Ward, quote, 4115
- More explicit legislation, 3498
- Motion to instruct committee to divide bill into two bills, 3512
 - Legalities and precedents, 3567, 3586, 3698
 - Point of order, 3567
 - Speaker's ruling, 3586
 - Negated, 3586
- Regional needs, 3431
- Response to program, 3516
- To co-finance and increase impact of national programs on Atlantic Canada 3433
- To establish Enterprise Cape Breton Corporation, 3433
- Transfer of employees, 3599
- Speakers: Senators
 - Flynn, Jacques, 3567, 4117

Government organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987—Cont'dSpeakers: Senators—Cont'd

Graham, B. Alasdair, 3497, 3598
 MacEachen, Allan J., 3567, 3602, 4112
 Murray, Lowell, 3431, 3514, 4196
 Roblin, Duff, 3606
 Stewart, John B., 3605, 4194

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103. 1r, 3348; 2r, 3431, 3497, 3514; ref to com, 3519; m to instruct com to divide C-103 into two bills, 3566, 3598; rep on Part 1 (Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency) without amdt, 3885; message to Commons of division of bill and passage of Parbl without amdt, 3888; message from Commons of disagreement with Senate division of bill and request for return of bill undivided, m to ref to com, 4040; message from Commons, bill attached, 4056, 4112; ref to com, 4118; order for division of bill rescinded, 4194; rep without amdt, 4194; 3r, 4198; r.a., 4203

Governor General, Her Excellency the Rt. Hon. Jeanne Sauv , P.C.Deputy

Dickson, Rt. Hon. Brian, P.C., Chief Justice of Canada
 Royal Assent, 182
 La Forest, Hon. G rard V.J.
 Royal Assent, 929, 1854, 1983, 3488, 3893, 4203, 4403, 4482
 Lamer, Hon. Antonio
 Royal Assent, 226, 278, 752, 776, 803, 827, 1135, 1416, 1590, 2227, 2509, 2530, 4108
 LeDain, Hon. Gerald Eric
 Royal Assent, 415, 2651, 2890, 2969, 3667, 3778
 L'Heureux-Dub , Hon. Claire
 Royal Assent, 1774, 1919, 3251, 4168, 4562
 Wilson, Hon. Bertha
 Royal Assent, 3634
 Speech from the Throne at Opening of Second Session of Thirty-third Parliament, 3

Grafstein, Hon. Jeremiah S.Banking

Designation of Toronto as international centre, government policy, qu, 77, 237
 International banking centres, proposed legislation, government policy, qu, 486, 908

Canada-United States Free Trade AgreementCultural industries

Exemption of, conflicting views, qu, 1941
 Film distribution, status of legislation, qu, 1894

Data bases and information

Maintenance, protection and enhancement, qu, 1895, 1912

Statement by Prime Minister of United Kingdom re diminution of national personality, extent of knowledge, qu, 3797, 3798

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4416Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group

28th meeting at Vancouver, B.C., 1536
 Acid rain, 1534
 Arctic sovereignty, 1536
 Canada's cultural industries, 1537

Canada-United States relationsBilateral trade negotiations

Automotive trade, qu, 528, 585
 Government policy, qu, 98, 167
 Impediments to agreement, qu, 293
 "National treatment", definition, qu, 142, 238
 Status, qu, 97

Grafstein, Hon. Jeremiah S.—Cont'dCanada-United States relations—Cont'd*Free trade negotiations

U.S. protectionist measures, government action, qu, 742

Summit meeting in Ottawa

Reaffirmation of declaration, qu, 871

Senate representation at state functions, qu, 809

Summit meeting in Quebec city

Declaration by Prime Minister and President on reduction and elimination of trade barriers, status of report, qu, 871

United States tariff on Canadian softwood lumber, government policy re GATT decision, qu, 98

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, fiftieth anniversary congratulations, 137

ConstitutionConstitutional Accord, 1987

Consideration by Ontario legislature, qu 1167

Views of former justice of Supreme Court of Canada, qu, 3265

First Ministers' Accord

Agreement by provinces, undertakings offered to obtain, qu, 1092

Federal-provincial spending patterns, federal powers affecting broadcasting and banking, qu, 1029, 1058

Federal spending power, opting-out provisions, qu, 1053, 1126

Funding for cultural institutions, ability of Quebec to opt out, qu, 1093, 1579

Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, international ramifications, qu, 1054, 1126

Request for answers, 1167

First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1548, 2197, 2617, 2735, 3016

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3170, 3190

Charter of Rights and Freedoms, 3190

Democracy, 3195

Distinct society clause and Charter of rights and Freedoms, conflict, 3193

Sovereignty of the individual and sovereignty of the State, 3190

Special Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Commons, report, 3192

Criminal Code, Immigration, 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71, 1787

Crimes against humanity, 1788

Desch nes report, 1788

Dunton, Davidson, the late, tribute, 484

Foreign affairs

Iraq, alleged use of chemical weapons against Kurds, government action, qu, 4313, 4405

Panama, safety and security of vice-president, government representation, qu, 4046, 4177

Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, reaction of Progressive Conservative Party, qu, 2782, 2830, 2844, 2931, 2981, 3101

Francophone Summit

Human rights violations as agenda item, government action, qu, 1779

Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C., the late, tribute, 698

Human rights

Japanese Canadians, government apology and compensation, qu, 68, 428, 567, 1896, 2491, 2604, 3670, 3990

Effective date and applicability, qu, 4488

Government policy, qu, 3206

Progress of negotiations, qu, 3987

Status of negotiations, qu, 1477, 4188

U.N. Commission meeting, Geneva, Canadian representation, request for report on proceedings, qu, 584, 960

Immigration, 1976, bill C-55, 2081

Evolution of immigration and refugee policies, 2081

Grafstein, Hon. Jerahmiel S.—Cont'd

- Immigration, 1976, bill C-55—Cont'd
 - Reform or reaction, 2083
 - "Safe countries", 2083
 - Screening mechanism, 2083
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, 1815, 1846
 - Detention provision, 1847
 - Excessive police powers, 2729
 - Message from Commons, 2727
 - No protection for solicitor/client privilege, 1848
 - Queue jumping, 1849
 - Refoulement, 1847
 - Role of the Senate, 1849, 2727
 - Search provisions, 1848
 - Symbolism, 2729
 - U.N. High Commissioner of Refugees, quote, 1847
- Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., the late, tribute, 230
- Justice
 - Nazi war criminals, prosecution of, status, qu, 4187, 4223
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee reports
 - 15th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-64, 2377
 - 19th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amds, 2975
 - 20th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, with amds, 3399
 - 25th, Immigration, 1987 bill C-55, message from Commons, rep with recommendations, 4060
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug price increases, rollback powers of minister, qu, 2536, 2656
- Refugees
 - Federal-provincial consultations on Bill C-84
 - Emergency legislation, qu, 1755
 - Jurisdiction, representations by Government of Ontario, qu, 1780
 - Possible conflict of bill with human rights and Law of the Sea, qu, 1700
 - Thailand, turning back of boats, safety of passengers, government policy, qu, 2796, 2830
- Senate
 - Privilege
 - Conflict-of-interest inquiry from office of Minister of Justice, 1700
 - Tribute on publication of Senate speech in U.S. Congressional Record, 1697

Graham, Hon. B. Alasdair

- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 248
- Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2755
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 717
- Canadian Human Rights Commission
 - Antonio Arcangel, appointment to Human Rights Tribunal, qu, 192
- Cape Breton Development Corporation
 - Industrial Development Division
 - Community representations re retention of, qu, 2356
 - Presidency, appointment to fill vacancy, qu, 3574, 3586, 4379
 - Name of consulting firm, qu, 3990
- Cape Breton Development Corporation bill C-127, 3519
 - Commercialization of technologies, 3519
 - Devco, 3520
 - Working capital increase, 3519
- Forest industry, economic contributions and status, 249
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3498
 - Coal division, 3501
 - Community-level infrastructure, 3499
 - Creation of Department of Industry, Science and Technology (DIST), 3501
 - Decentralization of decision-making power to the region, 3599
 - Destruction of Devco, 3502

Graham, Hon. B. Alasdair—Cont'd

- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103—Cont'd
 - Devco, history and future, 3500
 - Dismemberment of Cape Breton Development Corporation, 3499
 - Division of assets and liabilities, 3599
 - More explicit legislation, 3498
 - Motion to instruct committee to divide bill into two bills, 3512, 3598
 - Transfer of employees, 3599
- Industry
 - Aerospace, awarding of CF-18 service contract, rejection of IMP bid, government reasons, qu, 141, 196, 238
- Sydney Steel Corporation
 - Discussions with CN re long-term rail contracts, qu, 452, 488, 504
 - Future of plant, qu, 163, 197, 239, 248
 - Future rail market prospects, status of report, qu, 392, 414
 - Modernization plan, status, qu, 452, 488, 504, 743, 763, 1124
 - Possibility of announcement by Prime Minister, qu, 452, 504
- Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., the late, tribute, 229
- LaPrade Fund
 - Reason for delay in answering, 4542
 - Request for answer to order paper question, 3711, 4382, 4491, 4525
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2755
- Philippines, current situation, inquiry, 1273, 1329
 - Democratic Institute for International Affairs, 1330
 - Economic progress, 1331
 - Land reform program, 1331
 - New People's Army, 1331
- Philippines, needs for the future, 250
- Regional Industrial Expansion
 - Assistance to industry, Enterprise Cape Breton, qu, 1176, 1247
- Senate
 - Question Period
 - Order paper question, LaPrade Fund, request for answer, 1164, 1247
- Sport
 - Canada Winter Games, Sydney, Nova Scotia, attendance of Prime Minister, qu, 503
- Grain
 - Canadian Wheat Board
 - Allocation of payments, 244
 - Final payments for grades 1 and 2 spring wheat, 295, 394, 530, 908
 - Grain Stabilization Fund, exclusion of mustard seed, 465, 528, 558
 - See also* Agriculture
- Grant, George Parkin, the late, Canadian scholar, tributes, 4502
- Greece
 - One hundred-sixty-sixth anniversary of War of Independence, 734
- Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited
 - Dissolution for non-filing of annual returns, 4374
 - Revival under Canada Business Corporations Act, 4374
- Speaker: Senator
 - LeBlanc, Roméo, 4374
- Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited bill C-21. 1r, 4311; 2r, 4374; ref to com, 4374; rep without amdt, 4437; 3r, 4439; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 4557; r.a., 4562
- Grey Nuns in Canada, 250th anniversary, inquiry, 1890, 1947
 - d'Youville, Marguerite, 1947

- Grey Nuns in Canada, 250th anniversary, inquiry—Cont'd
 History of order, 1948
Speakers: Senators
 Flynn, Jacques, 1949
 Guay, Joseph-Philippe, 1947
- Guaranteed annual income, 83
- Guay, Hon. Joseph-Philippe, P.C.
 Agriculture
 Western potato industry, effect of excise tax on red potato, qu, 1397
 Sugar-beet processing plant, Winnipeg, Manitoba, closing, qu, 907
 Canada Post Corporation
 Norwood Grove, St. Boniface, closing of post office, qu, 58, 236
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 Availability and cost of text to public, qu, 3800, 4131
 Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2751
 Constitutional Accord, 1987
 Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1240
 Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16, 3865
 Anti-abortion stance rooted in natural law, 3867
 Borowski case, 3867
 Declaration of Geneva, 3866
 Denis, Hon. Azellus, on 52 years in government, 1212
 Employment
 St. Boniface, Manitoba, closing of hog division of Canada Packers plant, request for government assistance, qu, 440, 453
 Suggested interest-free loan from government qu, 815, 962
 Grey Nuns in Canada, 250th anniversary, inquiry, 1890, 1947
 d'Youville, Marguerite, 1947
 History of order, 1948
 Government of Canada
 First Ministers' Accord, dissemination of information, possibility of similar action on illiteracy and learning disabilities, qu, 1701
 Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, 2392
 Industry
 Aerospace, allocation of CF-18 contracts, qu, 59
 Awarding of CF-5 contract to Bristol Aerospace Ltd., status, qu, 530, 569
 Foreign firms bidding on contracts in Canada, government policy, qu, 140
 Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee
 Authority for senators to act on behalf of committee during adjournments or recesses and between sessions and Parliaments, 1730
 International trade
 Footwear, removal of import quotas, government action, 467
 Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4210
 National Capital bill C-153, 4230
 Official languages
 Alberta legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, qu, 3756
 "Sufficient" minority, definition, qu, 1053
 Official Languages Act
 Report of committee, government attitude, qu, 1299
 Official Languages bill C-72, 4021
 Courts, 4022
 New elements, 4021
 Official Languages Committee reports
 4th, recommendations re implementation of Official Languages Act, 1396
- Guay, Hon. Joseph-Philippe, P.C.—Cont'd
 Official Languages Committee reports—Cont'd
 5th, Calgary Olympic Winter Games, disregard for provisions of Charter re provision for French-language television coverage, 2471
 Withdrawn, 3678
 Reinstated, 3751
 Patent bill S-15, 3644
 Senate
 Absence of Leader of the Government from chamber, qu, 1142
 Business, 1802
 Jarvis, Dale M., felicitations on completion of 25 years' service, 2054
 Treatment of legislation, 1616
 Special Senate Committee on Bill C-22
 3rd report, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1637
 Transport
 Port of Churchill, Manitoba
 And port of Thunder Bay, Ontario, request for additional grain cars, qu, 1937, 2357
 Maintenance and use of facilities, 3988, 4224
 Maintenance of facilities and transportation of grain to port, qu, 245, 300, 1844, 1881
 Shipment of grain through, qu, 4213, 4224, 4263
 Winnipeg International Airport, public parking, qu, 1215, 1580
 VIA Rail
 Relocation of maintenance centre from Winnipeg to Vancouver, request for reconsideration, qu, 1614
 War Veterans Allowance, inquiry, 3320
- Guy Fawkes Day
 381st anniversary of Gunpowder Plot, 168
- Guyana, Trinidad and Tobago, goodwill visit by Canadian Parliamentary delegation, inquiry, 3864, 4052
 CIDA programs, 4053
 Economy of Trinidad and Tobago, 4054
Speaker: Senator
 Bosa, Peter, 4052
- Haché, Jacques, Association des pêcheurs professionnels acadiens
 Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 924
- Haddassah-Wizo, National Executive, visit, 844
- Haidasz, Hon. Stanley, P.C.
 Abortion
 Borowski appeal to supreme Court of Canada, government request for delay, government legislative action, qu, 4044
 Rights of the unborn
 Government position, qu, 2655
 Introduction of legislation, qu, 2655, 2981, 3101
 Government accommodation with church leaders, qu, 3283
 Government inconsistency, form of protection, 3285
 Opportunity for free vote, government position, qu, 3283
 Report and draft legislation prepared for Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops, request for tabling, qu, 3285
 Aerospace
 Establishment of national agency, qu, 4506
 Borrowing Authority, 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, 711
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 Heavy water, status, qu, 3494
 Reason for government concern about passage of Bill C-22, qu, 1901

Haidasz, Hon. Stanley, P.C.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States relations
 - Bilateral trade negotiations
 - Impact on interprovincial trade barriers, qu, 66
 - Ratification formula, government proposal, qu, 604
 - Role of provinces, government policy, qu, 605
 - Summit meeting in Ottawa, communications to Prime Minister from provincial legislatures, request for tabling, qu, 832
- Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse bill C-143, 4333
- Chronic pain clinics, 4335
- Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4013
 - Aboriginal peoples, 4013
 - Process distinguished from policy, 4014
- Constitution
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Quebec, definition as distinct society, qu, 3235
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2136, 2141, 2570, 2815, 3058
 - First Ministers' Accord, Senate reform, 945
- Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16, 3476, 3694
 - Fundamental to continuance of society, 3476
 - Hippocratic oath, 3478
 - Protection of the handicapped, 3479
 - Rubenstein, Arthur, quote, 3479
 - Scientific evidence, 3477
 - "Serious therapeutic reasons", 3477
 - Victims of rape or incest, 3479
- Environment
 - Great Lakes, pollution of, government action, qu, 2320, 2492
 - PCBs
 - Government inventory of storage sites and guidelines for storage and disposal, qu, 4262, 4314
 - St-Basile-Le-Grand storage site, financial assistance for victims of fire, qu, 4263
- External Affairs
 - Canadian arms
 - Export permits issued in 1985 and 1986, qu, 1145
 - Sale to foreign countries or non-Canadian agencies, qu, 1142
- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, 1577
- Hazardous Products (tobacco and tobacco products) bill S-4, 186, 371, 596
 - Advertising prohibition, 372
 - Bill withdrawn, 3621
- Health
 - Tainted mussels, special inquiry, qu, 2354
- Health and Welfare
 - Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS)
 - AZT drug, availability in Canada, qu, 2208, 2491, 3099
 - Cost, qu, 2723, 3099
 - Compliance order for drugs other than AZT, qu, 3423
 - Education, research and treatment, government assistance, qu, 3422, 3620
 - Government action, qu, 557, 571, 587, 1055, 1781
 - Reported Canada-U.S. agreement to combat disease, qu, 874
 - Testing of diplomats and members of Armed Forces, qu, 874
- Drug abuse, national strategy for prevention, qu, 874
- Health Protection Branch, request for tabling of reports and statement on action taken by government, qu, 2723, 3099
- Human rights
 - Secret protocol of Ribbentrop-Molotov Treaty of Aug. 23, 1939, 4200
- Human rights and fundamental freedoms
 - Motion to establish committee, 2370
 - Notice of motion, 2318
- Immigration
 - Refugee status, government policy, qu, 19, 98

Haidasz, Hon. Stanley, P.C.—Cont'd

- Immigration, 1976 bill S-18, 3688
- Justice
 - Canada Commission of Inquiry on War Criminals
 - Implementation of recommendations, government action, qu, 606
 - Status of report, qu, 19, 339, 362
- Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3592, 3621, 3674, 3765
 - Federal public service policy, 3623
 - Regulation of smoking in the workplace, 3622
 - Sidestream smoke, 3622
- Parliament
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, timetable for legislative implementation of provisions, qu, 3233
- Patent bill C-22
 - Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, qu, 2062
- Government brochure, distribution, use of ministerial power, qu, 2166
- Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amts, 2219
- Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for report on question and message from House of Commons, 1822
- Pharmaceutical companies, commitments, qu, 2079
- Patent bill S-15, 2960, 3641
 - Circumvention of federal Competition Act, 2961
 - Merck Frosst, pricing, 2960
 - Multinational incorporation of own generic subsidiaries for purpose of offering products at different prices, 2961
 - Musial and Taciuk report, 2960
 - Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association, code of conduct, 2960
 - Power of Patented Medicine Prices Review Board, 2961
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug price increases
 - Possible government request for explanation from PMAC or multinational drug companies, qu, 2538, 2656
- Poland
 - Glemp, His Eminence Jozef Cardinal, felicitations on visit, 54
- Refugees
 - Replacement of existing regulations, government policy, qu, 627
- Solicitor General
 - RCMP investigation, Donald Fraser and Walter Ernest Miller, qu, 1126
- Soviet Union, motion re religious freedom, 4404, 4454
- Ukraine, Millennium of Christianization, inquiry, 4078, 4217
 - Legalization of Ukrainian Orthodox and Catholic Churches, 4219
 - Religious significance and political impact, 4217
 - U.S.S.R. policies, 4218
- Veterans Affairs
 - Hong Kong Veterans Association, claim for compensation from Japanese government qu, 1091
- Haiti, current situation, inquiry, 2288, 2311
 - Canada's role, 2314
 - Conseil d'élection provisoire, 2312
 - Election procedures, 2312
 - National Democratic Institute, 2311
 - Violence, 2314
 - See appendix p. 2316
- Speaker: Senator
 - Molgat, Gildas L., 2311

Hansen, Rick, "Man in Motion"

- Appointment as Canada's Commissioner General to Expo '88, 2208
- Tribute on completion of world tour, 1048

Hastings, Hon. Earl A.

- Cameron, Hon. Donald, tribute on resignation from Senate, 1889
- Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 144
- Canadianization, 145
- Complacency, 146
- Self-sufficiency, 145
- Unemployment, 145
- Correctional Service of Canada
 - Resignation of Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, qu, 3584
 - Request for further information, qu, 4019, 4044
 - Request for tabling of Comptroller General documents, qu, 3988

Corrections

- Effect of privatization and reduced services, qu, 142

Energy and Natural Resources Committee

- Authority to engage services, 74
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 138, 1117
- Coal in Canada, production and use, authority to study, 741, 775
- Dome Petroleum Limited, proposed sale, authority to conduct study, 997
- Authority to permit coverage of public proceedings by electronic media, 1087
- Natural gas in Canada, production and use, authority to study, 742, 776
- Extension of deadline for final report, 2843

Reports

- 1st, expenses incurred during 1st Session, 33rd Parliament, tabled, 73
 - See Journals of the Senate
- 3rd, budget re study of production and use of natural gas in Canada, 1213, 1352
 - See appendix p. 1227
- 4th, budget re study of production and use of coal in Canada, 1213, 1352
 - See appendix p. 1230
- 5th, Dome Petroleum Limited, proposed sale, 1347
 - See appendix p. 1366
- 6th, Dome Petroleum Limited, proposed sale, extension of reporting date, 1347, 1502
- 7th, budget to engage services to study proposed sale of Dome Petroleum, 1527
 - See appendix p. 1608
- 8th, Canadian Environmental Protection bill C-74, with amds, 3653, 3674
- 9th, Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation bill C-75, 4056
- 11th, National Parks bill C-30, 4186
- 12th, "Natural Gas Deregulation and Marketing", 4257
- Indian Lands Agreement (1986) bill C-73, 4093
 - Establishment of Senate committee on aboriginal issues, 4093
- John Howard Society of Ontario humanitarian award, felicitations and reply, 71, 72
- Latin American parliamentary meeting on energy and petroleum, 2nd annual meeting, Bogota, Colombia, inquiry, 3987, 4191
 - Energy issues, 4192
- Parole
 - Board hearing procedures, qu, 56
- Parole and penitentiaries
 - Amending legislation, inclusion in legislative program, qu, 3671
- Penitentiaries
 - Enfranchisement of inmates in federal election, qu, 4058

Hastings, Hon. Earl A.—Cont'dPenitentiaries—Cont'd

- Proposed prison at Port-Cartier, Quebec, factors governing location, effect of additional cost on inmate programs, qu, 78, 237
- Senate
 - Privilege, motion to refer to committee, 894
 - Question Period
 - Delayed answers, 4085

Hawkes, Jim, Parliamentary Secretary to the Deputy Prime Minister

- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-158, considered in Committee of the Whole, 4543

Hayden, Hon. Salter A. (deceased Jan. 5/87), tributes, 417Hays, Hon. Daniel

- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 112

Agriculture

- Acid rain, effect on maple syrup production in Quebec, government action, qu, 4260, 4490
- British Columbia, withdrawal from marketing boards, qu, 1880, 1885
- Special Grains Program
 - Request for expediting of payments, qu, 1316, 1580
- Western Canada, drought conditions, efficacy and propriety of government recommendations and action, 3796

Agriculture and Forestry Committee

- Authority to engage services, 668
- Authority to hear witnesses, 670
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3489
- Farm finance, authority to conduct study, 936, 969
- Extension of deadline for reporting, 2380, 2881

Reports

- 2nd, territorial lands, subject matter of Bill C-43, tabled, 760
- 3rd, authority for special expenses for study of farm finance, 1195, 1325
 - See appendix p. 1209
- 4th, Canagrex dissolution, subject matter of Bill C-2, tabled, 1336
 - See appendix p. 1365
- 5th, Canagrex Dissolution bill C-2, with observations, 1876
- 6th, "Financing the Family Farm to the Year 2000", 3252, 3351
- 8th, Western Canada, drought conditions, 3564
- 9th, Western Grain Stabilization bill C-132, 4174
- 10th, Canada Grain bill C-112, 4174
- 12th, "Canadian Regulatory Process for Pesticides", 4258, 4363
 - See appendix p. 4284

Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141, 3869

- Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3877

Horticultural area, 3870Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 549*Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 146*Seismic work, 146*Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, inquiry, 2501*Energy component, 2501

- American input into arrangements, 2502
- Anticipation of future disruptions, 2506
- Bitumen and heavy oil resource, 2506
- Complacency, 2504
- Conservation, 2506
- Development of renewable energy forms, 2506
- Energy management, 2502
- Enhanced oil recovery, 2506
- Limitation of Canada's ability to pursue own policy path, 2506

Hays, Hon. Daniel—Cont'd

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, inquiry—Cont'd

Energy component—Cont'd

Market forces, 2503, 2506

Stockpiling scheme, 2505

Supply patterns realignment, 2505

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, fiftieth anniversary congratulations, 136

Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, 4106

Payments to shippers to producer cars, 4106

Canagrex Dissolution bill C-2, 1862

"One-stop shopping", 1862

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2003, 2456

Energy

Natural gas, Alberta's withholding of export licence approval and alleged distinction between types of gas, role of federal government in negotiations, qu, 76, 298

Energy and Natural Resources Committee report

12th, "Natural Gas Deregulation and Marketing", 4421

Energy, long-term needs, 113

Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans bill C-78, 1568

Adjustments by executive branch regulation, 1568

Distress in agricultural sector, 1568

Fifteenth Olympic Winter Games, tribute to people of Calgary, 2777

Senate reform

Process to be adopted, public representation and meetings, qu, 3332

Sparrow, Hon. Herbert O., felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Science, 3616

Terrorism and Public Safety Committee

Deadline for presentation of final report, 1433

Hazardous Products and other Statutes

Information available to physicians, 1578

Items not covered by disclosure provisions, 1574

Trade secrets, 1573, 1578

Uniformity, 1572, 1574

Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System (WHMIS), 1572

Speakers: Senators

Frith, Royce, 1573

Robertson, Brenda M., 1572

and

Andre, Hon. Harvie, Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, 1575

Rosenberg, Morris, Legal Counsel for the department, 1577

Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70. 1r, 1571; 2r, 1572; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1574; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Jean-Maurice Simard in the Chair, Hon. Harvie Andre, Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs and Mr. Morris Rosenberg, Legal Counsel, taking part in the debate, 1574; rep without amdt, 1579; 3r, 1579; r.a., 1590

Hazardous products (tobacco and tobacco products)

Advertising prohibition, 372

Influence of tobacco industry, 595

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 595

Haidasz, Stanley, 371

Hazardous Products (tobacco and tobacco products) bill S-4. 1r, 186; 2r, 371, 595; ref to com, 596; bill withdrawn, 3621
See Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204

Health

Tainted mussels

Date of availability of evidence and date of warning, 2355, 2492

Special inquiry, 2354

Health and Welfare

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS)

AZT drug, availability in Canada, 2208, 2491, 3099

Cost to patients, 2723, 3099

Compliance order for drugs other than AZT, 3423

Education, research and treatment, government assistance, 3422, 3620

Government action, 557, 571, 587, 1055, 1781

Reported Canada-U.S. agreement to combat disease, 874

Testing of diplomats and members of Armed Forces, 874

Alberta Health Insurance legislation, government position, 625

Alberta nurses' labour dispute, federal-provincial consultations, possibility of settlement, 2758

Drug abuse, national strategy for prevention, 874

Health Protection Branch, request for tabling of reports and statement on action taken by government, 2723, 3099

Health care

Motion for appointment of Special Senate Committee, 602, 1221, 1806, 1992, 2226, 2369, 2396, 2493

Aging society, 1221, 1993

Conventional medicine, 1993

Extension of Veterans Independence Program to senior citizens, 1807

Funding, 1993

Health Action Network Society, 1807

Integration of various parallel medicines, 1994

Less costly preventive measures, 1222

Mental health, 1223

Motion to refer motion to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, 2226, 2369, 2396

Negated, 2398

Provincial budgetary cutbacks, 1222

Stress factor cost, 1222, 1993

Veterans Independence Program, 1806

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 1221, 2398

David, Paul, 1992, 2398

Flynn, Jacques, 2226

Marshall, Jack, 1806

Robertson, Brenda M., 2400

See also Preventive Health Care, Special Senate Committee

Hébert, Hon. Jacques

Constitution Act, 1867, motion to amend by proclamation, 1357

Immigration, deportation of Turkish nationals, inquiry, 2881, 2887
Humanitarianism, 2967

Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee reports

20th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, 3396

21st, Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, 3592

25th and 26th, Immigration, 1976, bill C-55 and C-84, message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amts, and for non-insistence on Senate amts, 4087

Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4210

Official languages

Report of commissioner, reactions, qu, 2977, 3101

Official report (Hansard), quality of translation, 3706

Hébert, Hon. Jacques—Cont'd

- Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1065
- Characteristics of a secret society, 1074
- Financial power, 1072
- Globe and Mail*, quote, 1068
- New York Times*, quote, 1068
- Political influence, 1070
- Recruitment, 1068
- Religious programming, 1069
- Secret constitutions, 1067
- Structure, 1067
- The Times* of London, quotes, 1065, 1067, 1073
- Youth Committee report
 - 1st, expenses incurred during 1st Session, 33rd Parliament, tabled, 96
 - See Journals of the Senate
- Yuzyk, Hon. Paul, the late, tribute, 33

Heritage railway station protection

- Early development and design, 4244
- Preservation movement, 4246
- Role in Canadian development, 4245
- Station statistics, 4245
- Technical deficiencies, 4469, 4474

Speakers: Senators

- Corbin, Eymard, 4469, 4474
- Doody, C. William, 4471
- Flynn, Jacques, 4475
- Robertson, Brenda M., 4470, 4474
- Turner, Charles, 4246

Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205. 1r, 4212; 2r, 4244; ref to com, 4246; rep with comments, 4378; ref back to com, 4407; rep without amdt, 4456; 3r, 4468, 4474; r.a., 4482

Hicks, Hon. Henry D.

- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 125
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1141
 - Canadian International Trade Tribunal and Eldorado Nuclear Limited reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of bills C-110 and C-121, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3676
- Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2754
- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68, 1875, 1881
 - Attitude of United States, 1883
 - Preponderance of international financial institutions, 1882
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 497, 518
- Canada Post Corporation, 128
- Canada-United States relations
 - Acid rain, Canadian stance, comments by U.S. Interior Secretary, qu, 1630
- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, 127
- CF-18 maintenance contract, 128
- Constitution
 - First Ministers' Accord
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, definition and international ramifications, qu, 941
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2338, 2608
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3171, 3185
 - Amending formula, 3186
 - Devolution of powers, 3185
- Criminal Code, Canada Evidence bill C-15, 1492
- Privilege of immigration, 1790

Hicks, Hon. Henry D.—Cont'd

- Criminal Code, Canada Evidence bill C-15—Cont'd
 - Rights of accused, 1492
- Criminal Code, Immigration, 1987 and Citizenship bill C-71, 1784, 1790
- Customs Tariff bill C-87, 2388, 2443, 2476
 - Governor-in-Council discretion, 2444
- Deficit, 126
- Emergencies bill C-77, 3403
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3526, 3770
 - Consultation with provinces, 3404
 - Delegation of authority of Parliament to Governor in Council, 3403
- Emergency Preparedness bill C-76, 2908
 - Role of Minister of National Defence, 2908
- Excise Tax and Excise bill C-117, 3561
- Felicitations on return to chamber, 4501
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 464
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill C-62, 1571
 - Least less-developed countries, 1571
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9, 1036
 - Future Official Development Assistance to be grants, not loans, 1036
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3517
- Grant, George Parkin, the late, Canadian scholar, tribute, 4502
- Guy Fawkes Day, 381st anniversary of Gunpowder Plot, 168
- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, 1573
- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 2499
- Immigration, 1976 bill S-18, 3688
 - Development of Canadian culture, 3688
- Income Tax bill C-64, 2347
- Income Tax Conventions bill S-2, 100
 - Teachers' exemption, 100
- Industry
 - Aerospace, awarding of CF-18 service contract, rejection of IMP bid, government reasons, 197
- Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., tribute, 3505
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2754
- Macdonald, Hon. John M.
 - Felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Laws, 3348
- MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.
 - Tribute on 34th anniversary of election to parliament, 1640
- Marriage (Prohibited Degrees) bill S-5, 595, 664
- National defence
 - Defence policy, availability of white paper, qu, 675, 909
 - Special Committee report, extension of deadline for presentation, 2288, 2314
- National Defence, Special Senate Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3337, 3385, 3510
 - 4th report, Emergency Preparedness bill C-76, 2974
- Parliament Buildings
 - Centre Block, photographs of British Prime Ministers, qu, 266
- Patent bill C-22/3, 999, 1036
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, m to refer to committee, 1786
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2217
- Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War bill C-100, 2395
- Post-secondary education, 127

Hicks, Hon. Henry D.—Cont'd

Post-Secondary Education, forum at Saskatoon, Oct.25-28/87, inquiry, 2090, 2298

National authority in respect of post-secondary education essential, 2299

Prescription drug prices

Proposed Patent Act amendment, effect, presentation of petitions, 1024

Research and development, 126

Bedford Institute of Oceanography, closing of Marine Ecology Laboratory, government policy and actions, inquiry, 784, 856, 917

Applied research and basic research, 857

Government support short of OECD standard, 856

Private sector funding of university research and development, 856

World ranking laboratory, 858

National Research Council funding, government policy, qu, 193, 301

Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute on retirement, 1840

Senate

Privilege, conflict-of-interest inquiry from office of Minister of Justice, 1696

Tobacco Products Control bill C-51, 3590

Canadian Teachers' Federation views of influence on the young, 3590

Veterans Appeal Board bill C-66, 1493

War Veterans Allowance and Civilian War Pensions and Allowances, government consideration of amendment of legislation, 3445

Welch, Hon. Frank Corbett, the late, tribute, 13

Hockin, Hon. Thomas, Minister of State (Finance)

Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126, considered in Committee of the Whole, 4139

Customs Tariff bill C-87, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2475

Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), considered in Committee of the Whole, 3761

Excise Tax bill C-101, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2479

Housing

Interest-free mortgages, request for government action, 812

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited

Clarification of provincial conformity, 2486

Nation-wide uniform health and safety code, 2446, 2487

Occupational health and safety protection, 2391

Speakers: Senators

Molgat, Gildas L., 2446

Simard, Jean-Maurice, 2391

and

Cadieux, Hon. Pierre H., Minister of Labour, 2486

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2391, 2446; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2447; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre Cadieux, Minister of Labour, taking part in the debate, 2486; rep without amdt, 2489; 3r, 2490; r.a., 2510

Human rights

Canadian Human Rights Commission, appointment of Antonio Arcangel to Human Rights Tribunal, 192

Japanese Canadians, government apology and compensation, 68, 428, 567, 1896, 2491, 2604, 3670, 3990

Effective date and applicability, 4488

Human rights—Cont'd

Japanese Canadians, government apology and compensation—Cont'd

Government policy, 3206

Progress of negotiations, 3987

Status of negotiations, 1477, 4188

Secret protocol of Ribbentrop-Molotov Treaty of August 23, 1939, 4200

U.N. Commission meeting, Geneva, Canadian representation, request for report on proceedings, 584, 960

Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms

Motion to establish committee, 2318, 2370

Iacobucci, Frank, Q.C., Deputy Minister of Justice

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3058

Illiteracy

Long-term government commitment, establishment of monitoring body, 4365

Remedial measures, government policy, 296, 394, 426

Illiteracy in Canada, inquiry, 390, 596, 797, 1038, 1808, 2120

Adult Basic Education Program for penitentiary inmates, 1039

"Beat the Street" program, 599

"Choices for Childcare, Now and in the Future," Lucie Pépin, 799

Community tolerance and involvement key to solution, 599

Costs, 2120

Diagnostic Centre for Children with Learning Disabilities, Winnipeg, 883

Failed education system, 882, 2122

Frontier College, 598, 1038

Government funding for nation-wide network of involvement, 600

Laubach Canada, 2121

Learning disabilities, 798

Learning how to learn, 883

National issue, 600

National shame, 2123

Public awareness, 598

Quality child-care, 799

Role of teachers, 883

"The Right to Read—Tutor's Handbook," 600

UNESCO definition, rule of thumb, 797

Valid standard for measurement of functional literacy, 882

Speakers: Senators

Doyle, Richard J., 1038

Fairbairn, Joyce, 597

Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 1808

Marsden, Lorna, 797

Robertson, Brenda M., 2120

Spivak, Mira., 881

Immigration

Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, anticipated date of reporting on Bills C-55 and C-84, 2930

Ministerial discretion, alleged abuse, 165, 195, 196, 393

Refugee status, government policy, 19, 98, 2350

Status of interested Laplanders, government policy, 78, 237

See also Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole

Immigration, deportation of Turkish nationals, inquiry, 2881, 2887, 2966

Humanitarianism, 2887

Need for increased immigration quotas to off-set declining birthrate, 2967

Immigration, deportation of Turkish nationals, inquiry—*Cont'dSpeakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 2967

Hébert, Jacques, 2887

Immigration, 1976 (Bill C-34)

Refugee determination process, 411

Transportation funding for refugee settlement, 409

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 409

MacEachen, Allan J., 409

and

Weiner, Hon. Gerry, Minister of State (Immigration), 410

Immigration, 1976 bill C-34. 1r, 409; 2r, 409; ref to Committee of the Whole, 410; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon.

Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Gerry Weiner, Minister of State (Immigration) taking part in the debate, 410; rep without amdt, 412; 3r, 412; r.a., 415

Immigration, 1976 (Bill C-55)

Abuse, 2066

Canada's traditional humanitarian attitude, 2066

Complexity, 2101

Convention Refugee Determination Division, 2066

Evolution of immigration and refugee policies, 2081

Immigration and Refugee Board, 2066

Multiculturalism, 2100

Reform or reaction, 2083

Refugee determination system, 2101

"Safe countries", 2083, 2101

Screening mechanism, 2083

Sponsored immigration, 2100

Steps in new system, 2066

War criminals, 2066

See appendix p. 3361Speakers: Senators

Bosa, Peter, 2100

Grafstein Jerahmiel S., 2081

Simard, Jean-Maurice, 2065

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Immigration, 1976 bill C-55. 1r, 2052; 2r, 2065, 2081, 2099; ref to com, 2119; rep with amds and observations, 3349, 3395; 3r, 3402; message from Commons re acceptance, rejection or addition of certain amds, 3707; revised message from Commons, 3748, 3764; ref to com, 4020; rep with recommendation, 4057, 4058, 4086; r.a., 4109

Immigration, 1976 (C-84)

Abuse of system, 1813

Application backlog, 1849, 1850

Church and humanitarian groups, 1814

Criminal and terrorist elements, 2657

Detention provision, 1847, 2659, 2761

Documentation, 2659

Economic migrants, 1814

Excessive police powers, 2729

Historical perspective, 1813

Illegal entry, 2726

Immigrants disguised as refugees, 1816

Message from Commons, 2649, 2657, 2724

Motion, 2727

Outdated procedures, 2660

Protection for solicitor/client privilege, 1848

Protection of genuine refugees, 2726

Queue jumping, 1849, 1850

Immigration, 1976 (C-84)—Cont'd

Refolement, 1847

Refugee assistance an indictable offence, 1850

Refugee determination system weaknesses, 2659

Respect for human rights and adherence to international obligations, 2660

Role of the Senate, 1849, 2727, 2760

Search provisions, 1848

Security risks, 2726

Solution to refugee determination process, 1815

Symbolism, 2729

Turning around of ships, 2726, 2762

U.N. High Commissioner of Refugees, quote, 1847

Unscrupulous counsellors, 1814

See appendices p. 2402, 3024, 4079Speakers: Senators

Bosa, Peter, 1849

Frith, Royce, 1814, 2660, 2724

Grafstein, Jerahmiel S., 1846, 2727

Kelly, William M., 2657

MacDonald, Finlay, 1813, 1850

Nurgitz, 2724

Stanbury, Richard J., 2760

Stollery, Peter A., 1815

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Immigration, 1976 bill C-84. 1r, 1810; 2r, 1813, 1846; ref to com, 1851; rep with amds, 2374; 3r, 2379; message from Commons, 2649, 2657, 2724; m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, 2724, 2759; message and m ref to com, 2763; rep with amds, 2974; 3r, 2976; message to Commons, 2976; message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, 3996; ref to com, 4020; rep with recommendation, 4057, 4064, 4087; r.a., 4109

Immigration, 1976 (bill S-18)

Burnet, Jean, Professor of Sociology, quotes, 3688

Development of Canadian culture, 3688

Multicultural heritage, 3687

Multiculturalism, 3777

Preamble, 3687

Speakers: Senators

Bosa, Peter, 3687, 3777

Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 3689

Hicks, Henry D., 3688

Immigration, 1976 bill S-18. 1r, 3653; 2r, 3687, 3776; ref to com, 3777; rep without amdt, 4018; 3r, 4048

Income tax and a related act

Alternative minimum tax, 374, 376

Flow-through share provision, 374

Refundable federal sales tax, 374, 376

RRSP contribution changes, 374, 375

Speakers: Senators

Flynn, Jacques, 373, 377

Godfrey, John M., 375

Income Tax and a related Act bill C-23. 1r, 355; 2r, 373; 3r, 398; r.a., 415

Income tax and related acts (Bill C-139)

Corporate changes, 4232

Fairness re middle class, 4233

Personal changes, 4231

Simplicity, 4233

Income tax and related acts (Bill C-139)—Cont'dSpeakers: Senators

Bazin, Jean, 4231

Sinclair, Ian, 4232

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce CommitteeIncome Tax and Related Acts bill C-139. 1r, 4212; 2r, 4231; ref to com, 4234; rep with comments, 4311; 3r, 4355; r.a., 4403Income tax (Bill C-11)

Child Tax Credit limitations, 105

Child Tax Credit prepayment, 104

Speakers: Senators

Buckwold, Sidney, L., 105

David, Paul, 103

Income Tax bill C-11. 1r, 73; 2r, 103; 3r, 121; r.a., 182Income Tax (Bill C-64)

Deferred interest, 2345

Federal power of garnishment, 2345

International banking centres, 2345

Resource expense allowances, 2345

Tax avoidance, 2345

Unregistered pension plans, 2345

Speakers: Senators

Roblin, Duff, 2344

Sinclair, Ian, 2346

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce CommitteeIncome Tax bill C-64. 1r, 2318; 2r, 2344; ref to com, 2348; rep without amdt but with observations, 2380; 3r, 2443; r.a., 2510
See appendix p. 2431Income tax conventions

Tax-sparing, 82

Teachers' exemption, 100

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 81, 101

Hicks, Henry D., 100

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce CommitteeIncome Tax Conventions bill S-2. 1r, 61; 2r, 81, 100; ref to com, 101; rep with amds, 186; 3r, 187; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 262; r.a., 278IndiaSee* VisitorsIndian affairsSee* Indian Affairs and Northern DevelopmentIndian Affairs and Northern Development

Alleged misuse of Manitoba Indian band funds, 55, 99, 361, 395

Control of education, impact of Master Tuition Agreement, 3223

Government action, 3264, 3424

Lubicon Crees of Alberta, settlement of claims, release of negotiator's report, appointment of new negotiator and mediator, 1879, 2210

Lubicon Lake Indians, negotiations for Alberta reserve, appointment of negotiator, 1869, 1989

Maliseet Nation land claim, request for appointment of impartial negotiators, 360

Self-government, government policy, 391, 531

Tobique Indian band land claim

Request for appointment of impartial negotiators, 393, 572

"Technical breach claim", definitions, 832, 909

West Bank Indian band, legal costs of inquiry, 557

See also Aboriginal PeoplesIndian (Bill C-115)

"Designated lands", 3639

Government of British Columbia record, 3640

Land surrender process, 3638

Leasehold interests, 3639

New definition of "reserve", 3639

Provincial taxation rights on reserves, 3640

Taxation power for band councils, 3639

Speakers: Senators

Cochrane, Ethel, 3638

Marchand, Len, 3639

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs CommitteeIndian bill C-115. 1r, 3582; 2r, 3638; ref to com, 3640; rep with amdt, 3685; 3r, 3685; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amds, 3748; r.a., 3778Indian (death rules)

Correction of technical flaw in original amendments, 4226

Speakers: Senators

Spivak, Mira, 4226

Watt, Charlie, 4226

Indian (death rules) bill C-150. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4226; ref to com, 4227; rep without amdt, 4257; 3r, 4314; r.a., 4403Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share)

Clarification of authority to make payments, 4225

Flexibility re amounts, 4225

Speaker: Senator

Cochrane, Ethel, 4225

Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) bill C-123. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4281; ref to com, 4281; rep with comments, 4349; 3r, 4366; r.a., 4403Indian lands agreement

Broken treaty promises, 4092

Economic development potential on reserve lands, 4092

Establishment of Senate committee on aboriginal issues, 4093

Lands surrendered to the Crown, , 4091

Surrendered lands in Ontario and underlying minerals, 4091

Speakers: Senators

Hastings, Earl A., 4093

Marchand, Len, 4092

Spivak, Mira, 4091

Indian Lands Agreement (1986) bill C-73. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4091; ref to com, 4093; rep without amdt, 4110; 3r, 4137; r.a., 4168IndonesiaSee* VisitorsIndustrial and Regional Development Program

Projects in Newfoundland, 2657

See appendix p. 2667Industry*Aerospace

Allocation of contracts, government policy, 453

Allocation of CF-18 service contracts, 18, 59, 78, 79, 119, 128, 192, 265

Awarding of CF-5 contract to Bristol Aerospace Ltd., status, 530, 569

Awarding of contract to Canadair

Ownership and technology transfer considerations, 160

Possible undertaking to Bombardier, 143

Technology transfer, 141, 197

Rejection of IMP bid, government reasons, 141, 196, 238

Industry—Cont'd

- Foreign firms bidding on contracts in Canada, government policy, 140
- Free trade agreements including targeted subsidies, 815, 909, 962
- General Motors, interest-free loan
 - Effect on free trade negotiations, targeted subsidies, request for information on government policy, 812, 909
- Request for interest-free loans to farmers, removal of moratorium on farm foreclosures, 809, 909
- Terms of contract re job guarantees, access to information, 832, 909
- Nova Scotia, possible manufacture and export of armaments by West German company from proposed plant, 246, 299, 568
- Sydney Steel Corporation
 - Discussions with CN re long-term rail contracts, 452, 488, 504
 - Future of plant, 163, 197, 239, 248
 - Future rail market prospects, status of report, 392, 414
 - Modernization plan, status, 452, 488, 504, 743, 763, 1124
 - Possibility of announcements by Prime Minister, 452, 504

Information Commissioner

- Annual report, tabled, 1393, 3748

Inquiries, calling the attention of the Senate to matters of national and international interest

- "A People Apart— Natives in Saskatoon," special newspaper report, 118, 176, 205, 267
- Agriculture, need for comprehensive financial support for grain producers, 2380, 2506
- Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, 96, 174
 - See appendix p. 184
- Bedford Institute of Oceanography, closing of Marine Ecology Laboratory, government policy and actions, 784, 856, 897, 917
- Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, fifteenth meeting at Banff, Alberta, 1920, 2298, 3226
- Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, meeting in Federal Republic of Germany, 525, 1352, 1502
- Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, meeting in Italy, 74, 258
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 455, 468, 489, 508, 511, 532, 560, 644, 714, 917
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, 2068, 2102, 2171, 2501, 2647
 - Order discharged, 4454
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, prospects of Canadian economy, 4065
 - See appendix p. 4081
- Canada-United States free trade negotiations, 263, 965, 1106
- Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group, twenty-eighth meeting at Vancouver, B.C., 1473, 1535
- Canada's International Relations, 830, 883, 1109, 1157
- Canadian Parliamentary Delegation, visit to Belgium, 115
- Child Care, national policy, 1315, 1457
 - Withdrawn, 3931
- Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, Thirty-second Conference, London, England, 96
- Constitution, current state of negotiation, 1140
 - Withdrawn, 1809
- Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, 1040, 1142
- Document entitled "New Directions for the Financial Sector," 390, 403, 1011
- Education, school system, role of parents, role of national commission of francophone parents, government support, 2724

Inquiries—Cont'd

- Federal government and crown corporations, selection process for procurement of services and tendering of contracts, 159, 2834
 - Point of order, 2834
 - Withdrawn, 3342
- Fisheries, interim committee report on freshwater fisheries, response of Manitoba minister, 2207
 - Withdrawn, 2540
- Freshwater Fisheries, response of federal and provincial ministers to interim report of Fisheries Committee, 1336, 1557
- German-Canadian conference, Atlantik Brücke, meeting at Frankfurt, West Germany, 2207, 2238
- Grey Nuns in Canada, 250th anniversary, 1890, 1947
- Guyana, Trinidad and Tobago, goodwill visit by Canadian Parliamentary delegation, 3864, 4052
- Haiti, current situation, 2288, 2311
- Illiteracy in Canada, 390, 596, 797, 1038, 1808, 2120
- Immigration, deportation of Turkish nationals, 2881, 2887, 2966
- International Terrorism, North Atlantic Assembly, meeting of subcommittee in Ankara, Turkey, 3150, 3228
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-sixth Conference, Buenos Aires, 291, 441
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-seventh Conference, Managua, Nicaragua, 1025, 1352
- Inter-Parliamentary union, Seventy-eighth Conference, Bangkok, Thailand, 2547, 2661
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-ninth Conference, Guatemala City, Guatemala, 3385, 3502
- Latin American parliamentary meeting on energy and petroleum, 2nd annual, at Bogota, Colombia, 3987, 4191
- Macedonia, 3793, 4015, 4032
- National Film Board film entitled "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", motion to refer back to committee, 1154, 1306, 1560
- Newfoundland and its people, concerns and interests, 2207, 2541
- Newfoundland, matters of federal and provincial significance, 2779
 - Withdrawn, 3446
- North Atlantic Assembly, Spring Session, Funchal, Madeira, 3582
- North Atlantic Assembly, Thirty-second Annual Session, Istanbul, Turkey, 333, 444
- Ottawa Citizen* article of November, 18, 1986, 390
- Philippines, current situation, 1273, 1329
- Post-secondary Education, Forum in Saskatoon, Oct. 25-28, 1987, 2090, 2298
- Prince Edward Island, problems of transportation, 3793
- Problems of the aged, 2956, 3271
- Reproductive Technology, need for Royal Commission, 3547, 3680
- Senate, delays in consideration of legislation, 4212, 4247
- Senate, referral of subject matter of government bills to committees, 1614
 - Inquiry withdrawn, 2588
- Senior citizens, observation of special week in tribute, 802, 1010, 1311
- "Some of My Best Friends Didn't Look Like Me," 3547, 3633
- Trade propaganda, nature of, 3583, 3678
- Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 563, 613, 639
- Ukraine, millennium of Christianization, 4078, 4217
- Unemployment Insurance, Commission of Inquiry report, 1168
- Veterans Affairs, change in name of subcommittee, 3096
 - Withdrawn, 3523
- Veterans Affairs, survivor benefits, anomalies in legislation, 2207
 - Withdrawn, 2546
- Visit of Senate delegation to Japan, 1175, 1325, 1457
- War Veterans Allowance, amendment of Act, 2350, 2786, 3319
 - Withdrawn, 3442

Inquiries—Cont'd

War Veterans, benefits legislation, 2160, 2235

"We Gave Too Much and Were Not Given Enough", 4186, 4377

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, Standing Senate Committee

Authority for senators to act on behalf of committee during adjournments or recesses and between sessions and Parliaments, 1730

Membership, 61

Reports

1st, National Finance Committee budget, 188

2nd, Energy and Natural Resources Committee budget, 188

3rd, Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee budget, 189

4th, Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee budget, 262

5th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee budget, 289, 383

6th, Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee budget, 290, 383

7th, Senate estimates 1986-87, tabled, 355, 399

8th, Fisheries Committee budget for study of fish marketing in Canada, 355

9th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee budget re study of Consultation Paper on Training, 450, 509

10th, research allocation for senators, 666

11th, membership in Public Service Dental Plan, 667, 752

12th, release of 3/12 budget funds to committees prior to June/87, 760

13th, Terrorism and Public Safety Committee budget, 972

14th, Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 budget, 972, 1000

Motion in amendment, 1003

Negated, 1006

15th, schedule of authorized salary revisions, tabled, 1048

16th, Agriculture and Forestry Committee budget, 1174, 1206, 1306

17th, Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

18th, Energy and Natural Resources Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

19th, Fisheries Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

20th, Foreign Affairs Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

21st, Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

22nd, National Finance Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

23rd, Official Languages Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

24th, Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

25th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

26th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

27th, Standing Rules and Orders Committee budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

28th, Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee supplementary budget, 1174, 1221, 1306

See appendix p. 1187 for 16th to 28th reports

29th, Special Joint Committee on 1987 Constitutional Accord budget, 1856

30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1856

31st, Salary scale for senators' secretaries, tabled, 1920, 1951
Withdrawn, 2053

31st (revised), 2052

32nd, Senate estimates, 1988-89, tabled, 2490

Withdrawn, 2652

32nd (revised), tabled and adopted, 2652

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'dReports—Cont'd

33rd, financial operation of committees, 2817, 2887

34th, salary revisions for unrepresented employees, 2955, 2967

35th, transportation allowance adjustment, 3204

36th, guidelines for senators' research expenditures, 3252, 3271

See appendix p. 3262

37th, benefits for unrepresented employees, 3384, 3441

38th to 52nd, approved supplementary committee budgets, 3384, 3441

See appendix p. 3411

53rd, Senators' travel policy, 3572, 3597

See appendix p. 3580

54th, Senators' research expenditures, 3582, 3633

55th, Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee budget re examination of Bill S-4, 3636

Withdrawn, 3665

55th, (revised), 3752, 3883

56th, improvements to PSMIP plan, 3697, 3723

57th, Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee supplementary budget, 3753, 3883

58th, Energy and Natural Resources Committee supplementary budget, 3753, 3883

59th, Energy and Natural Resources Committee revised supplementary budget, 3753, 3883

60th, printing requests: submission by Ottawa Citizen, 3793, 3880
Referred back to committee, 3883

61st, collective agreement with operational group of employees, 3918, 4015

62nd, requisition forms re obtaining stores, 4212, 4246

63rd, Senators' travel during dissolution, 4350, 4377

64th, on allegations in press reports against Senator Argue, 4404, 4454, 4479, 4561

See appendix p. 4431

65th, Implementation of office automation system (Senators' offices), 4437, 4464

66th, Senators' Post Office privileges, 4522, 4561

67th, Interseasonal investigation of Senator Argue's travel expenses, 4539

International centre for human rights and democratic development

Objectives, 4419

Speaker: Senator

Tremblay, Arthur, 4419

International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development

bill C-147. 1r, 4383; 2r, 4419; ref to com, 4420; rep with amtds, comments and recommendation, 4540, 4557; 3r, as amended, 4560; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amtds, 4561; r.a., 4562

International Financial System and Institutions

Canada's participation, report of Foreign Affairs Committee, request for response from Department of External Affairs, 1093

See Foreign Affairs Committee

International finance

Brazil, suspension of payment on bank debts, 567, 587

Cancellation of debts, 567

International relations

Joint Committee report, government action re recommendations on military agreements, 565

- International Terrorism, subcommittee of North Atlantic Assembly, meeting in Ankara, Turkey, inquiry, 3150, 3228
Effective counter-terrorism command structure in Turkey, 3229
Use of media during terrorist incidents, 3230
Speaker; Senator
Kelly, William M., 3228
- International trade, 251
Footwear, removal of import quotas, government action, 336, 467, 508, 568
Softwood lumber, imposition of duty by European countries, 506
- International whaling
Imposition of sanctions, government policy, 2722, 2782, 2830
- Inter-Parliamentary Union Seventy-sixth Conference, Buenos Aires, 291, 441
Agenda, 442
Apartheid, 443
Arms limitation, 443
Measures to promote equality between men and women, 444
Twelve-Plus Group, 442
Speaker: Senator
Bosa, Peter, 441
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-seventh Conference, Managua, Nicaragua, 1025, 1352
AIDS, 1353
Commemoration of 1989 centenary, 1353
Speaker: Senator
Bonnell, M. Lorne, 1352
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-eighth Conference, Bangkok, Thailand, 2547, 2661
Speaker: Senator
Bonnell, M. Lorne, 2661
See appendices p. 2672, 2721
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-ninth Conference, Guatemala City, Guatemala, inquiry, 3385, 3502
Report tabled, 3502
- Inuit Tapirisat of Canada, Board of Directors, visit, 3682
- Irving, Colin, Legal Counsel, Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards (Montreal)
Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2617
- Italy
See Visitors
- Jalbert, René, C.V., C.D., Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod
Tributes re act of heroism, 1026
- Jamaica
Hurricane relief, government assistance, 4406
- Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., (deceased Nov. 19/86)
Tributes, 227
- Johnson, Professor Albert W., Department of Political Science, University of Toronto
Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2850
- Johnston, Hon. Donald J., P.C., M.P.
Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2912
- Judges
Judicial independence, 2384
Triennial reviews, 2384
Speakers: Senators
Cogger, Michel, 2384
Corbin, Eymard G., 2385
- Judges bill C-88. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2384; ref to com, 2386; rep without amdt, 2471; 3r, 2471; r.a., 2510
- Judges, Federal Court, Tax Court of Canada
Retirement age, 1416
Salaries and pensions indexation, 1415
Supernumerary judges, 1416
Speakers: Senators
Flynn, Jacques, 1415
Frith, Royce, 1416, 1433
- Judges, Federal Court and Tax Court of Canada bill C-41. 1r, 1333; 2r, 1415, 1433; 3r, 1434; r.a., 1590
- Judiciary
Report of Commission on Judges' Salaries and Benefits, government action, 607
- Justice
Canada Commission of Inquiry on War Criminals
Implementation of recommendations, government action, 606
Status of report, 19, 339, 362
Nazi war criminals, prosecution of, status, 4187, 4223
- Kelly, Hon. William M.
Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4093, 4189
Aeronautics Act, 4095
Capital requirement choices, 4094
Commercial crown corporations, 4094
Competition, 4094
Deregulation, 4094
Maintenance, 4098
Partial privatization, 4096
Rights of employees, 4096
Service to remote areas, 4094
- Bell Canada bill C-13, 1304
Bell Canada Enterprises, 1304
CRTC power to regulate, 1305
"In" power and "out" power, 1305
Three new powers for CRTC, 1305
- Blue Water Bridge Authority bill C-210, 4201, 4236
Increase in transport of hazardous goods, 4201
Indemnity of Canadian members, 4201
- Borrowing Authority, 1986-87 (No.2), 736
- Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse bill C-143, 4280
Establishment of crown corporation, 4280
Information and expertise exchange, 4280
Substance abuse by children, 4280
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole
Motion to televise proceedings, 1927, 1938
Still photography pool authorized to record March 30 proceedings, 2906
- Criminal Code (protection of the unborn) bill S-16, 4124
Moral fabric of society, 4124
Moral obligation, 4124
Responsibility, 4124
- Emergencies bill C-77, 3255, 3318, 3429
British emergency provisions, 3318
Federal-provincial consultation, 3258
International emergencies, 3256

Kelly, Hon. William M.—Cont'dEmergencies bill C-77—Cont'd

- National emergency, definition, 3256
- Public order emergencies, 3256
- Public welfare emergencies, 3256
- Single house power of revocation, 3258
- Special temporary measures during national emergencies, 3255
- War emergencies, 3256
- War Measures Act replacement, 3255
- Emergency Preparedness bill C-76, 2883
 - Coordination of government departments responding to emergencies, 2885
 - Role of Solicitor General, 2885
 - Statutory basis for Emergency Preparedness Canada, 2884
- Financial Institutions bill C-56, 1550
 - Conflict potential, 1552
 - Exigencies of international competition, 1551
 - Financial institutions able to set up securities firms, 1551
 - "Four pillars" policy, 1550
 - Mutual life insurance company deemed Canadian if head office in Canada, 1551
 - "Securitization", 1552
 - Superintendent of Financial Institutions, 1551
- German-Canadian Conference
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, message from Commons, 2657
 - Atlantik Brücke*, meeting in Frankfurt, West Germany, inquiry, 2207, 2238
 - Criminal and terrorist elements, 2657
 - Documentation, 2659
 - Outdated procedures, 2660
 - Refugee determination system weaknesses, 2659
- International terrorism, North Atlantic Assembly, meeting of sub-committee in Ankara, Turkey, inquiry, 3150, 3228
 - Effective counter-terrorism command structure in Turkey, 3229
 - Use of media during terrorist incidents, 3230
- National Finance Committee reports
 - 5th, Estimates, year ending Mar. 31/88, supplementary (A), 666, 714
 - See appendix p. 693
 - 6th, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/87, supplementary (C), 695
 - See appendix p. 725
- North Atlantic Assembly, Spring Session, Funchal, Madeira, inquiry, 3582
- Patent bill C-22
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1805, 1816
- Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, 2518
 - Appointment of arbitrator, 2522
 - Background, 2518
- Privilege, 332
- Royal Assent bill S-19, 4463
 - History, 4463
 - Three elements of Parliament, 4463
- Senate
 - Delays in consideration of legislation, inquiry, 4212, 4247
 - Intentions re Free Trade Agreement, 4247
 - Political motivations, 4248
 - Precedents, 4248
 - Senate's role, 4248
- Tax Court of Canada bill C-146, 4242
 - New jurisdiction of Tax Court, 4243
 - Simplification of appeal system, 4242
 - Two procedures, 4243
- Terrorism
 - Motion for appointment of Special Senate Committee, 14, 52

Kelly, Hon. William M.—Cont'dTerrorism and Public Safety Committee

- Authority to extend date of final report, 996
- Authority to publish and distribute report during adjournment, 1337
- Report
 - 1st, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 269
 - See appendix p. 283

Kenny, Hon. ColinAgriculture

- Tobacco farmers in southwestern Ontario, plight of
 - Agenda item at meeting of Ministers of Agriculture, government action, qu, 3988, 4132
 - Government assistance, qu, 3798, 4131
- Canada Shipping bill C-39, 613
 - Offshore drilling rigs, 613
- Canadian Environmental Protection bill C-74, 3561
 - Equivalency, 3562
 - Federal polluters, 3562
 - Federal-provincial consultation, 3562
 - Framework to regulate chemicals in the marketplace, 3561
 - Patchwork protection, 3561
 - Rights of citizens, 3563

Environment

- Number of person-years in department, effect on department's programs, qu, 4456

PCBs

- Location of transportable incinerators, qu, 4466
- Regulations for transportation of, qu, 4466
- Storage sites, inspection of, availability of inspectors, qu, 4457
- Toxic waste research, efficacy of reduction in National Research Council budget, qu, 4466
- National Parks bill C-30, 4167
 - Pingos, 4167
 - Sunshine ski area, 4167
 - Use of horses, mules and donkeys in parks, 4167

"The Kid Who Couldn't Miss"See National Film Board*Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee*King, Harold, A., Senate Postmaster

- Felicitations on retirement, 1505

Kirby, Hon. Michael

- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3130
 - Bilingualism, 3132
 - Creation of new provinces, 3136
 - Duality, 3132
 - Fisheries jurisdiction, 3135
 - National programs, 3133
 - Proposed amendments, 3136
 - Provincial power, 3133
 - Senate reform, 3133
 - Two visions of Canada, 3131
- Federal-provincial relations
 - Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 553

Kohl, His Excellency Dr. Helmut, Chancellor of Federal Republic of Germany

- Address to both houses on June 16, 1988, 3685
- See appendix p. 3698

Kolber, Hon. Leo E.

- Phillips, Hon. Lazarus, the late, tribute, 418

- Kusumaatmadja, His Excellency Dr. Mochtar, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Republic of Indonesia, visit, 525
- Labour
 British Columbia longshoremen's lockout, government action, 34
 Response to government request, 54
 Railway back-to-work legislation, alleged unfair application of, 2977, 3100
- Lafond, Hon. Paul (deceased May 27/88)
 Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 332
 National Capital region
 Condition of transitways, coordination of repairs, qu, 1940
 National Defence Committee
 Appointment of Special Committee, 564, 617
 Reports
 Expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, 187
See Journals of the Senate
 1st, authority to travel, 1023
 2nd, budget to engage services to study Canada's land forces, 1272, 1305
See appendix p. 1292
 3rd, feasibility study of "Snowbirds" visit to NATO allies in Europe, 1617, 1805
See appendix p. 1618
 Privilege, 1984
 Tributes, 3504
- La Forest, Hon. Gérard V.J., Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada
 Royal Assent, 929, 1854, 1983, 3488, 3893, 4203, 4403, 4482
- Lamarche, Lucie, Chair, Government Liaison Committee, Women's Legal Education and Action Fund
 Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2867
- Lamer, Hon. Antonio, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada
 Royal Assent, 226, 278, 752, 776, 803, 827, 1135, 1416, 1590, 2227, 2509, 2530, 4108
- Lang, Hon. Daniel A.
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4418
 Patriotism, 4418
 Constitution
 Constitution amendment, 1987, m to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to legislative assemblies and four national aboriginal organizations, 3928
 Precedents, 3929
 First Ministers' Accord
 Recognition of Quebec as distinct society or as having distinct identity, distribution of powers, qu, 951
 Supreme Court of Canada, recommendations for appointment, Quebec vacancy, qu, 982
 First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts
 Considered in Committee of the Whole, 1543, 2198, 2918
 Motion to refer to Committee of the Whole, 1182
 Deportment, 1182
 Motion to televise proceedings, 1927
 Constitutional Accord, 1987
 Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, motion to concur, 1275
 Federal-provincial discussions on modification of terms, qu, 3574
 Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, tribute, 12
 Customs bill C-80, 1564
 Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3770
- Lang, Hon. Daniel A.—Cont'd
 Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans bill C-78, 1567
 Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report 60th, use of Senate facilities, policy, 3880
 Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3506
 Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee report
 21st, Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, 4190
 National Capital Commission
 Disappearance of commemorative rock from Dow's Lake, Ottawa, qu, 4130
 Official languages
 Use of provisions of Bill C-72 to promote bilingualism in workplace in Quebec, position of federal government, qu, 4019
 Official Languages bill C-72, 4026
 Patent bill C-22
 Message from Commons for concurrence in certain Commons amtds and for non-insistence on certain Senate amtds, 2186
 Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2181
 Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1288
- Senate
 Business, 4155
 Privilege, conflict-of-interest inquiry from office of Minister of Justice, 1696
 Vacancies, provincial nominations to fill, qu, 1699
 Soviet Union, m re religious freedom, 4405
 War Veterans Allowance, inquiry, 3320
- Langlois, Hon. Léopold (retired Oct. 2/88)
 Coasting Trade and Commercial Marine Activities bill C-52, 3259
 To reserve coasting trade for ships flying Canadian flag, 3259
 Industry
 Aerospace, allocation of CF-18 service contracts, qu, 192, 265
 Senate
 Adjournment, 1589
 Transport and Communications Committee reports
 1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 159
See Journals of the Senate
 2nd, Railway Act, subject matter of Bill C-4, tabled, 290
See appendix p. 313
 3rd, Radio Act, subject matter of Bill C-3, 551
 4th, Canada Shipping bill C-39, 736
See appendix p. 754
 5th, shipping conferences exemption, subject matter of Bill C-21, tabled, 1336
See appendix p. 1363
 6th, shipping conferences exemption, subject matter of Bill C-21, 1505
 7th, intention to report Bills C-18 and C-19 Aug. 10/87, 1627
 8th, National Transportation bill C-18, 1640, 1662
 9th, Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, 1641, 1662
 Tributes on retirement, 4537
 Words of appreciation, 4539
- Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C. (retired Jan. 3/87)
 Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C., the late, tribute, 286
 Tributes on retirement, 329, 415
 Words of appreciation and farewell, 332
- LaPrade Fund
 Request for answer to order paper question, 3711, 4382, 4491, 4525
 Reason for delay in answering, 4542

Larre, Reverend Father Lucien, O.C.

Felicitations on receipt of Thérèse Casgrain award, 286

Latin American Parliamentary Meeting on Energy and Petroleum,

2nd annual, at Bogota, Colombia, inquiry, 3987, 4191

Energy issues, 4192

Lawson, Hon. Edward M.

Canadian Transport Commission

Creation of new agency, effect on tenure of present commissioners, qu, 1699, 1988

Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 215, 218

Container clause, 215

Penalty provision imbalance, 218

Unusual term of contract, 215

Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, 1704

National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1704

Senate

Committee proceedings, availability, 1702

Transport and Communications Committee reports

8th and 9th, National Transportation bill C-18 and Motor Vehicle Transport bill C-19, 1668

Leblanc, Hon. Fernand E.

Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88 bill C-108, 2637

Auditor General

Role under Act, qu, 2558

Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, meeting in Federal Republic of Germany, 525, 1352, 1449, 1502

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 498

Constitution

First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole (Chairman), 2247

Estimates, 1986-87

Supplementary (B), tabled, 340, 1754

Excise Tax and Excise bill C-14, 370

Consequences of tax increases and price escalations, 370

Excise Tax and Excise bill C-117, 3561

Government

Legislative provision for expenditures, qu, 3657, 4085

National Finance Committee

Auditor General's report

Authority to engage services, 92

Motion to refer to committee, 447

Estimates, 1987-88, supplementary (B), 1754

Meeting, 2532

Post-secondary education and training, authority to continue study of government activities, 14, 68

Authority to extend date of presentation of report, 500

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 74

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 243, 266

See appendix p. 260

3rd, Estimates, 1986-87, supplementary (A), 291

See appendix p. 323

4th, Estimates, 1986-87, supplementary (B), 364, 367

See appendix p. 388

7th, post-secondary education, 735

9th, Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 781

10th, Federal-provincial fiscal arrangements and federal post-secondary education and health contributions, 1977, subject matter of Bill C-44, 905

11th, Estimates, year ending Mar. 31/88, (interim) 1117, 1185

See appendix p. 1136

Leblanc, Hon. Fernand E.—Cont'd

National Finance Committee—Cont'd

Reports—Cont'd

12th, Estimates 1987-88, (2nd interim) 1335, 1449

See appendix p. 1361

13th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (B), with observations, 2160, 2234

See appendix p. 2174

14th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (C), 2242; 2310

See appendix p. 2272

15th, Royal Canadian Mint and Currency bill C-46, 2286

16th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (D), 2589, 2604

See appendix p. 2598

17th, Currency bill C-99, without amdt, 2757

18th, Estimates year ending Mar.31/89, 2826, 2886

See appendix p. 2836

19th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (E), 2880

See appendix p. 2892

20th, Borrowing Authority bill C-109, 2880

21st, Estimates 1988-89, supplementary (A), 3508, 3564

See appendix p. 3544

22nd, Western Economic Diversification bill C-113, 3572

23rd, Estimates, 1988-89, interim report, 3582, 3677

24th, Cape Breton Development Corporation bill C-127, 3636

26th, Estimates, 1988-89, 4128, 4178

See appendix p. 4156

28th, National Capital bill C-153, 4311

Special Committee on Subject Matter of Bill C-22

Availability of translation of report, 1348

Post-secondary education

Forum at Saskatoon, October, 1987, 2540

Senate, business, 3669

Transport

Canadian National Railways, restoration of Sorel-Nicolet branch line, qu, 2230, 2723

LeBlanc, Hon. Roméo, P.C.

Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries, 496, 524, 658

Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 476

Canada Post Corporation

Postal strike, labour policy of government qu, 1399

Coastal Fisheries Protection bill C-26, 343

Research versus policing, 344

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 2205, 2462, 2621, 2627, 2751, 2806, 2813, 2855, 2920, 2928, 3012

Motion to televise proceedings, 1917

Environment

Environmental Inspection Service, number of person-years, qu, 4457

Excise Tax bill C-101, 2483

Federal-provincial relations

Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, qu, 552

Fisheries

Canada-France agreement

Federal-provincial consultations, representation, 507

Unanimity of cabinet decision, qu, 423

Canada-France negotiations

Availability of negotiators, qu, 4438

Exclusion of Atlantic provinces and Department of Fisheries representatives, qu, 434

Canada-France relations

Dispute settlement negotiations

Geographic locations of fishing patterns and quotas, qu, 3233

LeBlanc, Hon. Roméo, P.C.—Cont'd

Fisheries—Cont'd

Canada-France relations—Cont'd

Status and possible mediation, qu, 3206, 3266 Location of quotas, qu, 3282

Request for appearance of Minister for International Trade before Committee of the Whole, qu, 3098

Fisheries Improvement Loans bill C-32, 349

Grenville Aggregate Specialities Limited bill S-21, 4311, 4374, 4439

Dissolution for failure to file annual returns, 4374

Revival under Canada Business Corporations Act, 4374

Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1576

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports

53rd, Senators' travel policy, 3572

See appendix p. 3580

62nd, requisition forms re obtaining stores, 4212

63rd, Senators' travel during dissolution, 4350, 4377

64th, allegations in press reports against Senator Argue, 4404

See appendix p. 4431

65th, implementation of office automation system (Senators' offices), 4437, 4464

66th, Senators' Post Office privileges, 4522

67th, intersessional investigation of Senator Argue's travel expenses, 4539

McGrand, Hon. Fred A., tribute on resignation, 2602

National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1704

Patent bill C-22, 1734

Drug prices increase, 1734

Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1979

Hiring of temporary workers, 1980

Labour relations, 1980

Violence, 1980

Prince Edward Island

Proposed fixed crossing to mainland, environmental assessment and review, qu, 2243, 2358

Senate

Delay in production of Debates and Minutes

Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 402

LeClair, Marc, Constitutional Coordinator, Métis National Council

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2859

Leclerc, Félix, (deceased Aug. 9/88), tributes, 4170

Le Dain, Hon. Gerald E., Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada

Royal Assent, 415, 2651, 2890, 2969, 3667, 3778

Legal and Constitutional Affairs, Standing Senate Committee

Archives of Canada, subject matter of Bill C-7, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 263

Authority to engage services, 232

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 333, 433, 464, 484, 560, 1785, 1890, 2288, 2350, 2532, 2538, 2779, 2827, 2882, 3069, 3512, 3654

Committee membership, 620, 799

Refused, 3668

Authority to examine subject matter of (rights and freedoms) clauses of certain bills, 696, 800

Enabling clauses, 824

Bill C-22, m re instruction to committee re deadline for presentation of report on question and message from House of Commons, 1805

Criminal Code and Canada Evidence Act, subject matter of Bill C-15, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 139

Legal and Constitutional Affairs, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd

French Constitutional Drafting Committee, 1st, report, authority to study, 390

"Implementation of the 1985 Changes to the Indian Act", authority to study document, 1629

Membership, 117

Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon assets disposal authorization, subject matter of Bill C-45, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 670

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 232

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945 bill S-3, with amds, 232, 247

3rd, National Archives of Canada bill C-7, 501

4th, Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon assets disposal authorization, subject matter of Bill C-45, tabled, 760

See Journals of the Senate

5th, Criminal Code (torture) bill C-28, 897

6th, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985 bill C-94, with recommendations, 971, 1037

Inclusion of Geneva Conventions Act, 1037

See appendix p. 985

7th, Marriage (Prohibited Degrees) bill S-5, 1117

8th, Yellowknife Electric Ltd. bill S-10, 1214

9th, Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, with amds, 1432

10th, Criminal Code and Canada evidence, subject matter of Bill C-15, tabled, 1457

See appendix p. 1464

11th, Criminal Code, Immigration, 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71, 1803

12th, Supreme Court bill C-53, 2207

13th, Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society bill S-14, 2240

14th, Statute Law amendment proposals document, with amds, 2349

15th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amds, 2374

Aiding and abetting, 2376

Church organizations and refugee aid groups, 2376

Detention for identification, 2377

Exclusion of subject of certificate during hearing, 2375

Mandatory arbitrary detention, 2375

Security certificates, 2375

Supreme Court views, 2375

Transportation companies' concerns, 2377

Turning around of ships, 2376

Warrantless searches, 2377

See appendix p. 2402

16th, budget re study of Immigration, 1976 bill C-55 and authority to travel, 2499

See appendix p. 2511

17th, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985 bill C-94, 2471

18th, Judges bill C-88, 2471

19th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, with amds, 2974

See appendix p. 3024

20th, Immigration bill C-55, with amds and observations, 3349, 3395

Appeal procedure, 3401

Quasi-judicial officers, 3401

Refugee determination process, 3400

"Safe country" concept, 3395, 3397

Time for claimant to instruct counsel, 3396

See appendix p. 3361

Legal and Constitutional Affairs, Standing Senate Committee—*Cont'dReports—Cont'd

- 21st, Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, bill S-7, with amds, 3472, 3495, 3513, 3592, 3804, 4190
 - Arrogance, 3594
 - Canon law, 4191
 - Corporation sole, 3495, 4190
 - Criticism on religious grounds, 3497
 - Disclosure procedures and requirements, 3513
 - Freedom of religion, 3497
 - Lack of financial disclosure requirements, 3496
 - New legislation re incorporation of non-profit and religious organizations, 3496
 - Precedent, 3513
 - Public interest, 3595
 - Role of women, 3594
 - Secrecy, 3804
 - Secular jurisdictional institution, 4190
- 22nd, Indian bill C-115, with amdt, 2685
- 23rd, Montreal Trust Company of Canada bill S-18, 3751
- 24th, Criminal Code (victims of crime) bill C-89, with comments, 3919
- 25th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, revised message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, with recommendation, 4057, 4058, 4086
 - Appeals, 4089
 - Connotations of "returned", 4059
 - Draconian measures, 4088
 - Duty counsel, 4088
 - Humanitarian efforts, 4063
 - Interim controls, 4063
 - Minister's commitment to further amendment, 4059
 - "Safe third country" concept, 4063, 4089
 - Senate retreat, 4087
 - Value of immigrants, 4061
 - See appendix p. 4079
- 26th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, with recommendations, 4057, 4064, 4087
- 27th, Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters bill C-58, with observations, 4147
- 29th, Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) bill C-264, 4221
- 30th, Blue Water Bridge Authority, subject matter of Bill C-210, 4235
- 31st, Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, with comments, 4237
 - Forfeiture, 4237
 - Omissions, 4238
 - Vagueness, 4237
 - See appendix p. 4253
- 32nd, Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, with comments, 4258
 - See appendix p. 4283
- 33rd, Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited bill S-21, 4437
- 34th, rep on draft official French version of certain constitutional acts, 4540
 - See appendix p. 4563
- Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, authority to study draft, 428
 - Authority to extend date for reporting, 906
- Statute Law Amendment Proposals, authority to study document, 2072

Legislative Committees

- Message from Commons, 419

Lemire, Francine

- Tribute on winning Gold Medal at World Winter Games for the Disabled, 2586

Le Moyne, Hon. Jean (retired Feb.17/88)

- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, fiftieth anniversary congratulations, 135
- Constitution
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1996, 2135, 2257, 2736
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1455, 1927
 - Negotiations to include Quebec, government position, qu, 621
- Dechatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C., the late, tribute, 286
- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee
- Motion to refer motion to committee, 2370, 2397
- National Film Board
 - "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", motion to refer inquiry on report back to committee, 1310, 1560
- Official Languages Committee
 - 5th report, Calgary Olympic Winter Games, disregard for provisions of Charter re French-language television coverage, 2472
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1410
- Regional Vicar for Canada for the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1150
 - "Holy intransigence, holy coercion, holy effrontery", 1153
 - Role of women, 1153
 - The Way (El Camino, Le Chemin)*, quotes, 1151
 - Undue influence, 1151
- Senate
 - Business, 1928
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, 390
 - Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 401
- Transport
 - Montreal-Sudbury railway service, possible abandonment, government policy, qu, 1052, 1338
- Tributes on retirement, 2753
 - See also appendix p. 2776

Lévesque, Hon. René, former Premier of Quebec (deceased Nov. 1/87)

- Tributes, 2117

Lewis, Hon. P. Derek

- Constitution
 - Constitution amendment, Year of Proclamation (Newfoundland Act), 1557
 - Enshrinement of educational rights for Pentecostal faith in Newfoundland, 1557
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee report
- 33rd, Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited bill S-21, 4437
- Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute on retirement, 1840

L'Heureux-Dubé, Hon. Claire, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada

- Royal Assent, 1774, 1919, 3251, 4168, 4562

Library of Parliament

- Annual report of Parliamentary Librarian tabled, 288, 1432, 2777

Linguistic duality, 156Literacy Day, government initiatives, 4241*Lobbyists registration

- Access, clarity, openness, simplicity, 4126
- Administration difficulties, 4315
- Ambiguities, 4316

Lobbyists registration—Cont'd

- Definition, 4316
- Division of lobbyists into two tiers, 4315
- Information gathering, 4315
- Penalties, 4144
- Restrictions, 4145

Speakers: Senators

- Doyle, Richard J., 4125
- Nurgitz, Nathan, 4314
- Olson, H.A., 4144
- Stanbury, Richard J., 4315

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Lobbyists Registration bill C-82. 1r, 4110; 2r, 4125, 4144; ref to com, 4145; rep with comments, 4258; 3r, 4314; r.a., 4403

Lucier, Hon. Paul

- Aboriginal peoples
 - Establishment of models of self-government north of 60, qu, 786
- Arctic sovereignty
 - Aboriginal peoples, participation in consultations, qu, 2325
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, relationship with, participation of territories, qu, 2321
 - Canadian claim, negotiation, participation of territories, qu, 2303
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Briefing of premiers
 - Absence of representatives from Yukon and Northwest Territories, qu, 1907
 - Implementation, government position on agreement of provinces, effect of territories' aspirations for provincial status, qu, 1935
- Canada-United States relations
 - Free Trade negotiations, statement by Mr. Reisman on consultations between Prime Minister and President, qu, 1778
- Coastal Fisheries Protection bill C-26, 366
- Constitution
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Suggested further consideration by First Ministers, qu, 3252
 - First Ministers' Accord
 - Yukon and Northwest Territories, method of appointment of senators and Supreme Court judges, qu, 1615
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1548, 1750, 2193, 2575, 2579, 2742, 2920, 2923, 3010
 - First Ministers' Accord, effect on territories, aspirations for provincial status, qu, 947, 954
 - First Ministers' conferences, participation by territories, qu, 955
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3116
 - Aboriginal rights, 3120
 - Distinct society, 3121
 - Human Rights Institute of Canada, position of, 3119
 - Quebec, 3121
 - Ramifications, 3122
 - Territories, problems and attitudes, 3116
- Immigration
 - Ministerial discretion, alleged abuse, qu, 165
- Indian affairs
 - Self-government, government policy, qu, 391, 531
- Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, 3238, 3240
 - Safeguarding of employee interests, 3238
- Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon Assets Disposal Authorization bill C-45, 773
 - Yukon development potential, 774
- Northwest Territories
 - Inuvik, withdrawal of Armed Forces personnel, effect on economy, qu, 334, 358

Lucier, Hon. Paul—Cont'd

- Patent bill C-22
 - Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2182
- Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax and Income Tax bill C-17, 405
 - Effect on north of PGRT repeal, 405
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, qu, 235
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1968, 1975
 - Essential service, 1976
 - Replacement workers, 1969, 1975
 - Undemocratic legislation, 1969
- Privilege, 3206
- Refugees
 - Disposition of ship used for transportation, qu, 1645, 1872
- Senate
 - Question period
 - Request for answer, 240
- Shipbuilding
 - Class 8 icebreaker, design, government policy, qu, 441
- Transport
 - Canadian airports, firefighting facilities, government action, qu, 762, 961
 - Smoking prohibition on commercial flights, qu, 339, 394
- Yukon
 - Government travel service, changes, effect on local business people, qu, 947, 1056

Macdonald, Alex B., Q.C., Simon Fraser University

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2746

MacDonald, Hon. Finlay

- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 110
- Atlantic Provinces' Economic Council, 111
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Air Canada public participation, subject matter of Bill C-129, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3572, 3650, 3664
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1140, 1412, 3616
 - Electronic media coverage of meeting, 1877
- Canadian International Trade Tribunal and Eldorado Nuclear Limited reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of Bills C-110 and C-121, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3637, 3666, 3675
- Reports
 - 11th, Teleglobe Canada reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of Bill C-38, tabled, 783
 - See appendix p. 790
 - 12th, softwood lumber products export charge, subject matter of Bill C-37, tabled, 935
 - 21st, Income Tax bill C-64, 2380
 - See appendix p. 2431
 - 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, 3269
 - 26th, Excise Tax and Excise bill C-117, 3636
- Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2754
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 495, 512, 525
- Canada Shipping bill C-39, 576, 763
 - Manually propelled and under-20-meters pleasure craft exemptions, 576
 - Safety at sea and environmental protection, 576
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, prospects for Canadian economy, 4066
- Canada-United States relations
 - Summit meeting in Ottawa, publication, suggested contents, 831
- Capital punishment
 - Opposition to reinstatement, press conference by political party youth representatives, 1272

MacDonald, Hon. Finlay—Cont'd

- Coasting Trade and Commercial Marine Activities bill C-52, 3066
 - Domestic cruise industry protection, 3066
 - Enforcement procedures, 3066
 - Removal of coasting trade provisions from Canada Shipping Act, 3066
- Constitution Act, 1867, (Speaker of the Senate) bill S-20, 4361, 4473, 4535
 - Rule 15, 4361
- Constitution, First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1995, 2447, 2802
 - Motion re witnesses to be heard by Submissions Group, 2771
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1917
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole
 - Motion in amendment, 1215
- Diefenbaker Centre, University of Saskatchewan
 - Financial crisis, further request for government assistance, 1924
- Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-121, 4098
 - Job security, 4099
 - Merger and privatization of Eldorado and Saskatchewan Mining Development Corporation, 4099
 - Ownership and voting conditions, 4099
 - Regulatory framework, 4099
 - Waste management, 4100
- Excise Tax Bill C-101, 2473, 2484
 - Fuel Tax Rebate Program extension, 2474
 - Rebates to fishermen, 2481
 - Refunds to farmers for gasoline and diesel fuel, 2480
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, m to instruct com to divide in two, 3600
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, 2084
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, 1813, 1850
 - Abuse of system, 1813
 - Church and humanitarian groups, 1814
 - Economic migrants, 1814
 - Historical perspective, 1813
 - Refugee claims backlog, 1850
 - Solution to refugee determination process, 1815
 - Unscrupulous counsellors, 1814
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report
 - 14th, budget of Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22, 975, 1003
- International terrorism, meeting of Subcommittee of North Atlantic Assembly in Ankara, Turkey, 3230
- Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., the late, tribute, 229
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2754
- Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, 4145
- Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, 1434, 1483, 1704
 - Inter-provincial information exchange, 1435
 - National Safety Code, 1435
 - Provincial responsibility, 1436
 - Regulatory emphasis shifted to safety performance, 1434
 - Reverse-onus test, 1434
 - Standardization of driver licensing, 1435
 - Transborder traffic with U.S., 1435
- National Capital bill C-153, 4228
 - Headquarters, 4229
 - National Capital Commission background, 4228
 - Revisions to mandate, 4229
- Patent bill C-22
 - Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, 2064

MacDonald, Hon. Finlay—Cont'dPatent bill C-22—Cont'd

- Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, m to refer to committee, 1786, 1802
- Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1830
- Railway bill C-4, 303
 - Cost recovery measure, 304
 - Tax increase, 305
- Research and development
 - Bedford Institute of Oceanography, closing of Marine Ecology Laboratory, Government policy and actions, 859, 897
 - Halifax Cronicle-Herald, quote, 897
- Senate, 893, 1194
 - Adjournment, 1589, 1920, 2053
 - Business, 1919, 1928
 - Point of order (Senator McElman), 873
 - Privilege, 644
 - Motion to refer to committee, 893
 - Question Period
 - Delayed answers, 1924
 - Referral of subject matter of government bills to committees, inquiry, 1614
 - Withdrawn, 2588
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 2767
- Senate, delay in consideration of legislation, inquiry, 4250
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)
 - Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 936
 - Report, 4th, authority to engage services and to travel, 1475
- Standing Rules and Orders Committee report
 - 13th, reports containing recommendations, 3809
- War Veterans Allowance, amendment of act, inquiry, 3320
- Western Economic Diversification bill C-113, 3394

MacDonald, Hon. John Joseph, (deceased Nov.19/86)

Tributes, 11, 122

Macdonald, Hon. John M.

- Criminal Code (Protection of the Unborn) bill S-16, 3801
 - Legal system responsibility, 3803
 - Morris, Dr. Heather, address, quote, 3802
 - Physicians for Life, press release, quote, 3802
- Felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Laws, 3347
- National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1703
 - Iron Ore Co. of Canada and Wabush Mines, concerns, 1703
- Transport and Communications Committee reports
 - 8th and 9th, National Transportation bill C-18 and Motor Vehicle Transport bill C-19, 1672

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C., Leader of the Opposition

- Aboriginal peoples
 - Constitution, entrenchment of right to self-government
 - Draft agreement, distribution of powers, qu, 789
 - Failure of First Ministers' Conference to reach agreement, definition of "self-government", qu, 785
- Abortion
 - Judgment of Supreme Court of Canada, government action, qu, 2634
 - Rights of the unborn
 - Government policy, qu, 3328
 - Role of the Senate in consideration of question, qu, 3285
- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 36
- Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 739

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.—Cont'd

- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
 - Criteria for approving proposals, qu, 196
 - Expenditure of new money, qu, 2780
 - Introduction of legislation in Senate, qu, 2356
 - Legislation to establish, government intention, mechanism to monitor departmental activities, appointment and composition of board, criteria for access to progress, qu, 1646
 - Minister's statement, 1172
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency bill C-103 (Part 1), message to Commons, 3887
- See Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Air Canada public participation, subject matter of Bill C-129, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3664
 - Bank of British Columbia business continuation, subject matter of Bill C-27, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 257
 - Report, 25th, Copyright bill C-60, message from Commons, m for non- insistence on Senate amtds, 3551
- Bélisle, Hon. Rhéal, felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633
- Borrowing Authority 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, 711, 736
- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126, 4137, 4139
 - Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility, 4138
 - International Monetary Fund, 4138
 - Remedial measures, 4138
 - United States contributions, 4140
- Canada Child Care bill C-144, 4511
 - Canada Assistance Plan, 4513
 - National standards, 4512
 - Number of additional spaces, 4512
 - Opposition of witnesses, 4511
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 493, 508, 512, 533, 649, 718, 924
 - Consideration in Committee of the Whole, availability of Canadian Ambassador to France as witness, qu, 1196
 - Fishing quotas in Canadian waters, negotiations to establish, qu, 1337, 1400
 - French exploration in disputed zone, role of President of France, qu, 1197, 1214
 - Motion for referral to Committee of the Whole, 450, 455, 468, 481, 490
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries dispute
 - Senate representation at negotiations, qu, 830, 1629
- Canada-Newfoundland Accord Implementation bill C-6, 575, 629
 - Dissipation of expertise, 632
 - Drilling rigs exodus, 631
 - Falling oil reserves, 633
 - Government role in offshore slump, 631
 - OPEC pricing policies, 633
 - Terra Nova field, 631
- Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation bill C-75, 3994
 - Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board, activities and budget, 3994
 - Diminution of offshore drilling, 3995
 - Protection of Georges Bank, 3994
- Canada Post Corporation
 - Postal strike, appointment of mediator, qu, 1399
- Canada's international relations,
 - Report of Special Joint Committee, response of government, qu, 292
- "Canada's International Relations", inquiry, 830, 883, 1157
 - Acid rain, 885
 - Approach in relations with U.S., 1158

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.—Cont'd

- "Canada's International Relations", inquiry—Cont'd
 - Arctic sovereignty, 886
 - Benefit of the doubt, 1158
 - Canada-U.S. relations, general comments, 883
 - Defence relations, 886
 - Foreign ownership, 888
 - Purpose and process, 1157
 - Softwood lumber dispute, 887
 - Space program, 886
 - Trade initiative, 887
 - Trade irritants, 884
 - Urgency of issues in relationship with U.S., 1157
 - U.S. protectionist actions, 884
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Bi-national tribunal, nationality of chairman, qu, 1943
 - Definition of non-tariff barriers, qu, 1893
 - Dispute settlement mechanism
 - Establishment of bi-national tribunal, effect of, adjudication of application of Canadian law, qu, 1944, 2079
 - Effect of passage of Bill C-22 on reaching agreement, qu, 1905
 - "Elements of the Agreement", request for tabling of initialled copy of document, qu, 1920
 - Final text, date of release, qu, 2231
 - Passage of Bill C-22, request for tabling of initialled copy of document containing reference to Canada's undertaking re passage, qu, 1921
 - Impact of U.S. omnibus trade bill, treatment of subsidies, qu, 1891
 - Status of negotiations, qu, 2357
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4387
 - Agricultural provisions, 4392
 - Dispute settlement, 4389
 - Energy, 4390
 - Harmonization, 4390
 - National energy board, 4391
 - Objectives, 4388
 - Period of restriction, 4391
 - Protectionism, 4388
 - Role of the Senate, 4394
 - Subsidies and countervail, 4389
- Canada-United States relations
 - Bilateral trade negotiations
 - Items for negotiation, 440
 - Ratification instrument, nature of, qu, 605
 - Status, qu, 64
 - Free trade negotiations
 - Dispute settlement mechanism, determination of subsidies, qu, 702
 - Major outstanding obstacles, possibility of briefing, conditions precedent to signing agreement, qu, 1811
 - Status, notification of provincial premiers, qu, 1884
- Canada-U.S.S.R. relations
 - Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, speech, request for clarification of government policy on Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, qu, 190, 239
- Canadian International Trade Tribunal bill C-110, 4120
 - GATT rules re trade in textiles and clothing, 4121
 - General Preferential Tariff, 4121
 - Membership reduction, 4120
 - Relationship to Canadian free trade bill, 4121
 - Workload, 4120
- Cape Breton Development Corporation
 - Office of president, status of incumbent, qu, 607
- Cape Breton Development Corporation bill C-127, 3520

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.—Cont'd

- Child care, national policy, 1460
- Canada Assistance Plan, 1460
- Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, thirty-second conference at London, England, 580
- Constitution
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Tabling of resolution, position of Governments of New Brunswick and Manitoba, "reunification of constitutional family", qu, 3332
 - Terminal date for approval, provision for withdrawal of provincial approval, qu, 3253
 - First Ministers' Accord
 - Communiqué tabled, 932
 - Effect on territories' aspirations for provincial status, 946
 - "Patriation", use of term by government leader, request for clarification of meaning of accord, qu, 955
 - Possible postponement of conference, committee study and approval of resolution, 1050
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, definition and international ramifications, qu, 939, 978
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 2339, 2737, 2744, 2852, 2861, 2999, 3050
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1453
 - Referral to Committee of the Whole, 1088
 - First Ministers' Conference, June 2, 1987, tabling of agreed texts, qu, 1119
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3078, 3190
 - Bilingualism or duality, 3082
 - Charter of Rights and Freedoms, 3085
 - Distinct society, 3079
 - Legal implications, 3081
 - Message to Commons, proposed motion, 3218
 - Point of order, 3218
 - Motion in amendment, 3078
 - National reconciliation, 3083
 - New Brunswick, 3083
 - Reference to Supreme Court, 3081
 - Saskatchewan, 3082
 - Shared-cost programs and spending powers, 3083
 - Two divergent views of Canada, 3082
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole, 1159, 1215
 - Motion in amendment, point of order, 1200
 - Reasons, 1160
 - Suggestion to televise, 1160
- Constructive internationalism, 41
- Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C., the late, tribute, 285
- Economic Summit, 1988
 - Brazil, role of World Bank, Canadian government position, 3337
 - Debt as global problem, agenda item, qu, 3266, 3336
 - Re-energizing of debt strategy, possible Canadian proposals, qu, 3266, 3336, 3350, 3618
- Third World debt problem
 - Measures to relieve, affected countries, application to Latin American countries, qu, 3709
 - Role of World Bank, government position, qu, 3266, 3337
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3526
- Energy
 - Dome Petroleum-Amoco Canada transaction, availability of documents to government, qu, 1507
 - Georges Bank drilling moratorium, consultation with Government of Nova Scotia, qu, 3099, 3236, 3267
- Enterprise Cape Breton
 - Agricultural projects, funding of, powers, role of Board of Directors, qu, 3654

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.—Cont'd

- Enterprise Cape Breton—Cont'd
 - Approved projects, qu, 3654
 - Arrow LM Manufacturing Company, financial assistance, conflict-of-interest guidelines, calling of tenders, establishment of price, qu, 4365, 4381
 - Policies to be followed, qu, 3654
 - Possible assistance to Financial Engineering Corporation, qu, 121, 298
- Environment
 - Acid rain, request for copy of Canadian eight-point proposal, qu, 3286
- External Affairs
 - Canada-United States test and evaluation program agreement, forecast of projects, qu, 983
 - Deployment of nuclear weapons affecting Canadian sovereignty, government policy, qu, 1094
 - Foreign service appointment, maintenance of professionalism, government policy, qu, 337
- Federal-provincial relations
 - Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 552
- Finance
 - British Petroleum, sale of shares, reported request of Canadian government, qu, 2077
 - Document entitled "New Directions for the Financial Sector," 389
- Fisheries
 - Canada-France agreement
 - Agreed record of negotiations, status, request for copy of Note Verbale, 503
 - Effect of 1984 exchange of notes, qu, 451
 - Federal-provincial consultation, fish allocations, government policy, qu, 420
 - Fish allocations
 - Status of 1972 treaty, rights of French vessels in Gulf of St. Lawrence, qu, 464, 466
 - Licensing of French vessels in disputed zone, qu, 451
 - Request for tabling, 427
 - Canada-France negotiation of agreements
 - Allocation of northern cod quotas, qu, 433
 - Grounds for not proceeding, qu, 433
 - Schedule of meetings, qu, 763, 850
 - Canada-France relations
 - Dispute-settlement negotiations
 - Judicial arbitration and selection of mediator, status of, qu, 3232
 - Request for appearance of former ambassador to France and Minister of Fisheries and Oceans before Committee of the Whole, qu, 3097, 3235
 - Status and possible mediation, qu, 3204, 3222, 3267
 - Request for copy of new agreement, 3282
 - Status of former agreement, qu, 3235
- Fisheries Committee
 - Authority to study fish marketing in Canada, 69
- Foreign affairs
 - Canadian relations with Syria, government position, qu, 96
 - Contras, possible acceptance as refugees, qu, 2231
 - Nicaragua, cancellation of visit of Vice-President, qu, 195, 239
 - Syria, joint action by Canada and other nations, qu, 264, 301
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, authority to study elements of and report, 2148
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3526, 3607

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.—Cont'd

Foreign Affairs Committee—Cont'd

Reports

14th and 15th, study of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, 3280

16th, International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, 4541, 4557

Foreign policy, 42

Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9, 1050

General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT)

Provincial participation at meeting, qu, 2550

German-Canadian Conference

Atlantik Brücke, meeting in Frankfurt, West Germany, 2238

Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague, tribute, 330

Godfrey, Hon. John Morrow

Newspaper report of interview, apology and correction 1391

Tribute on retirement, 1391

Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C., the late, tribute, 697

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3517

Motion to instruct committee to divide bill in two, 3567, 3602

Message from Commons of disagreement with Senate division and request for return of bill undivided, m to ref to com, 4041, 4112

"The Government of Canada", by R.M. Dawson and Norman Ward, quotes, 4116

Money bills, 4118

Powers of the Senate, 4117

Ross Report, 1918, quote, 4116

Hayden, Hon. Salter A., the late, tribute, 418

Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 2494, 2499

Immigration, 1976 bill C-34, 409, 410

Industry

Aerospace, awarding of CF-18 service contract, rejection of IMP bid, government reasons, 196, 238

General Motors, interest-free loan

Effect on free trade negotiations, targeted subsidies, request for information on government policy, qu, 813

Nova Scotia, possible manufacture and export of armaments by West German company from proposed plant, qu, 246, 299, 568

Sydney Steel Corporation, modernization plan, status, 763

International finance

Brazil, suspension of payments on bank debts, qu, 567, 587

Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., the late, tribute, 227

Justice

Canada Commission of Inquiry on War Criminals

Implementation of recommendations, government action, qu, 606

Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3504

Langlois, Hon. Léopold, tribute on retirement, 4537

Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 330

MacDonald, Hon. John Joseph, the late, tribute, 14

Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 219

Penalty provision imbalance, 224

Terms of collective agreement, 222

McGrand, Hon. Fred A., the late, tribute, 4255

Middle East

Gaza Strip, recent incidents, government action, qu, 2490

National Finance Committee report

25th, Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3886

National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1703

Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, 3241

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.—Cont'd

Oil prices, 38

Parliament

Summer prorogation, government intention, qu, 1302

Patent bill C-22, 1407, 1738

Government brochure, distribution before possible enactment of legislation, qu, 2167

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence upon Senate amdts, 1776

Motion to refer to committee, 1785, 1790

Precedent, 1792

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2217

Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2182

Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1829

Phillips, Hon. Lazarus, the late, tribute, 418

Phillips, Hon. Orville H., felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633

Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2525

Matters in dispute, 2527

Penalty clause, 2528

Quebec, 41

Regional disparities, 40

Regional Industrial Expansion

Annual report of department, transfer of functions, responsibility for subsidiary agreements, request for organizational chart, qu, 2827

Pictou County, Nova Scotia, development of coal mine, financial assistance, attitude of Cape Breton Development Corporation, qu, 2843

Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 853

Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute, 1838

Royal Assent bill C-19, 4123, 4375

Historic and symbolic value of present system, 4123

Salaries bill C-36, 413

Senate

Absence of government leader from chamber, 2153

Adjournment, 190, 1214, 1582, 3046, 3572, 3686, 3709, 3888

Business, 210, 242, 819, 2445, 3287, 4550

Anticipated legislation, qu, 391

Constitution, motion for proposed Constitution Amendment, 1987 and any motions in amdt made first item of business, 3096

Disposition of Bills C-18, C-19 and C-22, instruction to committees, adjournment, 1628

Legislative program, qu, 1478

Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, question of privilege, 353

Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 356, 383, 402

Government leader's stationery, use for communication re Oerlikon Aerospace, qu, 437

Official report, ministry list, 852

Question Period

Request for answer to order paper question, 1059

Vacancies, filling of, reasons for delay, qu, 3548

Senate and House of Commons bill C-20, 306

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

Report, 4th, on document entitled: "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force) Service to the Public—Veterans", 784

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C.—Cont'd

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee—Cont'd

Tobacco products control, subject matter of Bill C-51, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1886

Special Committee on Bill C-22 reports

6th, Patent Act amendment with amdts, 1677

7th, Patent amendment bill C-22 with amended amdts

Motion in amdt, 1715

Tele globe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-38, 779

Tribute on 34th anniversary of election to Parliament, 1640

Tributes on 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons of Senators Heath Macquarrie, Robert Muir, H.A. Olson, P.C., Orville H. Phillips and David Walker, P.C., 1211

Venice Summit, 1987, 1241

Veterans Affairs, change in name of subcommittee, inquiry withdrawn, 3524

Veterans Affairs and Senior Citizens

Subcommittee authorized to meet during Senate sitting, 3150

Walker, Hon. David J., P.C., felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633

War veterans, benefits legislation, inquiry, 2237

Macedonia, inquiry, 3793, 4032

Defence by NATO, 4032

Regional nationalism, 4033

"Who are Macedonians?", 4033

MacLean, Vincent J., Leader of the Opposition, Province of Nova Scotia

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2605

MacNeill, John Forbes, Q.C., (deceased July 27/88)

Tributes, 4165

Macquarrie, Hon. Heath

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 122

Agriculture

Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to refer to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3456

Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2755

Barrow, Rt. Hon. Errol Walton, the late, Prime Minister of Barbados, tribute, 1162

Cameron, Hon. Donald, tribute on resignation from Senate, 1898

Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, fifteenth meeting at Banff, Alberta, 1920, 2298, 3226

Dialogue on fisheries and the seal hunt, 3226

Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, meeting in Italy, 74, 258

Canada Post Corporation

Closing of Victoria, Prince Edward Island post office, presentation of petition, 3508

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, fiftieth anniversary congratulations, 136

Canadian Prime Ministers

Commemorative statues, qu, 587

Citizenship

Petition of Foreign Service Community Association on Bill C-254, tabled, 2159

Status of bill C-254, request for Speaker's ruling, 2188

Speaker's statement, 2233

Citizenship (period of residence) bill C-254, 2307

Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, Thirty-second conference at London, England, 96, 577

Apartheid and perspective of values, 580

Macquarrie, Hon. Heath—Cont'd

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord, communiqué tabled, 933

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole 1650, 2006, 2194

2nd report, authority to engage services and incur expenses, 2288

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3143

New provinces, 3146

North, 3144

Unanimity, 3136

Criminal Code, Immigration, 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71, 1789

Human rights, 1789

Disarmament

United States-U.S.S.R. agreement on nuclear weapons reductions, Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, statement, government position, qu, 2351

Dunton, Davidson, the late, tribute, 484

Foreign Affairs Committee

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3649

Reports

4th, international financial system and institutions, budget for study, 760

10th, Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68, 1899

11th, Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 2241

12th, budget to study elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, 2500

See appendix p. 2514

Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2755

Middle East, 125

Moscow Summit, 1988

Congratulations to Secretary of State for External Affairs on appraisal of meeting and to United States and Soviet Leaders, 3637

National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1316, 1487

Branch line abandonments, 1318

Deregulation of air services, 1317

Extended interswitching limits and competitive line rates, 1318

Safeguards for special interests of northern commerce, 1318

Nobel Peace Prize

Congratulatory message to President Oscar Arias Sanchez of Costa Rica, 1953

Patent bill C-22

Message from Commons, motion for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2159

Persons Award

Inclusion of ceremony in Debates of the Senate, 2065

Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1982

Prime Ministers, former

Bennett, Rt. Hon. R.B., the late, erection of commemorative statue, qu, 2231

Diefenbaker, Rt. Hon. John George, the late, preservation of birthplace, 2231

Prince Edward Island

Proposed fixed crossing to mainland, possibility of referendum, qu, 2165

Privilege, 2292

Senate

Business, 1929

Delay in production of Debates and Minutes

Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 401

Macquarrie, Hon. Heath—Cont'd

- Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories
 - Deadline for presentation of interim report and extension of deadline for final report, 2290, 2309
- Shipping Conferences Exemption, 1987 bill C-21, 1528
 - Competition Act exemption limitations, 1530
 - Conference system, 1529
 - Dispute resolution procedure, 1530
 - Liner trade, 1529
 - Loyalty contracts, 1530
 - Service contracts, 1529
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee report
 - 13th, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3437, 3449
- Transport
 - Prince Edward Island
 - Highway construction, government funding, qu, 3658
 - Lighthouses, qu, 983
- Tribute on 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons, 1211
- Turks and Caicos islands, union or association with Canada, 639
 - Unique challenge, 642
- United Nations, 123
- Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, 2958, 3225, 3473
 - Allegations of mismanagement of funds by Inuvialuit Regional Corporation, 3474
 - Canadian Reindeer Limited, 3474
 - Inuvialuit Final Agreement, amendment consent procedure, 2959
 - Negotiation and government involvement, 3475

Maintenance of ports operations

- Conciliation commissioner's findings, 212
- Container clause, 211, 215, 217, 220
- Dangers for export trade, 214
- Longshoring dispute background, 211
- Make-up of commission, 219
- Penalty provision imbalance, 214, 215, 219, 224
- Port facilities extension, 220
- Terms of collective agreement, 222
- Unusual term of contract, 215, 217
- Use of legislative authority, 223

Speakers; Senators

- Doody, C. William, 211
- Lawson, Edward M., 215, 218
- MacEachen, Allan J., 219
- Olson, H.A., 213, 217
- Sinclair, Ian, 217
- Stewart, John B., 223
- van Roggen, George, 219
 - and
- Cadieux, Hon. Pierre, Minister of Labour, 217

Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24. 1r, 210; 2r, 211; ref

- to Committee of the Whole, 216; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Pierre Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 216; rep without amdt, 226; 3r, 226; r.a., 226

Maintenance of railway operations, 1987

- Caboose issue, 1761
- Deregulation, 1761
- Effect on bulk commodity trade, 1762
- Extension of collective agreements, 1758, 1765
- Fairness, 1763, 1768
- Guidelines for arbitrators, 1762, 1769

Maintenance of railway operations, 1987—Cont'd

- Negotiation and conciliation background, 1764
- Negotiation and conciliation methods, 1772
- Right of public to rail service, 1760
- Right to settle industrial disputes by collective bargaining, 1760
- Ripple effect of rail strike, 1759
- Worker adjustment policies, 1761

Speakers: Senators

- Flynn, Jacques, 1771
- Frith, Royce, 1760, 1766
- Muir, Robert, 1772
- Murray, Lowell, 1758, 1764
- Olson, H.A., 1762, 1768
- Turner, Charles, 1761, 1769
 - and
- Cadieux, Hon. Pierre H., Minister of Labour, 1765

Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85. 1r, 1754; 2r,

- 1758; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1765; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Gildas L. Molgat in the Chair, Hon. Pierre H. Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 1765; rep of Committee of the Whole, 1773; 3r, 1773; r.a., 1774

Manitoba

- See Employment
 - Federal-provincial relations
 - Transport
 - Visitors

Manzer, Kathryn, former National Vice-President, Canadian Parents for French

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2627

Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., (deceased Aug. 28/88)

- Tributes, 4207

Marchand, Hon. Leonard S., P.C.

- "A People Apart—Natives in Saskatoon", special newspaper report, 181, 205
 - Aboriginal rights, 206
 - Education, 206
 - Media approach, 182
 - Native youth, 182
 - Self-government, 182, 205
 - Senate legislative right re Indians and Indian lands, 207

Aboriginal peoples

- First Ministers' Conference, March, 1987, treaty Indian representation, qu, 673
- Native Economic Development Program, inclusion of primary resource industries, government action, qu, 488, 585
- Native land claims, government policy qu, 235, 294
- Post-secondary education
 - Courses on reserves, level of funding, qu, 788
 - Government policy, qu, 359, 395
 - Inadequacy, qu, 1643
 - Student assistance programs, qu, 1091, 1339

Agriculture

- Breeding herds, dispersal of in drought-stricken areas, tax deferral on livestock sales, exclusion of British Columbia cattlemen from provision, qu, 4465, 4478, 4542
- Agriculture, western Canada drought conditions, motion to refer to committee, 3457
 - Waterholes, 3457
- Agriculture and Forestry Committee report
 - 7th, Animal Pedigree bill C-67, 3317

Marchand, Hon. Leonard S., P.C.—Cont'd

- Animal Pedigree bill C-67, 3224
- "Registered" in connection with "purebred", concerns, 3224
- British Columbia
 - South Moresby, establishment of national park, qu, 1247
 - Breakdown of negotiations, qu, 3547
 - Reported statement by Premier, discussions between Prime Minister and Premier, qu, 1273
 - Status of negotiations, qu, 1338, 1399
- Constitution
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2204, 2263, 2750, 2865, 3009
 - First Ministers' Conference, aboriginal rights, priority agenda item, qu, 1125
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualifications of Senators) S-12, 1335, 2307
 - Appropriateness of bill to amend Constitution Act, 2308
 - Deletion of special provision for Quebec senators, 2309
 - Discrimination against Indians, 2309
 - Obsolescence of property qualification, 2308
 - Senate reform, 2309
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, m to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to legislative assemblies and four national aboriginal organizations, 4035
- Hansen, Rick, "Man in Motion", tribute on completion of world tour, 1048
- Indian Affairs
 - Control of education, impact of Master Tuition Agreement, qu, 3223
 - Government action, qu, 3264, 3424
 - West Bank Indian band, legal costs of inquiry, qu, 557
- Indian bill C-115, 3639, 3686
 - "Designated" lands, 3639
 - Government of British Columbia record, 3640
 - Provincial taxation rights on reserves, 3640
- Indian Lands Agreement (1986) bill C-73, 4092
 - Broken treaty promises, 4092
 - Establishment of Senate committee on aboriginal issues, 4093
- Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouses preferential share) bill C-123, 4281
- Official Languages bill C-72, 4027
 - Aboriginal languages, 4028
- Senate
 - Adjournment, 1585

Maritime provinces

- Isthmus of Chignecto, suggested canal, 2243
- Trans-Canada Highway upgrading, request for government assistance, 2352

"Marketing of Fish in Canada"

See Fisheries Committee

Marriage (prohibited degrees)

- Hubbard, Prof. H. Albert, Q.C., University of Ottawa, "Marriage Prohibitions, Adoption, and Private Acts of Parliament: The Need for Reform," recommendations, 594
- Lineal adoptive relationship prohibition, 593
- Speakers: Senators
 - Hicks, Henry D., 664
 - Nurgitz, Nathan, 592

Marriage (Prohibited Degrees) bill S-5. 1r, 501; 2r, 592, 664, 795; ref to com, 795; rep without amdt, 1117; 3r, 1249

Marsden, Hon. Lorna

- Aboriginal peoples
 - First Ministers Conference, March, 1987, treaty Indian representation, qu, 674
- Abortion
 - Borowski appeal to Supreme Court of Canada
 - Government request for delay, government legislative action, qu, 4045
 - Lack of grounds, intervention by REAL Women, reason for government inaction, qu, 3754
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee report
 - 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, with amds, 3250, 3267
- British Columbia, Prof. Ross Lambertson and students from Camosun College, visit, 2825
- Canada Child Care bill C-144, 4507
 - Canada Assistance Plan, 4508
- Cook Report, findings, 4508
- Dissatisfaction of advocacy groups, 4510
- Fiscal arrangements, 4511
- Japanese experience, 4508
- Legislative process, 4510
- Parental participation, 4507
- Provincial positions, 4510
- Tax benefits for highest income brackets, 4509
- Canada Labour Code bill C-97, 2445, 2484
- Canada Labour Code bill C-124, 3993
 - Amendment process, 3993
 - Cooperative consultations, 3993
- Canada-United States relations
 - Free trade negotiations, advisory group, female representation, qu, 1316, 1507
- Constitution
 - Committee of the Whole
 - Motion for appointment of Submissions Group, 2595
 - Motion re witnesses to be heard by Submissions Group, 2772
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Advisers to government appearing before Special Joint Committee, qu, 1699
 - Clause 16, status of women, government action, qu, 1644
 - Possible government contract on consultancy work of certain witnesses appearing before special joint committee, qu, 1779
 - Request for answer, 1992
 - Source of legal opinions, consultations with experts, nature and sources of advice, qu, 1660
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2132, 2140, 2194, 2253, 2335, 2450, 2565, 2573, 2612, 2617, 2624, 2733, 2743, 2749, 2805, 2811, 2856, 2862, 2870, 2920, 3002
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3109
 - Gender equality rights, 3110
 - Public hearings, 3115
- Copyright bill C-60, 2767
 - Collectives, 2769
 - Committee report, 3250
 - Copyright used as means of destruction, 2767
 - Exhibition rights, 2768
 - Mechanical reproduction rights provision, 2769
 - Retroactivity, 2768
 - Statute of limitations clause, 2768
- Corporations and Labour Unions Returns bill C-91, 2562
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3537, 3630, 3719
- Employment
 - Summer Youth Employment Program, qu, 358, 395

Marsden, Hon. Lorna—Cont'd

- Employment equity
 - Canadian Human Rights Act, status of amendments, qu, 1300, 1507
 - Compliance with Act, qu, 3574, 3713
 - Government Consultants International, compliance with Federal Government Contracting Program, qu, 3754
- Fiji
 - Current political situation
 - Government position, qu, 1951
 - Government stance at Commonwealth Conference, consultations with Fijian community, qu, 1884, 1913, 2126
- Foreign affairs
 - Paraguay, status of Senor Hermen Rafael Saguier, government knowledge and action, qu, 4043, 4177
 - Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, reaction of Progressive Conservative Party, qu, 2782, 2845, 2931, 2981
- Government of Canada
 - Contracts for consultancy work, qu, 2359
- Illiteracy in Canada, 797
 - "Choices for Childcare, Now and in the Future", Lucie Pépin, 799
 - Learning disabilities, 798
 - Quality child-care, 799
 - UNESCO definition, rule of thumb, 797
- Immigration
 - Refugee status, government policy, qu, 2350
- Indian Lands Agreement(1986) bill C-73, 4093
- National Defence
 - Advisory group to minister on regulation of political activities in Canadian Forces establishments, report, recommendations 3 and 4, government action, qu, 3150, 3236
 - Withdrawn, 3234
- Canadian Armed Forces
 - Appointment for senior officers, female representation, qu, 2603, 2829
 - Political rights of spouses, status of regulations, qu, 4239, 4314
- Committee study of concerns of military families, status of report and nature of recommendations, qu, 1755, 1873, 2829
- Presentation and publication of report, 2538
- Request for answer, 1991, 2490
- National Finance Committee reports
 - 7th, post-secondary education, 1007
 - 18th, Estimates, year ending Mar. 31/88, 2968
- National Gallery of Canada
 - Child-care facilities, qu, 3423, 3713
- National Transportation, 1987 bill C-131, 3776
 - Appointment of disabled to National Transportation Agency, 3776
 - Canadian Journal of Public Health*, article, 3776
- New senators, words of welcome, 230
- Public Works
 - Sidney, British Columbia, construction of breakwater, qu, 4239
- Reproductive technology
 - Proposed royal commission, status of, qu, 4239
 - Royal commission, request for appointment, government action, qu, 2382, 2829
- Research and development
 - Government funding of post-secondary education, qu, 335
 - National Research Council funding, government policy, qu, 120, 144
 - Scientific meeting in Stockholm, Canadian representation, qu, 336, 394
 - Space research agency location, qu, 121
- Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2878

Marsden, Hon. Lorna—Cont'd

- Secretary of State
 - Women's Program budget, qu, 2883
- Senate
 - Question Period
 - Request for answers, 1912
- Senate reform
 - Process to be adopted, public representation and meetings, qu, 3331
- Shipbuilding
 - Class 8 icebreaker
 - Announcement of construction in Vancouver shipyards, qu, 557
 - Design, Canadian icebreaking technology, government policy, qu, 557, 570
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - 7th report, "Child Benefits—Proposal for a Guaranteed Family Supplement Scheme", 3405
- Sport
 - Definition of 'age of puberty', qu, 57, 80
- Statistics Canada
 - Census, public-use sample tape, restoration of funding for, effect on Canadian students of necessity to use U.S. data, qu, 2077, 2232
- Status of women
 - Canadian job strategy, availability of funds, qu, 1477, 1648
- Tax reform
 - White paper
 - Twenty consultants, female representation, qu, 1298, 1315, 1339, 1630
 - Names and gender, qu, 1476
 - Government leader's answer, right of senators to ask questions, 1301
- Unemployment Insurance Benefit Entitlement Adjustments (Pension Payments) bill C-50, 1249
 - Pension and severance payments, income for purposes of defining UI benefits, 1249
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116, 2957, 2963
- University Women's Club of Ottawa, visit, 830
- Youth
 - Beat-the-Street Program, length of term, qu, 1899, 1912

Marshall, Hon. Jack

- Atlantic Enterprise Program, projects in Newfoundland, qu, 2657
- Auditor General
 - Budget for past 10 years, qu, 2473
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee report
 - 19th, Patent bill C-22, re question and message from House of Commons, 2087
- Battle of Vimy Ridge
 - 70th anniversary, tribute, 869
- Canada Day
 - Provincial/territorial committees, nomination of presidents and vice-presidents, qu, 1757
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 512, 538, 560, 653, 661, 717, 925
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 456
- Canada Post Corporation
 - Sponsorship of U.S. television series "Amerika," 527
- Canada-United States relations
 - State dinner in honour of President and Mrs. Reagan, qu, 1340
- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation
 - Corner Brook, Newfoundland, radio-television station, qu, 587
- Canadian Human Rights Commission
 - Membership, qu, 266
- Canadian Pension Plan Advisory Board
 - Membership by federal constituency, qu, 1648

Marshall, Hon. Jack—Cont'd

- Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, 4104
- Borrowing and investment, 4105
- Payments to shippers to railway cars, 4105
- Quota systems, 4105
- Quota system for Canola, 4105
- Coastal Fisheries Protection bill C-26, 307, 345, 365
 - Expanded detection measures, 308
 - Japanese permit for east coast tuna fishery, 345, 365
 - Substantially increased fines, 308
- Comptroller General
 - Budget 1978-79 through 1987-88, qu, 2782
 - See appendix p. 2792
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1441, 2133
- Currency bill C-99, 2559
- Employment and Immigration
 - Canada Employment and Immigration Advisory Council, members, qu, 1479
- Fisheries
 - Interim committee report on freshwater fisheries, response of Manitoba minister, inquiry, 2207
 - Withdrawn, 2540
- Fisheries and oceans
 - Canadian Saltfish Corporation, directors, qu, 1480
- Fisheries Committee
 - Boston Seafood Show, Mar. 8-10, 1988, authority to attend, 2722
 - Fish marketing in Canada, authority to study, 33
 - Authority to publish and distribute, 1473
- Reports
 - Interim, fish marketing in Canada, 90, 118, 560
 - 1st, 118, 122
 - See appendix p. 134
 - 2nd, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 159
 - See Journals of the Senate
 - 3rd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar. 31/87, 291, 383
 - See appendix p. 320
 - 4th, study of marketing of fish in Canada, authority to extend date of final reporting, 780
 - 5th, Marketing of Fish in Canada (2nd interim rep), tabled, 2318, 2362
 - 6th, Marketing of Fish in Canada, extension of date of final report, 2825
 - 7th, supplementary budget, 4199
 - See appendix p. 4205
- Fisheries Improvement Loans bill C-32, 366
- Freshwater fisheries, response of federal and provincial ministers to interim report of committee, inquiry, 1336, 1557
- Northern dependency on commercial freshwater fishery, 1557
- Ontario region, 1558
- Western region, 1558
- Government House
 - Historic plaque ceremony, guest list, qu, 395
- Health care, motion for appointment of special Senate committee, 1806
- Extension of Veterans Independence Program to senior citizens, 1807
- Health Action Network Society, 1807
- Veterans Independence Program, 1806
- Human rights
 - Japanese Canadians, government apology and compensation, 3990

Marshall, Hon. Jack—Cont'd

- Industrial and Regional Development Program, projects in Newfoundland, qu, 2657
- See appendix p. 2667
- Medical Research Council of Canada
 - Membership by province, qu, 2211
- National Advisory Council on Aging
 - Members, by federal district or province, qu, 2126
- National Defence
 - Appointment of special committee, 839
 - Report
 - 1st, authority to engage services and to travel, 1106
- National Film Board
 - Film entitled "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", public response to petition, 2053, 2070, 2088, 2128, 2235
 - Order discharged, 3815
 - Presentation of petitions, 2147
 - "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss," motion to refer report back to committee, 390, 1112, 1132, 1154, 1306, 1560
 - CBC, quote, 1154
 - Commitment to well-being of all veterans, 1155
 - Conflicting statements and inconsistencies, 1114
 - Docu-dramas, a blurring of reality, a license to lie, 1156
 - Failure to add disclaimer, 1115
 - Grierson, John, Commissioner of NFB, quote, 1113
 - Privilege, new information re intention of NFB to produce documentary on Billy Bishop, 2286
- National Health and Welfare
 - National Welfare Fellowships awarded for 1988-89 for doctoral studies, qu, 4177
- National Prisoners of War Association, representatives, visit, 1310
- Newfoundland
 - Breakdown of specific federal government spending, replies by ministers, tabled, 1865
- Newfoundland veterans, 45th anniversary of Murmansk convoys, tribute by Russian Ambassador, 2824
- Ocean Industry Development Subsidiary Agreement, projects in Newfoundland, qu, 2657
- See appendix p. 2664
- Ottawa Citizen article of November 18, 1986, 390
- Paperwork Reduction Advisory Committee
 - Small businesses and tourism, qu, 2589
- Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1411
- Post-secondary education
 - Breakdown of funding and monitoring of distribution, qu, 1757
- Public Works
 - Contracts awarded in province of Newfoundland, qu, 2550
- Regional Industrial Expansion
 - Report entitled "A Study Concerning Fresh Fish Shipments by Air from Western Newfoundland Points", qu, 4178
- Remembrance Day, "Lest We Forget", 186
- Senate
 - Question Period, delayed answers, 3990
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 2767
- Senior citizens
 - Observation of special week in tribute, 1311
- Small Businesses Loans bill C-63, 1561
 - Dollar limit, 1562
 - Flexibility 1561
 - Guaranteed loans for fishermen, 1561
 - Interest rates, 1561
 - Longer lending window, 1561
 - Payback time limit, 1562

Marshall, Hon. Jack—Cont'd

- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - Report, 17th, National Film Board production "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", 3791
 - See appendix p., 3857
- Veterans Affairs
 - Authority to study document entitled "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force)—Service to the Public—Veterans", 160, 207
 - Authority to extend date of final reporting, 784, 2882
- Standing Rules and Orders Committee
 - 11th report, re establishment of Environment Committee, 3579
- Transport
 - Prince Edward Island, status of CN Rail system, prospective federal-provincial agreement, 3990
- Veterans Affairs
 - Pensioners training regulations, qu, 2558
- Veterans Affairs and Senior Citizens, subcommittee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3150
- Veterans Affairs, change in name of subcommittee, inquiry, 3096
 - Withdrawn, 3523
- Veterans Affairs, survivor benefits, anomalies in legislation, inquiry, 2207
 - Withdrawn, 2546
- Veterans Appeal Board bill C-66, 1493, 1528
 - Merging of Pension Review Board and War Veteran's Allowance Board, 1493
- War Veterans Allowance, amendment of Act, inquiry, 2350, 2786
 - Unfair residency restriction, 2786
 - Withdrawn, 3442
- War Veterans Allowance and Civilian War Pensions and Allowances
 - Motion for government consideration of amendment of legislation, 3096, 3251, 3259, 3442
 - People living in destitute conditions, 3260
 - Reciprocal agreement with United Kingdom, 3444
 - Rights under Charter and Constitution, 3443
 - Veterans residing abroad, 3261
- War Veterans, benefit legislation, inquiry, 2160, 2235
 - "Canada service only", 2236
 - Casual earnings, 2237
 - Disability pension, 2238
 - "Harmonization", 22237
 - "Near recipients", 2237
 - VIP program, 2236

McDermid, John, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to Minister of International Trade

- Export and Import Permits bill C-57, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1129
- Monitoring proposal, 1134

McElman, Hon. Charles R.

- Agriculture
 - Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to refer to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3449
- Cabinet
 - Statements attributed to Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources, request for government action, qu, 3424
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Softwood lumber products, grandfathering of Memorandum of Understanding, qu, 4188, 4224
 - Status of and statements attributed to Canadian Trade Ambassador, government position, qu, 3423
 - Government restraint action, qu, 3548
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4448

McElman, Hon. Charles R.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States relations
 - Canadian potash, imposition of U.S. tariff, government action, 701
 - Free trade negotiations
 - Remarks by U.S. senator, need for education, qu, 871
 - Softwood lumber export duty, possible exemption for maritime provinces, qu, 703
- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation
 - Board of Directors, inadequacy of regional representation, qu, 4058
- Constitution
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Tabling of resolution, position of Government of New Brunswick, qu, 3335
 - First Ministers' Accord
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, advice given on definition and effect, qu, 947
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2131, 3054
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3146, 3197
 - New Brunswick position, 3197
 - Provincial positions in 1982, 3198
 - Referral to Supreme Court, 3199
- Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, inquiry, 1046
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1238
- Environment
 - Acid rain
 - Agreement with provinces to reduce emissions, repudiation by Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, qu, 583
- Export and Import Permits bill C-57, 1128, 1130
 - "Back-door" approach to avoid U.S. law, 1128
- Fisheries
 - Canada-France agreement, representation at federal-provincial consultations, qu, 507
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3519
 - Message from Commons, bill attached, 4056
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 14th, Special Committee on study of Bill C-22 budget, 1002
 - 30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1860
 - 60th, printing requests: submission by Ottawa Citizen, 3881
- Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3507
- Maritime provinces
 - Isthmus of Chignecto, suggested canal, qu, 2243
- McGrand, Hon. Fred A. the late, tribute, 4256
 - On resignation, 2601
- National defence
 - Frigate construction, awarding of contract, qu, 2243
- National Finance Committee report
 - 7th, post-secondary education, 818
- National Statistics Council
 - Membership, regional representation, qu, 68, 81, 608, 1506
 - Request for answer, 872
- New Brunswick
 - Landry, Hon. Aldéa, congratulations on cabinet appointment, qu, 2078
- Patent bill C-22, 1347
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1816
- Pharmaceutical companies, R&D commitment, statement by Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, qu, 2077

McElman, Hon. Charles R.—Cont'd

- Parliament Hill
 - Condition of sidewalks, qu, 1988
 - Quick corrective action of government, 2166
- Senate, 893
 - Adjournment, 1587
 - Point of order, 871, 872
 - Privilege, 3491, 4522
 - Privilege, motion to refer to committee, 893
 - Vacancies, filling of, reasons for delay, qu, 3548
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 2644, 2764, 3439
 - Equality and fairness, 2765
 - Remuneration for chairmen of national caucuses, 2765
 - Senate pension benefits, 2766
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - Childhood poverty and adult social problems, authority to study relationship, 3410
 - Report, 13th, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement Bill C-102, 3449
- Special Senate Committee on Bill C-22 report
 - 3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1637
- Veterans Appeal Board bill C-66, 1493, 1527
- Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, 1281

McGrand, Hon. Fred A. (resigned Jan.22/88, deceased Sept. 4/88)

- Tributes, 2601, 4255

McIntosh, Hon. Cameron Irwin, the late

- Former Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan, tributes, 4491

McKnight, Hon. William, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development

- Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3239

Medical Research Council of Canada

- Membership, by province, 2211

Meech Lake Constitutional Accord

- Appointment of senators to serve on Submissions Group, 2634
- Submissions Group
 - Authority to permit coverage by electronic media, 2758
- See also* Constitution, First Minister's Accord and agreed texts Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories

Mexico

- See* Visitors

Middle East, 125

- Gaza Strip, recent incidents, government action, 2490

Ministry

- Reported resignation of Minister of Agriculture, 4437
- Request for appointment of Minister of State for Cooperatives, lack of response, 4458
- Role of Deputy Prime Minister, 143, 265

Miscellaneous Statute Law amendment, 1987

- Speakers: Senators
 - Frith, Royce, 2539, 2559
 - Nurgitz, Nathan, 2539, 2559

Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment, 1987 bill C-104. 1r, 2531; 2r, 2539, 2559; 3r, 2586; r.a., 2651Mitterrand, François, President of France

- Address to both houses, 1047, 1048
- See* appendix p. 1079

Molgat, Hon. Gildas L.

- Acting Speaker, 1775
- Agriculture
 - Sugar-beet industry, government action, qu, 959
- Agriculture and Forestry Committee
 - Souris River, Saskatchewan, m to authorize study of granting of federal licence, 4465, 4480
 - Effect for downstream users, 4481
 - Transfer from Qu'Appelle River, 4481
 - Urgency, 4481

Air Canada

- Future of crown corporation, qu, 167
- Winnipeg, Manitoba, reduction in operations, government policy, 337

Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4097Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C.

- Felicitations on election as president of l'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, 2517
- Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, Fifteenth General Assembly, Quebec City, 176
- Sixteenth General Assembly, Yaoundé, Cameroon, 2779
- Report of Canadian section, tabled, 2779
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement
 - Report of Committee of the Whole, 561
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4266, 4331, 4417, 4448
- Point of order, 4266
- Canada-United States free trade negotiations, inquiry, 1109
- Canadair Limited Divestiture Authorization bill C-25, 398
- Canadian sovereignty

The north

- Government policy, qu, 293, 299
- Government protest to U.S. government, qu, 296, 585

Constitution

- Amending resolution, time limit for consideration by the Senate, qu, 2980
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Possibility of recalling provincial legislatures, qu, 1166
- First Ministers' Accord
 - Definition of Quebec as distinct society, effect on use of French outside Quebec, 945
 - Discussion by Parliament of proposal on Senate reform, qu, 1697
 - Discussions between Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations and Premier of Manitoba, qu, 1052
 - Federal spending power, position of Premier of Manitoba, qu, 950
 - Prime Minister's meetings with western premiers, qu, 957
 - Request for tabling of correspondence, qu, 1093
 - Senate reform, recommendations for appointment, qu, 946, 950
 - Quebec vacancy, qu, 983
 - Source of proposal, qu, 1089
 - Senate timetable for completion of deliberations, 2795
- First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 1323, 1325, 1349, 1440, 1537, 1650, 1749, 1995, 2129, 2188, 2327, 2447, 2562, 2605, 2730, 2778, 2797, 2850, 2911, 2982, 3047, 3930
- Correction to record, 2580
- Motion re appointment of submissions group, 2594
- Motion re witnesses to be heard by Submissions Group, 2769
- Motion to televise proceedings, 1454
- Report of Submissions Group, tabled, 2981
- See* appendix p. 3037

Molgat, Hon. Gildas L. —Cont'd

- Constitution—Cont'd
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, (Chairman, Committee of the Whole)—Cont'd
 - Reports of Committee of the Whole
 - 1st, establishment of Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories, 1751
 - 2nd, authority to engage services and to incur expenses, 2286
 - 3rd, tabled, 3931 See Journals of the Senate
 - Submissions group, recommendation, 2596
 - Task Force, final report, 2778
 - Still photography pool authorized to record March 30 proceedings, 2907
 - First Ministers' Conference
 - Consultations with territorial governments, qu, 1125
 - Status of Francophones outside Quebec, qu, 877
 - Proposed amendment, 1987, motion
 - Motion in amendment, 3091
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate) bill S-20, 4360, 4535
 - Election, 4361
 - House of Commons, 4361
 - Power in the chamber, 4361
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3182, 3189, 3199, 3217
 - First Ministers concept, 3200
 - French Canadians outside Quebec, 3201
 - National interest, 3200
 - Process, 3200
 - Separatism, 3199
- Electoral Boundaries Readjustment (Chapleau) bill C-308, 4125
- Emergencies bill C-77, (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 3526, 3578, 3716, 3766
 - Meeting of steering committee, 3610
 - Report with amdt, 3774
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Authority to engage services, 75
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1075
- Environment
 - Rafferty-Alameda Dams Project, issuance of licence for, protection of Manitoba's interests, qu, 4379, 4461, 4467
 - Responsibility of government to conduct study, qu, 4458, 4468, 4490
- Federal-provincial relations
 - Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 555
- Equality of treatment of provinces, effect of awarding of CF-18 contract, 140
- Equalization and financial matters
 - Tabling of correspondence between Manitoba Minister of Finance and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
 - Tabling of correspondence between Premier of Manitoba and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
 - Tabling of correspondence between Premier of Quebec and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
 - Tabling of correspondence between Quebec Minister of Finance and Government of Canada, 1049, 1461
- Fisheries Committee
 - Fish marketing in Canada, (interim) report, 559
- Fisheries Improvement Loans bill C-32, 349
 - Inland fishery, 349
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Verification of signatories to committee report, qu, 4313
- Fur industry
 - Proposed British labelling of Canadian products, government action, qu, 3583, 3921

Molgat, Hon. Gildas L. —Cont'd

- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103
 - Message from Commons re disagreement with division of bill, bill attached, 4056, 4118
 - Motion to instruct committee to divide bill into two bills, 3571
 - Speaker's ruling, 3587
- Haiti, current situation, inquiry, 2288, 2311
 - Canada's role, 2314
 - Conseil d'élection provisoire, 2312
 - Election procedures, 2312
 - National Democratic Institute, 2311
 - Violence, 2313
 - See appendix p. 2316*
- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 2399
- Health and Welfare
 - Alberta Health Insurance legislation, government position, qu, 625
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4474
- Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, 2392, 2446, 2486
 - Nation-wide uniform health and safety code, 2446
- Indian Affairs
 - Alleged misuse of Manitoba Indian band funds, qu, 361, 395
- Industry
 - Aerospace
 - Allocation of contracts, government policy, qu, 453
 - Allocation of service contracts, qu, 18, 78, 79, 119
 - Awarding of CF-18 service contract to Canadair, ownership and technology transfer considerations, qu, 160
 - Foreign firms bidding on contracts in Canada, government policy, qu, 140
- International trade
 - Softwood lumber, imposition of duty by European countries, qu, 506
- Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3507
- Langlois, Hon. Léopold, tribute on retirement, 4538
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 1765
 - Report of Committee of the Whole, 1773
- MacNeil, John Forbes, Q.C., the late, 4165
- National Defence
 - Canadian Armed Forces, role of women and homosexuals, white paper, government policy, qu, 297, 361
 - Nuclear-powered submarines, status of program, transfer of technology, qu, 4438, 4478
- National parks
 - Payment to provinces for land to establish parks, government policy, qu, 1645, 1662
- Official languages
 - Alberta legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, 3756
- Official Languages Committee
 - Authority to meet during sittings and adjournments of the Senate, 138
- Patent bill C-22, 1748
 - Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2184
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 1970
 - Report of Committee of the Whole, 1982
- Refugees
 - General amnesty, government policy, qu, 4461
- Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2879
- Royal Assent bill S-19, 4123

Molgat, Hon. Gildas L. —Cont'd

Senate

- Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, 391, 2442
- Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 400
- First Ministers' Accord, method of appointment of senators, Quebec vacancies, qu, 1399
- Privilege, motion to refer to committee, 893
- Vacancies, filling of, role of provinces and territories, qu, 2208

Senate reform

- Inclusion on agenda for next First Ministers' Conference, qu, 876
- Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories
- Authority to permit electronic media coverage of proceedings in Whitehorse, Yellowknife and Iqaluit, 1810
- Deadline for presentation of interim report and extension of deadline for final report, 2289, 2309, 2589
- Extension of reporting date, 1805, 2160
- Reduction of quorum, 2053

Soviet Union

- Motion on religious freedom, 4473

Special Senate Committee on Bill C-22, reports

- 3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1638
- 7th, Patent Act amendment bill C-22, with amends
- Motion in amdt, 1716

Standing Rules and Orders Committee

- Authority to re-examine Appendix III of Rules of the Senate, 714
- Oral report
- Accommodation in gallery re Committee of the Whole, Mar.31/88, 2817

Reports

- 1st, change of rule re Official Languages Committee, 137, 174
- 2nd, committee meetings, conformance with Rules of the Senate, 1472
- 3rd, name change of Joint Committee on Regulations and other Statutory Instruments, 2603, 2646
- 4th, amendment of rule 112 of Rules of the Senate, 2603, 2646
- 5th, voting procedure, 2825, 2848
- Ringing of bells, 2849
- 6th, public petitions, 2826, 2849
- 7th, seating in chamber for former senators, 2881, 2910
- 8th, name change for Regulations and Statutory Instruments Committee 2881, 2911
- 9th, printing of texts of postponed Orders of the Day, 3385, 3441
- 10th, Rules of the Senate, amendment, 3509, 3578
- 11th, flexibility of Rules of the Senate, 3510, 3579
- 12th, minutes, committee meetings, 3758, 3805
- 13th, committee reports on bills, 3758, 3806
- OASIS network, oral report, 168

Transport

- Municipal airports, funding, government policy, qu, 435, 585
- Port of Churchill, Manitoba, shipment of grain through, qu, 4176, 4224

United Nations

- Iran-Iraq border peacekeeping contingent, return of some Canadian members, qu, 4525, 4542

Veterans Affairs, change in name of subcommittee, inquiry withdrawn, 3524

War Veterans Allowance, inquiry, 3320

Western Diversification

- Allocation of funds to Manitoba for municipal infrastructure, qu, 3799
- Request for answer, 4177

Molot, H.J.L., General Counsel, Advisory and Administrative Law Section, Department of Justice

- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3625

Molson, Hon. Hartland de M. Molson

- Cameron, Hon. Donald, tribute on resignation from Senate, 1888
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4417

Brewing industry, 4418

Protectionism, 4418

U.S. deficits, 4418

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord

- Recognition of Quebec as distinct society, protection of anglophone minority, qu 943

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2004, 2579

Constitutional Accord, 1987

- Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, motion to concur, 1275

Energy and Natural Resources Committee

Authority to engage services, 75

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report

- 60th, printing requests: submission by Ottawa Citizen, 3881

Jamaica

- Hurricane relief, government assistance, qu, 4406

Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3507

McGrand, Hon. Fred A., the late, tribute, 4256

Patent bill C-22

- Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amends and for non-insistence on certain Senate amends, 2213

- Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1834

Senate

- Delay in commencing sittings, 1838

Question Period

- Point of order, possible revision of rule 20, 2166

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)

- Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 937

Report

- 6th, Bill C-22 with amends, 1674

Transport

- Air traffic control service, transfer from Ottawa to Gatineau, qu, 1661, 1873

Montreal Trust Company of Canada

- Amalgamation of Montreal Trust Company and Montreal Trust Company of Canada, 3659

Background, 3659

Speakers: Senators

- Buckwold, Sidney L., 3660

- Cogger, Michel, 3659

Montreal Trust Company of Canada bill S-17. 1r, 3616; 2r, 3659; ref to com, 3661; rep without amdt, 3751; 3r, 3800; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 3996; r.a., 4109Morse, Bradford, Professor of Law, University of Ottawa

- Constitution, First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2262

Morgan, Peter George, High Commissioner for Barbados, visit, 354Moscow Summit, 1988

- Congratulations to Secretary of State for External Affairs on appraisal of meeting and to United States and Soviet leaders, 3637

Motor vehicle transport

- Administration, provincial responsibility, 1436
- Amending clause, 1483
- Deregulation and highway safety, 1483
- "Fit, willing and able", 1481
- Highway improvement funding, 1482
- Impact on Canadian trucking, 1481
- Inter-provincial information exchange, 1435
- National Safety Code, 1435, 1483
- Regulatory emphasis shifted to safety performance, 1434
- Reverse-onus test, 1434, 1481, 1483
- Standardization of driver licensing, 1435
- Transborder traffic with U.S., 1435, 1482

Speakers: Senators

- MacDonald, Finlay, 1434, 1483
- Turner, Charles, 1481

See also Transport and Communications Committee

Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19. 1r, 1413; 2r, 1434, 1481; ref to com, 1487; rep with amds, 1641, 1662; 3r, 1704; concurrence by Commons in Senate amds, 1754; r.a., 1774

Muir, Hon. Robert

- Aboriginal peoples
 - Micmac Treaty, meeting with government qu, 626
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
 - Membership, availability of information, qu, 1846
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Concerns of members of government, government leader's position, point of order, 2074
- Cape Breton Development Corporation
 - Coalminers' contract negotiation, qu, 606, 624
 - Industrial Development Division, status of, qu, 2355
- Industry
 - Sydney Steel Corporation, discussions with CN re long-term rail contracts, modernization plan, possibility of announcement, 505
- Jalbert, René, C.V., C.D., tribute re act of heroism, 1026
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1772
 - Negotiation and conciliation methods, 1772
- Macdonald, Hon. John M.
 - Felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Laws, 3347
- Senate
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 401
 - Tribute on 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons, 1211
 - War Veterans Allowance, amendment of act, inquiry, 3321

Mulroney, the Rt. Hon. Brian, Prime Minister of Canada

- Kohl, His Excellency Dr. Helmut, Chancellor of Federal Republic of Germany, address to both houses
 - Introduction, 3698
- Mitterrand, François, President of France, address to both houses
 - Introduction, 1080
- Queen Beatrix, Her Majesty, Queen of The Netherlands, address to both houses
 - Introduction, 3343
- Reagan, Ronald W., President of the United States, address to both houses
 - Introduction, 862
- Thatcher, Right Honourable Margaret, Prime Minister of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, address to both houses
 - Introduction, 3780

Multinational corporations

- Elimination of minority equity interests, impact of enhanced Canada-United States trade, 2828, 3099

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C., Leader of the Government and Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations

- Abbott, Hon. Douglas Charles, P.C., the late, tribute, 628
- Aboriginal constitutional affairs, 51
- Aboriginal peoples
 - Constitution, entrenchment of right to self-government, 436
 - Draft agreement, distribution of powers, 789
 - Failure of First Ministers' Conference to reach agreement, definition of "self-government", 785
 - Establishment of models of self-government north of 60, 786
 - Inuit of western Arctic land claims settlement, request for investigation of disbursement of funds, 1643
 - Leaked document, contents, government position, 3334
 - Micmac Treaty, meeting with government, 627
 - Native Economic Development Program, inclusion of primary resource industries, government action, 488
 - Native land claims, 235, 294
 - Post-secondary education, government policy, 360
 - Courses on reserves, level of funding, 788
 - Government support of outreach programs, 787
 - National forum, aboriginal representation, 788
 - Student assistance programs, 1092
 - Inadequacy, 1644
 - Self-government and native land claims, government policy, 4175
 - Services and recognition of rights, government policy, role of provinces, 3989

Abortion

- Borowski appeal to Supreme Court of Canada
 - Government request for delay, government legislative action, 4044
 - Lack of grounds, intervention by REAL Women, reason for government inaction, 3754
- Equal access in provinces, decision of British Columbia re funding, 2654
- Judgment of Supreme Court of Canada, government action, 2635
- Rights of the unborn
 - Government policy, 3328
 - Government position, 2655
 - Introduction of legislation, 2655
 - Government accommodation for church leaders, 3283
 - Government inconsistency, form of protection, 3285
 - Opportunity for free vote, government position, 3283
 - Report and draft of legislation prepared for Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops, request for tabling, 3285
 - Role of the Senate in consideration of question, 3285
- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 44

Aerospace

- Establishment of national agency, 4506

Agriculture

- Acid rain, effect on maple syrup production in Quebec, government action, 4261, 4262
- Alberta, drought relief program, signing of agreement, 3864
- Breeding herds in drought-stricken areas, dispersal of, tax deferral on livestock sales, 4175
- Exclusion of British Columbia cattlemen from provision, 4466, 4478
 - Request for answer, 4542
- Deficiency payments to western farmers
 - Delay in payment of second instalment, 958, 1175
 - 1987 crop year, 1248, 1300, 1756, 2318
 - Government action, 1844, 1863, 1953 Request for answer, 2124

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'dAgriculture—Cont'd

- Drought relief program, enhancement, 4503
- Eastern potato farmers, commitment by former minister, 4465
- Farm Credit Corporation loans, moratorium, 528, 567, 570
- Farm credit crisis
 - Assistance payments, request for information, 2547
 - Discussions between government and banks, 959
 - Government action, 602
 - Request for clarification of delayed answer, 875
- Farm debt, government action, 567
- Financial assistance to producers, request for information, 2381
- Government assistance, federal-provincial discussions, 16, 76
- Grain, 1987-88 crop year
 - Decline in prices, government relief measures, 1642
 - Initial price, 584
 - Level of payment, 1051, 1088
- Grain 1988-89 crop year
 - Initial price, 2882, 3069
 - Request for additional information, 3286
- Grain handlers' strike-lockout, progress of negotiations, 18
- Interest-free loan to Ford Motor Company, request for comparable treatment for farmers, 555
- Potato industry
 - Inspection fees, request for reduction, 1871
 - New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island
 - Effect of imposition of excise tax on potato chips, 1397
 - Potato stabilization payments for 1986 crop year, 1845
 - Prince Edward Island, government assistance, 3585
 - Subsidy payment for 1985 crop year, government action, 1871
 - West, effect of imposition of excise tax on red potato, 1398
- Prince Rupert grain handlers' strike, current situation, 2382, 2442
- Government action, 2319
- Sugar-beet industry, government action, 959
- Sugar-beet processing plant, Winnipeg, Manitoba, closing, 907
- Tobacco farmers of southwestern Ontario, plight of
 - Agenda item at meeting of Ministers of Agriculture, government action, 3989
 - Government assistance, 3799
- United States subsidies on grain exports, Canada-U.S. consultations, 2548
- Viability of sector, government policy, 606
- Western Canada, drought conditions
 - Effect on price of bread, 3795
 - Government assistance, 3265, 3350, 3420, 3673, 3710, 3755, 4365
 - Herd management, 3711
 - Meeting of Ministers of Agriculture, government action, 3462, 3473
- Western grain farmers, government assistance, 35, 55, 66
- Basis of payment, 243
- Western Grain Stabilization Program, final payment, 4366
- Wheat
 - Effect of deficiency payment on two-price system, 337
 - U.S. subsidized exports to China, effect on Canadian farmers, government action, 423
- Air Canada
 - Future of crown corporation, 168
 - Labour dispute, current situation, 2302, 2319, 2382
 - Indexing of pensions, 2243, 2291
 - Winnipeg, Manitoba, reduction in operations, government policy, 337
- Appropriation No.5, 1987-88 bill C-108, 2638
- Arctic sovereignty
 - Aboriginal peoples, participation in consultations, 2325

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'dArctic sovereignty—Cont'd

- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, relationship with, 2320
- Participation of territories, 2322
- Canadian claim, negotiation, participation of territories, 2303
- Environmental concerns, lack of consultation with aboriginal peoples, 3234
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
 - Criteria for approving proposals, 120
 - Expenditure of new money, 2780
- Ganong, David, status of, approval of payments to board members, investigation of alleged loan irregularities, 4035
- Introduction of legislation in Senate, 2356
- Legislation to establish, government intention, mechanism to monitor departmental activities, appointment and composition of board, criteria for access to programs, 1646
- Membership, availability of information, 1846
- Minister's statement, 1170
- Prince Edward Island, application for grant for manufacture of potato bags, 3757
- Request for text of telex from Premier of Prince Edward Island, 36, 58
- Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation bill C-27, 270
- Alternatives, 275
- CDIC assistance, 271
- Employee and depositor protection, 275
- Erosion of capital base, 270
- Hongkong Bank of Canada, 271
- Legally-enforceable provisions, 276
- Banking
 - Bank of British Columbia, acquisition of, avoidance of income tax on deposit insurance payment, 2072
 - Designation of Toronto as international centre, government policy, 77
 - Estey Commission of Inquiry, status of report, 67
 - International banking centres, proposed legislation, government policy, 486
 - Matters within exclusive federal jurisdiction, government action, 526
 - Responsibility of government leader to provide answers, question of privilege, 2073
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Report on Bill C-22, anticipated date of presentation, 1900
- Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute on retirement, 2753
- Beaudoin, Hon. Gérard-A., introduction, 4501
- Bélisle, Hon. Rhéal, felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633
- Bell, Hon. Richard A., P.C., Q.C., the late, tribute, 2879
- Bolduc, Hon. Roch, introduction, 4501
- British Columbia
 - Allocation of federal government contracts, 19
 - South Moresby, establishment of national park, 1247
 - Breakdown of negotiations, 3547
 - Reported statement by Premier, discussions between Prime Minister and Premier, 1273
 - Status of negotiations, 1399
- Cabinet
 - Statements attributed to Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources, request for government action, 3424
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 494, 511, 533, 645
- Consideration in Committee of the Whole, availability of Canadian Ambassador to France as witness, 1196
- French exploration in disputed zone, role of President of France, 1197, 1214

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement—Cont'd
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 450, 456, 468, 482
 - Speaker's ruling negated, 472
 - Motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole
 - Point of order, 489
 - Progress of negotiations, 1870
 - Provincial premiers' communiqué, 473
- Canada-France relations
 - Grain export subsidies, representations by Prime Minister to Prime Minister of France, 1778
 - President of France, visit, fisheries dispute and agricultural subsidies, President's response and authority, 1054
- Canada-Iran relations
 - Normalization of diplomatic relations, government policy, 3794
- Canada Post Corporation
 - Atlantic provinces, post office closures and amalgamations, 236
 - Collective bargaining, government policy, 1399
 - Minister responsible, replacement, 488
 - Norwood Grove, St. Boniface, closing of post office, 59
 - Postal strike
 - Appointment of mediator, government action, 1398, 1399
 - Labour policy of government, 1399
 - Prince Edward Island, closing of rural post offices, government policy, 625
 - Purpose of creation, 4351
 - Recommendation of conciliator, government action, 1398
 - Security of new mail boxes, 236
 - Sponsorship of U.S. television series "Amerika," 527
 - Transfer of post offices to private enterprise, number and location in Atlantic Canada, 3617
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Adversely affected industries, transitional assistance for, 1942
 - Availability of text, 1986
 - Cost to public, 3800
 - Benefits to Canada, suggested Senate committee hearings, 1930
 - Bi-national tribunal, nationality of chairman, 1943
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism
 - Establishment of bi-national tribunal, effect of, adjudication of application of Canadian law, 1944
 - Establishment of terms of reference for arbitration procedure, 1943
 - Findings of bi-national panel and trade commission, 1932
 - Order paper question, request for answer, 2210
 - Right of retaliatory action by injured party, 1893, 1909, 1932
 - Briefing of premiers, absence of representatives from Yukon and Northwest Territories, 1908
 - Canadian economy, effect on, 1987
 - Concerns of members of government, government leader's position, 2074
 - Cultural industries
 - Exemption of, conflicting views, 1941
 - Film distribution, status of legislation, 1895
 - Data bases and information, maintenance, protection and enhancement, 1895
 - Date of signing, imposition of deadline, 2290
 - Definition of non-tariff barriers, 1893
 - Dispute settlement mechanism, 3797
 - Document entitled "Elements of the Agreement", tabled, 1889
 - Duty-free importation of U.S. manufactured products, 1896
 - "Elements of the Agreement", request for tabling of initialled copy of document, 1920
 - Energy pricing policy, 1986
 - Energy provisions, final text of, delay in release of final text, 2324
 - Final text, date of release, 2231

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement—Cont'd
 - Foreign Affairs Committee, possibility of referral of agreement to, 1988
 - Government information program
 - Propriety and cost, 4355, 4380
 - Propriety, cessation on dissolution of Parliament, 4351
 - Government publications, availability in other languages, 4379, 4541
 - Government publicity campaign, 3549, 3550
 - Cost, status during election, availability of publications in other languages, 4459
 - Precedence for cost, 4460
 - Request for distribution of material giving opposing view, 4460
 - Government commitment to U.S. government, possibility of further legislative action, 1902
 - Heavy water, status, 3494
 - Impact of U.S. omnibus trade bill, 1904
 - Treatment of subsidies, 1891
 - Implementation, government position on agreement of provinces, effect on territories' aspirations for provincial status, 1935
 - Inclusion of Canada's fresh water resource, 3492, 3493
 - Negotiations, status of, 2357
 - Parties and signatories, 1890
 - Passage of Bill C-22
 - Effect on reaching agreement, 1906
 - Reason for government concern about, 1902
 - Request for tabling of initialled copy of document containing reference to Canada's undertaking re passage, 1921
 - Newspaper article, 1955
 - Proposed study by Foreign Affairs Committee, suggested cross-Canada hearings, 1936
 - Repercussion on Canada of possible U.S. trade legislation, 1892
 - Request for grammatically correct French text, 3672
 - Screening of takeovers, 1895
 - Softwood lumber products, grandfathering of Memorandum of Understanding, 4188
 - Statement by Prime Minister of United Kingdom re diminution of national personality, extent of knowledge, 3797, 3798
 - Status of and statements attributed to Canadian Trade Ambassador, government position, 3423
 - Government restraint action, 3548
 - Understandings between Canada and United States, 1942
 - Water, bulk export of, provision for prohibition, 3795
 - Wheat, effect on two-price system, 1942, 2058
 - Comments attributed to Premier of Saskatchewan, effect of entry into Canada of U.S. milling wheat, compensation to Canadian farmers for loss, 1957
 - Government policy re compensation to farmers, 2162
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4264, 4359, 4440
 - Advantages, 4268
 - Agriculture, 4442
 - Anti-dumping and countervail, 4270
 - Atlantic provinces, 4442
 - C.D. Howe Institute, quotes, 4441
 - Consultation, 4269
 - Dispute-settlement provisions, 4268, 4270
 - Energy, 4441
 - Enhanced, secure access to U.S. market, 4268
 - Foreign Affairs Committee, 1982 recommendations, 4265
 - GATT, 4270
 - Government primary objectives for negotiations, 4267
 - "Harmonization" of policies and programs with U.S., 4269
 - Import controls, 4442
 - Issues not for negotiation, 4267

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130—Cont'd
 - Liberal proposal elements, 4270
 - Macdonald commission, 1985, quotes, 4266
 - Mandate theory, 4440
 - Marketing boards, 4442
 - Opposition rationale, 4273
 - Partisan political direction, 4279
 - Protectionism, 4442
 - Regional disparities, 4268
 - Robertson, Hon. Gordon, quotes, 4275
 - Role of the Senate, 4272, 4443
 - Sectoral negotiation, 4271
 - Social policies and programs, 4268
 - Sovereignty, 4265, 4269
- Canada-United States relations
 - Acid rain, Canadian stance, comments by U.S. Interior Secretary, 566
- Bilateral trade
 - Export of Canadian raw cedar logs, restriction, 436
 - Tariff on U.S. Christmas trees and English-language books, request for removal, 435, 486
- Bilateral trade negotiations
 - Automotive trade, 528
 - Government policy, 98, 167
 - Consequences of failure to reach agreement, effect of agreement on employment and Auto Pact, 622
 - Impact on interprovincial trade barriers, 66
 - Impediments to agreement, 293
 - Items for negotiation, 440
 - "National treatment", definition, 142
 - Ratification formula, government proposal, 604
 - Ratification instrument, nature of, 605
 - Role of provinces, government policy, 605
 - Status, 64, 97
- Canadian circuit boards, treatment by United States Customs, 3795
- Canadian potash
 - Imposition of U.S. tariff, 505
 - Government action, 700
 - Introduction of legislation by Government of Saskatchewan, consultations with federal government, federal government representations in United States, 1780, 1781
- Free trade negotiations
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism, government position, 1869
 - Budget for government publicity, 1121
 - Dispute settlement mechanism
 - Determination of subsidies, 702
 - Government action, 1782
 - Major outstanding obstacles, possibility of briefing, conditions precedent to signing agreement, 1811
 - Prospects for resumption, 1869
 - Reduction of regional disparities, 624
 - Remarks by U.S. senator, need for education, 872
 - Statement by Mr. Reisman on consultations between Prime Minister and President, 1779
 - U.S. protectionist measures, government action, 742
- Natural gas exports, U.S. regulatory commission's decision, 1176
 - Request for answer, 1214
- Softwood lumber
 - Canadian export tax, 55
 - Extent of application, 335
 - Export duty, possible exemption for maritime provinces, 703
 - Threatened action by United States government, 335

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States relations—Cont'd
 - Softwood lumber—Cont'd
 - United States tariff, government policy re GATT decision, 98
 - Summit meeting in Ottawa
 - Reaffirmation of declaration, 871
 - Senate representation at state functions, 809
 - Summit meeting in Quebec city
 - Declaration by Prime Minister and President on reduction and elimination of trade barriers, status of report, 871
- Trade
 - Imposition of tariff on publications, amount and distribution of revenue, 335
 - Imposition of U.S. tariffs on Canadian forest products, mitigation of harmful effects, government action, 356
 - Reduction of Canadian uranium exports to United States, government action, 1641, 1662
 - U.S. tariff on Canadian shakes and shingles, government action on submission to International Trade Commission, 4187
 - United States tax on imported crude oil, government policy, 98
- Canada-U.S.S.R. relations
 - Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, speech, request for clarification of government policy on Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, 191
- Canada's international relations
 - Report of Special Joint Committee, response of government, 292
- Canada Winter Games, 1991
 - Request by Premier of Prince Edward Island for ACOA funding, 3494
- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation
 - Fiftieth anniversary congratulations, 136
- Canadian Human Rights Commission
 - Antonio Arcangel, appointment to Human Rights Tribunal, 192
- Canadian National Railway
 - Appointment of chairman, 333
- London, Ontario layoffs
 - Effect on and possible transfer of supervisory positions, 2125
 - Job guarantees, 2125
 - Job security and retraining program, status and application, 2125
 - Possible delay of implementation, consultations with City Council and union, 2125
 - Toronto cost-of-living compensation, 2125
- Canadian sovereignty
 - The north
 - Government policy, 194, 294
 - Government protest to U.S. government, 296
- Canadian Transport Commission
 - Creation of new agency, effect on tenure of present commissioners, 1699
- Canadian Wheat board
 - Isman, Barbara, reported appointment, 2548
- Cape Breton Development Corporation
 - Coalminers' contract negotiation, 607, 624
- Industrial Development Division
 - Community representations re retention of, 2356
 - Status of, 2355
- Office of president, status of incumbent, 608
- Presidency, appointment to fill vacancy, 3574, 4379
 - Name of consulting firm, 3990
- Chaput-Rolland, Hon. Solange, introduction, 4501
- Commonwealth
 - Conference at Vancouver, B.C., provincial participation, 1936

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

Communications

Foster Advertising, purchase of by U.S. conglomerate, use of Foster Advertising in Progressive Conservative campaign, 4188

Telelobe Canada, proposed sale, 245

Sale, investigation of insider trading, 503, 529, 556

Sale to Memotec, investigation of insider trading, government action, 1866, 1868

Constitution

Aboriginal rights, setting up of separate process for entrenchment, 2353

Amending process, government position, 1396

Amendment provisions, future amendments, unanimity requirement, 980

Constitution Amendment, 1987

Motion for message to Commons, m in amdt, 3486

Views of former justice of Supreme Court of Canada, 3265

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Advisers to government appearing before Special Joint Committee, 1699

Appointments to Supreme Court of Canada from Quebec, request for list of amendments acceptable to government, 3555

Appointments to Supreme Court of Canada, method, and application of other provisions between signing and proclamation, 3231

Clause 16, status of women

Availability of legal opinions, 1645

Government action, 1644

Source of legal opinions, consultations with experts, nature and sources of advice, 1660

Consideration by Nova Scotia legislature, 1167

Consideration by Ontario legislature, 1167

Distinct society clause, interpretation vis-a-vis anglophone Canadians, 3233

Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1233, 1276

Federal-provincial discussions on modification of terms, 3574

Francophone minorities outside Quebec, 1165

Possible government contract on consultancy work of certain witnesses appearing before Special Joint Committee, 1779

Request for answer, 1992

Possibility of amendment, 1165

Possibility of amendments under seven-provinces-fifty-percent-of-the-population rule, 3490

Possibility of recalling provincial legislatures, 1166

Priority of consideration by House of Commons, 1166

Quebec, definition as distinct society, 3235

Suggested further consideration by First Ministers, 3253

Tabled, 1163

Tabling of resolution, position of Government of New Brunswick, 3335

Tabling of resolution, position of Governments of New Brunswick and Manitoba, "reunification of constitutional family", 3333

Tabling of resolutions, 1165

Terminal date for approval, provision for withdrawal of provincial approval, 3254

Venue for consideration by Parliament, 1167

Views of former justice of Supreme Court of Canada, 3265

First Ministers' Accord

Agreement by provinces, undertakings offered to obtain, 1092, 1119

Communiqué tabled, 931

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

Constitution—Cont'd

First Ministers' Accord—Cont'd

Date of presentation of text, 1028

Date of signing, 1093

Definition of Quebec as distinct society, effect on use of French outside Quebec, 945

Discussion by Parliament of proposal on Senate reform, 1697

Discussions between minister and Premier of Manitoba, 1052

Effect on territories' aspirations for provincial status, 946

Federal-Provincial Relations Minister, role of, 1090

Federal-provincial spending patterns, federal powers affecting broadcasting and banking, 1029

Federal spending power

Opting-out provisions, 1054, 1126

Position of Premier of Manitoba, 950

Fisheries roles and responsibilities, jurisdiction over Atlantic provinces' fisheries, 1122

Funding of cultural institutions, ability of Quebec to opt out, 1093

Implications of interpretative declaration, availability of legal opinions, recognition of Quebec as distinct society applicability of term, 1028

Inclusion of interpretative section in resulting legislation, identification of and instructions to draftsmen, 980

Interpretation of text re agenda for First Ministers' conferences, 1122

Judicial interpretation of terms, 944

Legal action by territories, 1120

"Patriation", use of term by government leader, request for clarification of Accord, 956

Possible postponement of conference, committee study and approval of resolution, 1050

Premier of Quebec, reported reaction, 954

Prime Minister's meetings with western premiers, 957

Recognition of Quebec as distinct society

Advice given on definition and effect, 948

Definition and international ramifications, 939, 978

Effect on property and civil rights, 942

International ramifications, 1054, 1126

Maintenance of official bilingualism, 1027

Protection of anglophone minority, 943

Recognition of Quebec as distinct society or as having distinct identity, distribution of powers, 951, 978

Request for answers, 1167

Request for tabling of correspondence, 1093

Senate reform, 944

Recommendations for appointment, 946, 951

Quebec vacancy, 983

Source of proposal, 1089

Senate timetable for completion of deliberations, 2796

Suggested pre-study, 955

Supreme Court of Canada, recommendations for appointment, 957

Entrenchment of court, 982

Terminology of text, danger of classifying French-Canadians under two categories, 1124

Wording of earlier Liberal Party resolution, 953

Yukon and Northwest Territories, method of appointment of senators and Supreme Court judges, 1615

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3047

First Ministers' Conference

Aboriginal rights, agenda item, 945, 1090

Priority agenda item, 1123, 1125

Status of Francophones outside Quebec, 876

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

Constitution—Cont'd

- First Ministers' Conference, June 2, 1987, tabling of agreed texts, 1119
- First Ministers' conferences, participation by territories, 955
- Meech Lake accord, consultations with Premier-elect of New Brunswick, position of Government-elect of New Brunswick, 1952
- Negotiations to include Quebec, government position, 621
- Possibility of simultaneous presentation of revised Official Languages Policy and text of accord, 1028, 1088
- Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate) bill S-20, 4362
- Question Period, 4362
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 1242, 3070, 3115, 3173
- Achievements, 3074
- Amending formulae, 3214
- Bilingualism, 3075
- Distinct society, interpretive clause, 3212
- Isolation of Quebec, 3074
- National objectives, 3214
- Notwithstanding clause, 3212
- Partnership and independence, 3214
- Proposed amendments, 3215
- Quebec's civil law system, 3075
- Spending powers, 3213
- Supreme Court, 3075
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and signed texts to Committee of the Whole, 1198
- Motion in amdt, 1200, 1202, 1216
- Speaker's ruling, 1211
- Consumer and Corporate Affairs
- Departmental investigation of tobacco as hazardous substance, alleged interference by minister, 627
- Correctional Service of Canada
- Resignation of Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, 3585
- Government action, request for further information, 4044
- Request for tabling of Comptroller General documents, 3988
- Corrections
- Effect of privatization and reduced services, 142
- Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C., the late, tribute, 285
- Diefenbaker Centre, University of Saskatchewan
- Financial crisis, request for government assistance, 1176
- Government action, 1400
- Disarmament
- United States-U.S.S.R. agreement on nuclear weapons reductions, statement by Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, government position, 2352
- Drug trafficking
- Coastal protection, government action, 487
- Economic development
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
- Exclusion of large enterprises from infrastructure projects, 1923
- New Brunswick
- Fate of federal government projects announced during provincial election campaign, 1940
- Prospects for introduction of new projects before and after provincial election, 1923
- Economic renewal, 45
- Economic Summit
- Venice, Italy, agriculture as agenda item, 1120
- Economic Summit, 1988
- Agricultural subsidies, request for progress report, 3710
- Debt as global problem, agenda item, 3266

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

Economic Summit, 1988—Cont'd

- Re-energizing of debt strategy, possible Canadian proposals, Third World debt problem, role of World Bank, government position, 3266, 3350
- Interpretation of delayed answer, request for more specific answer, 3422
- Third World debt, measures to relieve, affected countries, application to Latin American countries, 3710

Education

- Establishment of federal-provincial task force on national standards, 78

Employment

- St. Boniface, Manitoba, closing of hog division of Canada Packers plant, request for government assistance, 441, 453
- Suggested interest-free loan from government, 815
- Summer Youth Employment Program, 358

Employment equity

- Canadian Human Rights Act, status of amendments, 1300
- Compliance with Act, 3574
- Government Consultants International, compliance with Federal Government Contracting Program, 3754

Energy

- Canadian gas, price to U.S. consumers, 143, 162
- Decline in natural gas prices, government policy, 77
- Dome Petroleum-Amoco Canada transaction
- Availability of documents to government, 1299
- Current situation, 1581
- Federal-provincial conference, security of supply, government policy, 425, 439, 467
- Georges Bank drilling moratorium, consultation with Government of Nova Scotia, 3099
- Preparation of legislation for Nova Scotia, 3494
- Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, government funding, 3329
- Government funding and action, 4043
- Monitoring of oil and gas companies following termination of PGRT, 57, 67
- Request for reply, 358
- Monitoring of use of funds following termination of PGRT, government participation in Syncrude, 298
- Natural gas, Alberta's withholding of export licence approval and alleged distinction between types of gas, role of federal government in negotiations, 76
- New Brunswick, addition to Lepreau nuclear power plant, 1896
- Oil and gas industry, relief of severe economic problems, government policy, 233
- Tar sands processing plant, Fort McMurray, Alberta, status, 2829, 2846, 3330
- Effect of OSLO Agreement, 4484
- Government's financial commitment, 3574, 3583
- Date of commencement of project, 4042
- Government participation, 4261
- Western coal, cost of transporting to Ontario, government policy, 426
- Enterprise Cape Breton
- Agricultural projects, funding of, powers, role of Board of Directors, 3654
- Approved projects, 3654
- Arrow LM Manufacturing Company, financial assistance, conflict-of-interest guidelines, calling of tenders, establishment of price, 4365, 4381
- Policies to be followed, 3654
- Possible assistance to Financial Engineering Corporation, 121

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Environment
 - Acid rain
 - Agreement with provinces to reduce emissions, repudiation by Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, 583
 - Request for copy of Canadian eight-point proposal, 3286
 - Environmental Protection Service, number of person-years, 4457
 - Great Lakes, pollution of, government action, 2320
 - Lead in gasoline, deadline for elimination of, 4176
 - Minister's proposals on energy efficiency and alternative initiatives, 4046
 - National Task Force on Environment and Economy, report, government action on recommendations, 2077
 - Number of person-years in department, effect on department's programs, 4456
- PCBs
 - Air transportation of waste, application of prohibition, 4486
 - Government inventory of storage sites and guidelines for storage and disposal, 4262
 - Location of transportable incinerators, 4466, 4478
 - Regulations for transportation of, 4466, 4478
 - St-Basile-Le-Grand storage site, financial assistance for victims of fire, 4263
 - Storage sites, inspection of, availability of inspectors, 4457
- Prince Edward Island
 - Alleged pollution of Hillsborough harbour, request for government assistance, 361
 - Effect of pollution from sunken vessel "Irving Whale", 2723
- Radioactive waste, disposal, 20
- Rafferty-Alameda Dams Project, issuance of licence for, protection of Manitoba's interests, 4379, 4467
- Responsibility of government to conduct study, 4458, 4468
- Toxic waste research, efficacy of reduction in National Research Council budget, 4466
- Export and Import Permits bill C-57, motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole, 1129
- External Affairs
 - Canadian passports, applications for, revision of regulations re guarantors, request for answer, 4383
 - Canadian Sikh community, distribution and purport of minister's letter, 2795
 - Central America, lack of Canadian consular and immigration services, 4222
 - East Bloc countries, official visit to, Senate representation, 897
 - Foreign service appointments, maintenance of professionalism, government policy, 337
 - Helsinki, Finland, proposed closing of Canadian embassy, request for reconsideration, 565, 583
- Federal-provincial relations
 - Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 552
 - Equality of treatment of provinces, effect of awarding of CF-18 contract, 139
- Equalization payments
 - Atlantic provinces, government policy, 293, 294
 - Provincial action, 487
 - Manitoba, Quebec and Prince Edward Island, 297
- Felicitations on appointment to Priorities and Planning Committee of Cabinet, 465
- Fiji, current political situation, 1052
 - Government position, 1951
 - Government stance at Commonwealth Conference, consultations with Fijian community, 1913
 - Request for answer, 1400
- Finance
 - Bank rate increase, government action, 3583

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Finance—Cont'd
 - British Petroleum, sale of shares, reported request of Canadian government, 2077
 - Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation
 - Implementation of recommendations of Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, 485
 - Negotiations with provinces on regulation, status of, 1090
 - Ontario budget, effect on interest rates, 3585
 - Stock market activity, congratulations to Minister of Finance for statements and action, 1991
- Fisheries
 - Canada-France agreement
 - Agreed record of negotiations, status, request for copy of Note Verbale, 503
 - Denial of threat to Newfoundland premier, 531
 - Effect of 1984 exchange of notes, 451
 - Federal-provincial consultation, fish allocations, government policy, 420
 - Representation, 507
 - Fish allocations
 - Effect on northern cod stocks, 423
 - Status of 1972 treaty, rights of French vessels in Gulf of St. Lawrence, 464, 465
 - Licensing of French vessels in disputed zone, 451
 - Request for tabling, 427
 - Unanimity of cabinet decision, 422, 423
- Canada-France negotiations
 - Allocation of northern cod quotas, 434
 - Availability of negotiators, 4438
 - Exclusion of Atlantic provinces and Department of Fisheries representatives, 434
 - Grounds for not proceeding, 433
- Canada-France relations
 - Dispute-settlement negotiations
 - Former agreement, status of, 3235
 - Geographic location of fishing patterns and quotas, 3233
 - Judicial arbitration and selection of mediator, status, 3232
 - Request for appearance of former ambassador to France and Minister of Fisheries and Oceans before Committee of the Whole, 3097, 3235
 - Status and possible mediation, 3204, 3206
 - Request for copy of new agreement, location of quotas, 3282
 - Referral of dispute to International Court of Justice, government position, 3098, 3233
 - Request for appearance of Minister for International Trade before Committee of the Whole, 3098
- Mussel industry, government assistance, 2304
- Provision of fish to victims of natural disasters, government assistance, 4406
- Toxic mussels, progress of research, 2723
- Trade, United-States cancellation of perishable product agreements, 4484
 - Entry into U.S. of Canadian seafood products, 4503
- West coast boundary waters dispute, government position, 422
- West Coast Salmon Enhancement Program, government policy, 334
- Foreign affairs
 - Canadian relations with Syria, government position, 96
 - Contras, possible acceptance as refugees, 2231
 - Iraq, alleged use of chemical weapons against Kurds, government action, 4314, 4405
 - Nicaragua, cancellation of visit of vice-president, 195
 - Panama, safety and security of vice-president, government representation, 4046

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

Foreign affairs—Cont'd

- Paraguay, Status of Senor Hermen Rafael Saguier, government knowledge and action, 4043
- Saudi Arabia, replacement of Sheik Yamani, 120
- Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, reaction of Progressive Conservative Party, 2782, 2845
- Syria, joint action by Canada and other nations, 264
- Verification of signatories to committee report, 4313

Foreign Affairs Committee

- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 4086
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3489, 3525

Reports

- 5th, International financial system and institutions, 1022
- 14th, Study of elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, 3279

Foreign aid, 49

Francophone Summit

- Human rights violations as agenda item, government action, 1779

Fur industry

- Proposed British labelling of Canadian products, government action, 3583

General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT)

- Provincial participation at meeting, 2550

Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague, tribute, 329

"Global Challenge and Canadian Federalism, The", speech by Gordon Robertson, document tabled in response to request, 4378

Godfrey, Hon. John Morrow, tribute on retirement, 1391

Government

- Legislative provision for expenditures, 3657

Government of Canada

- First Ministers' Accord, dissemination of information, possibility of similar action on illiteracy and learning disabilities, 1701

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3431, 3502, 3514, 4196

ACOA annual budget, 3515

Action program, 3516

Area included in amendment, 4197

Atlantic region dissatisfaction, 3432

Autonomy and composition of new board, 4197

Basic infrastructure, 3515

Consolidation of IRDP and Atlantic Enterprise Program, 3433

Coordination of federal economic and industrial activities, 3601

Decentralizing authority to the regions, 4196

Devco, 3516

Duplication and overlap, 3601

Encouragement for entrepreneurship and business productivity, 3519

Enterprise Cape Breton, 3518

George, Roy, Professor of Economics, Dalhousie University, quotes, 3516

Linkage of Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency and Enterprise Cape Breton Corporation, 4197

Message from Commons of disagreement with Senate division and request for return of bill undivided, m to ref to com, 4041

Motion to instruct National Finance Committee to divide bill in two, 3600

Regional needs, 3431

To co-finance and increase impact of national programs in Atlantic Canada, 3433

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103—Cont'd

- To establish Enterprise Cape Breton Corporation, 3433

Grain

Canadian Wheat Board

- Allocation of payments, 244

- Final payments for grades 1 and 2 spring wheat, 295, 530

Grain Stabilization Fund, exclusion of mustard seed, 465, 528

Hansen, Rick

- Appointment as Canada's Commissioner General to Expo '88, 2208

Hayden, Hon. Salter A., the late, tribute, 417

Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, Committee of the Whole, 1575

Health

Tainted mussels

- Date of availability of evidence and date of warning, 2355

- Special inquiry, 2354

Health and Welfare

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome

- AZT drug, availability in Canada, 2208

- Cost, 2723

- Compliance order for drugs other than AZT, 3423

- Education, research and treatment, government assistance, 3422

- Government action, 558, 1781

- Reported Canada-U.S. agreement to combat disease, 874

- Testing of diplomats and members of Armed Forces, 874

Alberta Health Insurance legislation, government position, 625

Alberta nurses' labour dispute, federal-provincial consultations, possibility of settlement, 2759

Drug abuse, national strategy for prevention, 874

Health Protection Branch, request for tabling of reports and statement on action taken by government 2723

Housing

- Interest-free mortgages, request for government action, 812

Human rights

Japanese Canadians, government apology and compensation, 68, 567, 1896, 2604, 3671

- Effective date and applicability, 4488

- Government policy, 3206

- Progress of negotiations, 3987

- Status of negotiations, 4188

U.N. Commission meeting, Geneva, Canadian representation, request for report on proceedings, 584

Illiteracy

- Long-term government commitment, establishment of monitoring body, 4365

- Remedial measures, government policy, 296, 426

Immigration

- Ministerial discretion, alleged abuse, 165, 195, 196

- Refugee status, government policy, 19, 2350

- Status of interested Laplanders, government policy, 78

Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, 2052

Indian Affairs and Northern Development

- Alleged misuse of Manitoba Indian band funds, 56, 361

- Control of education, impact of Master Tuition Agreement, government action, 3264

- Lubicon Lake Indians, negotiations for Alberta reserve, appointment of negotiator, 1870

- Maliseet Nation land claim, request for appointment of impartial negotiators, 360

- West Bank Indian band, legal costs of inquiry, 557

Industry

- Aerospace, allocation of contracts, government policy, 453

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'dIndustry—Cont'd

- Aerospace, allocation of CF-18 service contracts, 18, 59, 78, 120, 192
- Awarding of contract to Canadair
 - Ownership and technology transfer considerations, 160
 - Possible undertaking to Bombardier, 143
 - Technology transfer, 141
- Rejection of IMP bid, government reasons, 141
- Awarding of CF-5 contract to Bristol Aerospace Ltd., status, 530
- Foreign firms bidding on contracts in Canada, government policy, 140
- Free trade agreements including targeted subsidies, 815
- General Motors, interest-free loan
 - Effect on free trade negotiations, targeted subsidies, request for information on government policy, 812
 - Request for interest-free loans to farmers, removal of moratorium on farm foreclosures, 809
- Nova Scotia, possible manufacture and export of armaments by West German company from proposed plant, 246
- Sydney Steel Corporation
 - Discussions with CN re long-term rail contracts, 452, 488, 504
 - Future of plant, 163, 197
 - Modernization plan, status, 452, 488, 504, 743, 1124
 - Possibility of announcement by Prime Minister, 452, 504
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1857
 - 31st, Salary scale for senators' secretaries, 1920
 - 64th, allegations against Senator Argue, 4479
- International finance
 - Brazil, suspension of payments on bank debts, 567, 587
 - Cancellation of debts, 568
- International financial system and institutions
 - Canada's participation, report of Foreign Affairs Committee, request for response from Department of External Affairs, 1093
- International relations
 - Joint Committee report, government action re recommendations on military agreements, 565
- International trade
 - Footwear, removal of import quotas, government action, 336, 467, 508
 - Softwood lumber, imposition of duty by European countries, 506
- International whaling
 - Imposition of sanctions, government policy, 2723, 2782
- Jamaica
 - Hurricane relief, government assistance, 4406
- Justice
 - Canada Commission of Inquiry on War Criminals
 - Implementation of recommendations, government action, 606
 - Status of report, 19, 339
 - Nazi war criminals, prosecutions of, status, 4187
- Judiciary
 - Report of Commission on Judges' Salaries and Benefits, government action, 607
- Labour
 - British Columbia longshoremen's lockout, government action, 34
 - Response to government request, 54
- Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3504
- Langlois, Hon. Léopold, tribute, 4537
- Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 329
- LaPrade Fund
 - Order paper question, request for answer, 3711, 4383, 4491, 4525
 - Reason for delay in answering, 4542

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - 15th report, Immigration, 1976 bill C-64, 2379
- Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute, 2753
- Literacy Day, government initiatives, 4241
- MacDonald, Hon. John Joseph, the late, tribute, 11
- Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 216
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, 1758, 1764
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 1765
 - Motion to refer to Committee of the Whole, 1765
 - Negotiation and conciliation background, 1764
 - Ripple effect of rail strike, 1759
- Maritime provinces
 - Isthmus of Chignecto, suggested canal, 2243
 - Trans-Canada Highway upgrading, request for government assistance, 2352
- McGrand, Hon. Fred A., the late, tributes, 2602, 4255
- Middle East
 - Gaza Strip, recent incidents, government action, 2490
- Ministry
 - Reported resignation of Minister of Agriculture, 4438
 - Request for appointment of Minister of State for Cooperatives, lack of response, 4458
 - Role of Deputy Prime Minister, 143
- Multinational corporations
 - Elimination of minority equity interests, impact of enhanced Canada-United States trade, 2828
- Nanaimo Harbour Commission
 - Inquiry into management and operation, 166
- National Capital Commission
 - Incidence of accidents on mixed-use pathways in Ottawa, 1845
- National Capital region
 - Condition of transitways, coordination of repairs, 1940
- National Defence
 - Advisory group to minister on regulation of political activities in Canadian Forces establishments, report, recommendations 3 and 4, government action, 3151, 3235
- Canadian Armed Forces
 - Appointment of senior officers, female representation, 2604
 - Political rights of spouses, status of regulations, 4239
 - Role of women and homosexuals, white paper, government policy, 297
 - "Snowbirds" aerobatic team, reciprocal visits to NATO allies, 788
- Committee study of concerns of military families, status of report and nature of recommendations, 1755, 2829
 - Requests for answer, 1992, 2490
- Frigate construction, awarding of contract, 2244
- Nerve gas testing (pre 1968) at CFB Suffield, Alberta, health of involved personnel, 4466
 - Minister's statement, 4466
- Nuclear-powered submarines
 - Non-Proliferation Treaty, government policy, 1273
 - Status of program, transfer of technology, 4438, 4477
 - Suggested purchase of British vessels, 4439
- Poisonous nerve gases, spraying of, 3657
- National Finance Committee report
 - 7th, post-secondary education, 736
- National Gallery of Canada
 - Child-care facilities, 3423
- National parks
 - Payment to provinces for land to establish, government policy, 1645, 1662
- National reconciliation, 50

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- National Statistics Council
 - Membership, regional representation, 68
 - Request for answer, 608, 872
- New Brunswick
 - Authors of official bilingualism in province, 1952
 - Landry, Hon. Aldéa, congratulations on cabinet appointment, 2078
 - Lieutenant Governor, status of, 2819
- Nobel Peace Prize
 - Congratulatory message to President Oscar Arias Sanchez of Costa Rica, 1954
 - United Nations peacekeeping forces, recognition, 4522
- Northwest Territories
 - Inuvik, withdrawal of Armed Forces personnel, effect on economy, 334, 359
- Official languages
 - Alberta
 - Legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, 3755
 - Rights of Francophones, statement of Premier Getty, 4507
 - Budget allocation (1988) for promotion outside Quebec, 4461
 - C.D. Howe Institute document distributed by Hon. John Crosbie, unavailability of French text, 4313
 - Existence of joint committee, statement of Secretary of State, 2319
 - Proposed advisory council, composition, role and terms of reference, 1053
 - Consultation on composition with joint committee, 1089
 - Request for answers, 1398
 - Proposed legislation, anticipated date of introduction, 18
 - Role of Commissioner, 1089
 - Status of French in Alberta and in provincial legislatures, 2229
 - Status of legislation, 2758
 - Status of regulations, 4467
 - "Sufficient" minority, definition, 1053
- Official Languages Act
 - Consultations by Secretary of State, injustice to parliamentarians, 1299
 - Status of bill to amend, 1094, 1299
 - Summer prorogation, government intention, 1302
- Official Languages bill C-72, 3998, 4028
 - Bilingual districts, 4001
 - Conformity with Charter, 4001
 - Crown corporations, 4029
 - Language of work in federal institutions, 4001
 - Laurendeau-Dunton Commission, recommendations, 3998
 - Manitoba, 4030
 - New Brunswick, Official Languages Act of, 3998
 - Quebec bill 101, 4000, 4030
 - Safeguards re regulations, 4001
 - School administration in Ontario, 4000
 - Victoria Charter, 3999
- Parliament
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Timetable for introduction of enabling legislation, 3351
 - Timetable for legislative implementation of provisions, 3233
 - Legislative role of Senate, 4352
- Parliament Buildings
 - Centre Block, photographs of British Prime Ministers, 266
- Parliament Hill
 - Condition of roadways, 1937
 - Request for answer, 2166
 - Condition of sidewalks, 1988
 - Quick corrective action of government, 2166

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Parliamentary Employment and Staff Relations Act
 - Delay in proclamation, 64
- Parliamentary Secretaries
 - Suggested appointment of Senators, 467
- Parole
 - Board hearing procedures, 57
 - Release of inmates, 22
- Parole and penitentiaries
 - Amending legislation, inclusion in legislative program, 3671
- Patent Act
 - Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, 2059
 - Appointment of special committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 prior to receipt of legislation, 785
 - Multinationals' commitment to R&D, provision of punitive measures for non-compliance, 1903
- Pharmaceutical companies
 - Commitments, 2079
 - R&D commitment, statement by Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, 2078
- Patent bill C-22, 1738, 1748
 - Government brochure
 - Distribution before possible enactment of legislation, 2167, 2168
 - Distribution, use of ministerial power, 2167
 - Suggested inaccuracy of statements, 2167
 - Message from Commons, motion for concurrence in certain Commons amds and for non-insistence on certain Senate amds, 2157, 2212
 - Message from Commons, motion for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, 1776
 - Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2179, 2212
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1826
- Penitentiaries
 - Double-bunking, government action, 79
 - Proposed prison at Port-Cartier, Quebec, factors governing location, effect of additional cost on inmate programs, 78
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug price increases
 - Action of government, 2535
 - Basis of statistics, 2534
 - Compensation to provinces, 2537
 - Date of restriction of, 2535
 - Possible government request for explanation from PMAC or multinational drug companies, 2538
 - Request for committee appearance of drug company spokesmen, 2537, 2550
 - Request for resignation of consumer affairs minister, 2536, 2549
 - Rollback, government action, 2532
 - Rollback powers of minister, 2536
- Drug Prices Review Board
 - Coming into force of powers, 2534
 - Role of, rollback of prices, government action, 2533
- Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, 234
- Generic drugs, removal from sale, 2536
- Relationship between PMAC and United States pharmaceutical manufacturers, 2537
 - Requests re drug pricing, 2535
- Phillips, Hon. Lazarus, the late, tribute, 417
- Phillips, Hon. Orville H., felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Poitras, Hon. Jean-Marie, introduction, 4501
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1963, 1970
- Post-secondary education
 - Federal government scholarships, availability in 1988-89, allocation of funds, method of selection, 3205, 3425
- Government action or policy, 4241
 - Request for answer, 4466
- National forum, request for conclusions, 2077
- Proposed national forum, "Equality of Opportunity", form, 20
 - Current status, 359, 452
 - Government position, 77
 - Request for progress report, 1092
- Provincial education, government initiatives, 2723
- Prescription drug prices
 - Proposed Patent Act amendment, effect, presentation of petitions, point of order, 1024
- Prime Ministers, former
 - Bennett, Rt. Hon. R.B., the late, erection of commemorative statue, 2231
 - Diefenbaker, Rt. Hon. John George, the late, preservation of birthplace, 2231
- Prince Edward Island
 - Equal application of benefits under provisions of B.N.A. Act, 3757
- Marine Atlantic ferry rates, increase in, 2354
- Proposed fixed crossing to mainland
 - Availability of studies
 - General design or concept, 2165, 2242
 - Submission of proposals, 2321
 - To members of Parliament, 2163
 - Basis of awarding contract, 2163
 - Credibility of government, 2164
 - Environmental assessment and review, 2243
 - Icebreaking ferries, disposal of, 2354
 - Invitations to tender for construction, 2243
 - Minister of the Environment, status of, 2549
 - P.E.I. conditions precedent to preparation of proposals, 2549
 - Possibility of referendum, 2163, 2165
 - Submission of proposals, names of companies or consortia, financial arrangements, nature of proposals, 3672
 - Suggested plebiscite, 2244
 - Railway link, 2164
 - Relationship of announcement to federal election, 2166
 - Request for cost estimates, veracity of newspaper statement, environmental impact of fixed crossing, creation of jobs in province, 4460
 - Upgrading of highways, 2354
- Public Service
 - Government treatment of political or partisan statements by members, 3549
- Indexing of pensions, status of legislation in Commons, 2586
- Public Works
 - Sidney, British Columbia, construction of breakwater, 4239
- Quebec, 50
 - British Columbia, allocation of contracts, government policy, 15
- Railway safety
 - Bill C-105, request for draft regulations, 3493
- Refugees
 - Disposition of ship used for transportation, 1645
 - Federal-provincial consultations on Bill C-84
 - Emergency legislation, 1755
 - Jurisdiction, representations by Government of Ontario, 1780
 - Possible conflict of bill with human rights and law of the sea, 1700

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Refugees—Cont'd
 - General amnesty, government policy, 4461
 - Replacement of existing regulations, government policy, 627
 - Thailand, turning back of boats, safety of passengers, government policy, 2796
- Regional disparities, 48
- Regional Industrial expansion
 - Annual report of department, transfer of functions, responsibility for subsidiary agreements request for organizational chart, 2827
- Pictou County, Nova Scotia, development of coal mine, financial assistance, attitude of Cape Breton Development Corporation, 2843
 - Assistance to industry, Enterprise Cape Breton, 1247
- Reproductive technology
 - Proposed Royal Commission, status of, 4239
 - Royal commission, request for appointment, government action, 2382
- Research and development
 - Government funding of post-secondary education, 335
 - National Research Council funding, government policy, 120, 193
 - Scientific meeting in Stockholm, Canadian representation, 336
 - Space research agency location, 121
- Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2876
- Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute, 1838
- Royal Assent, alternative procedure, 339
- Senate, 644, 1195
 - Absence of Leader of the Government from chamber, 551, 1782
 - Adjournment, 1583, 3046
 - Business, 210, 242, 1928, 1939, 3065, 4035
 - Disposition of bills C-18, C-19 and C-22, instructions to committees, adjournment, 1628
 - Treatment of legislation, 1615
 - Delayed answers, 453
 - First Ministers' Accord, method of appointment of senators, Quebec vacancies, 1399
 - Government leader's stationery, use for communication re Oerlikon Aerospace, 438
 - New senators, words of welcome, 231
- Privilege
 - Conflict-of-interest inquiry from office of Minister of Justice, 1696, 1700
 - Motion to refer to committee, 892, 895
- Question Period
 - Delayed answers, 1126, 1662
 - Request for answers 1059, 1164, 1197, 1247, 2493
- Suggested sittings in provincial capitals, 1302
- Summer adjournment, date, 1301
- Status of government leader, Senate reform, 4353
- Vacancies, filling of
 - Provincial nominations 1700
 - Reasons for delay, 3548
 - Role of provinces and territories, 2208
- Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 2643
- Senate reform
 - Andre, Hon. Harvie, alleged statement, 907
 - Appointments, submission of names to Prime Minister, 1091
 - Consultations with provinces, nature and status, 4240
 - Inclusion on agenda for next First Ministers' conference, 876
 - Principle of equality of provincial representation, 3330
 - Process to be adopted, public representation and meetings, 3331
 - Senate Task force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories
 - Deadline for presentation of interim report and extension of presentation of final report, 2289

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'dShipbuilding

Class 8 icebreaker

Announcement of construction in Vancouver shipyards, 557

Design, government policy, 439

Canadian icebreaking technology, government policy, 557

Solicitor General

Canadian Security Intelligence Service, request for confidential files from provinces, 4241

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)

Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 936, 963

Reports

5th, resolution to report bill by Aug. 10/87, 1627

6th, Patent Act amendment, bill C-22 with amends, 1675

7th, Patent bill C-22, with amended amends

Motion in amdt, 1716

Sport

Canada Winter Games, Sydney, Nova Scotia, attendance of Prime Minister, 503

Definition of 'age of puberty', 58

Johnson, Ben, alleged mistreatment of World Champion Sprinter by Vancouver airport customs officials, government action, 1871

XXIV Olympiad, Ben Johnson, stripping of 100-metre sprint gold medal and disqualification, request for comprehensive investigation

Availability of funds to eliminate drug abuse, 4487

Establishment of independent investigation, propriety of life suspension, 4524

Government action, 4505

Statistics Canada

Census, public-use sample tape, restoration of funding for, effect on Canadian students of necessity to use U.S. data, 2077

Supreme Court of Canada

Appointment of justice, provisions of Meech Lake Accord, 3473

Appointment of replacement for the late Mr. Justice Chouinard, 564

Tax reform

Consultation process, government policy, 119

Reporting of costs of consultants for tax purposes, 1298

White paper

Twenty consultants, female representation, 1298

Government leader's answer to question, right of senators to ask questions, 1300

Names and gender, 1302

Terrorism

Internationally protected persons, federal-provincial jurisdictional agreements, 452

Tibet

Dalai Lama's five-point peace plan, government position, 3656

New initiative, 3712

Request for answer, 4085

Trade, 47

GATT ruling, impact on B.C. fisheries, government action, 2208

Imbalance between Canada and U.S.S.R., government policy, 193, 1985

United States Export Enhancement Program, suggested Canada-U.S.S.R. comprehensive trade agreement, 2055

Trans-Canada Highway

Reconstruction, allocation of federal funds to New Brunswick, 4467

Transport

Air, repair checks of aircraft by airlines, 3283

Air traffic control service, transfer from Ottawa to Gatineau, 1661

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'dTransport—Cont'd

Atlantic Marine and CN Marine Board of Directors, lack of francophone members, 435

Canadian National Railways, restoration of Sorel-Nicolet branch line, 2230

CN freight rates, increase, 296

CN maintenance shops, Melville, Saskatchewan, proposed layoffs, 1121, 1125

CN shops, Moncton, closing, 21, 35, 121, 164

Plight of New Brunswick, request for action, 811

Present situation, 295

Request for action, 526

Construction of hotels adjacent to major airports, government policy, 436

Establishment of Canadian merchant marine, 4380

Grain Transportation Agency recommendations, government policy, 428

Montreal-Sudbury railway service, possible abandonment, government policy, 1052

Moratorium on abandonment of railways, authority for proposal, relationship to next election, 4351

Municipal airports, funding, government policy, 436

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, establishment of permanent link, environmental impact, 1845

Northumberland Strait

Proposed fixed crossing, number and nature of proposals, announcement by Prime Minister, 4262

Public hearings on impact on fisheries of proposed fixed crossing, 4262

Environmental study, 4381

Port of Churchill, Manitoba

And port of Thunder Bay, Ontario, request for additional grain cars, 1937

Grain shipment through, 4176, 4225, 4263

Maintenance and use of facilities, 3988

Maintenance of facilities and transportation of grain to port, 245, 1844

Premium earned by Canadian Wheat Board on sales of grain, 1936

Prince Edward Island

CN rail system, status of, prospective federal-provincial agreement, 3711

Consultations on design of ferry, relocation of terminal, 3584

Highway construction, government funding, 3658

Proposed tunnel or causeway to mainland, 58, 194

Feasibility study, 296, 361

Retention of dredges, 4380

Prince Edward Island-Nova Scotia ferry, government policy, 194

Regina International Airport, construction of hotel, local consultation, 436

Smoking prohibition on commercial flights, 339

Task Force on Alcohol and Drug Use in Railway Industry, scope of confidential survey, 2124

Trans-Canada Highway

Rebuilding in New Brunswick, comments of Minister for International Trade, 4221

Upgrading in Nova Scotia, government commitment, 4222

Transport Route Canada Inc.

OHIP coverage for employees, 4457

Payment of employer contributions, 4381

Winnipeg International Airport, public parking, 1215

Tributes on 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons of Senators Heath Macquarrie, Robert Muir, H.A. Olson, P.C., Orville H. Phillips and David Walker, P.C., 1211

Murray, Hon. Lowell, P.C.—Cont'd

- Turks and Caicos Islands
 - Trade association with Canada, suggested joint committee study, 704
- United Nations
 - Iran-Iraq border peacekeeping contingent
 - Request for answers to further questions, 4312
 - Return of some Canadian members, 4525, 4542
 - Sharing of cost, 4187
 - Venice Summit, 1987
 - Communiqué tabled, 1249
- Veterans Affairs
 - Hong Kong Veterans Association, claim for compensation from Japanese government, 1091
 - War veterans allowance, eligibility and criteria for, 3656
- VIA Rail
 - Relocation of maintenance centre from Winnipeg to Vancouver, request for reconsideration, 1614
- Waite, Mr. Terry
 - Special emissary of Archbishop of Canterbury, rumoured tragic developments, 452
- Walker, Hon. David J., P.C., felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633
- Western Diversification
 - Allocation of funds to Manitoba for municipal infrastructure, 3799
 - Request for answer, 4177
- Western Economic Development Agency
 - General structure, nature of, date of establishment, 1647
- Western Economic Diversification
 - Criteria for program support, 2797
 - Delivery system for program, 2793
- Youth
 - Beat-the-Street Program, length of term, 1899
- Yukon
 - Government travel service, changes, effect on local business people, 947

Mutual legal assistance in criminal matters

- Search warrants, evidence-gathering for foreign countries, transfer of persons in custody and lending of exhibits, 3927

Speakers: Senators

- Frith, Royce, 3997
- Ottenheimer, Gerald R., 3926

Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters bill C-58, 1r, 3918; 2r, 3926, 3997; ref to com, 3997; rep with observations, 4167; 3r, 4168; r.a., 4168Nanaimo Harbour Commission

- Inquiry into management and operation, 166

Nash, Herbert, Cape Breton Local, Maritime Fishermen's Union

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 717

National Advisory Council on Aging

- Members, by federal district or province, 2126

National Archives of Canada

- Access to archival material, 430
- Archival facilities, 455
- Definition of "ministerial records", 454
- Exceptions to authority of National Archivist, 454
- National Archives Advisory Board, membership, 455
- Speakers: Senators
 - Bosa, Peter, 454
 - Doyle, Richard J., 429, 532

National Archives of Canada—Cont'dSpeakers: Senators—Cont'd

- Frith, Royce, 430

National Archives of Canada bill C-7, 1r, 419; 2r, 429, 454; ref to com, 455; rep without amdt, 501; 3r, 532; r.a., 752National Capital

- Headquarters, 4229
- Municipal tensions, 4231
- National Capital Commission background, 4228
- Powers, 4231
- Revisions to mandate, 4229
- Speakers: Senators
 - Frith, Royce, 4228
 - MacDonald, Finlay, 4228

National Capital bill C-153, 1r, 4211; 2r, 4228; ref to com, 4231; rep without amdt, 4311; 3r, 4355; r.a., 4403National Capital Commission

- Disappearance of commemorative rock from Dow's Lake, Ottawa, 4130
- Incidence of accidents on mixed-use pathways in Ottawa, 1845

National Capital region

- Condition of transitways, coordination of repairs, 1940

National Congress of Italian Canadians, visit, 343National Defence

- Advisory group to minister on regulation of political activities in Canadian Forces establishments, report, recommendations 3 and 4, government action, 3150, 3236
 - Withdrawn, 3234
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3510
- Canadian Armed Forces
 - Appointment of senior officers, female representation, 2603, 2829
 - Political rights of spouses, status of regulations, 4239, 4314
 - Role of women and homosexuals, white paper, government policy, 297, 361
 - "Snowbirds" aerobatic team, reciprocal visits to NATO allies, 788
- Committee study of concerns of military families, status of report and nature of recommendations, 1755, 1873, 2829
 - Presentation and publication of report, 2538
 - Request for answer, 1991, 2490
- Defence policy, availability of white paper, 675, 909
- Frigate construction, awarding of contract, 2244
- "Snowbirds" visit to NATO allies, feasibility study by Special Committee, 1049
- Nerve gas testing (pre-1968) at CFB Suffield, Alberta, health of involved personnel, 4466, 4527
 - Minister's statement, 4467
- Nuclear-powered submarines
 - Non-Proliferation Treaty, government policy, 1273, 1302
 - Status of program, transfer of technology, 4438, 4477
 - Suggested purchase of British vessels, 4439, 4490
- Poisonous nerve gases, spraying of, 3657, 3921

National Defence, Special Senate Committee

- Appointment, 564, 618, 839, 853
 - Examination of land forces, 839
 - Motion in amdt, 841
 - Subcommittee, technical disadvantage, 855
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3337, 3385
- Deadline for presentation of final report, extension, 2288, 2314
- Membership, 869

National Defence, Special Senate Committee—Cont'd

Reports

- Expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 187
- See Journals of the Senate
- 1st, authority to travel, 1023, 1105, 1131
- 2nd, budget to engage services to study Canada's land forces, 1272, 1305
- See appendix p. 1292
- 3rd, feasibility study of "Snowbirds" visit to NATO allies in Europe, 1617, 1752, 1805
- See appendix p. 1618
- 4th, Emergency Preparedness bill C-76, 2974
- "Snowbirds" visit to allies, authority to make feasibility study, 1290

National Film Board, film entitled "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", public response to petition, inquiry, 2053, 2070, 2088, 2128, 2235

Order discharged, 3815

Presentation of petitions, 2147

Speaker: Senator

Marshall, Jack, 2070, 2088, 2128, 2235

See also Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

National Film Board, report on "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", motion to refer back to committee, inquiry, 390, 1112, 1132, 1154, 1306, 1560

CBC quote, 1154

Commitment to well-being of all veterans, 1155

Conflicting statements and inconsistencies, 1114

Docu-dramas, a blurring of reality, a license to lie, 1156

Failure to add disclaimer, 1115

Four reasons to re-commit report to committee, 1310

Grierson, John, Commissioner of NFB, quote, 1113

Items from evidence given to committee, 1308

Motion to refer inquiry to committee, 1310

Pierre Berton quotes, inconsistencies, 1307

Qualifications for military medal, 1305

Referred back to committee, 1560

Speaker: Senator

Marshall, Jack, 1112, 1132, 1154, 1306

National Finance, Standing Senate Committee

Auditor General, motion to refer report to committee, 447

Authority to engage services, 92

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 896

Estimates ref to com

Year ending Mar.31/87

Supplementary (A), 189

Supplementary (B), 340

Supplementary (C), 602

Year ending Mar.31/88, 1185

Supplementary (A), 563

Supplementary (B), 1754

Supplementary (C), 2207

Supplementary (D), 2532

Year ending Mar.31/89, 2779

See Journals of the Senate

Federal-provincial fiscal arrangements and federal post-secondary education and health contributions, 1977, subject matter of Bill C-44, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 870

Membership, 61

Post-secondary education and training, authority to continue study of government activities, 68, 463

Authority to extend date of presentation of report, 500

National Finance, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during 1st Session, 33rd Parliament, tabled, 74

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 243, 266

See appendix p. 260

3rd, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/87, supplementary (A), 291

See appendix p. 323

4th, Estimates, year ending Mar. 31/87, supplementary (B), 364, 367

See appendix p. 388

5th, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/88, supplementary (A), 666

See appendix p. 693

6th, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/87, supplementary (C), 695, 750

See appendix p. 725

7th, post-secondary education, tabled, 734, 817, 879, 1007, 1502

Federal role in specific areas, 736

Fundamental and applied research, 1009

GNP cap, 880

Government role in research, 881

New money for centres of research, 1009

Obstacles to forced cost-shared program, 1007

Overhead costs to be added to grants, 1009

Research and excellence, 1008

St. Andrews marine study and fisheries research, 881

Tax points transfers, 880

Transfer spending power to government level with responsibility, 735, 1007

University of New Brunswick forestry research, 881

8th, Borrowing Authority, 1987-87 (No.2) bill C-40, with comments, 736

9th, Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 781

10th, Federal-provincial fiscal arrangements, federal post-secondary education and health contributions, 1977, subject matter of Bill C-44, 905

11th, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/88, (interim), 1117, 1185

Tax expenditures and accounts receivable

See appendix p. 1136

12th, Estimates 1987-88, (2nd interim) 1335, 1449

Form and use of supplementary estimates

See appendix p. 1361

13th, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/88, supplementary (B), 2160, 2234

Department of Regional and Industrial Expansion overruns, 2234

See appendix p. 2174

14th, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/88, supplementary (C), 2242, 2310

Debt forgiveness, 2310

See appendix p. 2272

15th, Royal Canadian Mint and Currency bill C-46, 2286

16th, Estimates, year ending Mar.31/88, supplementary (D), 2589, 2604

17th, Currency bill C-99, 2757

18th, Estimates year ending Mar.31/88, 2826, 2886, 2968

Public sector considerations under current terms of value-for-money auditing, 2968

Sensitivity to concerns of minority groups, 2968

Value-for-money auditing, 2886, 2968

See appendix p. 2836

19th, Estimates 1987-88, supplementary (E), 2880

See appendix p. 2890

20th, Borrowing Authority bill C-109, 2880

National Finance, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'dReports—Cont'd

- 21st, Estimates 1988-89, supplementary (A), 3508, 3564
See appendix p. 3544
- 22nd, Western Economic Diversification bill C-113, 3572
- 23rd, Estimates, 1988-89, interim report, 3582, 3677
See appendix p. 3611
- 24th, Cape Breton Development Corporation bill C-127, 3636
- 25th, Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, rep on Part 1 (Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency), 3885
- 26th, Estimates, 1988-89 (2nd interim), 4128, 4178
See appendix p. 4156
- 27th, Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 4194
- 28th, National Capital bill C-153, 4311

National Gallery of Canada

- Child-care facilities, 3423, 3713

National Health and Welfare

- National Welfare Fellowships awarded for 1988-89 for doctoral studies, 4177

National housing and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation

- Equal access to public mortgage insurance, 3891
- Establishment of mortgage pools for creation of mortgage-backed securities, 3892
- Manufactured housing, 3891
- Moveable homes, 3891
- Social housing, 3892
- Warranty programs enhancement, 3891

Speaker: Senator

- Rossiter, Eileen, 3890

National Housing and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation

- bill C-111, 1r, 3789; 2r, 3890; ref to com, 3892; rep without amdt, 3919; 3r, 3991; r.a., 4109

National Parks

- Payment to provinces for lands to establish, government policy, 1645, 1662

National parks (Bill C-30)

- Ellesmere Island designation, 4108
- Heritage, 4107
- Management and development, 4108
- National Marine Parks, 4108
- Pingos, 4167
- Poaching fines, 4107
- Stewardship and protection, 4107
- Sunshine ski area, 4167
- Use of horses, mules and donkeys in parks, 4167

Speakers: Senators

- Kenny, Colin, 4167
- Rossiter, Eileen, 4107

- National Parks bill C-30. 1r, 4040; 2r, 4107, 4167; ref to com, 4167; rep without amdt, 4186; 3r, 4200; r.a., 4203

National Prisoners of War Association, representatives, visit, 1310National Statistics Council

- Membership, regional representation, 68, 81, 608
- Request for answer, 872, 1506

National transportation (Bill C-18)

- Branch line abandonments, 1318
- Confidential contracts, 1437

National transportation (Bill C-18)—Cont'd

- Deregulation of air services, 1317
- Employment protection in airline industry, 1439
- Extended interswitching limits and competitive line rates, 1318
- Foreign takeovers, 1437
- Iron Ore Co. of Canada and Wabush Mines, concerns, 1702
- National Transportation Agency replacing C.T.C., 1437
- Safeguards for special interests of northern commerce, 1318
- Safeguards from regional reductions in service, 1438
- Safety standards in airline industry, 1438
- Transport 2000 Canada, 1439

Speakers: Senators

- Frith, Royce, 1487
- Macdonald, John M., 1703
- Macquarrie, Heath, 1316
- Turner, Charles, 1436

See also Transport and Communications Committee

- National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18. 1r, 1297; 2r, 1316, 1436, 1487; ref to com, 1488; rep with amds, 1640; 3r, 1702; concurrence by Commons in Senate amds, 1754; r.a., 1774

National transportation (Bill C-131)

- Airline accessibility for disabled, 3775
- Appointment of disabled to National Transportation Agency, 3776
- Canadian Journal of Public Health*, article, 3776

Speakers: Senators

- Cogger, Michel, 3775
- Marsden, Lorna, 3776

- National Transportation, 1987 bill C-131. 1r, 3707; 2r, 3775; ref to com, 3776; rep without amdt, 3793; 3r, 3865; r.a., 3893

Native Economic Program, 1510Neiman, Hon. Joan B.

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1548, 2130, 2801, 2860
- Criminal Code and Canada Evidence bill C-15, 1525
- Data gathering and dissemination, 1526
- Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) bill C-264, 4242
- Criminal Code (victims of crime) bill C-89, 3430, 3991
- Detention and return of property, 3430
- Gathering of meaningful statistics on impact of changes to justice system, 3992
- Imprisonment in default of payment of restitution, 3992
- Imprisonment without appeal, 3992
- Publication bans, 3430, 3991
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3538, 3770

Immigration

- Bills C-55 and C-86, anticipated date of committee reporting, 2931

Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 2288, 2532, 2538, 2827, 2882, 3069, 3512, 3654
- Refused, 3668

"Implementation of the 1985 Changes to the Indian Act", authority to study document, 1629

Reports

- 3rd, National Archives of Canada bill C-7, 501
- 4th, Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon assets disposal authorization, subject matter of Bill C-45, 760
- 6th, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, with recommendations, 971, 1037

Neiman, Hon. Joan B.—Cont'd

Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee—Cont'd
 Reports—Cont'd

See appendix p. 985

7th, Marriage (Prohibited Degrees) bill S-5, 1117

8th, Yellowknife Electric Ltd., without amdt, 1214

9th, Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, with amds, 1432

10th, Criminal Code and Canada evidence, subject matter of Bill C-15, tabled, 1457

See appendix p. 1464

12th, Supreme Court bill C-53, 2207

13th, Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society bill S-14, 2240

14th, Statute Law amendment proposals document, with amds, 2349

15th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-64, 2374

See appendix p. 2402

16th, budget to study Immigration, 1976 bill C-55 and authority to travel, 2499

See appendix p. 2511

17th, Revised statutes of Canada, 1985 bill C-94, 2471

18th, Judges bill C-88, 2471

19th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-76, with amds, 2974

See appendix p. 3024

20th, Immigration bill C-55, with amds and observations, 3349, 3395

See appendix p. 3361

21st, Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, bill S-7, with amds, 3472, 3495

22nd, Indian bill C-115, with amdt, 3685

23rd, Montreal Trust Company of Canada, 3751

24th, Criminal Code (victims of crime) bill C-89, with comments, 3919

25th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, revised message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, with recommendations, 4057, 4058

See appendix p. 4079

26th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-84, message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, with recommendations, 4064

27th, Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters bill C-58, with observations, 4167

28th, Quebec Courts Amendment bill C-145, 4199

29th, Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) bill C-264, 4221

30th, Blue Water Bridge Authority, subject matter of Bill C-210, 4235

31st, Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, with comments, 4237

See appendix p. 4253

Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, authority to extend date of reporting, 906

Study of 1st Report of French Constitutional Drafting Committee Membership, 620, 799

Marriage (Prohibited Degrees) bill S-5, 795

Nelder-Corvari, Carol, Tariff Officer, International Trade and Finance Branch, Department of Finance

Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), considered in Committee of the Whole, 3763

Netherlands

Her Majesty Queen Beatrix, address to both houses, 3328

See appendix p. 3343

New Brunswick

Authors of official bilingualism in province, 1951

Landry, Hon. Aldéa, congratulations on cabinet appointment, 2078

Lieutenant Governor, status of, 2818

See also Agriculture

Constitution Amendment, 1987

Economic development

Transport

Newfoundland

Breakdown of specific federal government spending, replies by ministers tabled, 1865

Newfoundland and its people, concerns and interests, inquiry, 2207, 2541

Cost sharing, 2545

Defence spending, 2544

Fisheries, 2545

Regional disparity, 2542

Regional economic development, 2542

Resources, 2545

Transfer payments, 2542

Transportation issues, 2545

Speaker: Senator

Cochrane, Ethel, 2541

Newfoundland and Labrador

History of French Shore, 551

Newfoundland, matters of federal and provincial significance, inquiry, 2779

Withdrawn, 3446

Newfoundland veterans

Forty-fifth anniversary of Murmansk convoys, tribute by Russian Ambassador, 2824

Nicaragua

See Foreign Affairs

Nobel Peace Prize

Congratulatory message to President Oscar Arias Sanchez of Costa Rica, 1953

United Nations peacekeeping forces, recognition, 4522

Non-smokers' health

Concern about adding tobacco products to Hazardous Products Act, 3715

Federal Public Service policy, 3623

Indemnity of the Crown, 3714

Objection of Via Rail, 3715

Point of order, 3591

Regulation of smoking in the workplace, 3622

Sidestream smoke, 3622

Speakers: Senators

Flynn, Jacques, 3765

Frith, Royce, 3673, 3714

Haidasz, Stanley, 3621

Tremblay, Arthur, 3765

Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 1r, 3547; 2r, 3591, 3621; ref to com, 3623; rep without amdt, 3653; 3r, 3673, 3714, 3765; r.a., 3778

North Atlantic Assembly, Spring Session, Funchal, Madeira, inquiry, 3582

North Atlantic Assembly, Thirty-second Annual Session, Istanbul, Turkey, 333, 444

Canada's position and policy in NATO, 446

NATO and the Warsaw alliance and conventional arms, 445

- North Atlantic Assembly, Thirty-second Annual Session, Istanbul, Turkey—Cont'd
 Nuclear arms control, 445
 Strategic Defense Initiative, obstacle to progress, 445
Speaker: Senator
 Roblin, Duff, 444
- Northern Canada Power Commission (share issuance and sale authorization)
 Devolution of power from federal government to territorial government, 3237
 Federal subsidies of electricity rates, 3237
 Movement of head office, 3237
 Safeguarding of employee interests, 3238
Speakers: Senators
 Barootes, Efstathios W., 3236
 Lucier, Paul, 3238
 and
 McKnight, Hon. William, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development, 3239
- Northern Canada Power Commission (Share Issuance and Sale Authorization) bill C-125, 1r, 3069; 2r, 2326; ref to Committee of the Whole, 3239; Considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. William McKnight, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development taking part in the debate, 3239; rep without amdt, 3242; 3r, 3242; r.a., 3251
- Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon assets disposal authorization
 Background, 772
 Devolution process, 772
 Yukon development potential, 774
Speakers: Senators
 Balfour, R. James, 772
 Lucier, Paul, 773
- Northern Canada Power Commission Yukon Assets Disposal Authorization bill C-45, 1r, 759; 2r, 772; 3r, 775; r.a., 776
- Northwest Territories
 Inuvik, withdrawal of Armed Forces personnel, effect on economy, 334, 358
See also Constitution
 Constitution amendment, 1987
- Norway
 Aboriginal delegation, visit, 3987
- Nova Scotia
 MacLean, Vincent J., Leader of the Opposition
 Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2605
See also Industry
 Regional Industrial Expansion
 Transport
- Nurgitz, Hon. Nathan
 Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 87
 Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945, bill S-3, 121
 Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 551
 Telglob Canada reorganization and divestiture, subject matter of Bill C-38, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 551
 Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68, 1913
 Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 525
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 Data bases and information, maintenance, protection and enhancement, 1912
- Nurgitz, Hon. Nathan—Cont'd
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement—Cont'd
 Duty-free importation of U.S. manufactured products, 1912
 Canada-United States relations
 Bilateral trade negotiations, items for negotiation, 531
 Child abuse and neglect, 87
 Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, 1913
 Constitution Amendment, 1987, motion for message to Commons
 Motion in amdt, 3486
 Criminal Code and Canada Evidence bill C-15, 1413, 1527
 Admissibility of evidence from children, 1414
 Child sexual abuse and child prostitution, 1413
 Data gathering, 1527
 Improvement of arrangements for children's testimony, 1414
 Review process, 1527
 Sexual interference, invitation to sexual touching and sexual exploitation, new offenses, 1414
 Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, 3922, 4263
 Drug trafficking, 3922
 Proceeds of crime, 3922
 United Nations draft convention, 3922
 Criminal Code (torture) bill C-28, 833, 878
 Commission on Human Rights, 834
 Conformity with UN convention, 833
 Expansion of rules of jurisdiction, 833
- Grain
 Grain Stabilization Fund, exclusion of mustard seed, 558
 Haddassah-Wizo, national executive, visit, 844
 Hastings, Hon. Earl A., felicitations on receipt of John Howard Society of Ontario humanitarian award, 71
 Immigration bill C-55, revised message from Commons, 3764
 Referred to committee, 4020
 Immigration bill C-84, message from Commons, 2724
 Illegal entry, 2726
 Motion for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, 2727, 3996
 Protection for genuine refugees, 2726
 Referred to committee, 4020
 Security risks, 2726
 Turning around of ships, 2726
- Indian Affairs
 Self-government, government policy, 531
- Inter-Parliamentary Union, Seventy-ninth Conference in Guatemala City, Guatemala, inquiry, 3385, 3502
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 Authority to engage services, 232
 Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 333, 1785, 2350, 2779
- Reports
 1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, 232
See Journals of the Senate
 2nd, Alliance Nationale Consolidated, 1945, with amdts, 232
 5th, Criminal Code (torture) bill C-28, 897
 20th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, with amdts, 3401
 25th, Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, revised from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, with recommendations, 4062
 32nd, Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, 4258
See appendix p. 4283
- Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, 4314
 Administration difficulties, 4315
 Division of lobbyists into two tiers, 4315
 Information gathering, 4315

Nurgitz, Hon. Nathan—Cont'd

- Marriage (Prohibited Degrees) bill S-5, 501, 592, 795, 1249
 - Hubbard, Prof. H. Albert, Q.C., University of Ottawa, "Marriage Prohibitions, Adoption and Private Acts of Parliament: The Need for Reform", recommendations, 594
 - Lineal adoptive relationship prohibition, 593
- Miscellaneous Statute Law Amendment, 1987 bill C-104, 2539, 2559, 2586
- Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax and Income Tax bill C-17, 403, 406
- Regulations and other Statutory Instruments Committee reports
 - 1st, Expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 232
 - See Journals of the Senate
 - 2nd, Statutory Instruments No. 36, 450, 643
 - See appendix p. 457
 - 3rd, Statutory Instruments No. 37, tabled, 563
 - Referred back to committee, 697
 - See appendix p. 581
 - 4th, Statutory Instruments No. 38, 666, 855
 - See appendix p. 679
 - 5th, Statutory Instruments No. 39, 666, 964
 - See appendix p. 682
- Regulatory Scrutiny Committee report
 - 9th, Report No. 43, Public Service Employment, 3317, 3341
 - See appendix p. 3322
- Revised Statutes of Canada bill C-94, 2361
 - Translation improvements, 2361
 - Wording changes, 2361
- Scrutiny of Regulations Committee report
 - 10th, Statutory instruments made by certain Statutory Courts, 3753, 3810
 - See appendix p. 3764
- Senate
 - Adjournment, 561
 - Business, 511, 560, 1787, 1912, 1919, 1930
 - Question Period
 - Delayed answers, 531, 558, 1912
 - Requests for answers, 1913
- Supreme Court bill C-53, 2080, 2226
 - Authority to assign counsel to unrepresented accused, 2080
 - Discretion to deliver judgment by deposit, 2080
 - Leave to appeal without oral hearings, 2080
 - Time limits for appeal, 2081
- Transport
 - Grain Transportation Agency recommendations, government policy, 531
 - Regina International Airport, construction of hotel, local consultation, 558
- Ukraine
 - Millennium of Christianity, 3706
- Western Economic Diversification bill C-113, 3389
 - Advocacy powers to counter centralizing inclination of federal departments, 3390
 - Assistance in form of "last dollar", 3390
 - To advance interests of western Canada, 3389
- Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11, 1255
- Yellowknife Electric Ltd bill S-10, 1148, 1248
 - Dissolution following failure to file annual returns, 1148
- Youth
 - Beat-the-Street Program, length of term, 1912
- Ocean Industry Development Subsidiary Agreement
 - Projects in Newfoundland, 2657
 - Answer tabled, 4542
 - See appendix p. 2664

Official languages

- Alberta
 - Legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, 3755
 - Rights of Francophones, statement of Premier Getty, 4506
- Appointment of special committee to study use of official languages in Canada, subject matter of bill C-72 prior to receipt of legislation, 2956
- Bill C-72, m for appointment of special committee to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3920
 - Withdrawn, 3931
- Bill C-72, use of provisions to promote bilingualism in workplace in Quebec, position of federal government, 4019
- Broadcasting of Calgary Olympic Games in French, 2240
- C.D. Howe Institute document distributed by Hon. John Crosbie, unavailability of French text, 4312
- Budget allocation, 1988, for promotion outside Quebec, 4461
- Existence of joint committee, statement by Secretary of State, 2318
- Proposed advisory council, composition, role and terms of reference, 1052, 1509
 - Consultation on composition with joint committee, 1089
 - Request for answers, 1398
- Proposed legislation, anticipated date of introduction, 18
- Report of Commissioner
 - Message from Commons, 419, 829, 2908
 - Percentage of Anglophones in federal public service in Quebec, 2957
 - Reactions, 2977, 3101
 - Referred to committee, 785, 2908
 - Tabled, 419, 779, 1333, 3748
 - See Journals of the Senate
- Role of Commissioner, 1089
- Status of French in Alberta and in provincial legislatures, 2229, 2358
- Status of legislation, 2758
- "Sufficient" minority, definition, 1053
- Teaching of second official language in Quebec, funding provisions of federal-provincial protocol, 2979

Official Languages Act

- Consultations by Secretary of State, injustice to parliamentarians, 1299
- Report of committee, government attitude, 1299
- Status of bill to amend, 1094, 1299
- Status of regulations, 4467

Official languages (Bill C-72)

- Aboriginal languages, 4028
- Application of measures in Quebec, 4118
- Attitude in Quebec, 4007, 4119
- Attitudes, 4133
- Bilingual districts, 4001
- Concept of "federal institution", 4003
- Conformity with Charter, 4001
- Courts, 4004, 4022, 4024, 4135
- Crown corporations, 4004, 4029
- Declaratory nature, 4003
- English minority in Quebec, treatment, 4006
- Equitable participation, 4025
- Implementation of provisions to advance English and French, 4005
- Justice, tolerance and respect, 4005
- Language of work in federal institutions, 4001
- Laurendeau-Dunton Commission recommendations, 3998, 4133
- Management by Treasury Board, 4025
- Manitoba, 4030
- New elements, 4012

Official languages (Bill C-72)—Cont'd

- Official language Act of New Brunswick, 3999
- Opportunities for unilinguals, 4026
- Order-in-Council regulations, 4025, 4135
- Preamble, 4003, 4023
- Primacy over other federal enactments, 4003
- Quebec Bill 101, 4000, 4030
- Quotas, 4134
- Role of Commissioner, 4025, 4136
- Safeguards re regulations, 4001, 4024
- School administration in Ontario, 4000
- Victoria Charter, 3999

Speakers: Senators

- Corbin, Eymard G., 4136
- Everett, Douglas D., 4006
- Frith, Royce, 4023, 4132
- Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 4007
- Guay, Joseph-Philippe, 4021
- Marchand, Len, 4027
- Murray, Lowell, 3998, 4028
- Robichaud, Louis J., 4005
- Wood, Dalia, 4003, 4118

Official Languages bill C-72. 1r, 3885; 2r, 3998, 4021; ref to com, 4031; rep without amdt, 4084; 3r, 4118, 4132; r.a., 4168

Official Languages bill C-72, Special Senate Committee

- Appointment, 4031
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 4042
- Report
 - 1st, 4084

Official Languages, Standing Joint Committee

- Authority to meet during Senate sittings and adjournments, 138
- Estimates, 1987-88
 - Privy Council vote 15, ref to com
 - Message from Commons, 562
 - Message to Commons, 564
 - Supplementary (E), Privy Council vote 15e, ref to com
 - Message from Commons, 2825
 - Message to Commons, 2827
- Estimates, 1988-89
 - Privy Council vote 15, ref to com, 2780
 - Message from Commons, 2777
- Membership, 117
- Message from Commons, 72
- Reports
 - Expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 231
 - See Journals of the Senate
 - 1st, establishment of quorum, 231, 240, 246
 - 2nd, estimates, 1987-88, Privy Council vote 15, tabled, 935
 - 3rd, amendments to Official Languages with recommendations, 1174
 - See appendix, 1191
 - 4th, implementation of Official Languages Act, with recommendations, 1394
 - Question of privilege, 1395
 - See appendix p. 1420
 - 5th, Calgary Olympic Winter Games, disregard for provisions of Charter re French-language television coverage, 2471
 - Withdrawn, 3678
 - Reinstated, 3751
- Senate members, message to Commons, 132

Official report

See Senate

Olson, Hon. H.A., P.C.Agriculture

- Alberta, drought relief program
 - Criteria for qualification, qu, 4213, 4238, 4462
 - Signing of agreement, qu, 3864, 3921
- Breeding herds in drought-stricken areas, dispersal of, tax deferral on livestock sales, qu, 4174, 4223
- Deficiency payments to western grain farmers
 - Delay in payment of second instalment, qu, 1175
 - 1987 crop year, qu, 1248, 1300, 1338, 1756, 1873, 2318
 - Government action, qu, 1844, 1953, 2233
 - Request for answer, qu, 1476, 2124
- Drought relief program, enhancement, qu, 4503
- Farm credit crisis
 - Assistance payments, request for information on, qu, 2547
 - Government action qu, 602, 851, 872
 - Request for clarification of delayed answer, 875
- Financial assistance to producers, request for information, qu, 2380
- Government assistance, federal-provincial discussions, qu, 16, 76
- Grain, 1987-88 crop year
 - Decline in prices, government relief measures, qu, 1642, 1872
 - Initial price, qu, 584
 - Level of payment, qu, 1051, 1088
- Grain, 1988-89 crop year, initial payment, qu, 2882, 3069, 3100
 - Request for answer, qu, 3222, 3236
 - Request for additional information, 3286
- Western Canada, drought conditions
 - Effect on price of bread, qu, 3795, 4131
 - Government assistance, qu, 3265, 3349, 3710, 3755
 - Meeting of Ministers of Agriculture, government action, qu, 3462, 3472
 - Request for answer, 3386, 3420, 3447
- Western Canada, drought conditions, motion to refer subject matter to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, 3386, 3454
- Action under Bill C-77, 3455
- Brood cow herds, 3456
- Erosion of topsoil, 3456
- Situation worse than 1930s, 3455
- Western grain farmers, government assistance, 36, 55
 - Basis of payment, qu, 243
- Agriculture and Forestry Committee
 - Authority to engage services, 669
 - Reports
 - 6th, "Financing the Family Farm to the Year 2000", 3354
 - 8th, Western Canada, drought conditions, 3566, 3597
- Agriculture, need for comprehensive financial support program for grain producers, inquiry, 2380, 2506
- Farm Debt Review Boards, 2507
- Special Grains Program, 2507
- Alberta
 - Parliamentary interns, Alberta Legislature, visit, 2547
- Appropriation No. 5 bill C-108, 2604, 2635
 - Debt review boards, 2637
 - Special Canadian Grains Program, 2635
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
 - Minister's statement, 1171
- Banking
 - Bank of British Columbia, acquisition of, avoidance of income tax on deposit insurance payment, qu, 2073
 - Responsibility of government leader to provide answers, question of privilege, 2073
- Cameron, Hon. Donald, tribute, 1885
- Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141, 3870
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3872
- Consignment sales, 3870

Olson, Hon. H.A., P.C.—Cont'd

- Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141—Cont'd
 - Regulations, 3870
- Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, fifteenth meeting at Banff, Alberta, 3227
 - Effect of grains subsidy war between EEC and United States, 3227
- Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries, 495, 657
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 476
- Canada Grain bill C-112, 4146
 - Commissioners' tenure, 4147
- Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 198
 - Canadian self-sufficiency, 199
 - Cash flow and tax credits, 199
 - Delineation, 198
 - PIP grants, 199
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Adversely affected industries, transitional assistance for, qu, 1942
 - Benefits to Canada, suggested Senate committee hearings, qu, 1930
 - Energy provisions, final text of, delay in release of final text, qu, 2324
 - Government publicity campaign, qu, 3550
 - Inclusion of Canada's fresh water resource, qu, 3492
- Canada-United States Inter-Parliamentary Group, twenty-ninth meeting at Key West, Florida, 3791
 - See appendix p. 3816
- Canada-United States relations
 - Natural gas exports, U.S. regulatory commission's decision, qu, 1176, 1214
 - United States tax on imported crude oil, government policy, qu, 98
- Canadian Exploration and Development Incentives Program bill C-59, 1282, 1304
 - Additional development drilling program need, 1284
 - Marine drilling limits, 1283
- Canadian National Railways
 - Executive offices, relocation from Edmonton to Montreal, qu, 1476, 1581
- Canadian Wheat Board bill C-92, 4106
 - Attitude of elevator companies, 4107
 - Producer cars, 4106
- Communications
 - Telelobe Canada, sale, investigation of insider trading, qu, 503, 528, 555
 - Sale to Memotec, investigation of insider trading, government action, qu, 1866, 1880, 1989
 - Request for answer, 1956, 2126
- Constitution
 - Amendment to implement concurrent jurisdiction over provincial resources, government action, qu, 671, 704
 - First Ministers' Accord
 - Senate reform, qu, 944
 - Suggested pre-study, qu, 953
 - Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3177
 - Shared-cost programs, 3178
 - Unanimity, 3177
 - Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1997, 2453, 2750, 2804, 3003
 - Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, inquiry, 1102
 - Restructuring, 1103
 - "Single transferable vote", 1104
 - Suspensive veto, 1104
 - Triple E Senate, 1102

Olson, Hon. H.A., P.C.—Cont'd

- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and signed texts to Committee of the Whole, 1201
 - Constitutional obligation, 1203
 - Unanimity requirement, 1204
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, point of order, 1241
- Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) bill C-264, 4216, 4242
 - Syringe availability for veterinary use, 4216
- Economic Summit
 - Venice, Italy, agriculture as agenda item, qu, 1120
- Economic Summit, 1988
 - Agricultural subsidies, request for progress report, qu, 3710, 4085
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3768
- Energy
 - Decline in natural gas prices, government policy, qu, 77
 - Federal-provincial conference, security of supply, government policy, qu, 424, 438, 467
 - Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, government funding, qu, 3329, 3618
 - Monitoring of oil and gas companies following termination of PGRT, qu, 57, 67, 79, 395
 - Request for reply, 357
 - Monitoring of use of funds following termination of PGRT, government participation in Syncrude, qu, 297, 361
 - Oil and gas industry, relief of severe economic problems, government policy, qu, 233
 - Tar sands processing plant, Fort McMurray, Alberta, status, qu, 2829, 2846, 3100, 3330
 - Effect of OSLO Agreement, qu, 4484
 - Government's financial commitment, qu, 3573, 3583
 - Date of commencement of project, qu, 4042
 - Government participation, qu, 4261
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Canada petroleum resources, subject matter of Bill C-5, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 34, 69
- Excise Tax bill C-101, 2474, 2480
 - Off-road operations, 2480
- Farm Improvement and Marketing Cooperatives Loans bill C-78, 1567
 - Debt servicing charges, 1567
 - Low commodity prices, 1567
- Finance
 - Bank rate increase, government action, qu, 3583
- Fisheries Committee
 - 1st report, 122
- Foreign affairs
 - Saudi Arabia, replacement of Sheik Yamani, qu, 120
- Fruit and Vegetables Customs Orders Validation bill C-96, 2763
 - Free Trade Agreement, 2764
 - Seasonal tariffs, 2764
- Grain
 - Grain Stabilization Fund, exclusion of mustard seed, qu, 465, 528, 558
- Hastings, Hon. Earl A.
 - Felicitations on receipt of John Howard Society of Ontario humanitarian award, 71
- Income Tax bill C-64, 2346
- Industry
 - Aerospace, awarding of CF-18 service contract to Canadair, ownership and technology transfer considerations, qu, 161
 - General Motors, interest-free loan
 - Terms of contract re job guarantees, access to information, qu, 833

Olson, Hon. H.A., P.C.—Cont'd

- International relations
 - Joint Committee report, government action re recommendations on military agreements, qu, 565
- Labour
 - British Columbia longshoremen's lockout, government action, qu, 34
- Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, 4144
 - Penalties, 4144
 - Restrictions, 4145
- Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 213, 217
 - Penalty provision imbalance, 214
 - Unusual term of contract, 217, 224
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, 1762
 - Considered in Committee of the Whole, 1768
 - Effect on bulk commodity trade, 1762
 - Extension of collective agreements, 1768
 - Fairness, 1763
 - Guidelines for arbitrators, 1762
- Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4209
- Murray, Hon. Lowell, felicitations on appointment to Priorities and Planning Committee of Cabinet, 464
- Official languages
 - Alberta legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, qu, 3755
- Patent bill C-22, 1746
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug price increases
 - Action of government, qu, 2535
 - Request for committee appearance of drug company spokesmen, qu, 2537, 2549
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1963, 1976
 - Compromise, 1964
 - Franchising, 1976, 1981
 - Mediator-arbitrator, 1977
 - Too-harsh penalties, 1964
- Prairie Grain Advance Payments bill C-12, 590, 608
 - Crop insurance fund, 609
 - Seeding dates, 610
 - Supplementary and main estimates, 611
- Prescription drug prices
 - Effect of proposed Patent Act amendment, presentation of petition, 1213
- Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, 2521, 2524
 - Computer issue, 2521
 - Guidelines for arbitrator, 2522
- Senate, 1194
 - Adjournment, 2
 - Motion in amendment, 2150
 - Point of order, 2152
 - Business, 210, 1564
 - Debates*, delay in production of, 2442
 - Filling of vacancies, role of provinces and territories, qu, 2209
 - Privilege, 829
 - Motion to refer to committee, 890
 - Withdrawn, 948
 - Question Period
 - Request for answers, 197, 1509, 2956, 2978
- Senate reform
 - Consultations with provinces, nature and status, qu, 4239
- Solicitor General
 - Canadian Security Intelligence Service, request for confidential files from provinces, qu, 4241, 4490

Olson, Hon. H.A., P.C.—Cont'd

- Telelobe Canada
 - Reorganization and divestiture, apparent leak re Memotec bid, request for answers, qu, 831, 851
- Tribute on 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons, 1211
- United Nations
 - Iran-Iraq border peacekeeping contingent
 - Request for answers to further questions, 4312
 - Sharing of cost, qu, 4187, 4241
- Western Economic Development Agency
 - Nature of general structure, date of establishment, qu, 1647
- Western Economic Diversification
 - Criteria for program support, qu, 2796, 2847
 - Delivery system for program, qu, 2793, 2847, 3100
- Western Economic Diversification bill C-113, 3390
 - Diversification, 3391
 - Entitlement, 3392
 - Revolution in agriculture, 3391
- Western Grain Stabilization bill C-132, 4150
 - Rate of levies increase, 4151

Olympic Winter Games, XV

- Tribute to people of Calgary, 2777

Ontario

- Student delegation from St. Robert's Catholic High School, Thornhill, visit, 3670

Orders and Customs of the Senate and Privileges of Parliament, Standing Senate Committee

- Appointment, 9

Order of Canada

- Notice of investiture ceremony, 3252

Order, point of

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries dispute, motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole, 489
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Binding dispute mechanism, question, 2055
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2911
- Constitution, m to refer to Committee of the Whole, 1200
- Constitution, motion for proposed amendment, m in amdt, 3218
- Constitution, 1987, m to amend by proclamation, 1357
- Constitutional Accord, 1987, establishment of Special Joint Committee, 1236
- Federal government and crown corporations, selection process for procurement of services, 2834
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, m to instruct committee to divide into two bills, 3767
- Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3591, 3621
- Patent bill C-22, 1748
- Prescription drug prices, effect of proposed Patent Act, presentation of petitions, 1024

Senate

- Adjournment, 2152, 2153
- Cost of printing of appendices in Debates and Minutes, 3864
- Question Period, possible revision of rule 30, 2166
- Senator McElman, 871, 872
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - 25th report, Indian bill C-123, with comments, 4349
 - Ref to Rules and Orders Committee, 4350

Organ Donor Week, 899Orr, Royal, President, Alliance Québec

Constitution, First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2247

Ottenheimer, Hon. Gerald R. (introduced in the Senate Jan. 26/88), 2531

Canadian Centre for Management Development bill C-148, 4227

Arm's length institution, 4227

Goals, 4227

Canadian International Trade Tribunal bill C-110, 4103

Amalgamation of Canadian Import Tribunal, Textile and Clothing Board and Tariff Board, 4103

New direct access for complaints re import competition, 4103

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3155

Balanced federalism, 3155

Distinct society, fear of, 3157

Fisheries, 3158

Newfoundland's position, 3156

Quebec, 3156

Senate reform, 3158

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2609, 3014

Foreign Affairs Committee

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3695

Report, 16th, International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, 4557

Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters bill C-58, 3926

Search warrants, evidence gathering for foreign countries, transfer of persons in custody and lending of exhibits, 3927

Newfoundland, matters of federal and provincial significance, inquiry, 2779

Withdrawn, 3446

Speaker, acting, 4016, 4221

Pakistan, Islamic Republic of

See Visitors

Paperwork Reduction Advisory Committee

Small businesses and tourism, 2589

Parliament

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Timetable for introduction of enabling legislation, 3351

Timetable for legislative implementation of provisions, 3233

Estimates, 1986-87

Parliament vote 10C, ref to com, message from Commons, 619

Estimates, 1987-88

Parliament vote 10, ref to com, message from Commons, 562

Legislative role of Senate, 4352

Summer prorogation, government intention, 1302

Parliament Buildings

Centre Block, photographs of British Prime Ministers, 266

Parliament Hill

Condition of roadways, 1937, 2292

Request for answer, 2166

Condition of sidewalks, 1988

Quick corrective action of government, 2166

Parliament, Joint Committee

Message from Commons, 72

Referred to Standing Rules and Orders Committee, 133

Parliamentary Employment and Staff Relations

Delay in proclamation of Act, 64, 81, 99

Parliamentary Secretaries

Suggested appointment of senators, 467

Parole

Board hearing procedures, 56

Release of inmates, 22

Parole and penitentiaries

Amending legislation, inclusion in legislative program, 3671

Patent Act (bill to amend)

Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, 2059

Appointment of special committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 prior to receipt of legislation, 785, 826, 836

See Special Senate Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22

Government brochure

Distribution before possible enactment of legislation, 2167, 2168

Distribution, use of ministerial power, 2166

Suggested inaccuracy of statements, 2167

Multinationals' commitment to R&D, provision of punitive measures for non-compliance, 1903

Pharmaceutical companies

Commitments, 2079

R&D commitment, statement by Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, 2077

Patent (Bill C-22)

Agricultural costs increase, 1744

Canadian researcher protection, 997

Clinical research, 1731

Competition, 1745

Consumer price protection, 997

Drug prices review board, 998, 1347

Eastman report findings, 1345

"Entrance" price, 1061

European pressure, 1405

Forestry and fisheries costs increases, 1744

Free trade implications, 1346

Greed on a massive scale, 1403

Innovative pharmaceutical industry contribution, 1029

Intellectual property protection, 998, 1032, 1060, 1062, 1746

Protection period reduction, 1733

Limited drug research in Canada, 1061

Motion in amdt, neg, 1743

Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2179

Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1816

Negatived, 1837

Multinational drug companies, 1401

Pharmaceutical sector, chance to develop, 1732

Price controls, 1406, 1743

Price gouging, 1060

Price increase, 1734, 1736

Price of promises, 1345

Province of Ontario, 1346

Quebec coalition for adoption of bill, meeting, Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee representation, 1812

Research and development, 1402

Senate responsibility re legislation, 2213

Ten per cent of total profit annual investment, 998

U.S. pressure, 1404, 1405

Patent (Bill C-22)—Cont'd

Use of foreign patents without price gouging, 1061

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 2218
 Barootes, Efsthios William, 1062
 Bonnell, M. Lorne, 1744, 2220
 Buckwold, Sidney L., 1344
 Cogger, Michel, 997, 1405
 David, Paul, 1029, 1730
 Everett, Douglas D., 2214
 Flynn, Jacques, 1736
 Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 1059
 Haidasz, Stanley, 2219
 Hicks, Henry D., 2217
 LeBlanc, Roméo, 1734
 MacEachen, Allan J., 2217
 Molson, Hartland de M., 2213
 Roblin, Duff, 1745, 2215
 Thériault, L. Norbert, 1400, 1735

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee Special Senate Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22

Patent bill C-22. 1r, 971; 2r, 997, 1029, 1059, 1344, 1400; ref to com, 1408; rep of com, 1619; rep with amds, 1640, 1673; rep ref back to com, 1685; rep with amds, 1704; 3r, 1730, m in amdt, neg, 1743; message to Commons, 1748; message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, 1775; m to ref message to com, 1785, 1790; m in amdt, 1799; neg, 1801; ref to com, 1801; rep with amds, 1991, 2084, 2090; message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amds and for non-insistence on certain Senate amds, 2156, 2184, 2212; m to explore possibility of free conference, 2179; message to Commons of Senate concurrence, 2224; r.a., 2228

Patent (Bill S-15)

Bill C-22 amendments, 3643
 Circumvention of federal Competition Act, 2961
 Code of conduct, 2960
 Consumer Price Index, 2832
 Drug companies' integrity re price increases following pledge to consider CPI, 2784
 Generic and innovative producers both guilty of price increases, 2833
 Merck Frosst, pricing, 2785, 2960
 Multinationals incorporation of own generic subsidiaries for purpose of offering identical products at different price, 2961
 Musial and Taciuk report, 2960
 Patented Medicine Prices Review Board, mandate, 4530
 Peat Marwick study, 3642
 Power of Patented Medicine Prices Review Board, 2783, 2832, 2961, 3641, 3644
 Premature timing, 4532
 Prices exceeding Consumer Price Index, 4531
 Rising insurance costs re rising drug costs, 2784
See appendix p. 4427

Speakers: Senators

Bonnell, M. Lorne, 2783
 Buckwold, Sidney L., 3643
 Cogger, Michel, 3641
 David, Paul, 2831, 2962, 4530
 Flynn, Jacques, 4532
 Haidasz, Stanley, 2960
 Sinclair, Ian, 4531
 Thériault, L. Norbert, 3450

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Patent bill S-15. 1r, 2722; 2r, 2783, 2831, 2960, 3450, 3641, 3715; ref to com, 3716; interim rep, 4404, 4449; rep with comments, 4503; 3r, 4530

Patent extension (Aspartame)

Multinational corporations, 1409

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 1408
 Frith, Royce, 1410
 Phillips, Orville H., 1408

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259. 1r, 1314; 2r, 1408; ref to com, 1411; rep with amdt, 1448; 3r, 1448;

PCBs

See Environment

Peckford, Hon. A. Brian, P.C., Premier of Newfoundland

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 645

Arbitration, 652, 656
 Equality with other industries, 653
 Foreign fishing on nose and tail of bank, 655
 Inshore fishery, 661
 Leverage with foreign nations, 650
 Provincial jurisdictional presence in resource management, 649

Penitentiaries

Double-bunking, government action, 79, 237
 Enfranchisement of inmates in federal elections, 4058
 Proposed prison at Port-Cartier, Quebec, factors governing location, effect of additional cost on inmate programs, 78, 237

Pension, war veterans allowance and compensation for former prisoners of war

Administrative changes, 2393
 Answers to questions asked on second reading, 2493
 Proclamation date, 2394
 Residency requirement, 2394

Speakers: Senators

Bonnell, M. Lorne, 2394
 Tremblay, Arthur, 2392

Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War bill C-100. 1r, 2373; 2r, 2392; 3r, 2396; r.a., 2510

Perrault, Hon. Raymond J., P.C.

Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation bill C-27, 271
 Employment protection, 273
 Erosion of confidence, 273
 Importance of regional institutions, 272
 "Least bad" solution, 271
 Battle of Vimy Ridge
 70th anniversary, tribute, 869
 British Columbia
 Allocation of federal government contracts, qu, 18
 Canada Post Corporation
 Sponsorship of U.S. television series "Amerika," qu, 526, 586
 Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 British Columbia, exclusion from adjustment committee, qu, 3223
 Concerns of members of government, government leader's position, qu, 2073
 Canada-United States relations
 Softwood lumber industry
 Threatened action by United States government, qu, 335

Perrault, Hon. Raymond J., P.C.—Cont'dCanada-United States relations—Cont'd

Trade

Imposition of tariff on publications, amount and distribution of revenue, qu, 335, 362

Imposition of U.S. tariffs on Canadian forest products, mitigation of harmful effects, government action, qu, 356

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2748, 3063

Criminal Code, Immigration, 1976 and Citizenship bill C-71, 1789

Crimes against humanity, 1789

External Affairs

Fiji, violation of human rights, government action, qu, 1878, 1885

Fisheries

Trade, United-States cancellation of perishable product agreements, qu, 4484

Entry into U.S. of Canadian seafood products, qu, 4503

West coast boundary waters dispute, resolution, government policy, qu, 422

West Coast Salmon Enhancement Program, government policy, qu, 333, 362

Fisheries Committee

5th report, Marketing of Fish in Canada, (2nd interim rep), 2366

Foreign Affairs Committee

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3647

Patent bill C-22

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, m to refer to committee, 1797

Shipbuilding

British Columbia, allocation of contracts, government policy, qu, 15

Softwood Lumber Products Export Charge bill C-37, 1095

American protectionism, 1096

Communication breakdown between industry and government, 1099

GATT, 1097

Remanufacturing sector, 1099

Stumpage alternative, 1096, 1099

Sport

XXIV Olympiad, Ben Johnson, stripping of 100-metre sprint gold medal and disqualification, request for comprehensive investigation,

Availability of funds to eliminate drug abuse, qu, 4486

Government action, qu, 4504

Propriety of life suspension, qu, 4523

Transport

Grain Transportation Agency recommendations, government policy, qu, 427, 531

Persons Award

Inclusion of ceremony in Debates of the Senate, 2065

Presentation ceremony, notice of, 2008

Petroleum and gas revenue tax and income tax

Effect on north of PGRT repeal, 405

PGRT background, 404

Speakers: Senators

Frith, Royce, 404

Lucier, Paul, 405

Nurgitz, Nathan, 403

Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax and Income Tax bill C-17, 1r, 403;

2r, 403; 3r, 406; r.a., 415

Petten, Hon. William J.

Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1141

Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute, 2757

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 660

Coastal Fisheries Protection bill C-26, 343

Full observer coverage of foreign vessels, 343

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1324, 2199

Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, tribute, 12

Energy and Natural Resources committee

Production and use of natural gas in Canada, deadline for final report, extension, 2890

Excise Tax bill C-101, 2482

Foreign Affairs Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 850

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 3502, 3514

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report

60th, use of Senate facilities, 3793

Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3507

Le Moyné, Hon. Jean, tribute, 2757

McGrand, Hon. Fred A., the late, tribute, 4256

Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War bill C-100, 2396

Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., tribute, 1839

Senate

Business, 3065

Standing Rules and Orders Committee

5th report, voting procedure, 2849

Pharmaceutical industry

Drug price increases

Action of government, 2535

Basis of statistics, 2534, 2655

Compensation to provinces, 2537, 2655

Date of restriction of, 2535, 2656

Possible government request for explanation from PMAC or multinational drug companies, 2538, 2656

Request for committee appearance of drug company spokesmen, 2537, 2549

Request for resignation of consumer affairs minister, 2536, 2548

Rollback, government action, 2532

Rollback powers of minister, 2536, 2656

Drug Prices Review Board

Coming into force of powers, 2534, 2655

Role of, rollback of prices, government action, 2533, 2655

Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, 234, 299

Generic drugs, removal from sale, 2536, 2655

Multinational and U.S. drug companies, activities in United States, 2537

Relationship between PMAC and United States pharmaceutical manufacturers, 2537

Requests re drug pricing, 2535, 2655

Philippines, current situation, inquiry, 1273, 1329

Democratic Institute for International Affairs, 1330

Economic progress, 1331

Land reform program, 1331

New People's Army, 1331

Speaker: Senator

Graham, B. Alasdair, 1329

Philippines, needs for the future, 250

Phillips, Hon. Lazarus (deceased Dec. 30/86), tributes, 417

Phillips, Orville H.

- Aboriginal peoples
 - Post-secondary education, courses on reserves, level of funding, government support of outreach programs, 961
- Abortion
 - Rights of the unborn, introduction of legislation, 3101
- Agriculture
 - Grain, initial payment for 1988 crop year, 3100
 - Request for answer, 3223, 3236
 - Western Canada, drought conditions, government assistance, 3337
- Agriculture and Forestry Committee report
 - 1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, 231
 - See Journals of the Senate
- Animal pedigree bill C-67, 3338
- Appropriation No. 4, 1987-88, 2443
- Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
 - Ganong, David, status of, approval of payments to board members, investigation of alleged loan irregularities, 4020
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1140, 1412, 2161
- Bell Canada bill C-13, 1400
- Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126, 4090, 4167
 - Assistance for poorest of developing countries, 4090
 - Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility Trust, 4090
- British Columbia
 - Queen Charlotte Islands, suggested moratorium on Lyell Island logging activity, 960
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement
 - Fishing quotas in Canadian waters, negotiations to establish, 1400
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries dispute
 - Senate representation at negotiations, 1629
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - British Columbia, exclusion from adjustment committee, 3223
- Canada-United States relations
 - Acid rain
 - Canadian stance, comments by U.S. Interior Secretary, 1629
 - Declaration by U.S. Administration, 960
- Cape Breton Development Corporation bill C-127, 3465, 3520, 3658
 - Working capital increase to $50 million, 3465
- Constitution
 - Constitution Amendment, 1987, motion for message to Commons, 3485
- First Ministers' Accord
 - Interpretation of text re agenda for First Ministers' conferences, 1197
 - Terminology of text, danger of classifying French-Canadians under two categories, 1197
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1323, 1350, 1440, 2204
 - Motion re seating of witnesses, 1312
 - Motion re televising of proceedings, 1313, 1450
 - Motion re witnesses' expenses, 1311
 - Motion re witnesses to be heard by Submissions Group, 2771
- Report
 - 2nd, authority to engage services and incur expenses, 2287
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole, 1160, 1179
 - Date of reporting, 1179
 - Referred to Committee of the Whole, 1219
 - Suggestion to televise, 1180
 - Witnesses, 1180
- Constitution, 1867 bill S-20, 4535
- Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, tribute, 11

Phillips, Orville H.—Cont'd

- Copyright
 - Bill C-60, request for correspondence between Council of Ministers of Education of Canada and Federal-Provincial Relations Minister, 3101
- Correctional Services of Canada
 - Resignation of commissioner and deputy commissioner, request for further information, 4020
- Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), 3759
 - Importation of obscene materials, 3760
- Economic Summit
 - Brazil, role of World Bank, Canadian government position, 3337
 - Debt as global problem, agenda item, 3336
 - Re-energizing of debt strategy, possible Canadian proposal, 3336
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3526
 - Motion for establishment of steering committee, 3578
 - Motion to authorize still photography and televising of proceedings, 3617
- Employment
 - St. Boniface, Manitoba, closing of hog division of Canada Packers Plant, suggested interest-free loan from government, 962
- Energy
 - Fort McMurray, Alberta, tar sands processing plan, status, 3100
 - Georges Bank drilling moratorium, consultation with Government of Nova Scotia, 3236, 3267
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1118
 - Extension of deadline of final report, 2843
- Estimates, 1987-88, Supplementary (B), ref to com, 1754
- Excise Tax bill C-101, 2481
- External Affairs
 - East Bloc countries, official visit to, Senate representation, 962
- Farm Improvement Loans bill C-31, 309, 348, 366
- Felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633
- Fisheries
 - Canada-France relations
 - Dispute-settlement negotiations, status and possible mediation, 3222, 3266, 3267
- Food and Drugs bill S-6, 963
- Foreign affairs
 - Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, review of Convention on Consular Rights, 3101
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 850
- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9, 990
- Health and Welfare
 - AIDS, availability and cost of drug AZT in Canada, Health Protection Branch, request for tabling of reports and statement on action taken by government, 3099
- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 2496
- Human Rights
 - U.N. Commission meeting, Geneva, Canadian representation, request for report on proceedings, 960
- Indian Affairs
 - Control of education, impact of master tuition agreement, 3223
- Industry
 - Free trade agreements including targeted subsidies, 962
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 14th, budget of Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22, 973, 1001
 - Motion in amendment, 1003
 - 16th, Agriculture and Forestry Committee budget, 1207, 1221
 - 30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1857

Phillips, Orville H.—Cont'd

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports—Cont'd

60th, printing requests: submission by Ottawa Citizen, 3880

Motion to refer back to committee, 3883

Labour

Railway back-to-work legislation, alleged unfair application of, 3100

Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 415

Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sittings, 2827

Refused, 3668

MacDonald, Hon. John Joseph, the late, tribute, 11

Multinational corporations

Elimination of minority equity interests, impact of enhanced Canada-United States trade, 3099

National Defence

Appointment of special committee, 839

Report of advisory group to minister on regulation of political activities in Canadian forces establishments, recommendations 3 and 4, government action, 3236

National Defence Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3510

Netherlands

Her Majesty Queen Beatrix, address to both houses printed as appendix, 3328

Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, point of order, 3591

Official languages

Commissioner, annual report, reactions, 3101

Use of provisions of Bill C-72 to promote bilingualism in workplace in Quebec, position of federal government, 4019

Official Languages Committee

1st report, establishment of quorum, 240

Patent Act

Appointment of special committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 prior, to receipt of legislation, 826, 836

Patent bill C-22

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amts and for non-insistence on Senate amts, m to refer to committee, 1790, 1802

Motion in amdt, 1799

Motion re instruction to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for report on question and message from House of Commons, 1805

Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1408, 1448

Post-secondary education

Federal government scholarships, allocation of funds, 3101

Prescription drug prices

Proposed Patent Act amendment, effect, presentation of petitions, 1025

Problems of the Aged, 3273Selection Committee reports

1st, Speaker pro tempore, 61

2nd, membership of committees, 61

3rd, membership of committees, 117

4th, membership of special committees, 869

5th, membership of Special Joint Committee on 1987 Constitutional Accord, 1432

6th, membership of special committee on Preventative Health Services, 2778

Senate

Absence of Leader of the Government from chamber, 3222, 3318, 4018

Adjournment, 977, 1025, 1214, 1215, 1396, 1754, 1802, 3221, 3252, 3317, 3360, 4018, 4350

Phillips, Orville H.—Cont'dSenate—Cont'd

Business, 63, 950, 1617, 1758, 1787, 2206, 3070, 3149, 3203, 3221, 3287

Constitution, motion for proposed Constitution Amendment, 1987 and any motions in amendment made first item of business, 3096

Disposition of bills C-18, C-19 and C-22, instructions to committees, adjournment, 1629

Christmas greetings, 415

Concurrent sittings of the Senate and committees, attendance of members, 860

Question Period

Delayed answers, 960, 1197, 1629, 3099, 3236, 3266, 3336

Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories

Membership, 1861

Sparrow, Hon. Herbert O., felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Science, 3616

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 reports

2nd, status, 1241

3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1636

4th, 1474, 1534

Final, status, 1246

Sport

1991 Canada Winter Games, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, government assistance, 4019

Standing Rules and Orders Committee

5th report, voting procedure, ringing of bells, 2849

Tax reform

White paper, twenty consultants, female representation, 1630

Transport

Canadian airports, firefighting facilities, government action, 961

Prince Edward Island, proposed tunnel or causeway and ferries, 1787

Tribute on 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons, 1211

War Veterans Allowance, amendment of act, inquiry, 3321

Welch, Hon. Frank C., the late, tribute, 11

Western Economic Diversification

Delivery system for program, 3100

Pickersgill, Hon. John W., P.C.

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2188

Pitfield, Hon. P. Michael, P.C.

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4439

Jennings, Prof. Ivor, quote, 4439

Mandate, 4440

Canadian Centre for Management Development bill C-148, 4451

Case studies, 4452

Consequences for universities, 4453

Cost, 4452

New department of government, 4452

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3162

Ambiguity, 3163

Distinct society clause, 3163

Duality, 3164

Federal-provincial rivalry, 3166

Fundamental law, 3163

Future evolution, 3165

Pactism, 3165

Political unity, 3164

Provincial equality principle, 3164

Senate, delays in consideration of legislation, inquiry, 4252

Pitfield, Hon. P. Michael, P.C.—Cont'd

- Western Economic Diversification bill C-113, 3393
- Propaganda, 3393
- Regional development a staff function, 3393

Point of order

- See* Order, point of

Poitras, Hon. Jean-Marie (introduced in the Senate Sept. 28/88), 4501Poland

- See* Visitors

Postal services continuation

- Anti-labour, anti-union government 1967
- Appointment of mediator-arbitrator, 1960, 1977
- Attempt to break union, 1963
- Collective bargaining, 1965, 1973
- Compromise, 1964
- Draconian legislation, 1962, 1964
- Essential services, 1976
- Extension of collective agreement, 1960
- Five-year suspension provision, 1971
- Foisy report, 1960, 1978, 1981
- Franchising, 1976, 1981
- Labour relations, 1967, 1980
- Mediation and arbitration, 1966
- Privatization, 1966
- Public opinion, 1975, 1979
- Replacement workers, 1969, 1975, 1980
- Strike-breaking, 1965, 1973, 1979
- Termination of work stoppages, 1960
- Undemocratic, 1974
- Unfair legislation, 1969
- Violence, 1980

Speakers: Senators

- Argue, Hazen, 1963, 1972
- Balfour, R. James, 1960
- Frith, Royce, 1961, 1971
- LeBlanc, Roméo, 1979
- Lucier, Paul, 1968, 1975
- Olson, H.A., 1963, 1976
- Turner, Charles, 1967, 1978

and

- Cadieux, Hon. Pierre H., Minister of Labour, 1971

Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86. 1r, 1960; 2r, 1960; ref to Committee of the Whole, 1970; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Gildas L. Molgat in the Chair, Hon. Pierre H. Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 1970; rep without amdt, 1982; 3r, 1982; r.a., 1983Post-secondary education, 127

- Breakdown of funding and monitoring of distribution, 1757
 - Federal government scholarships, allocation of funds, 2977, 3101
 - Availability in 1988-89, method of selection, 3205
 - Further answer, 3425
 - Request for answer, 3386
 - Government action or policy, 4241, 4488
 - Request for answer, 4466
 - National Finance Committee
 - Authority to continue study of government activities, 14
 - Authority to extend date of presentation, 500
 - Reports,
 - 2nd, 243
- See* appendix p. 260

Post-secondary education, 127—*Cont'dNational Finance Committee—*Cont'dReports:—*Cont'd

- 7th, government funding of post-secondary education and occupational training, 734, 817, 879, 1007, 1503
 - National forum, request for conclusions, 2077, 2231
 - Proposed national forum, "Equality of Opportunity", form, 20
 - Current status, 359, 452
 - Government position, 77
 - Request for progress report, 1092, 1506
 - Provincial education, government initiatives, 2723
- See also* National Finance Committee

Post-secondary Education, Forum in Saskatoon, Oct. 1987, inquiry, 2090, 2298, 2540

- National authority in respect of post-secondary education essential, 2299

Speakers: Senators

- Hicks, Henry D., 2298
- Leblanc, Fernand-E., 2540

Poverty in Canada

- Poverty Line Update, 83, 2547
- See* appendices p. 93, 2582

Prairie grain advance payments

- Crop insurance, 609, 612
- Debt review board, lack of power, 592
- Interest-free cash advances, 589
- Process speed-up, 590
- Seeding dates, 610, 612
- Suffering of farm people, 591, 612
- Supplementary and main estimates, 611

Speakers: Senators

- Argue, Hazen, 590
- Barootes, Efsthios W., 588, 611
- Olson, H.A., 608

See also Agriculture and Forestry Committee

Prairie Grain Advance Payments bill C-12. 1r, 563; 2r, 588, 608; 3r, 629; r.a., 752Prescription drug prices

- Proposed Patent Act amendment, effect, presentation of petitions, 780, 845, 901, 934, 971, 1024, 1213, 1333
- Petitions tabled, 1614
- Point of order, 1024
- See* appendix p. 1592

Preventive Health Care, Special Senate CommitteeMembership, 2778*Report

- 1st, authority to incur special expenses, 3385, 3441
- See* appendix p. 3417

Prime Ministers, former

- Bennett, Rt. Hon. R.B., the late, erection of commemorative statue, 2231
 - Diefenbaker, Rt. Hon. John George, the late, preservation of birth-place, 2231
- See also* Canadian Prime Ministers

Prince Edward Island

- Equal application of benefits under provisions of B.N.A. Act, 3757
- Marine Atlantic ferry rates, increase in, 2354, 2724
- Proposed fixed crossing to mainland, 2302
 - Availability of studies, 2359
 - General design or concept, 2165, 2242, 2292

Prince Edward Island—Cont'd

Proposed fixed crossing to mainland—Cont'd

Availability of studies—Cont'd

Submission of proposals, 2320

To members of Parliament, 2163

Basis of awarding contract, 2163

Credibility of government, 2164

Documents tabled, 2315

Environmental assessment and review, 2243

Icebreaking ferries, disposal of, 2354

Invitations to tender for construction, 2242, 2359

Minister of the Environment, status of, 2549

P.E.I. conditions precedent to preparation of proposals, 2549

Railway link, 2164, 2358

Referendum, possibility of, 2162, 2165

Relationship of announcement to federal election, 2166

Request for cost estimates, veracity of newspaper statement, environmental impact of fixed crossing, creation of jobs in province, 4460

Submission of proposals, names of companies or consortia, financial arrangements, nature of proposals, 3672, 3888

Suggested plebiscite, 2244

Upgrading of highways, 2354

See also Canada Post Corporation

Environment

Federal-provincial relations

Transport

Prince Edward Island, problems of transportation, inquiry, 3793

Prince Rupert grain handling operations

Appointment of arbitrator, 2521, 2522

Attitude of management, 2521, 2523

Background, 2518

Computer issue, 2520, 2521

Guidelines for arbitrator, 2522

Matters in dispute, 2527

Penalty clause, 2528

Rules of procedure, 2528

Staffing issue, 2524

Technological change and job security, role of government, 2526

Union position, 2520

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 2519, 2523

Kelly, William, M., 2518

MacEachen, Allan J., 2525

Olson, H.A., 2521, 2524

Turner, Charles, 2526

and

Cadieux, Hon. Pierre H., Minister of Labour, 2523

Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106. 1r, 2518; 2r, 2518; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2522; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon Pierre H. Cadieux, Minister of Labour taking part in the debate, 2522; rep without amdt, 2529; 3r, 2529; r.a., 2530

Privacy Commissioner

Report tabled, 1696, 3748

Privilege. 332, 2286, 2292, 2653, 3206, 3491, 3789, 4522

Motion to refer to committee, 890

See also Senate

Problems of the Aged, inquiry, 2956, 3271

Abuse, 3273

Community involvement, 3272

Health care, 3272

Housing, 3272

Problems of the Aged, inquiry—Cont'd

Population increase in over-65 group, 3271

Preparedness, 3272

Projections for next quarter century, 3272

Subject matter ref to com, 3274

Transportation, 3272

Speaker: Senator

Bonnell M. Lorne, 3271

Protectionism, 155Public Service

Government treatment of political or partisan statements by members, 3549

Indexing of pensions, status of legislation in Commons, 2586

Public Works

Contracts awarded in province of Newfoundland, 2550

Sidney, British Columbia, construction of breakwater, 4239

Purdy, Dr. Susan, National President, Canadian Parents for French

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2622

Quebec

See Constitution

Federal-provincial relations

Quebec courts amendment

Speakers: Senators

Flynn, Jacques, 4189

Frith, Royce, 4189

Quebec Courts Amendment bill C-145. 1r, 4170; 2r, 4189; ref to com, 4190; rep without amdt, 4199; 3r, 4199; r.a., 4203

Queen Beatrix, Her Majesty, Queen of The Netherlands

Address to both houses, 3343

Questions (oral)

Aboriginal peoples

Constitution, entrenchment of right to self-government, 436

Draft agreement, distribution of powers, 789

Failure of First Ministers' Conference to reach agreement, definition of "self-government", 785

Establishment of models of self-government north of 60, 786

First Ministers' Conference, March, 1987, treaty Indian representation, 673

Statement by Deputy Leader of Government, 675

Inuit of western Arctic land claims settlement, request for investigation of disbursement of funds, 1643, 1872

Leaked document, contents, government position, 3334

Micmac Treaty, meeting with government, 626

Native Economic Development Program, inclusion of primary resource industries, government action, 488, 585

Native land claims, government policy, 235, 294

Post-secondary education

Courses on reserves, level of funding, 761, 788

Government support of outreach programs, 787, 961

Government policy, 359, 395

National forum, aboriginal representation, 788

Student assistance programs, 1091, 1339

Inadequacy, 1643

Self-government and native land claims, government policy, 4175

Services and recognition of rights, government policy, role of provinces, 3989

Questions (oral)—*Cont'dAbortion

- Borowski appeal to Supreme Court of Canada
 - Government request for delay, government legislative action, 4044
- Lack of grounds, intervention by REAL Women, reason for government inaction, 3754
- Equal access in provinces, decision of British Columbia re funding, 2654
- Judgment of Supreme Court of Canada, government action, 2634
- Rights of the unborn
 - Government policy, 3328
 - Government position, 2655
- Introduction of legislation, 2655, 2981, 3101
 - Government accommodation with church leaders, 3283
 - Government inconsistency, form of protection, 3285
 - Opportunity for free vote, government position, 3283
 - Report and draft legislation prepared for Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops, request for tabling, 3285
- Role of Senate in consideration of question, 3285

Aerospace

- Establishment of national agency, 4506

Agriculture

- Alberta, drought relief program
 - Criteria for qualification, 4213, 4238, 4462
 - Signing of agreement, 3864, 3921
- Acid rain, effect on maple syrup production in Quebec, government action, 4260, 4262, 4490
- Breeding herds, dispersal in drought-stricken areas, tax deferral on livestock sales, 4174, 4223
 - Exclusion of British Columbia cattlemen from provision, 4465, 4478
 - Request for answer, 4542
- British Columbia, withdrawal from marketing boards, 1880, 1885
- Deficiency payments to western grain farmers
 - Delay in payment of second instalment, 958, 1057, 1175
 - 1987 crop year, 1248, 1300, 1338, 1756, 1873, 2318
 - Government action, 1844, 1867, 1953, 2233
 - Request for answer, 1476, 2124
- Drought relief program, enhancement, 4503
- Eastern potato farmers, commitment by former minister, 4465
- Farm Credit Corporation loans, moratorium, 527, 569
 - Request for answer, 566
- Farm credit crisis
 - Assistance payments, request for information, 2547
 - Discussions between government and banks, 958, 1057
 - Government action, 602, 851, 872
 - Request for clarification of delayed answer, 875
- Farm debt, government action, 567
- Financial assistance to producers, request for information, 2380
- Government assistance, federal-provincial discussions, 16, 76
- Grain, 1987-88 crop year
 - Decline in prices, government relief measures, 1642, 1872
 - Initial price, 584
 - Level of payment, government action, 1051, 1088
- Grain, 1988-89 crop year
 - Initial payment, 2882, 3069, 3100, 3236
 - Request for additional information, 3286
 - Request for answer, 3222
- Grain handlers' strike-lockout, progress of negotiations, 18
- Interest-free loan to Ford Motor Company, request for comparable treatment for farmers, 555, 908
- Potato industry
 - Inspection fees, request for reduction, 1871
 - New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island
 - Effect of imposition of excise tax on potato chips, 1396

Questions (oral)—*Cont'dAgriculture—*Cont'dPotato industry—*Cont'd

- Stabilization payments for 1986 crop year, 1845
- Prince Edward Island, government assistance, 3585, 3714
- Subsidy payment for 1985 crop year, government action, 1871
 - Request for answer, 1954
- West, effect of imposition of excise tax on red potato, 1397
- Prince Rupert grain handlers' strike, current situation, 2382, 2442
 - Government action, 2319
- Special Grains Program
 - Request for expediting of payments, 1316, 1580
- Sugar-beet industry, government action, 959
- Sugar-beet processing plant, Winnipeg, Manitoba, closing, 907
- Tobacco farmers in southwestern Ontario, plight of
 - Agenda item at meeting of Ministers of Agriculture, government action, 3988, 4132
 - Government assistance, 3798, 4130
- United States subsidies on grain exports, Canada-U.S. consultations, 2547
- Viability of sector, government policy, 605
- Western Canada, drought conditions
 - Effect on price of bread, 3795, 4131
 - Efficacy and propriety of government recommendations and action, 3796
 - Government assistance, 3265, 3337, 3349, 3673, 3710, 3755, 4365, 4462
 - Herd maintenance program, 3711
- Meeting of Ministers of Agriculture, government action, 3462, 3472
 - Request for answer, 3386, 3420, 3447
- Western grain farmers, government assistance, 35, 55, 66
 - Basis of payment, 243
- Western Grain Stabilization Program, final payment, 4366, 4462
- Wheat
 - Effect of deficiency payment on two-price system, 336
 - U.S. subsidized exports to China, effect on Canadian farmers, government action, 423

Air Canada

- Future of crown corporation, 167
- Labour dispute, current situation, 2302, 2319, 2382, 2491
 - Indexing of pensions, 2243, 2291
- Winnipeg, Manitoba, reduction in operations, government policy, 337

"All we, like sheep, have strayed...", 297

Arctic sovereignty

- Aboriginal peoples, participation in consultations, 2325
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, relationship with, 2320
 - Participation of territories, 2321
- Canadian claim, negotiation, participation of Territories, 2303
- Environmental concerns, lack of consultation with aboriginal peoples, 3234

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency

- Criteria for approving proposals, 120, 196, 238
- Expenditure of new money, 2780
- Ganong, David, status of, approval of payments to board members, investigation of alleged loan irregularities, 4020, 4035
- Introduction of legislation in Senate, 2356
- Legislation to establish, government intention, mechanism to monitor departmental activities, appointment and composition of board, criteria for access to programs, 1646
- Membership, availability of information, 1846
- Prince Edward Island, application for grant for manufacture of potato bags, 3757

Questions (oral)—Cont'dAtlantic Canada Opportunities Agency—Cont'd

Request for text of tele from Premier of Prince Edward Island, 36, 58, 80

Banking

Bank of British Columbia, acquisition of, avoidance of income tax on deposit insurance payment, 2072

Designation of Toronto as international centre, government policy, 77, 237

Estey Commission of Inquiry, status of report, 67

International banking centres, proposed legislation, government policy, 486, 908

Matters within exclusive federal jurisdiction, government action, 526, 586

Responsibility of government leader to provide answers, question of privilege, 2073

Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Report on Bill C-22

Anticipated date of presentation, 1899

Intentions of committee, 1903

British Columbia

Allocation of federal government contracts, 18

Queen Charlotte Islands, suggested moratorium on Lyell Island logging activity, 673, 960

South Moresby, establishment of national park, 1247

Breakdown of negotiations, 3547

Reported statement by Premier, discussions between Prime Minister and Premier, 1273

Status of negotiations, 1338, 1399

Cabinet

Conflict-of-interest inquiries, assumption of ministers' legal costs, 607, 1338

Statements attributed to Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources, request for government action, 3424

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement

Agreed record printed as appendix, 440

Consideration in Committee of the Whole, availability of Canadian Ambassador to France as witness, 1196

Fishing quotas in Canadian waters, negotiations to establish, 1337, 1400

French exploration in disputed zone, role of President of France, 1197, 1214

Progress of negotiations, 1870

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries dispute

Senate representation at negotiations, 830, 1629

Canada-France relations

Grain export subsidies, representations by Prime Minister to Prime Minister of France, 1778

President of France, visit, fisheries dispute and agricultural subsidies, President's response and authority, 1054

Canada-Iran relations

Normalization of diplomatic relations, government policy, 3794

Canada Post Corporation

Atlantic provinces, post office closures and amalgamations, 235

Collective bargaining, government policy, 1398

Loss of die for new one-dollar coin, 527, 586

Minister responsible, replacement, 487, 488

Norwood Grove, St. Boniface, closing of post office, 58, 236

Postal strike

Appointment of mediator, government action, 1398, 1399, 1479, 1509, 1648

Labour policy of government, 1399

Prince Edward Island, closing of rural post offices, government policy, 625

Purpose of creation, 4350

Recommendation of conciliator, government action, 1398

Questions (oral)—Cont'dCanada Post Corporation—Cont'd

Rural post offices, closing, government policy, 425, 569

Security of new mail boxes, 236

Sponsorship of U.S. television series "Amerika," 526, 586

Transfer of post offices to private enterprise, number and location in Atlantic Canada, 3617

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Adversely affected industries, transitional assistance for, 1942

Availability of text, 1986, 4131

Cost to public, 3800, 4131

Benefits to Canada, suggested Senate committee hearings, 1930

Bi-national tribunal, nationality of chairman, 1943

Binding dispute-settlement mechanism

Establishment of bi-national tribunal, effect of, adjudication of application of Canadian law, 1944, 2079

Establishment of terms of reference for arbitration procedure, 1943

Findings of bi-national panel and trade commission, 1932, 2054

Order paper question, request for answer, 2210

Right of retaliatory action by injured party, 1893, 1909, 1932, 2054

Point of order, 2055

Speaker's ruling, 2055

Briefing of premiers, absence of representatives from Yukon and Northwest Territories, 1907

British Columbia, exclusion from adjustment committee, 3223

Concerns of members of government, government leader's position, 2073

Cultural industries

Exemption, conflicting views, 1941

Film distribution, status of legislation, 1894

Data bases and information

Maintenance, protection and enhancement, 1895, 1912

Date of signing, imposition of deadline, 2290

Deferral of questions to committee, 3687

Definition of non-tariff barriers, 1892

Dispute settlement mechanism, 3797

Duty-free importation of U.S. manufactured products, 1896, 1912

Effect on Canadian economy, 1987

"Elements of the Agreement", request for tabling of initialled copy of document, 1920

Energy pricing policy, 1986

Energy provisions, final text of, delay in release, 2324

Final text, date of release, 2231

Foreign Affairs Committee, possibility of referral to, 1988

Government information program, propriety, cessation on dissolution of Parliament, 4351

Propriety and cost, 4354, 4380

Government publications, availability in other languages, 4379, 4541

Government publicity campaign, 3549

Cost, status during election, availability of publication in other languages, 4459, 4526

Precedence for cost, 4460

Request for distribution of material giving opposing view, 4460

Heavy water, status, 3494

Impact of U.S. omnibus trade bill, 1904

Treatment of subsidies, 1891

Implementation, government position on agreement of provinces, effect on Territories' aspirations for provincial status, 1935

Inclusion of Canada's fresh water resource, 3492, 3493

Job creation, basis of prediction, 3920, 4131

Parties and signatories, 1890

Passage of Bill C-22

Effect of on reaching agreement, 1905

Reason for government concern about, 1901

Questions (oral)—Cont'dCanada-United States Free Trade Agreement—*Cont'd*Passage of Bill C-22—Cont'd

- Request for tabling of initialled copy of document containing reference to Canada's undertaking re passage, 1921
- Newspaper article, 1954

Prime Minister's commitment to U.S. President, possibility of further legislative action, 1902

Proposed study by Foreign Affairs Committee, suggested cross-Canada hearings, 1936

Repercussion on Canada of possible U.S. trade legislation, 1892

Request for grammatically correct French text, 3671

Screening of takeovers, 1895

Softwood lumber products, grandfathering of Memorandum of Understanding, 4188, 4224

Statement by Prime Minister of United Kingdom re diminution of national personality, extent of knowledge, 3797, 3798

Status of and statements attributed to Canadian Trade Ambassador, government position, 3423

Government restraint action, 3548

Status of negotiations, 2357

Understandings between Canada and United States, 1942

Water, bulk export of, provision for prohibition, 3795

Wheat, two-price system, effect on, 1942, 2058

- Comments attributed to Premier of Saskatchewan, effect of entry into Canada of U.S. milling wheat, compensation to Canadian farmers for loss, 1956

Government policy re compensation to farmers, 2161

Canada-United States relations

Acid rain

- Canadian stance, comments by U.S. Interior Secretary, 565, 1629

Declaration by U.S. Administration, 671, 960

Bilateral trade

Restriction on export of Canadian raw cedar logs, 436, 569

Tariff on U.S. Christmas trees and English-language books, request for removal, 435, 486

Bilateral trade negotiations

Automotive trade, 528, 585

Government policy, 98, 167

Consequences of failure to reach agreement, effect of agreement on employment and Auto Pact, 622

Impact on interprovincial trade barriers, 66

Impediments to agreement, 293

Items for negotiation, 439, 531

"National treatment", definition, 142, 238

Ratification formula, government proposal, 604

Ratification instrument, nature of, 605

Role of provinces, government policy, 605

Status, 64, 97

Canadian circuit boards, treatment by U.S. Customs, 3795, 4177, 4263

Request for answers, 4213

Canadian potash

Imposition of U.S. tariff, 505

Government action, 699

Introduction of legislation by Government of Saskatchewan, consultations with federal government, federal government representations in United States, 1779, 1781

Free trade negotiations

Advisory group, female representation, 1316, 1507

Binding dispute-settlement mechanism, 1869

Budget for government publicity, 1121

Canadian and American approaches, 1477

Dispute-settlement mechanism

Determination of subsidies, 702

Questions (oral)—Cont'dCanada-United States relations—*Cont'd*Free trade negotiations—Cont'd

Government action, 1782

Major outstanding obstacles, possibility of briefing, conditions precedent to signing agreement, 1811

Prospects for resumption, 1869

Reduction of regional disparities, 624

Remarks by U.S. senator, need for education, 871

Statement by Mr. Reisman on consultations between Prime Minister and President, 1778

Status, notification of provincial premiers, 1884

U.S. protectionist measures, government action, 742

Natural gas exports, U.S. regulatory commission's decision, 1176

Request for answer, 1214

Softwood lumber

Canadian export tax, 55, 99

Export duty, possible exemption for maritime provinces, 703

Export tax, extent of application, 335

Threatened action by United States government, 335

United States tariff, government policy re GATT decision, 98

Summit meeting in Ottawa

Communications to Prime Minister from provincial legislatures, request for tabling, 832

Memorandum of Understanding, elimination of anomalies re softwood lumber, 832, 910

Publications, suggested contents, 830

Reaffirmation of declaration, 871

Senate representation at state functions, 809

Summit meeting in Quebec city, declaration by Prime Minister and President on reduction and elimination of trade barriers, status of report, 871

Trade

Imposition of tariff on publications, amount and distribution of revenue, 335, 362

Imposition of U.S. tariffs on Canadian forest products, mitigation of harmful effects, government action, 356

Reduction of Canadian uranium exports to United States, government action, 1641, 1662

U.S. tariff on Canadian shakes and shingles, government action on submission to International Trade Commission, 4187, 4223

United States tax on imported crude oil, government policy, 98

Canada-U.S.S.R. relations

Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, speech, request for clarification of government policy on Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, 190, 239

Canada's international relations

Report of Special Joint Committee, government response, 292

Canada Winter Games, 1991

Request by Premier of Prince Edward Island for ACOA funding, 3494

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation

Board of Directors, inadequacy of regional representation, 4058

Canadian Human Rights Commission

Antonio Arcangel, appointment to Human Rights Tribunal, 192

Canadian National Railways

Appointment of chairman, 333

Executive offices, relocation from Edmonton to Montreal, 1476, 1581

London, Ontario layoffs

Effect on and possible transfer of supervisory positions, 2125

Job guarantees, 2124, 2232

Job security and retraining program, status and application, 2125

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

- Canadian National Railways—Cont'd
 - London, Ontario layoffs—Cont'd
 - Possible delay of implementation, consultations with city council and union, 2125
 - Toronto cost-of-living compensation, 2125
- Canadian sovereignty
 - The north
 - Government policy, 194, 293, 299
 - Government protest to U.S. government, 296, 585
- Canadian Transport Commission
 - Creation of new agency, effect on tenure of present commissioners, 1699, 1988
- Canadian Wheat Board
 - Isman, Barbara, reported appointment of, 2548
- Cape Breton Development Corporation
 - Coalminers' contract negotiation, 606, 624
 - Industrial Development Division
 - Community representations re retention of, 2356
 - Status of, 2355
 - Office of president, status of incumbent, 607
 - Presidency, appointment to fill vacancy, 3574, 3586, 4379
 - Name of consulting firm, 3990
- Commonwealth
 - Conference at Vancouver, B.C., provincial participation, 1936
- Communications
 - Foster Advertising, purchase by U.S. conglomerate, use of Foster Advertising in Progressive Conservative campaign, 4188
- Telelobe Canada, proposed sale, 245, 300
 - Sale, investigation of insider trading, 503, 528, 555
 - Sale to Memotec, investigation of insider trading, government action, 1866, 1868, 1880, 1989
 - Request for answer, 1956, 2126
- Constitution
 - Aboriginal rights
 - Setting up of separate process for entrenchment, 2353
 - Amending process, government position, 1396
 - Amending resolution, time limit for consideration by the Senate, 2980
 - Amendment provisions, future amendments, unanimity requirement, 980
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Advisers to government appearing before Special Joint Committee, 1699
 - Appointments to Supreme Court and other bodies, method, application of other provisions between signing and proclamation, 3231
 - Appointments to Supreme Court from Quebec, request for list of amendments acceptable to government, 3335
- Clause 16, status of women
 - Availability of legal opinions, 1645
 - Government action, 1644
 - Source of legal opinions, consultations with experts, nature and sources of advice, 1660
- Consideration by Nova Scotia legislature, 1167
- Consideration by Ontario legislature, 1167
- Federal-provincial discussions on modification of terms, 3574
- Francophone minorities outside Quebec, 1164
- Interpretation of "distinct society" clause vis-a-vis anglophone Canadians, 3233
- Possible government contract on consultancy work of certain witnesses appearing before Special Joint Committee, 1779
- Request for answer, 1992
- Possibility of amendment, 1165
- Possibility of amendments under seven-provinces-fifty-percent-of-the-population rule, 3490

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

- Constitution—Cont'd
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987—Cont'd
 - Possibility of recalling provincial legislatures, 1166
 - Priority of consideration by House of Commons, 1166
 - Quebec, definition as distinct society, 3235
 - Suggested further consideration by First Ministers, 3252
 - Tabling of resolution, position of Governments of New Brunswick and Manitoba, "reunification of constitutional family", 3332
 - Position of Government of New Brunswick, 3335
 - Tabling of resolutions, 1165
 - Terminal date for approval, provision for withdrawal of provincial approval, 3253
 - Venue for consideration by Parliament, 1166
 - Views of former justice of Supreme Court of Canada, 3265
- First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts
 - Agreement by provinces, undertakings offered to obtain, 1092, 1119
 - Date of presentation of text, 1028
 - Date of signing, 1093
 - Definition of Quebec as distinct society, effect on use of French outside Quebec, 945
 - Discussion by Parliament of proposal on Senate reform, 1697
 - Discussions between Minister of State for Federal-Provincial Relations and Premier of Manitoba, 1052
 - Effect on territories' aspirations for provincial status, 946, 954
 - Federal-provincial relations minister, role, 1090
 - Federal-provincial spending patterns, federal powers affecting broadcasting and banking, 1029, 1058
 - Federal spending power
 - Opting-out provisions, 1053, 1126
 - Position of Premier of Manitoba, 950
 - Fisheries roles and responsibilities, jurisdiction over Atlantic provinces' fisheries, 1122
 - Funding for cultural institutions, ability of Quebec to opt out, 1093, 1579
 - Implications of interpretative declaration, availability of legal opinions, recognition of Quebec as distinct society, applicability of term, 1028, 1058
 - Inclusion of interpretative section in resulting legislation, identification of and instructions to draftsmen, 980
 - Interpretation of text re agenda for First Ministers' conferences, 1122, 1197
 - Judicial interpretation of terms, 943
 - Legal action by Territories, 1120
 - "Patriation", use of term by government leader, request for clarification of meaning of accord, 955
 - Possible postponement of conference, committee study and approval of resolution, 1050
 - Premier of Quebec, reported reaction, 954
 - Prime Minister's meetings with western premiers, 957
 - Recognition of Quebec as distinct society
 - Advice given on definition and effect, 947
 - Definition and international ramifications, 939, 978, 1054, 1126
 - Distribution of powers, 951, 978
 - Effect on property and civil rights, 942
 - Maintenance of official bilingualism, 1027, 1058
 - Protection of anglophone minority, 943
 - Wording of earlier Liberal Party resolution, 952
 - Request for answers, 1167
 - Request for tabling of correspondence, 1093
 - Senate reform, 944, 1477
 - Recommendations for appointment, 946, 950
 - Quebec vacancy, 983
 - Source of proposal, 1089

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

Constitution—Cont'd

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts—Cont'd

Senate timetable for completion of deliberations, 2795

Suggested pre-study by committee, 953, 1092

Supreme Court of Canada, recommendations for appointment, 957

Entrenchment of Court, 982

Terminology of text, danger of classifying French-Canadians under two categories, 1124, 1197

Question of privilege, 1124

Yukon and Northwest Territories, method of appointment of senators and Supreme Court judges, 1615

First Ministers' Conference

Aboriginal rights, agenda item, 945, 1090

Priority agenda item, 1123, 1125

Consultations with territorial governments, 1125

Status of Francophones outside Quebec, 876

First Ministers' Conference, June 2, 1987, tabling of agreed texts, 1119

First Ministers' Conferences

Participation by territories, 955

Introduction of amendment to implement concurrent jurisdiction over provincial resources, government action, 671, 704

Meech Lake accord, consultations with Premier-elect of New Brunswick, position of Government-elect of New Brunswick, 1952

Negotiations to include Quebec, government position, 621

Possibility of simultaneous presentation of revised Official Languages Policy and text of accord, 1028, 1088

Consumer and Corporate Affairs

Departmental investigation of tobacco as hazardous substance, alleged interference by minister, 627

Copyright

Bill C-60, request for correspondence between Council of Ministers of Education of Canada and Federal-Provincial Relations Minister, 2977, 3101

Correctional Service of Canada

Resignation of Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, 3584

Request for further information, 4019, 4044

Request for tabling of Comptroller General documents, 3988

Corrections

Effect of privatization and reduced services, 142

Diefenbaker Centre, University of Saskatchewan

Financial crisis, request for government assistance, 1175

Further request for government assistance, 1881, 1924

Government action, 1400

Government response to request for assistance, 2161

Disarmament

United States-U.S.S.R. agreement on nuclear weapons reductions, Canadian Ambassador to United Nations, statement, government position, 2351

Drug trafficking

Coastal protection, government action, 487, 569

Economic development

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency

Exclusion of large enterprises from infrastructure projects, 1923

New Brunswick

Fate of federal government projects announced during provincial election campaign, 1940, 2492

Prospects for introduction of new projects before and after provincial election, 1923

Economic Summit, Venice, Italy, agriculture as agenda item, 1120

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

Economic Summit, 1988

Agricultural subsidies, request for progress report, 3710, 4085

Brazil, role of World Bank, Canadian government position, 3266, 3337

Debt as global problem, agenda item, 3266, 3336

Debt strategy, re-energizing, possible Canadian proposals, 3266, 3336, 3350

Interpretation of delayed answer, request for more specific answer, 3421, 3618

Third world debt, measures to relieve, affected countries, application to Latin American countries, 3709

Education

Establishment of federal-provincial task force on national standards, 78

Emergencies bill

Government's intention re legislative action, 1478, 1648

Employment

St. Boniface, Manitoba, closing of hog division of Canada Packers plant, request for government assistance, 440, 453

Suggested interest-free loan from government, 815, 962

Summer Youth Employment Program, 358, 395

Employment equity

Canadian Human Rights Act, status of amendments, 1300, 1507

Compliance with Act, 3574, 3713

Government Consultants International, compliance with Federal Government Contracting Program, 3754

Energy

Canadian gas, price to U.S. consumers, 143, 163

Decline in natural gas prices, government policy, 77

Dome Petroleum-Amoco Canada transaction

Availability of documents to government, 1299, 1507

Current situation, 1581

Federal-provincial conference, security of supply, government policy, 424, 438, 467

Georges Bank drilling moratorium, consultation with Government of Nova Scotia, 3099, 3236, 3267

Preparation of legislation for Nova Scotia, 3494

Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, government funding, 3329, 3618

Government funding and action, 4043

Monitoring of oil and gas companies following termination of PGRT, 57, 67, 79, 395

Request for answer, 357

Monitoring of use of funds following termination of PGRT, government participation in Syncrude, 297, 361

Natural gas, Alberta's withholding of export licence approval and alleged distinction between types of gas, role of federal government in negotiations, 76, 298

New Brunswick, addition to Lepreau nuclear power plant, 1896

Oil and gas industry, relief of severe economic problems, government policy, 233

Tar sands processing plant, Fort McMurray, Alberta, status, 2829, 2846, 3100

Effect of OSLO Agreement, 4484

Government funding, 3330

Government participation, 4261

Government's financial commitment, 3573, 3583

Date of commencement of project, 4042

Western coal, cost of transporting to Ontario, government policy, 426

Enterprise Cape Breton

Agricultural projects, funding of, powers, role of Board of Directors, 3654

Approved projects, 3654

Questions (oral)—Cont'dEnterprise Cape Breton—Cont'd

Arrow LM Manufacturing Company, financial assistance, conflict-of-interest guidelines, calling of tenders, establishment of price, 4365, 4381

Policies to be followed, 3654

Possible assistance to Financial Engineering Corporation, 121, 298

EnvironmentAcid rain

Agreement with provinces to reduce emissions, repudiation by Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, 583

Request for copy of Canadian eight-point proposal, 3286

Energy minister's proposals on energy efficiency and alternative initiatives, status of, 4046

Environmental Protection Service, number of person-years, 4457

Great Lakes, pollution, government action, 2320, 2492

Lead in gasoline, deadline for elimination of, 4176, 4222

National Task Force on Environment and Economy, report, government action on recommendations, 2076, 2245

Number of person-years in department, effect on department's programs, 4456

PCBs

Air transportation of waste, application of prohibition, 4485

Government inventory of storage sites and guidelines for storage and disposal, 4262, 4314

Location of transportable incinerators, 4466, 4478

Regulations for transportation of, 4466, 4478

St-Basile-Le-Grand storage site, financial assistance for victims of fire, 4263

Storage sites, inspection of, availability of inspectors, 4457

Prince Edward Island

Alleged pollution of Hillsborough harbour, request for government assistance, 361

Effect of pollution from sunken vessel "Irving Whale", 2723, 2883

Radioactive waste, disposal, 19

Rafferty-Alameda Dams Project, issuance of licence for, protection of Manitoba's interests, 4379, 4461, 4467

Responsibility of government to conduct study, 4458, 4468, 4490

Toxic waste research, efficacy of reduction in National Research Council budget, 4466

External Affairs

Canadian passports, applications for, revision of regulation re guarantors, 4130

Request for answer, 4383

Canadian Sikh community

Distribution and purport of minister's letter, 2794

Central America, lack of Canadian consular and immigration services, 4222, 4526

Convention on Consular Rights, review, 2980

Counter-terrorism measures, invitation to attend briefing, order of precedence, propriety of inclusion of staff, 675, 790

East Bloc countries, official visit to, Senate representation, 897, 962

Foreign service appointments, maintenance of professionalism, government policy, 337

Helsinki, Finland, proposed closing of Canadian embassy, request for reconsideration, 566, 582

Declaration of support, 673

Statement of appreciation of minister's action, 676

Invitations from department to parliamentarians, order of precedence, 761, 790

Parliamentary delegation to India, composition, exclusion of senators, 674, 790

Questions (oral)—Cont'dFederal-provincial relations

Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 5552

Equality of treatment of provinces, effect of awarding of CF-18 contract, 139

Equalization payments

Atlantic provinces, government policy, 292, 294

Provincial action, 487, 628

Manitoba, Quebec and Prince Edward Island, 296

Poorer provinces, government policy, 392

Request for answer, 438

Fiji

Current political situation, 1052, 1506, 1879, 1881, 1885

Government position, 1951

Government stance at Commonwealth Conference, consultations with Fijian community, 1884, 1913, 2126

Request for answer, 1400

Violation of human rights, government action, 1878, 1885

Finance

Bank rate increase, government action, 3583

British Petroleum, sale of shares, reported request of Canadian government, 2077

Canadian dollar, value of, 4111

Ontario budget, effect on interest rates, 3585

Stock market activity, congratulations to Minister of Finance for statements and action, 1991

Financial institutions

Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation

Implementation of recommendations of Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, 485

Status of negotiations with provinces on regulation, 1090

Fisheries

Canada-France negotiation of agreement

Agreed record of negotiations, status, request for copy of Note Verbale, 503

Allocation of northern cod quotas, 433

Availability of negotiators, 4438

Denial of threat to Newfoundland Premier, 531

Effect of 1984 exchange of notes, 451

Exclusion of Atlantic provinces and Department of Fisheries representatives, 434

Federal-provincial consultations, fish allocations

Effect on northern cod stocks, 423

Government policy, 420

Representation, 506

Grounds for not proceeding, 433

Licensing of French vessels in disputed zone, 451

Request for tabling, 427

Schedule of meetings, 763, 850

Status of 1972 treaty, rights of French vessels in Gulf of St. Lawrence, 464, 465

Unanimity of cabinet decision, 422, 423

Canada-France relations

Dispute-settlement negotiations

Former agreement, status of, 3235

Geographic location of fishing patterns and quotas, 3233

Judicial arbitration and selection of mediator, status of, 3232

Request for appearance of former ambassador to France and Minister of Fisheries and Oceans before Committee of the Whole, 3097, 3235

Status and possible mediation, 3204, 3206, 3222, 3266

Request for copy of new agreement, location of quotas, 3282

Referral of dispute to International Court of justice, government position, 3098, 3232

Questions (oral)—Cont'dFisheries—Cont'd*Canada-France relations—Cont'd

Request for appearance of Minister for International Trade before Committee of the Whole, 3098

Mussel industry, government assistance, 2304, 2491

Provision of fish to victims of natural disasters, government assistance, 4405

Toxic mussels, progress of research, 2723, 2883

Trade, United States' cancellation of perishable product agreements, 4484

Entry into U.S. of Canadian seafood products, 4503

West coast boundary waters dispute resolution, government position, 422

West Coast Salmon Enhancement Program, government policy, 333, 362

Foreign affairs

Canadian relations with Syria, government position, 96

Contras, possible acceptance as refugees, 2231

Greek-Turkish relations, government action, 761, 877

Statement by NATO Secretary General, Lord Carrington, 877

Iraq, alleged use of chemical weapons against Kurds, government action, 4313, 4405

Nicaragua, cancellation of visit of vice-president, 195, 239

Panama, safety and security of vice-president, government representation, 4046, 4177

Paraguay, status of Senor Hermen Rafael Saguier, government knowledge and action, 4043, 4177

Saudi Arabia, replacement of Sheik Yamani, 120

Senegal, presidential election, safety of opposition candidate, attendance of observers, reaction of Progressive Conservative Party, 2782, 2830, 2844, 2931, 2981, 3101

Syria, joint action by Canada and other nations, 264, 301

Verification of signatories to committee report, 4313

Francophone Summit

Human rights violations as agenda item, government action, 1779

Fur industry

Proposed British labelling of Canadian products, government action, 3583, 3921

General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT)

Provincial participation at meeting, 2550

Government

Legislative provision for expenditures, 3657, 4085

Government of Canada

First Ministers' Accord, dissemination of information, possibility of similar action on illiteracy and learning disabilities, 1700

Satellite communications network, establishment, 1844

GrainCanadian Wheat Board

Allocation of payments, 244

Final payments for grades 1 and 2 spring wheat, 295, 394, 530, 908

Grain Stabilization Fund, exclusion of mustard seed, 465, 528, 558

Hansen, Rick

Appointment as Canada's Commissioner General to Expo '88, 2208

HealthTainted mussels

Date of availability of evidence and date of warning, 2355, 2492

Special inquiry, 2354

Questions (oral)—Cont'dHealth and Welfare*Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS)

AZT, availability of drug in Canada, 2208, 2491, 3099

Cost, 2723, 3099

Compliance order for drugs other than AZT, 3423

Education, research and treatment, government assistance, 3422, 3620

Government action, 557, 571, 587, 1055, 1781

Reported Canada-U.S. agreement to combat disease, 874

Testing of diplomats and members of Armed Forces, 874

Alberta Health Insurance legislation, government position, 625

Alberta nurses' labour dispute, federal-provincial consultations, possibility of settlement, 2758

Drug abuse, national strategy for prevention, 874

Health Protection Branch

Request for tabling of reports and statement on action taken by government, 2723, 3099

Housing

Interest-free mortgages, request for government action, 812

Human rights

Japanese Canadians, government apology and compensation, 68, 428, 567, 1896, 2491, 2604, 3670, 3990

Effective date and applicability, 4488

Government policy, 3206

Progress of negotiations, 3987

Status of negotiations, 1477, 4188

U.N. Commission meeting, Geneva, Canadian representation, request for report on proceedings, 584, 960

Illiteracy

Long-term government commitment, establishment of monitoring body, 4365

Remedial measures, government policy, 296, 394, 426

Immigration

Bills C-55 and C-86, anticipated date of committee reporting, 2930

Ministerial discretion, alleged abuse, 165, 195, 196, 393

Refugee status, government policy, 19, 98, 2350

Status of interested Laplanders, government policy, 78, 237

Indian Affairs and Northern Development

Alleged misuse of Manitoba Indian band funds, 55, 99, 361, 395

Control of education, impact of Master Tuition Agreement, 3223

Government action, 3264, 3424

Lubicon Crees of Alberta, settlement of claims, release of negotiator's report, appointment of new negotiator and mediator, 1879, 2210

Lubicon Lake Indians, negotiations for Alberta reserve, appointment of negotiator, 1869, 1989

Maliseet Nation land claim, request for appointment of impartial negotiators, 360

Self-government, government policy, 391, 531

Tobique Indian band land claim

"Technical breach claim", definition, 832, 909

Request for appointment of impartial negotiators, 393, 572

West Bank Indian band, legal costs of inquiry, 557

IndustryAerospace

Allocation of contracts, government policy, 453

Allocation of CF-18 service contracts, 18, 59, 78, 79, 119, 192, 265

Awarding of contract to Canadair

Ownership and technology transfer considerations, 160

Possible undertaking to Bombardier, 143

Technology transfer, 141, 197

Rejection of IMP bid, government reasons, 141, 196, 238

Questions (oral)—Cont'dIndustry—Cont'd

CF-5 contract, awarding to Bristol Aerospace Ltd., status, 530, 569

Foreign firms bidding on contracts in Canada, government policy, 140

Free trade agreements including targeted subsidies, 815, 909, 962
General Motors, interest-free loan

Effect on free trade negotiations, targeted subsidies, request for information on government policy, 812, 909

Request for interest-free loans to farmers, removal of moratorium on farm foreclosures, 809, 909

Terms of contract re job guarantees, access to information, 832, 909

Nova Scotia, possible manufacture and export of armaments by West German company from proposed plant, 246, 299, 568

Sydney Steel Corporation

Discussions with CN re long-term rail contracts, 452, 488, 504

Future of plant, 163, 197, 239

Future rail market prospects, status of report, 392, 414

Modernization, status of plan, 452, 488, 504, 743, 763, 1124

Possibility of announcements by Prime Minister, 452, 504

International finance

Brazil, suspension of payment on bank debts, 567, 587

Cancellation of debts, 567

International financial system and institutions

Canada's participation, report of Foreign Affairs Committee, request for response from Department of External Affairs, 1093

International relations

Joint committee report, government action re recommendations on military agreements, 565

International trade

Footwear, removal of import quotas, government action, 336, 467, 508, 568

Softwood lumber, imposition of duty by European countries, 506

International whaling

Imposition of sanctions, government policy, 2722, 2782, 2830

Jamaica

Hurricane relief, government assistance, 4406

Judiciary

Commission on Judges' Salaries and Benefits, report, government action, 607

Justice

Canada Commission of Inquiry on War Criminals

Implementation of recommendations, government action, 606

Status of report, 19, 339, 362

Nazi war criminals, prosecution of, status, 4187, 4223

Labour

British Columbia, longshoremen's lockout, government action, 34

Response to government request, 54

Railway back-to-work legislation, alleged unfair application of, 2977, 3100

LaPrade Fund

Order paper question, request for answer, 3711

Literacy Day

Government initiatives, 4241

Maritime provinces

Isthmus of Chignecto, suggested canal, 2243

Trans-Canada Highway upgrading, request for government assistance, 2352

Middle East

Gaza Strip, recent incidents, government action, 2490

Ministry

Reported resignation of Minister of Agriculture, 4437

Questions (oral)—Cont'dMinistry—Cont'd

Request for appointment of Minister of State for Cooperatives, lack of response, 4458

Role of Deputy Prime Minister, 143, 265

Moscow Summit, 1988

Congratulations to Secretary of State for External Affairs on appraisal of meeting and to United States and Soviet leaders, 3637

Multinational corporations

Elimination of minority equity interests, impact of enhanced Canada-United States trade, 2828, 3099

Nanaimo Harbour Commission

Inquiry into management and operation, 166

National Capital Commission

Disappearance of commemorative rock from Dow's Lake, Ottawa, 4130

Incidence of accidents on mixed-use pathways in Ottawa, 1845

National Capital region

Condition of transitways, coordination of repairs, 1940

National Defence

Advisory group to minister on regulation of political activities in Canadian Forces establishments, report, recommendations 3 and 4, government action, report, 3150, 3236

Withdrawn, 3234

Canadian Armed Forces

Appointment of senior officers, female representation, 2603, 2829

Political rights of spouses, status of regulations, 4239, 4314

Role of women and homosexuals, white paper, government policy, 297, 361

"Snowbirds" acrobatic team, reciprocal visits to NATO allies, 788

Committee study of concerns of military families, status of report and nature of recommendations, 1755, 1873, 2829

Request for answers, 1991, 2490

Defence policy, availability of white paper, 675, 909

Frigate construction, awarding of contract, 2244

Nerve gas testing (pre-1968) at CFB Suffield, Alberta, health of involved personnel, 4466, 4527

Minister's statement, 4467

Nuclear-powered submarines

Non-Proliferation Treaty, government policy, 1273, 1302

Status of program, transfer of technology, 4438, 4477

Suggested purchase of British vessels, 4439, 4490

Poisonous nerve gases, spraying of, 3657, 3921

National Gallery of Canada

Child-care facilities, 3423, 3713

National parks

Payment to provinces for land to establish parks, government policy, 1645, 1662

National Statistics Council

Membership, regional representation, 68, 81

Request for answer, 608, 872, 1506

New Brunswick

Authors of official bilingualism in province, 1951

Landry, Hon. Aldéa, congratulations on cabinet appointment, 2078

Lieutenant Governor, status of, 2818

Nobel Peace Prize

Congratulatory message to President Oscar Arias Sanchez of Costa Rica, 1953

Northwest Territories

Inuvik, withdrawal of Armed Forces personnel, effect on economy, 334, 358

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

Official languages

Alberta

Legislation, rights of francophone minority, government response, application of benefits to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, 3755

Rights of Francophones, statement of Premier Getty, 4506

Bill C-72, use of provisions to promote bilingualism in workplace in Quebec, position of federal government, 4019

Budget allocation, 1988, for promotion outside Quebec, 4461

C.D. Howe Institute document distributed by Hon. John Crosbie, unavailability of French text, 4312

Commissioner, annual report

Percentage of Anglophones in federal public service in Quebec, 2957

Reactions, 2977, 3101

Existence of joint committee, statement by Secretary of State, 2318

Proposed advisory council

Composition, role and terms of reference, 1053, 1509

Request for answers, 1398

Consultation on composition with joint committee, 1089

Proposed legislation, anticipated date of introduction, 18

Role of Commissioner of Official Languages, 1089

"Sufficient" minority, definition, 1053

Status of French in Alberta and in provincial legislatures, 2229, 2358

Status of legislation, 2758

Status of regulations, 4467

Teaching of second official language in Quebec, funding provisions of federal-provincial protocol, 2979

Official Languages Act

Consultations by Secretary of State, injustice to parliamentarians, 1299

Report of committee, government attitude, 1299

Status of bill to amend, 1094, 1299

Parliament

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Timetable for introduction of enabling legislation, 3351

Timetable for legislative implementation of provisions, 3233

Senate legislative role, 4352

Summer prorogation, government intention, 1302

Parliament Hill

Condition of roadways, 1937, 2292

Request for answer, 2166

Condition of sidewalks, 1988

Quick corrective action of government, 2166

Parliamentary Employment and Staff Relations Act

Delay in proclamation, 64, 81, 99

Parliamentary Secretaries

Suggested appointment of senators, 467

Parole

Board hearing procedures, 56

Release of inmates, 22

Parole and penitentiaries

Amending legislation, inclusion in legislative program, 3671

Patent bill C-22

Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, 2059

Government brochure

Distribution before possible enactment of legislation, 2167, 2168

Distribution, use of ministerial power, 2166

Suggested inaccuracy of statements, 2167

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

Patent bill C-22—Cont'd

Meeting of Quebec coalition for adoption of bill to amend, Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee representation, 1812

Multinationals commitment to R&D, provision of punitive measures for non-compliance, 1903

Pharmaceutical companies

Commitments, 2079

R&D commitment, statement by Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, 2077

Penitentiaries

Double-bunking, government action, 79, 237

Enfranchisement of inmates in federal elections, 4058

Proposed prison at Port-Cartier, Quebec, factors governing location, effect of additional cost on inmate programs, 78, 237

Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War, bill C-100

Answers to questions asked on second reading, 2493

Pharmaceutical industry

Drug price increases

Action of government, 2535

Basis of statistics, 2534, 2655

Compensation to provinces, 2537, 2656

Date of restriction of, 2535, 2656

Possible government request for explanation from PMAC or multinational drug companies, 2538, 2656

Request for committee appearance of drug company spokesmen, 2537, 2549

Request for resignation of consumer affairs minister, 2536, 2548

Rollback, government action, 2532

Rollback powers of minister, 2536, 2656

Drug pricing, effect of provisions of Bill C-22, 234, 299

Drug Prices Review Board

Coming into force of powers, 2534, 2655

Role of, rollback of prices, government action, 2533, 2655

Generic drugs, removal from sale, 2536, 2655

Multinational and U.S. drug companies, activities in United States, 2537

Relationship between PMAC and United States pharmaceutical manufacturers, 2537

Requests re drug pricing, 2535, 2655

Post-secondary education

Federal government scholarships, allocation of funds, 2977, 3101

Availability in 1988-89, method of selection, 3205

Further answer, 3425

Request for answer, 3386

Government action or policy, 4241, 4488

Request for answer, 4466

National forum, request for conclusions, 2077, 2231

Proposed national forum, "Equality of Opportunity", form of, 20

Current status, 359, 452

Government position, 77

Request for progress report, 1092, 1506

Provincial education, government initiatives, 2723

Prime Ministers, former

Bennett, the late Rt. Hon. R.B., erection of commemorative statue, 2231

Diefenbaker, the late Rt. Hon. John George, preservation of birthplace, 2231

Prince Edward Island

Equal application of benefits under provisions of B.N.A. Act, 3757

Marine Atlantic ferry rates, increase, 2354, 2724

Proposed fixed crossing to mainland

Availability of studies, 2359

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

Prince Edward Island—Cont'd

Proposed fixed crossing to mainland—Cont'd

General design or concept, 2165, 2242, 2292

Submission of proposals, 2320

To members of Parliament, 2163

Basis of awarding contract, 2163

Credibility of government, 2164

Environmental assessment and review, 2243, 2358

Icebreaking ferries, disposal of, 2354

Invitations to tender for construction, 2242, 2359

Minister of the Environment, status, 2549

P.E.I. conditions precedent to preparation of proposals, 2549

Railway link, 2164, 2358

Referendum, possibility, 2162, 2165

Relationship of announcement to federal election, 2166

Request for cost estimate, veracity of newspaper statement, environmental impact of fixed crossing, creation of jobs in province, 4460

Submission of proposals, names of companies or consortia, financial arrangements, nature of proposals, 3672, 3888

Suggested plebiscite, 2244

Upgrading of highways, 2354

Privilege, 3491

Public Service

Government treatment of political or partisan statements by members, 3549

Indexing of pensions, status of legislation in Commons, 2586

Public Works

Sidney, British Columbia, construction of breakwater, 4239

Railway safety

Bill C-105, request for draft regulations, 3493

Refugees

Disposition of ship used for transportation, 1645, 1872

Federal-provincial consultations on Bill C-84

Emergency legislation, 1755

Jurisdiction, representations by Government of Ontario, 1780

Possible conflict of bill with human rights and Law of the Sea, 1700

General amnesty, government policy, 4461

Replacement of existing regulations, government policy, 627

Thailand, turning back of boats, safety of passengers, government policy, 2796, 2830

Regional industrial expansion

Annual report of department, transfer of functions, responsibility for subsidiary agreement, request for organizational chart, 2827

Assistance to industry, Enterprise Cape Breton, 1247

Pictou county, Nova Scotia, development of coal mine, financial assistance, attitude of Cape Breton Development Corporation, 2843

Reproductive technology

Proposed Royal Commission, status of, 4239

Royal Commission, request for appointment, government action, 2382, 2829

Research and development

Government funding of post-secondary education, 335

National Research Council funding, government policy, 120, 144, 193, 301

Scientific meeting in Stockholm, Canadian representation, 336, 394

Space Research Agency location, 121

Royal Assent

Alternative procedure, 339

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

Senate

Business, 4258

Anticipated legislation, 391

Legislative program, 1478

Treatment of legislation, 1615

Committee proceedings, availability, 1701

First Ministers' Accord

Method of appointment of senators, Quebec vacancies, 1399

Government leader's stationery, use for communication re Oerlikon Aerospace, 437

Government leader, status, Senate reform, 4353

Point of order (Senator McElman), 871, 872

Privilege, conflict-of-interest inquiry from office of Minister of Justice, 1700

Question period

Delayed answers, availability, 1509

Expression of appreciation, 395

Order paper question, request for clarification, 1507

Point of order, possible revision of rule 20, 2166

Requests for answers, 240, 1059, 1164, 1197, 1247, 1509, 1912, 1954, 2472, 2493, 2956, 2978

Role of Senator Flynn in Question Period, 2079

Suggested sittings in provincial capitals, 1302

Summer adjournment, date, 1301

Vacancies, filling of

Provincial nominations, 1699

Reasons for delay, 3548, 3585

Role of provinces and territories, 2208

Senate reform

Andre, Hon. Harvie, alleged statement, 907

Appointments, submission of names to Prime Minister, 1091, 1579

Consultations with provinces, nature and status, 4239

Inclusion on agenda for next First Ministers' conference, 876

Principle of equality of provincial representation, 3330

Process to be adopted, public representation and meetings, 3331

Shipbuilding

British Columbia, allocation of contracts, government policy, 15

Class 8 icebreaker

Announcement on construction in Vancouver shipyards, 557

Design, government policy, 441

Canadian icebreaking technology, government policy, 557, 570

Solicitor General

Canadian Security Intelligence Service, request for confidential files from provinces, 4241, 4490

Sport

'Age of puberty', definition, 57, 80

Canada Winter Games, Sydney, Nova Scotia, attendance of Prime Minister, 503

Johnson, Ben, alleged mistreatment of World Champion Sprinter by Vancouver airport customs officials, government action, 1870

XXIV Olympiad, Ben Johnson, stripping of 100-metre sprint gold medal and disqualification, request for comprehensive investigation,

Availability of funds to eliminate drug abuse, 4486

Establishment of independent investigation, propriety of life suspension, 4523

Government action, 4504

1991 Canada Winter Games, Charlottetown, P.E.I., government assistance, 4019

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

- Statistics Canada
 - Census, public-use sample tape, restoration of funding for, effect on Canadian students of necessity to use U.S. data, 2077, 2232
- Status of women
 - Canadian job strategy, availability of funds, 1477, 1648
- Supreme Court of Canada
 - Appointment of justice, provisions of Meech Lake Accord, 3473
 - Appointment of replacement for the late Mr. Justice Chouinard, 564
- Tax reform
 - Consultation process, government policy, 119
 - Reporting of costs of consultants for tax purposes, 1298
- White paper
 - Twenty consultants, female representation, 1298, 1315, 1339, 1476, 1630
 - Government leader's answer to question, right of senators to ask questions, 1300
 - Names and gender, request for tabling, 1301, 1339, 1476
- Telelobe Canada
 - Reorganization and divestiture, apparent leak re Memotec bid, request for answers, 831, 851
- Terrorism
 - Internationally protected persons, federal-provincial jurisdictional agreements, 452
- Tibet
 - Dalai Lama's five-point peace plan, government position, 3656, 4111
 - New initiative, 3712, 4111
 - Request for answer, 4084
- Trade
 - GATT ruling, impact on B.C. fisheries, government action, 2208
 - Imbalance between Canada and U.S.S.R., government policy, 193, 240, 1984, 2245
 - United States Export Enhancement Program, suggested Canada-U.S.S.R. comprehensive trade agreement, 2055
- Trans-Canada Highway
 - Reconstruction, allocation of federal funds to New Brunswick, 4467
- Transport
 - Air, repair checks of aircraft by airlines, 3282
 - Air traffic control service, transfer from Ottawa to Gatineau, 1661, 1873
 - Atlantic Marine and CN Marine Board of Directors, lack of francophone members, 435, 908
 - Canadian airports, firefighting facilities, government action, 762, 961
 - Canadian National Railways, restoration of Sorel-Nicolet branch line, 2230, 2723
 - CN freight rates, increase, 295
 - Disallowance, 393, 428
 - CN maintenance shops, Melville, Saskatchewan, proposed layoffs, 1121, 1125, 1176
 - CN shops, Moncton, closing, 21, 35, 121, 164
 - Plight of New Brunswick, request for action, 811
 - Present situation, 295
 - Request for action, 526
 - Construction of hotels adjacent to major airports, government policy, 436
 - Establishment of Canadian merchant marine, 4380
 - Free trade negotiations, budget for government publicity, 1121
 - Grain Transportation Agency recommendations, government policy, 427, 531
 - Montreal-Sudbury railway service, possible abandonment, government policy, 1052, 1338

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

- Transport—Cont'd
 - Moratorium on abandonment of railway lines, authority for proposal, relationship to next election, 4351
 - Municipal airports, funding, government policy, 435, 585
 - New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, establishment of permanent link, environmental impact, 1845, 1954
 - Northumberland Strait, proposed fixed crossing
 - Number and nature of proposals, announcement by Prime Minister, 4262
 - Public hearings on impact on fisheries, 4261
 - Environmental study, 4381, 4406, 4407
 - Port of Churchill, Manitoba and port of Thunder Bay, Ontario, request for additional grain cars, 1937, 2357
 - Port of Churchill, Manitoba
 - Grain shipment through, 4176, 4213, 4224, 4263
 - Maintenance and use of facilities, 3988, 4224
 - Maintenance of facilities and transportation of grain to port, 245, 300, 1844, 1881
 - Premium earned by Canadian Wheat Board on sales of grain, 1937
 - Prince Edward Island
 - CN rail system, status, prospective federal-provincial agreement, 3711, 3990
 - Consultations on design of ferry, relocation of terminal, 3584, 3920, 4132
 - Highway construction, government funding, 3657
 - Proposed tunnel or causeway and ferries to mainland, 58, 194, 236, 1787
 - Feasibility study, 296, 361
 - Retention of dredges, 4380
 - Prince Edward Island-Nova Scotia ferry, government policy, 194
 - Regina International Airport, construction of hotel, local consultation, 436, 558
 - Smoking prohibition on commercial flights, 339, 394
 - Task Force on Alcohol and Drug Use in Railway Industry, scope of confidential study, 2124
- Trans-Canada Highway
 - Rebuilding in New Brunswick, comments of Minister for International Trade, 4221
 - Upgrading in Nova Scotia, government commitment, 4222
- Transport Route Canada Inc.
 - OHIP coverage for employees, 4457
 - Payment of employer contributions, 4380
- Winnipeg International Airport, public parking, 1215, 1580
- Turks and Caicos islands
 - Trade association with Canada, suggested joint committee study, 704
- United Nations
 - Iran-Iraq border peacekeeping contingent
 - Request for answers to further questions, 4312
 - Return of some Canadian members, 4525, 4542
 - Sharing of cost, 4187, 4241
- Veterans Affairs
 - Hong Kong Veterans Association, claim for compensation from Japanese government, 1091
 - War veterans allowance, eligibility and criteria for, 3656, 4085
- VIA Rail
 - Relocation of maintenance centre from Winnipeg to Vancouver, request for reconsideration, 1614
- Waite, Mr. Terry
 - Special emissary of Archbishop of Canterbury, rumoured tragic developments, 452

Questions (oral)—Cont'd

- Western Diversification
 - Allocation of funds to Manitoba for municipal infrastructure, 3799
 - Request for answer, 4177
- Western Economic Development Agency
 - General structure, nature of, date of establishment, 1647
- Western Economic Diversification
 - Criteria for program support, 2796, 2847
 - Delivery system for program, 2793, 2847, 3100
- Yukon
 - Government travel service, changes, effect on local business people, 947, 1056
- Youth
 - Beat-the-Street Program, length of term, 1899, 1912

Questions (Order Paper)

- Atlantic Enterprise Program
 - Projects in Newfoundland, 2657
- Auditor General
 - Budget for past 10 years, 2473
 - Role under Act, 2558
- Canada Day
 - Provincial/territorial committees, nomination of presidents and vice-presidents, 1757
- Canada Post Corporation
 - Rural post offices, 4491
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Application of trade-remedy laws, binding dispute-settlement mechanism, 2359
- Canada-United States relations
 - State dinner in honour of President and Mrs. Reagan, 1340
- Canadian Broadcasting Corporation
 - Corner Brook, Newfoundland, radio-television station, 587
- Canadian Human Rights Commission
 - Membership, 266
- Canadian Pension Plan Advisory Board
 - Membership by federal constituency, 1648
- Canadian Prime Ministers
 - Commemorative statues, 587
 - See also* Prime Ministers, former
- Comptroller General
 - Budget 1978-79 through 1987-88, 2782
 - See* appendix p. 2792
- Corrections
 - Parole of inmates, 198
- Employment and Immigration
 - Canada Employment and Immigration Advisory Council, members, 1479
- External Affairs
 - Canada-United States test and evaluation program agreement, forecast of projects, 983
 - Canadian arms
 - Export permits issued in 1985 and 1986, 1145
 - Sale to foreign countries or non-Canadian agencies, 1142
 - Deployment of nuclear weapons affecting Canadian sovereignty, government policy, 1094
- Fisheries and Oceans
 - Canadian Saltfish Corporation, directors, 1480
- Government House
 - Historic plaque ceremony, guest list, 395
- Government of Canada
 - Contracts for consultancy work, 2359
- Industrial and Regional Development Program
 - Projects in Newfoundland, 2657
 - See* appendix p. 2667

Questions (Order Paper)—Cont'd

- LaPrade Fund, request for answer, 4382, 4491, 4525
 - Reason for delay in answering, 4542
- Medical Research Council of Canada
 - Membership by province, 2211
- National Advisory Council on Aging
 - Members by federal district or province, 2126
- National Defence
 - Committee study of concerns of military families, presentation and publication of report, 2538
- National Health and Welfare
 - National Welfare Fellowships awarded for 1988-89 for doctoral studies, 4177
- Native Economic Program, 1510
- Newfoundland
 - Breakdown of specific federal government spending, replies by ministers, tabled, 1865
 - See* Journals of the Senate
- Ocean Industry Development Subsidiary Agreement, projects in Newfoundland, 2657
 - Answer tabled, 4542
 - See* appendix p. 2664
- Paperwork Reduction Advisory Committee
 - Small businesses and tourism, 2589
- Post-secondary education
 - Breakdown of funding and monitoring of distribution, 1757
- Public Works
 - Contracts awarded in province of Newfoundland, 2550
- Regional Industrial Expansion
 - Assistance to industry, Entrprise Cape Breton, 1176
 - Report entitled "A Study Concerning Fresh Fish Shipments by Air from Western Newfoundland Points", cost of, 4178
- Secretary of State
 - Women's Program budget, 2883
- Solicitor General
 - RCMP investigation, Donald Fraser and Walter Ernest Miller, 1126
- Transport
 - Prince Edward Island lighthouses, 983
- Veterans Affairs
 - Pensioners training regulations, 2558

Radio

- CBC budget, 707
- Cost recovery, 676
- Implications for New Brunswick, 706
- Six-month hoist motion, 745
 - Speakers' ruling, 746, 790
- New taxation policy, 745
- Provincial opposition, 744
- Public sector user fee, 676
- Speakers: Senators
 - Bell, Ann Elizabeth, 745
 - Corbin, Eymard G., 705, 744
 - Doody, C. William, 745
 - Simard, Jean-Maurice, 676, 706
 - Thériault, L. Norbert, 704

Radio bill C-3. 1r, 619; 2r, 676, 704; 3r, 744; r.a., 752

Railway

- Cost recovery measure, 304
- Tax increase, 305
- Speakers: Senators
 - MacDonald, Finlay, 303
 - Stollery, Peter A., 305
 - Thériault, L. Norbert, 304

Railway bill C-4. 1r, 289; 2r, 303; 3r, 340; r.a., 415

Railway safety

Bill C-105, request for draft regulations, 3493

Railway safety (Bill C-105)

Alcohol abuse, 3552, 3558

Confidential relationship with private physician, 3554

Criminal Code amendments, 3557

Deregulation, 3522

Driving dangerously or intoxicated not applicable to movement of railway equipment under regulations, 3466

Foisy report recommendations, 3468

Grade crossing improvements and grade separations, 3467, 3557

Legality and propriety of clause 46, 3555

Mandatory Rest Regulation, 3552

Medical standards, 3552

Monetary fines and imprisonment, 3555

Need to modernize rules and regulations, 3466

Notice of orders issued by safety inspector to employees, 3553

Power vested in Canadian Transport Commission and Minister of Transport, 3523

Railway Safety Consultative Committee, 3556

Right to hearing and due process, 3554

Safety not to be correlated with economics, 3522

Safety tradition, 3521

Self-regulation by railway companies, history of, 3559

Separation of safety regulations from economic regulations and investigations, 3466

Speakers: Senators

Spivak, Mira, 3465

Turner, Charles, 3520, 3552, 4007

Railway Safety bill C-105. 1r, 3419; 2r, 3465, 3520, 3552; ref to com, 3559; rep with amdt, 3885, 4007, 4048; 3r, 4058; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdt, 4110; r.a., 4168

Reagan, Ronald W., President of the United States of America

Address to both houses, 1987, printed as appendix, 844

See appendix p. 861

Refugees

Disposition of ship used for transportation, 1645, 1872

Federal-provincial consultations on Bill C-84

Emergency legislation, 1755

Jurisdiction, representations by Government of Ontario, 1780

Possible conflict of bill with human rights and Law of the Sea, 1700

General amnesty, government policy, 4461

Replacement of existing regulations, government policy, 627

Thailand, turning back of boats, safety of passengers, government policy, 2796, 2830

See also Foreign Affairs

Regional constitutional differences, 172

Regional disparities, 129

Regional Industrial Expansion

Annual report of department, transfer of functions, responsibility for subsidiary agreements, request for organizational chart, 2827

Assistance to industry, Enterprise Cape Breton, 1176, 1247

Pictou County, Nova Scotia, development of coal mine, financial assistance, attitude of Cape Breton Development Corporation, 2843

Regional Industrial Expansion—Cont'd

Report entitled "A Study Concerning Fresh Fish Shipments by Air from Western Newfoundland Points", cost of, 4178

See also Enterprise Cape Breton

Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei

Apostolic Constitution, 1982, 1498

Characteristics of a secret society, 1074

Compliance with provincial laws, 1853

Corporation sole, 853

Equal treatment before law for all non-profit corporations, 1853

Financial power, 1072

Freedom, 1499

Globe and Mail, quote, 1068

Holy intransigence, holy coercion, holy effrontery, 1153

Monsignor Escrivà, 1499

New York Times, quotes, 1068

Only a front, 1288

Political influence, 1070

Recruitment, 1068

Religious programming, 1069

Role of women, 1153, 1288

Secrecy or privacy, 1500

Secret constitutions, 1067

Structure, 1067

The Times of London, quotes, 1065, 1067, 1073

The Way (El Camino, Le Chemin), quote, 1151

Undue influence, 1151

Weakness in laws on corporations, 1286

Speakers: Senators

Bélisle, Rhéal, 852, 1496

Corbin, Eymard G., 1284, 1494, 1851

Hébert, Jacques, 1065

Le Moine, Jean, 1150

Stewart, John B., 1289

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7 1r, 830; 2r, 852, 1064, 1150, 1284, 1494, 1851, 2069; ref to com, 2069; rep with amds, 3472, 3495, 3513, 3592, 3804, 4190

Regulations and other Statutory Instruments, Joint Committee (until Feb.3/88)

Authority to examine subject matter of (regulation-making power) clauses of certain bills, 696, 822

Change of name, message from Commons referred to Standing Rules and Orders Committee, 2517

Membership, 117, 133

Message from Commons, 73

Reports

Expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 232

See Journals of the Senate

1st, Statutory Instruments No. 35, 262

See appendix p. 279

2nd, Statutory Instruments No. 36, 450, 643

See appendix p. 458

3rd, Statutory Instruments No. 37, tabled, 563

Referred back to committee, 695, 697

See appendix p. 569

4th, Statutory Instruments No. 38, 666, 855

Customs tariffs affecting fruit and vegetables, 855

Validating legislation, 855

See appendix p. 679

Regulations and other Statutory Instruments, Joint Committee (until Feb.3/88)—Cont'd

Reports—Cont'd

5th, Statutory Instruments No. 39, 666, 964

By-laws made under Indian band councils, 964

See appendix p. 682

6th, Statutory Instruments No. 40, Indian Act, 2090

See appendix p. 2105

7th, Statutory Instruments No. 41, Various, 2090

See appendix p. 2109

8th, Statutory Instruments No. 42, Crop Insurance, 2090

See appendix p. 2115

Senate members, message to Commons, 133

See also Scrutiny of Regulations Committee

Regulatory Scrutiny, Standing Joint Committee (from Feb.4/88 to June 7/88)

Change of name to Scrutiny of Regulations, message from Commons, 3582

Report

9th, Report No. 43, Public Service Employment, 3317, 3341

See appendix p. 3322

See also Scrutiny of Regulations Committee

Remembrance Day, "Lest We Forget", 186

Reproductive technology

Proposed Royal Commission, status, 4239

Royal commission, request for appointment, government action, 2382, 2829

Reproductive Technology, need for Royal Commission, inquiry, 3547, 3680

Consequences for our society, 3681

Fetal experimentation, 3681

In vitro fertilization, 3680

Legal consequences, 3681

Medical, legal and social control of reproduction, 3681

Parenthood an unalienable right?, 3681

Pregnancy reduction, 3680

Unregulated growth in research and marketing of technology, 3680

Speaker: Senator

Spivak, Mira, 3680

Research and development, 126

Bedford Institute of Oceanography, closing of Marine Ecology Laboratory, government policy and actions, inquiry, 784, 856, 897, 917

See Bedford Institute

Government funding of post-secondary education, 335

National Research Council funding, government policy, 120, 144, 193, 301

Scientific meeting in Stockholm, Canadian representation, 336, 394

Space research agency location, 121

See also National Finance Committee, Post-Secondary Education report

Revised Statutes of Canada

Translation improvements, 2361

Wording changes, 2361

Speaker: Senator

Nurgitz, Nathan, 2361

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985 bill C-94. 1r, 2302; 2r, 2361; ref to com, 2362; rep without amdt, 2471; 3r, 2471; r.a., 2510

Ritchie, Dr. Marguerite, Q.C., President, Human Rights Institute of Canada

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2327

Rizzuto, Hon. Pietro

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1238, 1240, 1274

Patent bill C-22

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2159

Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1825

Robertson, Heather, Canadian author and journalist, visit, 2065

Robertson, Hon. Brenda M.

Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 129

Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-126, Committee of the Whole, (Chairman), 4139

Canada Agricultural Products bill C-141, 3868, 3890

Canadian Board of Arbitration and Review Tribunal, 3869

Consignment sales, 3868

Potato inspectors, 3871

"Rollers", 3868

Temporary exemptions, 3869

Canada Child Care bill C-144, 4492, 4514

Child care initiatives fund, 4493

Chronology of legislation, 4492

Commercial agencies, 4494

Consequences of delay, 4495

Cost-sharing arrangements, 4494, 4516

Native peoples, 4494

Parental participation, 4495

People in poverty, 4498

Pre-study, 4516

Provincial jurisdiction, 4494

Social justice and economic justice, 4493

Standards, 4494, 4498

Tax component, 4493

Top-up provision, 4494

Canadian Environmental Protection bill C-74, 3386, 3564

Ecosystem approach, 3388

Enforcement and Compliance Policy, 3389

Equivalency, 3387

New substances, 3388

Uniform national environmental standards, 3387

Child care and abuse, 131

Concerns of the elderly, 131

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole

Motion re witnesses to be heard by Submissions Group, 2773

Motion to televise proceedings, 1455

Customs Tariff bill C-87, 2386, 2444, 2479

Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System, 2386

Revenue-neutral bill, 2389

Fisheries Improvement Loans bill C-32, 309, 349

Six-month extension of program, 309

Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, 1572

Trade secrets, 1573

Uniformity, 1572

Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System (WHMIS), 1572

Robertson, Hon. Brenda M.—Cont'd

- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee, 2400, 2494
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4470, 4474
- Illiteracy in Canada, inquiry, 2120
 - Costs, 2120
 - Education system, 2122
 - Laubach Canada, 2121
 - National shame, 2123
- National Finance Committee report
 - 25th, Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, rep on Part 1 (Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency), 3886
- Problems of the Aged, inquiry, 3272
- Regional disparities, 129
- Senior citizens, observation of special week in tribute, 1010
 - Lack of education for care-givers, 1010
 - Poverty, 1010
 - United Nations International Fund for the Aged, 1011
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - Childhood poverty and adult social problems, authority to study relationship, 3349, 3406
- Report
 - 7th, "Child Benefits: Proposal for a Guaranteed Family Supplement Scheme, tabled, 1554
- Social justice, 129
- Unemployment Insurance Benefit Entitlement Adjustments (Pension Payments) Bill C-50, 1219, 1251, 1280
 - Distinction between permanent retirement and career change, 1251
 - Qualifying or benefit period extensions re separation payments, 1220, 1252
 - Retroactive regulatory changes, 1219

Robichaud, Hon. Louis J., P.C.

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 498
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Date of signing, imposition of deadline, qu, 2290
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2000, 2197, 2250, 2738
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, motion to concur, 1276
- Official Languages bill C-72, 4005
 - Justice, tolerance and respect, 4005
- Prince Edward Island
 - Proposed fixed crossing to mainland, suggested plebiscite, qu, 2244
- Senate reform
 - Andre, Hon. Harvie, alleged statement, qu, 907
- Turks and Caicos Islands
 - Trade association with Canada, suggested joint committee study, qu, 704

Roblin, Hon. Duff, P.C.,

- Agriculture and Forestry Committee report
 - 3rd, authority for special expenses for study of farm finance, 1196
- Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1141, 3775
- Reports
 - 23rd, Copyright bill C-60, 3248
 - 28th, Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4172
 - 33rd, Patent bill S-15, 4503
- Tax reform, authority to conduct study, 1049
- Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries, 534
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 468
 - Speaker's ruling negated, 474

Roblin, Hon. Duff, P.C.,—Cont'd

- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4396, 4409, 4448
 - Auto Pact, 4401
 - Canadian psyche, 4402
 - Consumers, 4409
 - Dispute settlement, 4411
 - Energy, 4414
 - "Freer trade agreement", 4401
 - GATT, 4401
 - Marketing boards, 4412
 - Moral authority, 4399
 - Potatoes, 4413
 - Proportionality, 4414
 - Protectionism, 4410
 - Reform of the Senate, 4399
 - Role of the Senate, 4398
 - Sovereignty, 4402
 - Tomatoes, 4413
- Constitution Act, 1867, motion to amend by proclamation
 - Point of order, 1357
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1350
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1450
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, m to refer to Committee of the Whole
 - Motion in amdt, 1201
- Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, inquiry, 977, 1040, 1102
 - Australian system, 1044
 - Deadlock, 1043
 - Distribution of Senate seats, 1043
 - Double dissolution, 1044
 - Function and role of Senate, 1041
 - Party stranglehold, 1046
 - Powers of the Senate, 1042
 - Power to withhold supply, 1044
 - Proportional representation system, 1042
 - Quebec special provision re senators, 1044
 - Selection of senators, 1042
 - "Single transferable vote" system, 1042
- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3769
- Energy and Natural Resources Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1074, 1118
- Excise Tax and Excise bill C-14, 350
 - Consequence of tax increases and price escalations, 351
 - Regressive nature of sales taxes, 352
 - Sales tax increases, 350
- Foreign Affairs Committee
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3810
 - Report, 14th, study of elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, 3280
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, m to instruct committee to divide bill in two, 3604
- Health care, m for appointment of special committee, 2499
 - Motion in amdt, 2495
- Income Tax bill C-64, 2344, 2443
 - Deferred interest, 2345
 - Federal power of garnishment, 2345
 - International banking centres, 2345
 - Resource expense allowances, 2345
 - Tax avoidance, 2345
 - Tax simplification, 2347
 - Unregistered pension plans, 2345

Roblin, Hon. Duff, P.C., —Cont'd

- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 16th, 1206
 - 34th, 2955
- Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, tribute, 3506
- North Atlantic Assembly, Thirty-second Annual Session, Istanbul, Turkey, 333, 444
 - Canada's position and policy in NATO, 446
 - NATO and the Warsaw alliance and conventional arms, 445
 - Nuclear arms control, 445
 - Strategic Defense Initiative, obstacle to progress, 445
- Patent bill C-22, 1739, 1745
 - Competition, 1745
 - Intellectual property protection, 1746
- Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdts and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdts, 2215
- Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, m to refer to committee, 1786, 1795
 - Need for Senate reform, 1797
 - Political legitimacy, 1797
 - Responsibility in parliamentary system, 1796
- Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1830
- Price controls, 1745
- Senate
 - Adjournment, 4166
- Softwood Lumber Products Export Charge bill C-37, 1075, 1100, 1127
 - American protectionism, 1077, 1101
 - Communication breakdown between industry and government, 1101
 - Damage limitation exercise, 1076
 - Export tax on lumber exports to U.S., 1076
 - GATT, 1101
 - Maritime exporters and remanufacturers unfairly caught, 1076
 - Memorandum of Understanding, 1076
- Senate
 - Business, 1617, 4258
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22
 - Availability of translation of report, 1348
 - Reports
 - 3rd, 1358
 - 6th, Patent Act amendment, 1987, with amendments, 1673
- Standing Rules and Orders Committee reports
 - 1st, 137
 - 5th, voting procedure
 - Ring of bells, 2849
 - 12th, minutes, committee meetings, 3805
 - 13th, committee reports containing recommendations, 3807

Rodger, Mrs. Ginette, Executive Director, Canadian Nurses Association

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2807

Rosenberg, Morris, Legal Counsel, Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs

- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, considered in Committee of the whole, 1577

Rossiter, Hon. Eileen (Introduced in the Senate Nov. 25/86), 227

- Customs Tariff bill C-118, 3255, 3386
- Duties removal from certain products not made in Canada, 3255

Rossiter, Hon. Eileen—Cont'd

- Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill C-62, 1570
 - African economics, 1570
 - Canada's international reputation, 1570
- National Housing and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation bill C-111, 3890, 3991
 - Equal access to public mortgage insurance, 3891
 - Establishment of mortgage pools for creation of mortgage-backed securities, 3892
 - Manufactured housing, 3891
 - Moveable homes, 3891
 - Warranty programs enhancement, 3591
- National Parks bill C-30, 4107, 4200
 - Ellesmere Island designation, 4108
 - Heritage, 4107
 - Management and development, 4108
 - National Marine Parks, 4108
 - Poaching fines, 4107
 - Stewardship and protection, 4107

Rousseau, Hon. Yvette (Deceased March 17, 1988)

- Constitution
 - First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1324
- Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague, tribute, 331
- Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 331
- Notice of death, 2875
- Tributes, 2876
- Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-16, 407
 - Annualization and Forget report, 407

Rowe, Hon. Frederick W. (retired Sept. 28/88)

- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 148
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 539, 655
- Canada-Newfoundland Accord Implementation bill C-6, 634
 - Historical difficulties, 634
- Education, 148
- Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., the late, tribute, 228
- Tributes on retirement, 1838
 - Response, 1841
- Unemployment, 148

Royal Assent, 182, 226, 278, 415, 752, 776, 803, 827, 929, 1135, 1416, 1590, 1774, 1854, 1919, 1983, 2227, 2509, 2530, 2651, 2890, 2969, 3251, 3488, 3634, 3667, 3778, 3893, 4108, 4168, 4203, 4403, 4482, 4562Alternative procedure, 339*Notice of motion, 784*Withdrawn, 2546*Dickson, Rt. Hon. Brian, P.C., Chief Justice of Canada, 182*La Forest, Hon. Gérard V.J., Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, 929, 1854, 1983, 3488, 3893, 4203, 4403, 4482*Lamer, Hon. Antonio, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, 226, 278, 752, 776, 827, 1135, 1416, 1590, 2227, 2509, 2530, 4108*LeDain, Hon. Gerald Eric, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, 415, 2651, 2890, 2969, 3667, 3778*L'Heureux-Dubé, Hon. Claire, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, 1774, 1919, 3251, 4168, 4562*Wilson, Hon. Bertha, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, 3634*Royal Assent

- Alternative process, 4122
- Australian example, 4122
- Historic and symbolic value of present system, 4123, 4463

Royal Assent—Cont'd

Three elements of Parliament, 4463

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William, 4122

Kelly, William M., 4463

MacEachen, Allan J., 4123

Royal Assent bill S-19. 1r, 4056; 2r, 4122, 4462Royal Canadian Mint and currency

Aaron, Robert, Toronto Star column, quote, 2168

Increase in borrowing powers, 2154

Increase in size of board of directors, 2154

Issuance of share capital, 2154

Marketing of one-dollar coin, 2169

Prohibition of coin collectors on Board of Directors of Mint, 2168, 2170

Winter Olympic coins, 2170

Speakers: Senators

Bosa, Peter, 2168

Doody, C. William, 2154, 2170

Royal Canadian Mint and Currency bill C-46. 1r, 2118; 2r, 2154, 2168; ref to com, 2171; rep without amdt, 2286; 3r, 2305; r.a., 2510St. Patrick's Day

Tributes to St. Patrick and the Irish people, 619

Salaries

Lieutenant governors' salaries, indexing formula, 413

Speakers: Senators

Doody, C. William 413

Frith, Royce, 413

MacEachen, Allan J., 413

Salaries bill C-36. 1r, 412; 2r, 413; 3r, 413; r.a., 415Saskatchewan

See Visitors

Sauvé, Rt. Hon. Jeanne, P.C., Her Excellency the Governor General of Canada

Speech from the Throne at Opening of Second Session of Thirty-third Parliament, 3

See Governor General

Scott, Stephen, Professor of Law, McGill University

Constitution, First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2251

Scrutiny of Regulations, Standing Committee (from June 7/88)

Change of name, message from Commons, 3582

Reports

10th, Statutory instruments made by certain Statutory Courts, 3777, 3810

See appendix p. 3788

See also Regulations and Statutory Instruments Committee

Secretary of State

Women's Program budget, 2883

Selection Committee

Appointment, 9

Reports

1st, Speaker pro tempore, 61

2nd, membership of committees, 61

3rd, membership of committees, 117

4th, membership of special committees, 869

Selection Committee—Cont'dReports—Cont'd

5th, membership of Special Joint Committee on Constitutional Accord, 1987, 1432

6th, membership of Special Committee on Preventative Health Services, 2778

Senate, 1194

Absence of government leader from chamber, 391, 551, 671, 761, 830, 1142, 1315, 1337, 1338, 1433, 1476, 1506, 1782, 1878, 1884, 2068, 2119, 2153, 2472, 2529, 2956, 2976, 3222, 3318, 3386, 3447, 3637, 3687, 3888, 3920, 4018, 4057, 4111, 4129, 4166, 4207

Acting Opposition Leader in absence of Opposition Leader and Deputy Leader from chamber, 3490

Adjournment, 1, 3, 15, 119, 189, 226, 277, 383, 414, 451, 457, 510, 561, 602, 671, 776, 830, 929, 977, 1025, 1119, 1168, 1214, 1215, 1297, 1336, 1396, 1473, 1582, 1697, 1753, 1754, 1802, 1861, 1884, 1920, 1958, 1960, 2053, 2090, 2148, 2227, 2289, 2350, 2470, 2493, 2529, 2586, 2758, 2818, 2875, 2930, 2976, 3046, 3221, 3252, 3317, 3360, 3447, 3490, 3572, 3637, 3687, 3709, 3777, 3888, 4018, 4108, 4128, 4165, 4200, 4238, 4314, 4350, 4437, 4477, 4523

Motion in amdt, 2149

Point of order, 2152, 2153

Business, 62, 210, 242, 329, 356, 408, 502, 511, 560, 621, 644, 760, 767, 815, 819, 826, 845, 907, 950, 1537, 1559, 1564, 1617, 1662, 1696, 1758, 1787, 1907, 1912, 1919, 1928, 1930, 1939, 1951, 2090, 2123, 2154, 2206, 2268, 2401, 2444, 2470, 2471, 2529, 2532, 2634, 2730, 2774, 2816, 2872, 2963, 3023, 3065, 3070, 3149, 3203, 3221, 3287, 3446, 3454, 3488, 3610, 3668, 3684, 3815, 3884, 4015, 4035, 4084, 4155, 4258, 4550

Anticipated legislation, 391

Constitution, motion for proposed Constitution Amendment, 1987 and any motions in amendment made first item of business, 3096

Disposition of Bill C-18, C-19 and C-22, instructions to committees, adjournment, 1628

Emergencies bill, resolution into Committee of the Whole at 6 p.m., May 31, 1988, 3489

Inquiries, point of order, referral to Rules Committee, 2227

Legislative program, 1478

Treatment of legislation, 1615

Christmas greetings, 415, 2509

Committee proceedings, availability, 1701

Concurrent sittings of the Senate and committees, attendance of members, 860

Cost of production of appendices in Debates and Minutes, 3864

Culleton, William J., Assistant Editor of Debates (English), felicitations on completion of 25 years' service, 1865

Debates, delay in production of, 2442

Delay in commencing sittings, 1838

Delay in production of committee proceedings, question of privilege, 608

Speaker's statement, 628

Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, question of privilege, 353, 390

Motion to call Printing Bureau officials before the Senate, 356, 383, 399

Motion withdrawn, order discharged, 509

Speaker's statement, 430

First Ministers' Accord, method of appointment of senators, Quebec vacancies, 1399

Gendron, Larry, felicitations on retirement after 30 years' service, 2605

Senate—Cont'd

- Government leader's stationery, use for communication re Oerlikon Aerospace, 437
- Jarvis, Dale M., Director of Personnel, felicitations on completion of 25 years' service, 2054
- King, Harold A., Senate Postmaster, felicitations on retirement, 1505
- Minutes of the Proceedings*, correction, 4455
- New senators, words of welcome, 230
- Official report
 - Correction, 355, 665
 - Ministry list, 852
 - Quality of translation, 1297, 3706
- Order paper question, request for clarification, 1507
- Ottawa Citizen* article of November 18, 1986, 390
- Point of order (Senator McElman), 871, 872
- Privilege, 644, 829, 1471, 1843, 1984, 3491, 4522
 - Conflict-of-interest inquiry from office of Minister of Justice, 1696, 1700
 - Motion to refer to committee, 890
 - Withdrawn, 948
- Production delay at Printing Bureau, 1898
- Question Period
 - Delayed answers, availability, 1509
 - Expression of appreciation, 395
 - Point of order, possible revision of rule 20, 2166
 - Requests for answers, 240, 1059, 1164, 1197, 1247, 1509, 1912, 1954, 2472, 2493, 2956, 2978
 - Role of Senator Flynn, 2079
 - Summer adjournment, date, 1301
- Referral of subject matter of government bills to committees, inquiry, 1614
 - Inquiry withdrawn, 2588
- Status of government leader, Senate reform, 4353
- Suggested sittings in provincial capitals, 1302
- Tempus fugit*, 2068
- Vacancies, filling of
 - Provincial nominations, 1699
 - Reasons for delay, 3548, 3585
 - Role of provinces and territories, 2208

Senate and House of Commons (Bill C-20)

- Industrial composite and industrial aggregate, 305
- Salary adjustment formula, 306
- Speakers: Senators
 - Doody, C. William, 305
 - Frith, Royce, 306

Senate and House of Commons bill C-20. 1r, 289; 2r, 305; 3r, 340; r.a., 415Senate and House of Commons (Bill C-83)

- Equality and fairness, 2765
- Party official on Parliamentary payroll, 2765
- Remuneration for chairmen of national caucuses, 2765
- Senate pension benefits, 2766
- Speakers: Senators
 - McElman, Charles, 2764
 - Murray, Lowell, 2643
 - Stewart, John B., 3438

Senate and House of Commons bill C-83. 1r, 1984; 2r, 2643, 2764, 3438; ref to com, 3450;Senate, delays in consideration of legislation, inquiry. 4212, 4247

- Intentions re Free Trade Agreement, 4247
- Partisan considerations, 4249

Senate, delays in consideration of legislation, inquiry—Cont'd

- Political gain, 4248
- Powers given to the Senate, 4250
- Precedents, 4248
- Senate's role, 4249, 4251
- Speakers: Senators
 - Frith, Royce, 4249
 - Kelly, William M., 4247

Senate reform

- Andre, Hon. Harvie, alleged statement, 907
- Appointments, submission of names to Prime Minister, 1091, 1579
- Consultations with provinces, nature and status, 4239
- Inclusion on agenda for next First Ministers' conference, 876
- Principle of equality of provincial representation, 3330
- Process to be adopted, public representation and meetings, 3331

Senate Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories

- Authority to permit electronic media coverage of proceedings in Whitehorse, Yellowknife and Iqaluit, 1810
- Budget, 1856
- Deadline for presentation of interim report and extension of deadline for final report, 2289, 2309, 2589
- Extension of date for reporting, 1805, 2160
- Membership, 1777, 1861
- Reduction of quorum, 2053
- Report, final, 2778

Senators, deceased

- Cook, Hon. Eric (Aug. 24/86), 11
- Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C. (Dec. 11/86), 285
- Hayden, Hon. Salter A. (Jan. 5/87), 417
- Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C. (May 27/88), 3504
- MacDonald, Hon. John Joseph (Sept. 24/86), 11
- Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C. (Aug. 28/88), 4207
- McGrand, Hon. Frederic A. (Sept. 4/88), 4255
- Phillips, Hon. Lazarus (Dec. 30/86), 417
- Rousseau, Hon. Yvette (Mar. 17/88), 2875
- Welch, Hon. Frank Corbett (Sept. 3/86), 11

Senators, new

- Atkins, Hon. Norman K. (Oct. 1/86), 3
- Bazin, Hon. Jean (Feb. 3/87), 417
- Beaudoin, Hon. Gérald-A. (Sept. 28/88), 4501
- Bolduc, Hon. Roch (Sept. 28/88), 4501
- Chaput-Rolland, Hon. Solange (Sept. 28/88), 4501
- Cochrane, Hon. Ethel (Nov. 25/86), 227
- Ottenhimer, Hon. Gerald R. (Jan. 26/88), 2531
- Poitras, Hon. Jean-Marie (Sept. 28/88), 4501
- Rossiter, Hon. Eileen (Nov. 25/86), 227
- Spivak, Hon. Mira (Nov. 25/86), 227

Senators, resigned

- Cameron, Hon. Donald (Sept. 19/87), 1884
- McGrand, Hon. Fred A. (Jan. 22/88), 2601

Senators, retirements

- Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine (Feb. 15/88), 2753
- Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague (Dec. 18/86), 329
- Godfrey, Hon. John Morrow (June 25/87), 1391
- Langlois, Hon. Léopold (Oct. 2/88), 4537
- Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C. (Jan. 3/87), 329
- Le Moyné, Hon. Jean (Feb. 17/88), 2753
- Rowe, Hon. Frederick W. (Sept. 28/87), 1838

Senior citizens

- Observation of special week in tribute, 696, 802, 1010, 1311
- Debt of gratitude, 802
- Heritage of social capital, 802
- Lack of education for care-givers, 1010
- Poverty, 1010
- United Nations International Fund for the Aged, 1011
- Speakers: Senators
 - Croll, David A., 802
 - Robertson, Brenda, 1010

Services for the elderly, 85Shipping conferences exemption

- Competition Act exemption limitations, 1530
- Conference system, 1529
- Dispute resolution procedure, 1530
- Liner trade, 1529
- Loyalty contracts, 1530
- Service contracts, 1529
- Speaker: Senator
 - Macquarrie, Heath, 1528

Shipping Conferences Exemption, 1987 bill C-21. 1r, 1505; 2r, 1528; 3r, 1531; r.a., 1590Shipbuilding

- British Columbia, allocation of contracts, government policy, 15
- Class 8 icebreaker
 - Announcement of construction in Vancouver shipyards, 557
- Design, government policy, 441
- Canadian icebreaking technology, government policy, 557, 570

Shaw, Mr. Robert, Vice-President, National Sea Products

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 540

Siddon, Hon. Thomas E., Minister of Fisheries and Oceans

- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, considered in Committee of the Whole, 513

Simard, Hon. Jean-Maurice

- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 152
- American market negotiations, 155
- Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 927
- Canada's International Relations Committee report
 - 1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, 159
 - See Journals of the Senate*
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3088
 - Compromise and conciliation, 3089
 - National objectives, 3089
 - Official languages, 3090
 - Spending powers, 3089
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1350
- Customs Tariff, Duties Relief bill C-69, 1554
 - Goods made/not made in Canada, 1555
 - Manufacturers requested changes re competitiveness, 1556
 - Technical changes, 1555
- Decision to sit in Senate as Independent Progressive Conservative, 2824
- Education, school system, role of parents, role of national commission of francophone parents, government support, inquiry, 2724

Simard, Hon. Jean-Maurice—Cont'd

- Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-Secondary Education and Health Contributions, 1977 bill C-44, 915
 - Tax reform, 915
- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70 (Chairman, Committee of the Whole), 1574
- Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited bill C-98, 2391, 2490
 - Occupational health and safety protection, 2391
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-55, 2065
 - Abuse, 2066
 - Canada's traditional humanitarian attitude, 2066
 - Convention Refugee Determination Division, 2066
 - Immigration and Refugee Board, 2066
 - Steps in new system, 2066
 - War criminals, 2066
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee reports
 - 10th, 667
 - 14th, 975
- Linguistic duality, 156
- National Finance Committee report
 - 7th, post-secondary education, 817, 879
- Official Languages Committee reports
 - Expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, 231
 - See Journals of the Senate*
 - 1st, establishment of a quorum, 231
 - 4th, recommendations re implementation of Official Languages Act, 1394
 - Question of privilege, 1395
 - See appendix p. 1420*
- Patent Act
 - Appointment of special committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 prior to receipt of legislation, 839
- Privilege, 2653
- Protectionism, 155
- Radio bill C-3, 676, 706
 - CBC budget, 707
 - Cost recovery, 676
 - Public sector companies' user fee, 676
- Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22
 - Availability of translation of report, 1348
 - Report, 4th, authority to engage services and to travel, 1474

Simard, Michel, Public and Government Relations Manager, Canadian Nurses Association,

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2813

Simms, Dr. John A., President, Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards (Montreal)

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2615

Sinclair, Hon. Ian

- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 107
- Agriculture
 - Wheat, effect of deficiency payment on two-price system, qu, 337
- Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, 4098
 - Partial privatization, 4098
- Bank of British Columbia Business Continuation bill C-27, 274, 276
 - CDIC assistance, 274
 - Legal statute use, 275
 - Motion re message to House of Commons, 276
- Bank of Canada
 - Appointment of John Crow as Governor, 354

Sinclair, Hon. Ian—Cont'dBanking

- Bank of British Columbia, acquisition of, avoidance of income tax on deposit insurance payment, qu, 2072
- Estey Commission of Inquiry, status of report, qu, 67
- Matters within exclusive federal jurisdiction, government action, qu, 526, 586

Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

- Authority to engage services, 75
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 263, 340, 742, 1048, 1412, 1810, 1843, 1930, 1939, 2161, 2797, 2882, 3775, 3987, 4042

Change of venue of meeting, 1939

Electronic media coverage of meeting, 1877

Financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-56, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 997

Report, availability of translation, 1396

Meeting, 3472

Motion re instruction to committee for report on question and message from House of Commons, 1805

Report on Bill C-22, anticipated date of presentation, 1900

Intention of committee, 1903

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 73

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, income tax, subject matter of Bill C-11 and amending ways and means motion, 73

3rd, Income Tax Conventions bill S-2, with amds, tabled, 186

4th, excise tax and excise, subject matter of Bill C-14, 187

See appendix p. 209

5th, petroleum and gas revenue tax, subject matter of Bill C-17, 243

6th, Bank of British Columbia business continuation, subject matter of Bill C-27, with observations, 269

7th, income tax, subject matter of Bill C-23, tabled, 290

See appendix p. 314

8th, Bell Canada reorganization, subject matter of Bill C-13, tabled, 290

See appendix p. 317

9th, Canadair Limited divestiture authorization, subject matter of Bill C-25, tabled, 364

See appendix p. 385

10th, softwood lumber products export charge, subject matter of Bill C-37, authority to adjourn from place to place in Canada to study, 501

13th, financial institutions and deposit insurance system, subject matter of Bill C-42, tabled, 997

See appendix p. 1013

14th, budget re special expenses to study tax reform, 1213, 1306

See appendix p. 1224

15th, financial institutions, subject matter of Bill C-56, tabled, 1415

See appendix p. 1427

16th, Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, with amdt, 1448

17th, Small businesses loans, subject matter of Bill C-63, tabled, 1457

See appendix p. 1470

18th, customs tariff and duties relief, subject matter of Bill C-69, tabled, 1473

See appendix p. 1504

19th, Patent bill C-22, rep on question and message from House of Commons, with amds, 1991, 2084, 2090

See appendix p. 2009

Sinclair, Hon. Ian—Cont'dBanking, Trade and Commerce Committee—Cont'd*Reports—Cont'd

20th, tax reform, tabled, 2229, 2246, 2293

22nd, Fruit and Vegetable Customs Orders Validation bill C-96, 2654

23rd, Copyright bill C-60, with amds, 2930, 3243

See appendix p. 2936

24th, Customs Tariff bill C-118, 3349

27th, Canadian Exploration Incentive Program bill C-137, with amds, 4016

28th, Air Canada Public Participation bill C-129, with comments, 4171

See appendix p. 4180

29th, Income Tax and Related Acts bill C-139, with comments, 4311

30th, Canadian International Trade Tribunal bill C-110, with comments, 4333

See appendix p. 4341

31st, Tax Court of Canada bill C-146, 4404

32nd, Patent bill S-15, interim report, 4404

See appendix p. 4427

33rd, Patent bill S-15, with comments, 4503

See appendix p. 4519

Tax reform, authority to conduct study, 997, 1048, 1336

Authority to extend deadline for reporting, 2654, 2834

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Availability and cost of text to public, qu, 3800

Passage of Bill C-22

Request for tabling of initialled copy of document containing reference to Canada's undertaking re passage, newspaper article, 1955

Understandings between Canada and United States, qu, 1942

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4332

Canada-United States relations

Canadian potash, imposition of U.S. tariff, government action, qu, 700

Free trade negotiations, binding dispute-settlement mechanism, government position, qu, 1869

Summit meeting in Ottawa, memorandum of understanding re softwood lumber, elimination of anomalies, qu, 832, 910

Canadian Exploration Incentive Program bill C-137, 3865

Canadian National Railway

Appointment of chairman, qu, 333

ConstitutionFirst Ministers' Accord

Inclusion of interpretative section in resulting legislation, identification of and instructions to draftsmen, qu, 980

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1548

Copyright

Bill C-60, request for correspondence between Council of Ministers of Education of Canada and Federal-Provincial Relations Minister, 2977, 3101

Copyright bill C-60, 3270

Message from Commons, 3463

Customs Tariff bill C-118, 3270

Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), considered in Committee of the Whole, 3762

Economic renewal, 107

Eldorado Nuclear Limited Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-121, 4100

Energy

Dome Petroleum-Amoco Canada transaction, current situation, qu, 1581

Sinclair, Hon. Ian—Cont'd

- Finance
 - Canadian dollar, value of, qu, 4111
 - Document entitled "New Directions for the Financial Sector," 390, 403, 1011
 - Stock market activity, congratulations to Minister of Finance for statements and action, 1991
- Financial institutions
 - Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation, implementation of recommendations of Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, qu, 485
 - Negotiations with provinces on regulation, status of, qu, 1090
- Financial Institutions and Deposit Insurance System Amendment bill C-42, 1532
 - CDIC board appointments, 1533
 - Deposit insurance, 1532
 - Risk-related capital requirements, 1533
 - Superintendent of Financial Institutions, 1532
- Financial Institutions bill C-56, 1552
 - Exempt market, 1553
- Free trade initiatives, 109
- Hazardous Products and other Statutes bill C-70, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1577
- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4246, 4471
 - Ref back to com, 4407
- Income Tax and Related Acts bill C-139, 4232
 - Fairness re middle class, 4233
 - Simplicity, 4233
- Income Tax bill C-64, 2346
 - International banking centres, 2346
- Labour
 - British Columbia longshoremen's lockout, response to government request, qu, 54
- Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 1785
- Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 217
 - Penalty provision imbalance, 218
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1770
- Multinational corporations
 - Elimination of minority equity interests, impact of enhanced Canada-United States trade, qu, 2828, 3099
- National Finance Committee report
 - 4th, estimates 1986-87, supplementary (B), 367
- National Transportation, 1987, bill C-18, 1319
- Patent bill C-22
 - Government brochure, suggested inaccuracy of statements, qu, 2167
- Message from Commons, motion for concurrence in certain Commons amnds and for non-insistence on certain Senate amnds, 2158, 2213
- Message from Commons, motion for concurrence in Commons amnds and for non-insistence on Senate amnds, motion to refer to committee, m in amdt, 1793, 1800, 1802
- Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2179
- Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1816
- Quebec coalition for adoption of bill, meeting, Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee representation, 1812
- Patent bill S-15, 2833, 4531
 - Prices exceeding Consumer Price Index, 4531
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Drug price increases
 - Basis of statistics, qu, 2534, 2655
 - Compensation to provinces, qu, 2537, 2656

Sinclair, Hon. Ian—Cont'd

- Pharmaceutical industry—Cont'd
 - Requests re drug pricing, qu, 2535, 2655
 - Drug Prices Review Board, coming into force of powers, qu, 2534, 2655
- Senate, 829
 - Adjournment, 4129
 - Business, 242
 - Privilege, m to refer to committee, 894
- Standing Rules and Orders Committee report
 - 13th, committee reports on bills, 3808
- Tax reform
 - Consultation process, government policy, qu, 119
 - Reporting of costs of consultants for tax purposes, 1298
 - White Paper and related documents, 1314
- Telelobe Canada
 - Reorganization and divestiture, apparent leak re Memotec bid, request for answers, 832

Sinclair, Jim, President, Métis National Council

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2857

Small businesses loans

- Dollar limit, 1562
- Fishermen's loss of special identity, 1562
- Flexibility, 1561
- Guaranteed loans for fishermen, 1561
- Interest rates, 1561
- Longer lending window, 1561
- Payback time limit, 1562
- Speakers: Senators
 - Corbin, Eymard G., 1563
 - Marshall, Jack, 1561
- See also* Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Small Businesses Loans bill C-63. 1r, 1561; 2r, 1561; 3r, 1563; r.a., 1590

Snarr, W., Executive Director, Emergency Preparedness Canada

- Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3624

Social Affairs, Science and Technology, Standing Senate Committee

- Authority for Subcommittee on Training and Employment to meet during Senate sitting, 1175
 - Motion withdrawn, 1311
- Authority for subcommittee on Veterans Affairs and Senior Citizens to meet during Senate sitting, 3150
- Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 4517
- Authority to report, 1505
- Child care, "Sharing the Responsibility", final report of Special House of Commons Committee, authority to study, 896, 949
 - Federal response, authority to continue study, 2603, 2662, 3794
- Childhood poverty and adult social problems, authority to study relationship, 3349, 3406, 3439
- "Child at Risk" report findings, 3406
- Children on welfare and children of working poor, 3407
- Financial drain, 3409
- National disgrace, 3406
- Physical and mental health, 3407
- Poverty, definitions and concepts, 3440
- Research, 3409
 - Structurally unemployed, 3408
- Consultation Paper on Child and Elderly Benefits, authority to continue study, 138, 207, 3637, 3683

Social Affairs, Science and Technology, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd

Consultation Paper on Training and "Employment Opportunities: Preparing Canadians for a Better Future," authority to study, 74, 133

Membership, 117

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, 137

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar. 31/87, 263

See appendix p. 280

3rd, Unemployment Insurance, 1971, subject matter of Bill C-16, 390

See appendix p. 416

4th, Document Entitled: "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force)—Service to the Public—Veterans", authority to extend final reporting date, 783

5th, Food and Drugs bill S-6, 935

6th, budget to study document entitled: "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force)—Service to the Public—Veterans", 1241, 1322

See appendix p. 1261

7th, "Child Benefits: Proposal for a Guaranteed Family Supplement Scheme", tabled, 1554, 3358, 3405

Guaranteed family income supplement vs. "tax credit", 3359

8th, Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, with amds, 1890, 1913

9th, Consultation paper on training and document entitled "Employment Opportunities: Preparing Canadians for a Better Future", tabled, 2229, 2648

10th, Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-90, with recommendation, 2349

11th, Citizenship bill C-254, 2349

12th, Corporations and Labour Unions Returns bill C-91, 2653

13th, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3317, 3341, 3434, 3447

Cultivation of reindeer herd, 3435, 3436

Operations of Committee of Original Peoples Entitlement and its handling of money, 3435

14th, budget to incur special expenses to study "Sharing the Responsibility", 3384, 3441

See appendix p. 3415

15th, Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3653

16th, Tobacco Products Control bill C-51, 3751

17th, inquiry on report on film entitled "The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", 3791

See appendix p. 3857

18th, "Sharing the Responsibility", special House of Commons report on child care, tabled, 3918, 4051, 4464

Provincial concerns, 4051

Variable provincial standards, 4052

See appendix p. 3933

19th, National Housing and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation bill C-111, 3919

20th, Canada Labour Code bill C-124, 4017

21st, Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4017

22nd, Immigration, 1976 bill S-18, 4018

23rd, Indian Lands Agreement (1986) bill C-73, 4110

24th, Indian (death rules) bill C-150, 4257

25th, Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) bill C-123, with comments, 4349

Point of order, 4349

26th, Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse bill C-143, with comments, 4378

Social Affairs, Science and Technology, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd

Tobacco products control, subject matter of Bill C-51, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1876, 1886

Withdrawn, 3666

Unemployment insurance, 1971, subject matter of Bill C-16, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 139

Veterans Affairs

Document entitled "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force)—Service to the Public—Veterans", authority to study, 160, 207, 310

Extension of deadline for final reporting, 2882

Social justice, 129

Softwood lumber products export charge

American protectionism, 1077, 1096, 1101

Communication breakdown between industry and government, 1099, 1101

Damage limitation exercise, 1076

Export tax on lumber exports to U.S., 1076

GATT, 1097, 1101

Maritime exporters and remanufacturers unfairly caught, 1076

Memorandum of Understanding, 1076

Remanufacturing sector, 1099

Stumpage alternative, 1096, 1099

Speakers: Senators

Perrault, Raymond J., 1095

Roblin, Duff, 1075, 1100

Softwood Lumber Products Export Charge bill C-37, 1r, 1048; 2r, 1075, 1095; 3r, 1127; r.a., 1135

Solicitor General

Canadian Security Intelligence Service, request for confidential files from provinces, 4241, 4490

"Some of My Best Friends Didn't Look Like Me", inquiry, 3547, 3633

Speaker: Senator

Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 3633

Souris River, Saskatchewan

See Agriculture and Forestry Committee

Soviet Union

Motion on religious freedom, 4404, 4454, 4473

Sparrow, Hon. Herbert O.

Felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Science, 3615

Speaker of the Senate

Acting

Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C., 33

Bélisle, Hon. Rhéal, 1920, 1951, 1991, 2156, 2777, 3046, 3278, 3347

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, m to televise proceedings, 1927

Molgat, Hon. Gildas L., 1775

Patent bill C-22

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amds and for non-insistence on Senate amds, 1775

Ottenheimer, Gerald, 4016, 4221

Agriculture and Forestry Committee

Souris River, Saskatchewan, authority to study granting of federal licence, 4481

Speaker of the Senate—Cont'd

- Budget speech
 - Accommodation for senators in Senate Gallery of House of Commons, 2722
- Cameron, Hon. Donald, notice of resignation, 1884
- Constitution, motion to refer First Ministers' Accord and signed texts to Committee of the Whole, m in amdt, 1203
- Kohl, His Excellency Dr. Helmut, Chancellor of Federal Republic of Germany
 - Address to both houses, response, 3704
- Mitterrand, François, President of France, address to both houses, response, 1085
- National Finance Committee report
 - 4th, estimates 1986-87, supplementary (B), 368
- Pro tempore*
 - Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C., 61, 159, 210, 227, 242, 329, 389, 433, 484, 501, 511, 551, 746, 779, 844, 869, 890, 899, 1019, 1048, 1117, 1297, 1333, 1730, 1754, 1785, 1803, 1810, 1838, 1856, 1930, 1939, 1960, 1984, 2286, 2471, 2517, 2531, 2547, 2586, 2589, 3222, 3231, 3252, 3264, 3447, 3489, 3572, 3636, 3668, 3706, 3864, 4037, 4056, 4084, 4110, 4128, 4165, 4186, 4194, 4207, 4235, 4255, 4311, 4349, 4365, 4378, 4404, 4465
 - Bell, Hon. Ann Elizabeth, felicitations on return to chamber, 4420
 - Budget speech
 - Accommodation for senators in Commons Gallery, 551
 - Constitution, m to refer First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole, m in amdt, ruling, 1216
 - Giguère, Hon. Louis de G., words of farewell, 332
 - Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., words of farewell, 332
 - Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4210
 - Mitterrand, François, President of France, address to both houses, 1047
 - Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3592
 - Patent bill C-22
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amts and for non-insistence on Senate amts, m to refer to committee, 1786
 - Senate
 - Point of order, 872
 - Privilege, m to refer to committee, 894
 - Queen Beatrix, Her Majesty, Queen of The Netherlands, address to both houses
 - Response, 3346
 - Reagan, Ronald W., President of the United States, address to both houses
 - Response, 867
- Rulings
 - Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries
 - Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole, 470
 - Negatived, 471
 - Motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole, 491
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Binding dispute-settlement mechanism, findings of bi-national panel and trade commission, right of retaliatory action by injured party
 - Point of order, questions to be placed on order paper, 2055
 - Constitution Amendment, 1987
 - Message to Commons, proposed motion, 3221
 - Constitution, m to refer First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts to Committee of the Whole
 - Motion in amdt, 1211
 - Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, point of order, 1272

Speaker of the Senate—Cont'd

- Rulings—Cont'd
 - Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103
 - Motion to instruct committee to divide bill into two bills, 3586
 - Negatived on division, 3587
 - Radio bill C-3, 746, 790
 - Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1650
 - Special Committee on Bill C-22
 - 6th report, amds to bill, point of order, 1679
- Senate
 - Adjournment, motion in amdt
 - Question of privilege, 2152
 - Business, 1909
 - Debates, delay in production of, 2442
 - King, Harold A., Senate Postmaster, felicitations on retirement, 1505
 - Production at Printing Bureau, 1898
- Statements
 - Citizenship bill C-254, status, statement, 2233
 - Delay in production of committee proceedings, question of privilege, 608, 628
 - Delay in production of Debates and Minutes, question of privilege, 430
 - Thatcher, Right Honourable Margaret, Prime Minister of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, address to both houses
 - Response, 3784
 - Tributes on occasion of retirement of Senators Barrow and Le Moync
 - See appendix p. 1775
 - United States President, Ronald W. Reagan
 - Address to both houses, 1987, response, 867
 - See also Charbonneau, Hon. Guy
- Special Senate Committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act amdt)
 - Authority to engage services, 1461
 - Withdrawn, 1753
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 906
 - Availability of translation of report, 1336, 1348
 - Meeting, 878
 - Membership, 869
 - Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 936, 963
- Reports
 - 1st, 905
 - 2nd, public meetings held, 1245, 1638
 - See appendix p. 1264
 - 3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1358, 1630
 - Order withdrawn, 2102
 - "Pipeline drugs", 1635
 - Price statistics, 1635
 - See appendix p. 1375
 - 4th, authority to engage services and to travel, 1472, 1473, 1534
 - 5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1619
 - 6th, Patent amendment, 1987 bill C-22, with amds, observations, recommendations and recognition of dissenting opinion, 1640
 - Consideration, point of order, 1673
 - See appendix p. 1686
 - Referred back to committee, 1685
 - See appendix p. 1652
 - 7th, Patent amendment, 1987 bill C-22, with amended amds, 1704
 - Patented Medicines Prices Review Board, 1705, 1707, 1711
 - Fine chemical industry, 1713

Special Senate Committee to study subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act amendment)—Cont'd

Reports—Cont'd

- 7th, Patent amendment, 1987 bill C-22, with amended amtds—Cont'd
 - Interests of Quebec, 1706
 - Motion in amdt, negatived, 1715
 - Multinational corporations, 1709
 - Patent law, 1710
 - Pipeline drugs, 1708, 1713
 - Research, 1708
- Status of final report, 1246
- Status of second report, 1241

Spector, Dr. Norman, Secretary to the Cabinet for Federal-Provincial Relations

- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3058

Speech from the Throne at Opening of Second Session of Thirty-third Parliament, 3

- See Address in reply to Speech from the Throne

Spivak, Hon. Mira (Introduced in the Senate Nov. 25/86), 227

British Columbia

- Queen Charlotte Islands, suggested moratorium on Lyell Island logging activity, qu, 673, 960

Canada Grain bill C-112, 4145, 4189

- Terms of office for commissioners, 4146
- Time limits for pricing deferral, storage and payments, 4145

Canada Labour Code bill C-124, 3923

- Cape Breton coal mines, 3924
- Compliance to extent "practicable," 3924
- Occupational health and safety, 3923
- Worker inspectors, 3924

Child care, national policy, inquiry, 1315, 1457

- Canada Assistance Plan limitations, 1459
- Child Care Expense Deduction, 1459
- Improvement of parental leave and benefits, 1460
- Need for more services, 1458
- Non-profit vs. commercial, 1459
- Order withdrawn, 3931
- Parent involvement, 1459
- Quality, 1459

Constitution

- First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1324, 2804

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3186

- Equality gender rights, 3187

Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, 1046

Environment

- National Task Force on Environment and Economy, report, government action on recommendations, qu, 2076, 2245

Haddassah-Wizo, National Executive, visit, 844

Illiteracy in Canada, 881

- Diagnostic Centre for Children with Learning Disabilities, Winnipeg, 883

Failed education system, 882

Learning how to learn, 883

Role of teachers, 883

Valid standard for measurement of functional literacy, 882

Indian (death rules) bill C-150, 4226

- Correction of technical flaw in original amendments, 4226

Indian Lands Agreement (1986) bill C-73, 4091

- Economic development potential for reserve lands, 4092

Spivak, Hon. Mira—Cont'd

Indian Lands Agreement (1986) bill C-73—Cont'd

- Ontario lands surrendered to the Crown and underlying minerals, 4091

Manitoba, Chief of Jackhead Indian Reserve, visit, 1233

Railway Safety bill C-105, 3465, 4058

- Driving dangerously or while intoxicated not an applicable offense for the movement of railway equipment, 3466

Foisy report recommendations, 3468

Grade crossing improvements and grade separations, 3467

Need to modernize rules and regulations, 3466

- Separation of safety regulations from economic regulations and investigations, 3466

Reproductive Technology, need for Royal Commission, inquiry, 3547, 3680

- Consequences for our society, 3681

Fetal experimentation, 3681

In vitro* fertilization, 3680

Legal consequences, 3681

Medical, legal and social control of reproduction, 3681

Parenthood, an unalienable right?, 3681

Pregnancy reduction, 3680

- Unregulated growth in research and marketing of technology, 3680

Robertson, Heather, Canadian author and journalist, visit, 2064

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

- Report, 18th, Special House of Commons report entitled "Sharing the Responsibility", 4051

"Sharing the Responsibility", final report of Special House of Commons Committee, authority to study, 896, 949

- Federal response, authority to continue study, 2603

Tobacco Products Control bill C-51, 3588, 3661

Advertising provisions, 3661

Freedom of speech re advertising, 3590

Impact of marketing activities, 3588

Manufacturers' civil liability, 3590

Public awareness of hazards, 3589

Sidestream smoke, 3589

Sports and cultural activities sponsorships, 3589

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116, 2932, 2958

- Maternity benefits extension to allow postponement until baby released from hospital, 2932

- Maternity benefits for fathers if primary caregivers of newborn, 2932

Sport

- Canada Winter Games, Sydney, Nova Scotia, attendance of Prime Minister, 503

Definition of 'age of puberty', 57, 80

- Johnson, Ben, alleged mistreatment of World Champion Sprinter by Vancouver airport customs officials, government action, 1870

XXIV Olympiad, Ben Johnson, stripping of 100-metre sprint gold medal and disqualification, request for comprehensive investigation

- Availability of funds to eliminate drug abuse, 4486

Government action, 4504

Propriety of life suspension, 4523

- 1991 Canada Winter Games, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, government assistance, 4019

Stanbury, Hon. Richard J.

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4366

American omnibus trade law, 4366

Attitude of big business, 4367

Exchange rate, 4367

Stanbury, Hon. Richard J.—Cont'd

- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130—Cont'd
 - Expanding markets, 4368
 - Fear and subservience, 4367
 - GATT, 4367
 - Motivation of fear, 4370
 - Role of the Senate, 4370
 - Tariff reductions, 4367
- Canagrex Dissolution bill C-2, 1863
 - Need for coordinating agency, 1863
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, Committee of the Whole, 1546
- Criminal Code, Food and Drugs, Narcotic Control bill C-61, 3992
 - "Enterprise crime", 3993
 - Laundering of drug money, 3993
- Criminal Code (torture) bill C-28, 878
 - Conformity with United Nations convention, 878
 - Escape clause, 878
- Environment
 - Lead in gasoline, deadline for elimination of, qu, 4176, 4222
- External Affairs
 - Central America, lack of Canadian consular and immigration services, qu, 4222, 4526
- Godfrey, Hon. John Morrow, tribute on retirement, 1392
- Immigration, 1976 bill C-84
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdts and for non-insistence on Senate amdts, 2759
 - Role of the Senate, 2760
 - Turning around of ships, 2762
- Lobbyists Registration bill C-82, 4315
 - Administration difficulties, 4315
 - Ambiguities, 4316
 - Definition, 4316
- Patent Act
 - Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, qu, 2059
- Tax Court of Canada bill C-146, 4263
 - Costs, 4264
 - Division of tax jurisdiction, 4264
 - Procedure, 4264

Standing Rules and Orders, Standing Senate Committee

- Authority to re-examine Appendix III of Rules of the Senate, 714
- Membership, 117
- Reports
 - Oral reports
 - Accommodation in gallery re Committee of the Whole, Mar, 31/88, 2817
 - OASIS network, 168
 - 1st, change of rule re Official Languages Committee, 137, 174
 - 2nd, committee meetings' conformance with Rules of the Senate, 1472
 - 3rd, name change for Joint Committee on Regulations and other Statutory Instruments (Regulatory Scrutiny), 2603, 2646
 - 4th, amendment of rule 112 of Rules of the Senate, 2603, 2646
 - 5th, Voting procedures, 2825, 2848
 - 6th, Procedure re presentation of public petitions, 2826, 2849
 - 7th, seating in chamber for former senators, 2881, 2910, 3250
 - 8th, change of name of Regulations and Statutory Instruments Committee, message to Commons, 2881, 2911
 - 9th, printing of texts of postponed Orders of the Day, 3385, 3441
 - 10th, Rules of the Senate, amendment, 3509, 3578
 - 11th, flexibility of Rules of the Senate, 3510, 3579
 - 12th, minutes, committee meetings, 3758, 3805
 - 13th, committee reports on bills, 3758, 3806

Stanley Cup

- Congratulations to Edmonton Oilers on winning National Hockey League championship, 1140

Statistics Canada

- Census, public-use sample tape, restoration of funding for, effect on Canadian students of necessity to use U.S. data, 2077, 2232

Status of women

- Canadian job strategy, availability of funds, 1477, 1648

Statute law amendment proposal

- See Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Steuart, Hon. David G.

- Aboriginal peoples
 - Inuit of western Arctic land claims settlement, request for investigation of disbursement of funds, qu, 1643, 1872
- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 30
- Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
 - Dispute settlement mechanism, establishment of bi-national tribunal, adjudication of application of Canadian law, qu, 1945
- Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2006
- Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, tribute, 13
- Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee
 - 13th report, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3434
- Sparrow, Hon. Herbert O., felicitations on conferring of Honorary Doctorate of Science, 3615
- Special Committee on Bill C-22 report
 - 7th, Patent Act, 1987 with amended amdts
 - Motion in amdt, 1718
- Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, 3475
 - Negotiation and government involvement, 3475

Stewart, Hon. John B.

- Abortion
 - Borowski appeal to Supreme Court of Canada, government request for delay, government legislative action, qu, 4044
- Rights of the unborn
 - Introduction of legislation, opportunity for free vote, government position, qu, 3282
- Address in reply to Speech from the Throne, 128
- Agriculture
 - Special Grains Program, request for expediting of payments, qu, 1316, 1580
- Appropriation No.3, 1986-87 bill C-29, 341
 - Commission of inquiry, 342
 - Treasury Board contingency fund, 341
- Appropriation No.1, 1987-88 bill C-48, 766
- Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 767, 791
 - Abnormality, Special Canadian Grains Program, 791
- Appropriation No. 5, 1987-88 bill C-108, 2605
- Appropriation No. 6, 1987-88 bill C-119, 2965
- Arctic sovereignty
 - Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, relationship with, participation of territories, qu, 2324
- Borrowing Authority, 1986-87 (No.2) bill C-40, 708, 747
 - Procedural deviation, 709
 - "Temporary loans", 745
 - Timing, 708
- Borrowing Authority, 1988-89 bill C-109, 2848

Stewart, Hon. John B.—Cont'd

Cabinet

Conflict-of-interest inquiries, assumption of ministers' legal costs, qu, 607, 1338

Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries, 537, 721, 928

Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole

Speaker's ruling negated, 477

Progress of negotiations, qu, 1870

Canada Petroleum Resources bill C-5, 147

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Government's commitment to U.S. government, possibility of further legislative action, qu, 1902

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation bill C-130, 4416, 4447

Coastal Fisheries Protection bill C-26, 309, 344, 366

Gear restrictions on Canadian fishermen, 366

Japanese permit for east coast tuna fishery, 309

Constitution

Amendment provisions, future amendments, unanimity requirement, qu, 980

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Consideration by Nova Scotia legislature, qu, 1167

Priority of consideration by House of Commons, qu, 1166

First Ministers' Accord

Fisheries roles and responsibilities, jurisdiction over Atlantic provinces' fisheries, qu, 1122

Interpretation of text re agenda for First Ministers' conferences, qu, 1122, 1197

Recognition of Quebec as distinct society

Distribution of powers, qu, 978

Effect on property and civil rights, qu, 942

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3076, 3123, 3181

Ambiguity, 3125

Distinct society, legal implications, 3123

Distribution of powers, 3124

Federalism, 3128

Fisheries jurisdiction, 3127

Shared-cost programs, 3126

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts

Considered in Committee of the Whole, 1349, 1538, 2134, 2195, 2255, 2261, 2340, 2455, 2566, 2575, 2611, 2619, 2625, 2744, 2749, 2805, 2812, 2856, 3006, 3931

Motion for appointment of submissions group, 2595

Motion to refer to Committee of the Whole, 1181

Constitution, Meech Lake communiqué, agenda for Senate reform, 1045

Customs Tariff bill C-135 (code 9956), considered in Committee of the Whole, 3762

Emergencies bill

Government's intention re legislative action, qu, 1478, 1648

Emergencies bill C-77, 3258, 3318, 3426

Considered in Committee of the Whole, 3531, 3540, 3624, 3717, 3767

Delegation of authority of Parliament to Governor in Council, 3403

Motion in amdt, 3767

Emergency Preparedness bill C-76, 3065, 3068

Energy

Dome Petroleum-Amoco Canada transaction, availability of documents to government, qu, 1299, 1507

Environment

PCBs

Air transportation of waste, application of prohibition, qu, 4485

Location of transportable incinerators, qu, 4478

Stewart, Hon. John B.—Cont'd

External Affairs

Fiji, current political situation, qu, 1879, 1885

Fiji, current political situation, qu, 1052, 1506, 1881

Federal-provincial relations

Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 552

Government stance at Commonwealth Conference, consultations with Fijian community, qu, 1913

Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-Secondary Education and Health Contributions, 1977 bill C-44, 912

Calculation of standard, 913

Forgiveness of overpayment, 913

Per capita deficiencies, 914

Fisheries

Canada-France agreement, fish allocations

Representation at federal-provincial consultations, 507

Status of 1972 treaty, rights of French vessels in Gulf of St. Lawrence, 464

Foreign Affairs Committee

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3814

Report, 16th, International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, with amdts, comments and recommendation, 4540, 4557

Government

Legislative provision for expenditures, qu, 3657, 4085

Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, 4194

Area included in amendment, 4195

Aulds Cove, 4195

Motion to instruct committee to divide bill into two bills, 3570, 3605

Health

Tainted mussels, date of availability of evidence and date of warning, qu, 2355, 2492

Immigration

Ministerial discretion, alleged abuse, qu, 196, 393

Judiciary

Report of Commission on Judges' Salaries and Benefits, government action, qu, 607

Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986 bill C-24, 223

Use of legislative authority, 223

Ministry

Role of Deputy Prime Minister, qu, 143, 265

National Film Board

"The Kid Who Couldn't Miss", referral of report back to committee, 1115

National Finance Committee

9th report, Appropriation No.2, 1987-88 bill C-49, 781

National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1702

Patent bill C-22

Action of Senate, attitude of Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggested free conference, constitutional responsibility of Senate, qu, 2061

Motion to explore possibility of free conference, 2181

Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, 1832

Patent bill S-15, 3642

Patent Extension (Aspartame) bill C-259, 1408

Pharmaceutical industry

Drug price increases, date of restriction of, qu, 2535, 2656

Post-secondary education

Federal government scholarships, allocation of funds, qu, 2977

Availability in 1988-89, method of selection, qu, 3205

Stewart, Hon. John B.—Cont'dPost-secondary education—*Cont'd*Federal government scholarships, allocation of funds—Cont'd

Further answer, 3425

Request for answer, 3386

Government action or policy, qu, 4241, 4488

Request for answer, 4466

National forum, request for conclusions, qu, 2077, 2231

Proposed national forum, government position, qu, 77

Current status, qu, 359, 452

Request for progress report, 1092, 1506

Provincial education, government initiatives, qu, 2723

Prince Edward Island

Proposed fixed crossing to mainland

Availability of studies, general design or concept, qu, 2165, 2242, 2292

Invitations to tender for construction, 2242, 2359

Submission of proposals, qu, 2320

Submission of proposals, names of companies or consortia, financial arrangements, nature of proposals, qu, 3672, 3888

Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1289

Research and development

Bedford Institute of Oceanography, closing of Marine Ecology Laboratory, government policy and actions, 859

Senate

Adjournment, 896

Motion in amdt, point of order, 2153

Committee proceedings, availability, qu, 1701

Question Period

Request for answers, 2493

Senate and House of Commons bill C-83, 3438

Senate reform

Principle of equality of provincial representation, qu, 3330

Standing Rules and Orders Committee report

13th, committee reports on bills, 3809

Transport

Northumberland Strait, public hearings on impact on fisheries of proposed fixed crossing, qu, 4261

Environmental study, qu, 4381, 4406

Trans-Canada Highway, upgrading in Nova Scotia, government commitment, qu, 4222

Transport and Communications Committee reports

8th and 9th, National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18 and Motor Vehicle Transport bill C-19, with amds, 1663

11th, Railway Safety bill C-105, with amdt, 4048

Stollery, Hon. Peter A.

Arctic sovereignty

Canadian claim, negotiations, participation of territories, qu, 2303

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Binding dispute-settlement mechanism

Establishment of terms of reference for arbitration procedure, qu, 1943

Right of retaliatory action by injured party, qu, 1894

Definition of non-tariff barriers, qu, 1892

Duty-free importation of U.S. manufactured products, qu, 1896, 1912

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord

Date of signing, qu, 1093

Suggested committee study, qu, 1092

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2142, 2196, 2201, 2334

Stollery, Hon. Peter A.—Cont'd

Fisheries

Mussel industry, government assistance, qu, 2304

Immigration bill C-84, 1815

Immigrants or refugees, 1816

Industry

General Motors, interest free-loan

Effect on free trade negotiations, targeted subsidies, request for information on government policy, 814

Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee report

30th, Task Force on Meech Lake Constitutional Accord and Yukon and Northwest Territories budget, 1860

National Capital Commission

Incidence of accidents on mixed-use pathways in Ottawa, qu, 1845

Railway bill C-4, 305

Senate

Filling of vacancies, role of provinces and territories, qu, 2209

Senate reform

Process to be adopted, public representation and meetings, qu, 3331

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 (Patent Act)

Motion to permit coverage of committee hearings by electronic media, 937

Sunahara, M. Ann, Legal Counsel, National Association of Japanese Canadians

Emergencies bill C-77, considered in Committee of the Whole, 3716

Supreme Court (bill C-53)

Authority to assign counsel to unrepresented accused, 2080

Discretion to deliver judgment by deposit, 2080

Leave to appeal without oral hearings, 2080

Number and complexity of cases, 2099

Time limits for appeal, 2081

Speakers: Senators

Frith, Royce, 2099

Nurgitz, Nathan, 2080

Supreme Court bill C-53. 1r, 2068; 2r, 2080, 2098; ref to com, 2099; rep without amdt, 2207; 3r, 2225; r.a., 2228Supreme Court of Canada

Appointment of justice, provisions of Meech Lake Accord, 3473

Appointment of replacement for the late Mr. Justice Chouinard, 564

Sydney Steel Corporation, future of plant, 248*See* IndustryTax Court of Canada

Costs, 4264

Division of jurisdiction, 4264

New jurisdiction of Tax Court, 4243

Simplification of appeal system, 4242

Two procedures, 4243, 4264

Speakers: Senators

Kelly, William M., 4242

Stanbury, Richard J., 4264

Tax Court of Canada bill C-146. 1r, 4211; 2r, 4242, 4263; ref to com, 4264; rep without amdt, 4404; 3r, 4439; r.a., 4482Tax Reform

Consultation process, government policy, 119

Reporting of costs of consultants for tax purposes, 1298

Tax Reform—Cont'd

White paper

Twenty consultants, female representation, 1298, 1315, 1339, 1476, 1630

Government leader's answer to question, right of senators to ask questions, 1300

Names and gender, request for tabling, 1301, 1339, 1476

White Paper and related documents, 1314

See also Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee

Telelobe Canada

Reorganization and divestiture, apparent leak re Memotec bid, request for answers, 831, 851

Telelobe Canada reorganization and divestiture

CRTC consumer protection, 820

Marshall, Paul, President of CIDC, 821

Memotec Data Incorporated, 820

Pension plan, 820

Privatization, 820

Winding-down prohibition, 820

See appendix p. 804

Speakers: Senators

Asselin, Martial, 819

Godfrey, John M., 821

Telelobe Canada Reorganization and Divestiture bill C-38. 1r, 779; 2r, 819; 3r, 822; r.a., 827

Territorial lands

Forest and fire management program transfer, 770

Political evolution of N.W.T., 769

Speakers: Senators

Adams, Willie, 771

Barootes, Efsthathios W., 769

Territorial Lands bill C-43. 1r, 759; 2r, 769; 3r, 772; r.a., 776

Terrorism

Internationally protected persons, federal-provincial jurisdictional agreements, 452

Motion for appointment of Special Senate Committee, 14, 52, 59

See also International terrorism

Terrorism and Public Safety, Special Senate Committee

Authority to extend date of final report, 996

Authority to publish and distribute report during adjournment, 1337

Authority to revise and table French version of report at later date, 1660

Deadline for presentation of final report, 1433

Membership, 117

Report

1st, application for budget authorization for year ending Mar.31/87, 269

See appendix p. 283

Thatcher, Right Honourable Margaret, Prime Minister of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland

Address to both houses, 3751

See appendix p. 3779

"The Kid Who Couldn't Miss"

See National Film Board

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

Thériault, Hon. Norbert L.

Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C., felicitations on election as President of l'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, 2517

Thériault, Hon. Norbert L.—Cont'd

Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency

Minister's statement, 1172

Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee report

23rd, Copyright bill C-60, with amlds, 3270

Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, tribute, 2756

Canada Child Care bill C-144, 4496

Canada Assistance Plan, 4497

National standards, 4496

People in poverty, 4497

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Government information program, propriety, cessation on dissolution of Parliament, qu, 4351

Propriety and cost, qu, 4355

Constitution

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2129, 2251

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1275

Energy

New Brunswick, addition to Lepreau nuclear power plant, qu, 1896

Federal-provincial relations

Constitutional accord, problems of shared jurisdiction, 553

Equalization payments to Atlantic provinces, government policy, qu, 294

Fisheries Improvement Loans bill C-32, 349

Pittance budget, 349

Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4475

Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, tribute on retirement, 2756

National Transportation, 1987, bill C-18, 1319

Official languages

Status of French in Alberta and in provincial legislatures, qu, 2229, 2358

Parliament

Legislative role of Senate, qu, 4352

Patent bill C-22, 1000, 1033, 1400, 1735

Greed on a massive scale, 1403

Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amlds and for non-insistence on Senate amlds, m to refer to committee, 1793

Multinational drug companies, 1401

Price controls, 1406

Research and development, 1402

Patent bill S-15, 3450

Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former

Prisoners of War bill C-100, 2395

Pharmaceutical industry

Drug price increases, compensation to provinces, qu, 2537, 2656

Drug Prices Review Board, rollback of prices, government action, qu, 2534, 2656

Prescription drug prices

Effect of proposed Patent Act amendment, presentation of petitions, 901, 934, 1024, 1334

Radio bill C-3, 704

Implications for New Brunswick, 705

Railway bill C-4, 304

Tax increase, 305

Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2877

Senate

Adjournment, m in amdt, 2152

Status of government leader, Senate reform, qu, 4353

Special Senate Committee on subject matter of bill C-22 reports

3rd, evidence gathered at public hearings, 1638

5th, resolution to report bill Aug. 10/87, 1620

Thériault, Hon. Norbert L.—Cont'd

Tobacco Products Control bill C-51, 3591

Trans-Canada highway

Reconstruction, allocation of federal funds to New Brunswick, qu, 4467

Transport

Air, repair checks of aircraft by airlines, qu, 3282

Atlantic Marine and CN Marine Board of Directors, lack of francophone members, qu, 435, 908

CN shops, Moncton, closing, qu, 21, 35, 121, 164

Present situation, qu, 295

Request for action, 526

Moratorium on abandonment of railways lines, authority for proposal, relationship to next election, qu, 4351

Trans-Canada Highway, rebuilding in New Brunswick, comments of Minister for International Trade, qu, 4221

Thompson, Hon. Andrew E.Environment

Radioactive waste, disposal, qu, 19

Tibet

Dalai Lama's five-point peace plan, government position, 3656, 4111

New initiative, 3712, 4111

Request for answer, 4084

Tobacco products control

Advertising provisions, 3661

Canadian Teachers' Federation views re influence on young, 3590

Freedom of speech re advertising, 3590

Impact of marketing activities, 3588

Manufacturers' civil liability, 3590

Parliamentary intervention to restrict individual freedoms, 3661

Public awareness of hazards, 3589

Sidestream smoke, 3589

Sports and cultural activities sponsorships, 3589

Speakers: Senators

Flynn, Jacques, 3661

Hicks, Henry D., 3590

Spivak, Mira, 3588, 3661

Tobacco Products Control bill C-51. 1r, 3547; 2r, 3588, 3661; ref to com, 3662; rep without amdt, 3751; 3r, 3764; r.a., 3778

Trade

GATT ruling, impact on B.C. fisheries, 2208

Imbalance between Canada and U.S.S.R., government policy, 193, 240, 1984, 2245

United States Export Enhancement Program, suggested Canada-U.S.S.R comprehensive trade agreement, 2055

Trade propaganda, nature of, inquiry, 3583, 3678

Speaker: Senator

Gigantès, Philippe Deane, 3678

Trans-Canada Highway

Reconstruction, allocation of federal funds to New Brunswick, 4467

Transport

Air, repair checks of aircraft by airlines, 3282

Air traffic control service, transfer from Ottawa to Gatineau, 1661, 1873

Atlantic Marine and CN Marine Board of Directors, lack of francophone members, 435, 908

Canadian airports, firefighting facilities, government action, 762, 961

Transport—Cont'd

Canadian National Railways, restoration of Sorel-Nicolet branch line, 2230, 2723

CN freight rates, increase, 295

Disallowance, 393, 428

CN maintenance shops, Melville, Saskatchewan, proposed layoffs, 1121, 1125, 1176

CN shops, Moncton, closing, 21, 35, 121, 164

Plight of New Brunswick, request for action, 811

Present situation, 295

Request for action, 526

Establishment of Canadian merchant marine, 4380

Free trade negotiations, budget for government publicity, 1121

Grain Transportation Agency recommendations, government policy, 427, 531

Hotel construction adjacent to major airports, government policy, 436

Montreal-Sudbury railway service, possible abandonment, government policy, 1052, 1338

Moratorium on abandonment of railway lines, authority for proposal, relationship to next election, 4351

Municipal airports, funding, government policy, 435, 585

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, establishment of permanent link, environmental impact, 1845, 1954

Northumberland Strait

Proposed fixed crossing, number and nature of proposals, announcement by Prime Minister, 4262

Public hearings on impact on fisheries of proposed fixed crossing, 4261

Environmental study, 4381, 4406, 4407

Port of Churchill, Manitoba

And port of Thunder Bay, Ontario, request for additional grain cars, 1937, 2357

Grain shipment through, 4176, 4213, 4224, 4263

Maintenance and use of facilities, 3988, 4224

Maintenance of facilities and transportation of grain to port, 245, 300, 1844, 1881

Premium earned by Canadian Wheat Board on sales of grain, 1937

Prince Edward Island

CN rail system, status of, prospective federal-provincial agreement, 3711, 3990

Consultations on design of ferry, relocation of terminal, 3584, 3920, 4132

Highway construction, government funding, 3657

Lighthouses, 983

Proposed tunnel or causeway to mainland, 58, 194, 236, 1787, 1874

Feasibility study, 296, 361

Retention of dredges, 4380

Prince Edward Island-Nova Scotia ferry, government policy, 194

Regina International Airport, construction of hotel, local consultation, 436, 558

Smoking prohibition on commercial flights, 339, 394

Task Force on Alcohol and Drug Use in Railway Industry, scope of confidential survey, 2124

Trans-Canada Highway

Rebuilding in New Brunswick, comments of Minister for International Trade, 4221

Upgrading in Nova Scotia, government commitment, 4222

Transport Route Canada Inc.

OHIP coverage for employees, 4457

Payment of employer contributions, 4380

Winnipeg International Airport, public parking, 1215, 1580

Transport and Communications, Standing Senate Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3864

Transport and Communications, Standing Senate Committee—Cont'd

Membership, 61

Motor vehicle transport by extra-provincial undertakings, subject matter of Bill C-19, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246

National transportation, subject matter of Bill C-18, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1246

Radio Act, subject matter of Bill C-3, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118

Railway Act, subject matter of Bill C-4, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 118

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 159

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, Railway Act, subject matter of Bill C-4, tabled, 290

See appendix p. 313

3rd, Radio Act, subject matter of Bill C-3, 551

4th, Canada Shipping bill C-39, with comments, 736

See appendix p. 754

5th, shipping conferences exemption, subject matter of Bill C-21, tabled, 1336

See appendix p. 1363

6th, shipping conferences exemption, subject matter of Bill C-21, tabled, 1505

7th, date of reporting Bill C-18 and C-19, 1627

8th, National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, with amds, 1640, 1662

9th, Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987, with amds, 1641, 1662

Annual report proposal, 1667

Availability of printed evidence, 1664

Carriage business in market situation, 1665

Commodity shippers' support, 1665

Deregulation impact on U.S. transportation industry, 1668

Impact of deregulation on air transport safety, 1665

Iron Ore Company of Canada, correspondence, quote, 1667

Job dislocation, 1671

National Safety Code for Motor Carriers effective date, 1671

Policing, 1670

Truck maintenance, 1670

10th, National Transportation, 1987 bill C-131, 3793

11th, Railway Safety bill C-105, with amdt, 3885, 4048

Annual medical examination, 4007, 4049

Canadian Medical Association objections, 4049

12th, Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, with comments, 4378

13th, Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4456

Shipping conferences exemption, subject matter of Bill C-21, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 264

Tremblay, Hon. Arthur

Asselin, Hon. Martial, P.C., felicitations on election as President of l'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, 2517

Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries

Motion for reference to Committee of the Whole

Speaker's ruling negated, 480

Chouinard, Mr. Justice Julien, the late, tribute, 463

Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3179

Amending formula, 3180

Spending powers, 3182

Two visions of Canada, 3184

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2001, 3018

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1237

Tremblay, Hon. Arthur—Cont'd

Constitutional Accord, 1987, Special Joint Committee

Extension of deadline for reporting, 1803

Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-secondary Education and Health Contributions, 1977 bill C-44, 910, 916

Adjustments following 1986 census, 911

Evaluation of equalization system, 911

Financial stabilization program, 911

Principles, 910

Protection of government from rapid growth, 911

Protection of provinces from rapid drop, 911

Provisions, 911

Immigration

Bills C-55 and C-86, anticipated date of committee report, qu, 2930

International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development bill C-147, 4419

Objectives, 4419

Lévesque, Hon. René, the late, tribute, 2117

Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, tribute, 4207

Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3765

Official Languages bill C-72, 4137

Pension, War Veterans Allowance and Compensation for Former Prisoners of War bill C-100, 2392, 2396

Administrative changes, 2393

Answers to questions asked on second reading, 2493

Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, tribute, 2878

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 4517

Authority to report, 1505

Child care, "Sharing the Responsibility" report of Special House of Commons Committee and federal response, authority to continue study, 2662

Consultation Paper on Child and Elderly Benefits, authority to continue study, 138, 207, 3637, 3683

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 137

3rd, Unemployment Insurance, 1971, subject matter of Bill C-16, tabled, 390

See appendix p. 416

4th, document entitled: "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force)—Service to the Public—Veterans", authority to extend date for final reporting, 783

5th, Food and Drugs bill S-6, without amdt, 935

6th, budget to study document entitled: "A Study Team Report to the Task Force on Program Review (Nielsen Task Force)—Service to the Public—Veterans", 1241, 1322

See appendix p. 1261

7th, "Child benefits—Proposal for a Guaranteed Family Supplement Scheme", 3358, 3406

8th, Citizenship (foreign spouses) bill S-8, with amds, 1890

9th, Consultation paper on training and document entitled "Employment Opportunities: Preparing Canadians for a Better Future", tabled, 2229

12th, Corporations and Labour Unions Returns bill C-91, 2653

13th, Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102, with amdt, 3317, 3341, 3436, 3450

14th, budget to study "Sharing the Responsibility", 3384, 3441

See appendix p. 3415

15th, Non-Smokers' Health bill C-204, 3653

16th, Tobacco Products Control bill C-51, 3751

23rd, Indian Lands Agreement bill C-73, 4110

24th, Indian (death rules) bill C-150, 4257

Tremblay, Hon. Arthur—Cont'd

Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee—Cont'd

Reports—Cont'd

25th, Indian (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share) bill C-123, with comments, 4349

26th, Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse bill C-143, with comments, 4378

Tobacco products control, subject matter of Bill C-51, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 1876, 1886

Withdrawn, 3666

Tobacco Products Control bill C-51, 3764

Tributes on receipt of Edouard-Montpetit Medal, text of addresses at ceremony printed as appendix, 2818

See appendices p. 2820, 2873

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-16, 406

Extension of status quo, 406

Veterans Affairs, change in name of subcommittee, inquiry withdrawn, 3524

Tributes

Abbott, Hon. Douglas Charles, P.C., the late, 628, 665

Barrow, Hon. A. Irvine, retirement, 2753

See appendix p. 2775

Barrow, Rt. Hon. Errol Walton, the late Prime Minister of Barbados, 1162

Battle of Vimy Ridge, 70th anniversary, 869

Bell, Hon. Richard A., P.C., Q.C., the late, 2879

Buckwold, Hon. Sidney L., retirement as Honorary Colonel of North Saskatchewan Regiment, 3348

Calgary, success of XV Olympic Winter Games, 2777

Cameron, Hon. Donald, resignation from Senate, 1885, 1887

Chouinard, Mr. Justice Julien, the late, 463

Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, 11

Croll, Hon. David A., 50th anniversary of General Motors strike, 844

Deschatelets, Hon. Jean-Paul, P.C., the late, 285

Drouin, Hon. Mark Robert, P.C., the late, former Speaker of the Senate, 1140

Dunton, Davidson, the late, 484

Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague, retirement, 329

Godfrey, Hon. John Morrow, retirement, 1391

Gordon, Hon. Walter Lockhart, P.C., the late, 697

Grafstein, Hon. Jerahmiel S., publication of Senate speech in U.S. Congressional Record, 1697

Grant, George Parkin, the late, Canadian scholar, 4502

Hansen, Rick, "Man in Motion", completion of world tour, 1048

Hayden, Hon. Salter A., the late, 417

Jalbert, René, C.V., C.D., act of heroism, 1026

Jamieson, Hon. Donald Campbell, P.C., the late, 227

Lafond, Hon. Paul C., D.F.C., the late, 3504

Langlois, Hon. Léopold, retirement, 4537

Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., retirement, 329

Leclerc, Félix, the late, Quebec poet and musician, 4170

Lemire, Francine, Gold Medal at World Winter Games for the Disabled, 2586

Le Moyne, Hon. Jean, retirement, 2753

See appendix p. 2776

Lévesque, Hon. René, the late, former Premier of Quebec, 2117

MacDonald, Hon. John Joseph, the late, 11, 122

MacEachen, Hon. Allan J., P.C., 34th anniversary of election to Parliament, 1640

MacNeil, John Forbes, Q.C., the late, former Clerk of the Senate and Clerk of the Parliaments, 4165

Macquarrie, Hon. Heath, 30th anniversary of election to House of Commons, 1211

Marchand, Hon. Jean, P.C., the late, 4207

Tributes—Cont'd

McGrand, Hon. Fred A., the late, 4255

Resignation, 2601

McIntosh, Hon. Cameron Irwin, the late, former Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan, 4491

Muir, Hon. Robert, 30th anniversary of election to House of Commons, 1211

Newfoundland veterans, 45th anniversary of Murmansk convoys, tribute from Russian Ambassador, 2824

Olson, Hon. H.A., P.C., 30th anniversary of election to House of Commons, 1211

Phillips, Hon. Lazarus, the late, 417

Phillips, Hon. Orville H., 30th anniversary of election to House of Commons, 1211

Rousseau, Hon. Yvette, the late, 2876

Rowe, Hon. Frederick W., retirement, 1838

Tremblay, Hon. Arthur, Edouard-Montpetit Medal, 2818

See appendices p. 2820, 2873

Walker, Hon. David, P.C., 30th anniversary of election to House of Commons, 1211

Welch, Hon. Frank C., the late, 11

Yuzyk, Hon. Paul, the late, 33, 253

Trudeau, Rt. Hon. Pierre Elliott, former Prime Minister of Canada

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2982

Turks and Caicos Islands

Trade association with Canada, suggested joint committee study, 704

Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, inquiry, 563, 613, 639

Airports, 614

Climate, 614

Good-will, 614

Motion for association with Canada, 614

Referred to Foreign Affairs Committee, 642

Social and economic opportunity, 616

Unique challenge, 642

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 613

Macquarrie, Heath, 639

See also Foreign Affairs Committee

Turner, Hon. Charles

Canada Post Corporation

Postal strike, appointment of mediator, qu, 1479, 1648

Purpose of creation, qu, 4350

Canadian National Railways

London, Ontario layoffs

Effect on and possible transfer of supervisory positions, qu, 2125

Job guarantees, qu, 2124, 2232

Job security and retraining program, status and application, qu, 2125

Possible delay of implementation, consultations with City Council and union, qu, 2125

Toronto cost-of-living compensation, qu, 2125

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 1996

External Affairs

Canadian passports, applications for, revision of regulation re guarantors, qu, 4130

Request for answer, 4383

Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4244

Early development and design, 4244

Turner, Hon. Charles—Cont'd

- Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205—Cont'd
 - Preservation movement, 4246
 - Ref back to com, 4407
 - Role in Canadian development, 4245
 - Station statistics, 4245
- Maintenance of Railway Operations, 1987 bill C-85, 1761, 1765, 1769
 - Caboose issue, 1761
 - Guidelines for arbitrators, 1762
- Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, 1481
 - Amending clause, 1483
 - Deregulation and highway safety, 1483
 - "Fit, willing and able", 1481
 - Highway improvement funding, 1482
 - Impact on Canadian trucking, 1481
 - National Safety Code, 1483
 - Reverse-onus test, 1481, 1483
 - Transborder traffic with U.S., 1482
- National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18, 1436
 - Confidential contract, 1437
 - Employment protection in airline industry, 1439
 - Foreign takeovers, 1437
 - National Transportation Agency replacing C.T.C., 1437
 - Safeguards from regional service deductions, 1438
 - Safeguards from safety standards reductions, 1438
 - Transport 2000 Canada, 1439
- Pharmaceutical industry
 - Multinational and U.S. drug companies, activities in United States, 2537
 - Relationship between PMAC and United States pharmaceutical manufacturers, qu, 2537
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1967, 1978
 - Labour relations, 1967
 - Public opinion, 1979
 - Strike-breaking, 1979
- Prince Rupert Grain Handling Operations bill C-106, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2526
 - Technological change and job security, role of government, 2526
- Railway safety
 - Bill C-105, request for draft regulations, qu, 3493
- Railway Safety bill C-105, 3520, 3552
 - Alcohol abuse, 3552, 3558
 - Confidential relationship with private physician, 3554
 - Criminal Code amendments, 3557
 - Deregulation, 3522
 - Grade separation crossings, safety devices, 3557
 - Legality and propriety of clause 46, 3555
 - Mandatory Rest Regulation, 3552
 - Medical standards, 3553
 - Monetary fines and imprisonment, 3555
 - Notice to employees of orders issued by safety inspector, 3553
 - Power vested in Canadian Transport Commission and Minister of Transport, 3523
 - Rights to hearing and due process, 3554
 - Safety not to be correlated with economics, 3522
 - Safety tradition, 3521
 - Self-regulation by railway companies, history of, 3559
- Transport
 - Task Force on Alcohol and Drug Use in Railway Industry, scope of confidential survey, qu, 2124
 - Transport Route Canada Inc.
 - OHIP coverage for employees, qu, 4457
 - Payment of employer contributions, qu, 4380
- Transport and Communications Committee
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3864

Turner, Hon. Charles—Cont'd

- Transport and Communications Committee—Cont'd
 - Reports
 - 10th, National Transportation, 1987 bill C-131, 3793
 - 11th, Railway Safety bill C-105, with amdt, 3885
 - 12th, Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, with comments, 4378
 - 13th, Heritage Railway Station Protection bill C-205, 4456

Ukraine

- Millennium of Christianity, 3706

Ukraine, millennium of Christianization, inquiry, 4078, 4217

- Legalization of Ukrainian Orthodox and Catholic Churches, 4219
- Religious significance and political impact, 4217
- U.S.S.R. policies, 4216

Speaker: Senator

- Haidasz, Stanley, 4217

Unemployment insurance (Bill C-16)

- Annualization and Forget report, 407
- Extension of status quo, 406

Speakers: Senators

- Corbin, Eymard, G., 408
- Rousseau, Yvette, 407
- Tremblay, Arthur, 406

See also Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-16. 1r, 406; 2r, 406; 3r, 408; r.a., 415Unemployment insurance (Bill C-90)

- Forget Commission, 2305
- Need for permanent variable entry provision, 2305

Speakers: Senators

- Bazin, Jean, 2293
- Corbin, Eymard G., 2305, 2382

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-90. 1r, 2229; 2r, 2293, 2305; ref to com, 2306; rep with recommendation, 2349; 3r, 2382; r.a., 2510Unemployment insurance (Bill C-116)

- Maternity benefits extension to permit postponement until baby released from hospital, 2932
- Maternity benefits for fathers if primary caregivers for newborn, 2932

Speakers: Senators

- Marsden, Lorna, 2957
- Spivak, Mira, 2932, 2958

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-116. 1r, 2930; 2r, 2932, 2957; ref to Committee of the Whole, 2958; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Hon. Benoît Bouchard, Minister of Employment and Immigration taking part in the debate, 2963; rep without amdt, 2964; 3r, 2964; r.a., 2969Unemployment insurance (Bill C-158)

- Entrenchment, 4543
- Variable entrance requirement extension, 4529, 4543

Speakers: Senators

- Doody, C. William, 4529, 4543
- Frith, Royce, 4542
- and

- Hawkes, Jim, Parliamentary Secretary to the Deputy Prime Minister, 4543

Unemployment Insurance, 1971 bill C-158. 1r, 4522; 2r, 4529, 4542; ref to Committee of the Whole, 4543; considered in Committee of the Whole, Hon. Rhéal Bélisle in the Chair, Mr. Jim Hawkes, Parliamentary Secretary to the Deputy Prime Minister taking part in the debate, 4543; rep without amdt, 4546; 3r, 4557; r.a., 4562

Unemployment insurance benefit entitlement adjustments

Distinction between permanent retirement and career change, 1251
Pension and severance payments income for purposes of UI benefits, 1249

Qualifying or benefit period extension re separation payments, 1220, 1252

Retroactive regulatory changes, 1219

Speakers: Senators

Marsden, Lorna, 1249

Robertson, Brenda M., 1219, 1252

Unemployment Insurance Benefit Entitlement Adjustments (Pension Payments) bill C-50. 1r, 1212; 2r, 1219, 1249; 3r, 1280; r.a., 1416

Unemployment Insurance, Commission of Inquiry Report, inquiry, 1168

United Grain Growers, 255

United Kingdom

Select Committee on televising House of Commons' proceedings, visit, 4458

United Nations, 123

Iran-Iraq border peacekeeping contingent

Request for answers to further questions, 4312

Return of some Canadian members, 4525

Sharing of cost, 4187, 4241

United States

See Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement
Canada-United States relations

University Women's Club of Ottawa, visit, 830

U.S.S.R.

See Visitors

van Roggen, Hon. George

British Columbia

South Moresby, establishment of national park, qu, 1248

Canada-France fisheries and boundaries agreement, 492, 495, 545, 656

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement

Concerns of members of government, government leader's position, 2075

Repercussion on Canada of possible U.S. trade legislation, qu, 1892

Canada-United States relations

Bilateral trade, export of Canadian raw cedar logs restriction, qu, 436, 569

Canadian potash

Imposition of U.S. tariff, government action, qu, 700

Introduction of legislation by Government of Saskatchewan, consultations with federal government, federal government representations in United States, qu, 1780

Constitution

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Venue for consideration by Parliament, qu, 1166

First Ministers' Accord, discussion by Parliament of proposal on Senate reform, 1698

van Roggen, Hon. George—Cont'd

Constitutional Accord, 1987

Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1239

Economic Summit, 1988

Re-energizing of debt strategy, possible Canadian proposals, interpretation of delayed answer, request for more specific answer, 3421, 3618

Energy

Heavy oils, construction of upgrader at Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, government funding, qu, 3329

Energy and Natural Resources Committee

Authority to engage services, 75

Fisheries

Canada-France relations, referral of dispute to International Court of Justice, qu, 3098, 3232

Foreign Affairs Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 564, 620, 697, 785, 849, 977, 1890, 2119, 2160, 2229

Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement implementation, subject matter of Bill C-130, authority to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3609

International financial system and institutions, Canada's participation, authority to continue study, 138

Authority to extend final report presentation date, 695

Meeting, 906

Cancellation, 3508

Reports

1st, expenses incurred during First Session, Thirty-third Parliament, tabled, 137

See Journals of the Senate

2nd, Canada's participation in international financial system and institutions, 290

See appendix p. 311

3rd, study of international financial system and institutions, authority to extend date of reporting, 695

5th, International financial system and institutions, tabled, 1019

6th, Estimates, 1987-88, re External Affairs and National Defence 1087

7th, budget to study External Affairs and National Defence estimates, 1241, 1289

See appendix p. 1257

8th, budget to study union of Turks and Caicos Islands with Canada, 1241, 1289

See appendix p. 1259

9th, forgiveness of certain official development assistance debts, subject matter of Bill C-62, tabled, 1393

See appendix p. 1418

10th, Bretton Woods and Related Agreements bill C-68, 1898

See appendix p. 1910

11th, Turks and Caicos Islands, union or association with Canada, 2240

See appendix p. 2270

13th, Elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, extension of deadline for presentation of report, 2954

14th, Study of elements of Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement and agreed texts, 3278

See appendix p. 3288

15th, authority to travel outside Canada to study Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement, 3278

Forgiveness of Certain Official Development Assistance Debts bill S-9, 1050

Giguère, Hon. Louis de Gonzague, tribute, 331

van Roggen, Hon. George—Cont'd

Grafstein, Hon. Jerahmiel S.

Tribute on publication of Senate speech in U.S. Congressional Record, 1697

Immigration

Ministerial discretion, alleged abuse, 195

Industry

Aerospace, awarding of CF-18 service contract to Canadair

Possible undertaking to Bombardier, qu, 143

Technology transfer, qu, 141

Free trade agreements including targeted subsidies, qu, 815, 909, 962

General Motors, interest-free loan

Effect on free trade negotiations, targeted subsidies, request for information on government policy, qu, 812, 909

International finance

Cancellation of debts, 568

Lapointe, Hon. Renaude, P.C., tribute, 331

Maintenance of Ports Operations, 1986, bill C-24, 219

Make-up of commission, 219

Penalty provision imbalance, 219

Port facilities extension, 220

National Transportation, 1987, bill C-18, 1319

Prince Edward Island

Proposed fixed crossing to mainland

Relationship of announcement to federal election, qu, 2166

Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei bill S-7, 1289

Senate

Adjournment, 190

Business, 3670

Shipbuilding

Class 8 icebreaker, announcement of construction in Vancouver shipyards, qu, 557

Special Committee on subject matter of Bill C-22 reports

4th, authority to engage services and to travel, 1474

6th, amendments to bill, 1676, 1781

Tax reform

White paper

Twenty consultants, names and gender, request for tabling, qu, 1301, 1339

Transport and Communications Committee reports

8th and 9th, National Transportation, 1987 bill C-18 and Motor Vehicle Transport, 1987 bill C-19, with amds, 1673

Yellowknife Electric Ltd bill S-10, 1149

Venice Summit, 1987, 1241

Communiqué tabled, 1249

Veterans Affairs

Hong Kong Veterans Association, claim for compensation from Japanese government, 1091

Pensioners training regulations, 2558

War veterans allowances, eligibility and criteria for, 3656, 4085

See Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

Veterans Affairs and Senior Citizens Subcommittee of Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 3150

Veterans Affairs, change in name of subcommittee, inquiry, 3096

Withdrawn, 3523

Veterans Affairs, survivor benefits, anomalies in legislation, inquiry, 2207

Withdrawn, 2546

Veterans Appeal Board

Merging of Pension Review Board and War Veteran's Allowance Board, 1493

Speakers: Senators

Marshall, Jack, 1493

McElman, Charles, 1527

Veterans Appeal Board bill C-66, 1r, 1463; 2r, 1493, 1527; 3r, 1528; r.a., 1590VIA Rail

Relocation of maintenance centre from Winnipeg to Vancouver, request for reconsideration, 1614

Violence in sport, 173Visit of Senate delegation to Japan, inquiry, 1175, 1325, 1457

Canada's commitment to trade partnership, 1327

Japanese direct investment in Canada, 1328

Speakers: Senators

Charbonneau, Guy, 1325

Frith, Royce, 1457

VisitorsAlberta

Parliamentary interns of legislature, 2547

Speaker of Legislative Assembly, Hon. David Carter, 2128

Ward, Dr. Gerry, Lethbridge, for Canadian Hunger Foundation, 3685

Barbados

High Commissioner, George Peter Morgan, 354

British Columbia

Prof. Ross Lambertson and students from Camosun College, 2825

Godfrey, Hon. John M., 2661

Haddassah-Wizo, National Executive, 844

India

Minister of Water Resources, Hon. D. Shankaranad, and High Commissioner, Mr. S.J.S. Chhatwal, and delegation, 1195

Indonesia

Gafur, His Excellency Abdul, Minister of Youth Affairs and Sports, 1

Kusumaatmadja, His Excellency Dr. Mochtar, Minister of Foreign Affairs, 525

Inuit Tapirisat of Canada, Board of Directors, 3682

Italy

Italian Parliament, Chamber of Deputies member Hon. Mario Frasson and companions, 4311

Northern Italy, officials from, 1777

L'Association internationale des parlementaires de langue française, delegation, 4257

Manitoba

Chief of Jackhead Indian Reserve, 1233

Mexico

Hernandez-Haddad, Hon. Senator Humberto, chairman of Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, 3096

National Congress of Italian Canadians, 343

National Prisoners of War Association, representatives, 1310

Norway, aboriginal delegation, 3987

Ontario

Student delegation from St. Robert's Catholic High School, Thornhill, 3670

Pakistan, Islamic Republic of, members of Senate of, 2072

Poland

Glemp, His Eminence Jozef Cardinal, 54

Robertson, Heather, Canadian author and journalist, 2064

Saskatchewan

Tusa, Hon. Arnold, Speaker of Legislative Assembly, 2758

Visitors—Cont'd

- United Kingdom, Select Committee on televising House of Commons' proceedings, 4458
- University Women's Club of Ottawa, 829
- U.S.S.R.
 - Efren Solokov, Valentina Tereshkova and delegation from Supreme Soviet, 1984
- World War I flyers, 1123
- Yemen Arab Republic
 - His Excellency Abdalla Nasser Al-Dhorafi, Minister of State for Youth and Sports and Honorary Consul, Mr. Taha Qirbi, 2302

Votes

- Air Canada public participation, subject matter of bill C-129, m to authorize Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee to study prior to receipt of legislation, 3665; defeated, 3665
- Canada-France agreement on fisheries and boundaries
 - Motion to refer to Committee of the Whole, Speaker's ruling, neg on div, 471
 - Motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole, 493
- Constitution
 - Committee of the Whole
 - Motion to televise proceedings, 1947
 - Motion to refer First Ministers' Accord to Committee of the Whole, 1218
- Constitution Amendment, 1987, as amended, 3218
 - Motion for message to Commons
 - Motion in amdt, 3486
 - Motion to adjourn, 3485
 - Motion in amdt, 3216
- Constitutional Accord, 1987
 - Establishment of Special Joint Committee, message from Commons, m to concur, 1279
- Copyright bill C-60
 - Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee report with amdt, 3270
 - Message from Commons for non-insistence on Senate amdt, ref to com, 3463
- Government Organization, Atlantic Canada, 1987 bill C-103, m to instruct committee to divide bill into two, 3607
 - Speaker's ruling, 3587
- Health care, motion for appointment of special committee
 - Motion in amdt, 2498
- Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee
 - 14th report, motion in amdt, 1006
- Patent bill C-22, as amended, 1747
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in certain Commons amdt and for non-insistence on certain Senate amdt, 2224
 - Message from Commons, m for concurrence in Commons amdt and for non-insistence on Senate amdt, m to refer to committee, 1802
 - Motion in amdt, neg, 1801
 - Motion in amdt, neg on div, 1743
 - Motion to instruct Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee re deadline for reporting on question and message from House of Commons, neg, 1835
- Patent bill S-15, 4533
- Postal Services Continuation, 1987 bill C-86, 1970
- Senate
 - Adjournment, m in amdt, 2151

Waite, Mr. Terry

- Special emissary of Archbishop of Canterbury, rumoured tragic developments, 452

Walker, Hon. David J. P.C.

- Cook, Hon. Eric, the late, tribute, 12
- Felicitations on 25th anniversary of summons to the Senate, 2633
- Prescription drug prices
 - Effect of proposed Patent Act amendment, presentation of petitions, 846
- "Some of My Best Friends Didn't Look Like Me", inquiry, 3634
- Tribute on 30th anniversary of first election to House of Commons, 1211

Ward, Dr. Gerry, Lethbridge, Alberta, for Canadian Hunger Foundation, visit, 3685War Veterans Allowance, amendment of Act, inquiry, 2350, 2786, 3319

- Financial support for veterans living abroad, 3319
- Recognition for Korean War service, 3319
- Treasury Board responsibility, 3321
- Unfair residency restriction, 2786
- Withdrawn, 3442

Speakers: Senators

- Bonnell, M. Lorne, 3319
- Marshall, Jack, 2786, 3442
- Muir, Robert, 3321

War Veterans Allowance and Civilian War Pensions and Allowances, motion for government consideration of amendment of legislation, 3096, 3251, 3442

- Exposure to radiation, 3470
- Needy widows of veterans, 3470
- Nursing home facilities, 3471
- People living in destitute conditions, 3260
- Reciprocal agreement with United Kingdom, 3444
- Rights under the Charter and Constitution, 3443
- Veterans residing abroad, 3261
- Veterans who clean up after war, 3470

Speakers: Senators

- Bonnell, M. Lorne, 3470
- Marshall, Jack, 3259, 3443

War veterans, benefits legislation, inquiry, 2160, 2235

- "Canada Service Only", 2236
- Casual earnings, 2237
- Disability pension, 2238
- "Harmonization", 2237
- "Near recipients", 2236
- VIP program, 2236

Speakers: Senators

- Kelly, William M., 2238
- MacEachen, Allan J., 2238

Watt, Hon. Charlie

- Aboriginal peoples
 - Constitution, entrenchment of right to self-government, qu, 436
 - Self-government and native land claims, government policy, qu, 4175
- Services and recognition of rights, government policy, role of provinces, qu, 3989
- Arctic sovereignty
 - Aboriginal peoples, participation in consultations, qu, 2325
 - Environmental concerns, lack of consultation with aboriginal peoples, qu, 3234
- Canadian Multiculturalism bill C-93, 4046
 - Non-derogation clause and amendment proposal, 4047
 - Special nature of aboriginal cultures, 4047

Watt, Hon. Charlie—Cont'd

Constitution

Aboriginal rights, setting up of separate process for entrenchment, qu, 2353

First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2136, 2461

First Ministers' conference, aboriginal rights, agenda item, qu, 1090

Constitution Amendment, 1987, m to transmit copy of Senate Resolution to legislative assemblies and four national aboriginal organizations, 3512, 3682, 4034

Dilemma vis-à-vis Meech Lake constitution reform process, 3683

Motion divided, 4034

Motion to transmit to Yukon and Northwest Territories and four national aboriginal organizations, 4051

Role of Senate in constitution amending process, 3682

Immigration

Status of interested Laplanders, government policy, qu, 78, 237

Indian Affairs and Northern Development

Lubicon Crees of Alberta, settlement of claims, release of negotiator's report, appointment of new negotiator and mediator, qu, 1879, 2210

Indian (death rules) bill C-150, 4226

Inuit Tapirisat of Canada, Board of Directors, visit, 3682

Norway, aboriginal delegation, visit, 3987

Official Languages bill C-72, 4027

"We Gave Too Much and Were Not Given Enough", inquiry, 4377

Weiner, Hon. Gerry, Minister of State (Immigration)

Immigration, 1976 bill C-34, considered in Committee of the Whole, 410

Welch, Hon. Frank Corbett (deceased Sept.3/86), tributes, 11

Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) claims settlement

Allegations of mismanagement of funds by Inuvialuit Regional Corporation, 3474

Canadian Reindeer Limited, 3474

Future oil exploration, 3224

Inuvialuit Final Agreement, amendment consent procedure, 2959

Negotiation and government involvement, 3475

Speakers: Senators

Adams, Willie, 3224

Macquarrie, Heath, 2958, 3225, 3473

Steuart, D.G., 3475

See also Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee

Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement bill C-102. 1r, 2930;

2r, 2958, 3224; ref to com, 3225; rep with amdt, 3317, 3341, 3434, 3447; 3r, 3473; message from Commons of concurrence in Senate amdt, 3572; r.a., 3635

Western Canada, drought conditions

See Agriculture and Forestry Committee

Western Canada, economic situation, 253Western Diversification

Allocation of funds to Manitoba for municipal infrastructure, 3799

Request for answer, 4177

Western Economic Development Agency

Nature of general structure, date of establishment, 1647

Western Economic Diversification

Criteria for program support, 2796, 2847

Delivery system for program, 2793, 2847, 3100

Western economic diversification (Bill C-113)

Advocacy powers to counter centralizing inclination of federal departments, 3390

Assistance in form of "last dollar", 3390

Diversification, 3391

Entitlement, 3392

Propaganda, 3393

Regional development, a staff function, 3393

Revolution in agriculture, 3391

To advance interests of western Canada, 3389

Speakers: Senators

Nurgitz, Nathan, 3389

Olson, H.A., 3390

Pitfield, Michael, 3393

Western Economic Diversification bill C-113. 1r, 3348; 2r, 3389; ref to com, 3395; rep without amdt, 3572; 3r, 3588; r.a., 3635

Western grain stabilization

Crops covered, 4148

Exodus of farmers, 4149

Foreclosure protection, 4149

Fund deficit, 4149

Levy increases, 4149

Ratio of producer to government contributions, increase, 4150

Speakers: Senators

Argue, Hazen, 4149

Barootes, Efstathios W., 4148

Olson, H.A., 4150

Western Grain Stabilization bill C-132. 1r, 4112; 2r, 4148; ref to com, 4152; rep without amdt, 4174; 3r, 4189; r.a., 4203

Whaling

See International whaling

Wilder, Joseph J., Q.C., National Chairman, CJC Community Relations Committee

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2571

Williams, Dr. Blair, Department of Political Science, Concordia University

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2448

Williamson, E.L.R., Consulting Economist and Teacher

Constitution, First Ministers' Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2577

Wilson, Hon. Bertha, Puisne Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada

Royal Assent, 3634

Windsor-Detroit tunnel

Bill to correct 1953 private act omission, 1254

History, 1253

Speaker: Senator

Frith, Royce, 1252

See also Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

Windsor-Detroit Tunnel bill S-11. 1r, 1213; 2r, 1252, 1280; ref to com, 1281; rep with amdts, 1432; 3r, 1433; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 1563; r.a., 1590

Wood, Hon. Dalia

Constitution

First Minister's Accord and agreed texts, considered in Committee of the Whole, 2248

Wood, Hon. Dalia—Cont'd

- Constitution Amendment, 1987, 3147
 - Distinct society clause, 3147
 - Minority language rights, 3148
- Official languages
 - Annual report of commissioner, percentage of Anglophones in federal public service in Quebec, qu, 2957
 - Appointment of special committee to study use of official languages in Canada, subject matter of Bill C-72, prior to receipt of legislation, 2956, 3920
 - Broadcasting of Calgary Olympic Games in French, 2240
 - Budget allocation, 1988, for promotion outside Quebec, qu, 4461
 - Proposed advisory council, composition, role and terms of reference, qu, 1052, 1509
 - Consultation on composition with joint committee, qu, 1089
 - Request for answers, 1398
 - Proposed legislation, anticipated date of introduction, qu, 18
 - Role of Commissioner, qu, 1089
 - Teaching of second official language in Quebec, funding provisions of federal-provincial protocol, qu, 2979
- Official Languages Act
 - Status of regulations, qu, 4467
- Official Languages bill C-72, 4003, 4118
 - Application of measures in Quebec, 4118
 - Attitude of Quebec government, 4119
 - Concept of "federal institution", 4003
 - Courts, 4004,
 - Crown corporations, 4004
 - Declaratory nature, 4003
 - Implementation of provisions to advance English and French, 4005
 - Motion to establish Special Senate Committee to study, 4031
 - Preamble, 4003
 - Primacy over other federal enactments, 4003
- Official Languages Committee
 - Existence of joint committee, statement by Secretary of State, qu, 2318
- Reports
 - 2nd, Estimates, 1987-88, Privy Council vote 15, tabled, 935

Wood, Hon. Dalia—Cont'd

- Official Languages Committee—Cont'd
- Reports—Cont'd
 - 3rd, amendments to Official Languages Act, with recommendations, 1174
 - See appendix p. 1191
 - 4th, recommendations re implementation of Official Languages Act, 1394
 - See appendix p. 1420
- Official Languages Special Senate Committee of Bill C-72
 - Authority to meet during Senate sitting, 4042

World War I flyers, visit, 1123Yellowknife Electric Ltd

- Dissolution following failure to file annual returns, 1148

Speaker: Senator

- Nurgitz, Nathan, 1148

Yellowknife Electric Ltd. bill S-10. 1r, 1117; 2r, 1148; ref to com, 1149; rep without amdt, 1214; 3r, 1248; message from Commons that bill passed without amdt, 2118; r.a., 2228Yemen Arab Republic

- See Visitors

Youth

- Beat-the-Street Program, length of term, 1899

Youth, Special Senate CommitteeReport

- 1st, expenses incurred during 1st Session, 33rd Parliament, tabled, 96

- See Journals of the Senate

Yukon

- Government travel service, changes, effect on local business people, 947, 1056

- See also Constitution

Yuzyk, Hon. Paul, the late, tributes, 33, 253

STATUS OF LEGISLATION
AT DISSOLUTION
(2nd Session, 33rd Parliament)

GOVERNMENT BILLS
(HOUSE OF COMMONS)

BILL C-2

An Act to dissolve Canagrex and to amend certain Acts in consequence thereof

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, October 30, 1986. Report from Committee, June 23, 1987.

(b) First reading, September 15. Second reading and referral to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, September 17. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 30. Third reading, October 1. Royal Assent, October 8. Chapter 38, 1987.

BILL C-3

An Act to amend the Radio Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Transport and Communications Committee, October 30, 1986. Report from Committee, February 18, 1987.

(b) First reading, March 17. Second reading, March 24. Third reading and Royal Assent, March 25. Chapter 4, 1987.

BILL C-4

An Act to amend the Railway Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Transport and Communications Committee, October 30, 1986. Report from Committee, December 16.

(b) First and second readings, December 16. Third reading, December 17. Royal Assent December 19. Chapter 49, 1986.

BILL C-5

An Act to regulate interests in petroleum in relation to frontier lands, to amend the Oil and Gas Production and Conservation Act and to repeal the Canada Oil and Gas Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Energy and Natural Resources Committee, October 9, 1986.

(b) First reading, October 28. Second reading and referral to Energy and Natural Resources Committee, November 4. Report from Committee (without amendment) and third reading, November 6. Royal Assent, November 18. Chapter 45, 1986.

BILL C-6

An Act to implement an agreement between the Government of Canada and the Government of Newfoundland and Labrador on offshore petroleum resource management and revenue sharing and to make related and consequential amendments

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Energy and Natural Resources Committee, October 9, 1986.

(b) First reading, March 10, 1987. Second reading, March 17. Third reading, March 19. Royal Assent, March 25. Chapter 3, 1987.

SUBJECT-MATTER OF BILL C-7

An Act respecting the Archives of Canada and records of government institutions of Canada and to amend the Copyright Act

Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, November 27, 1986.

BILL C-7

An Act respecting the National Archives of Canada and records of government institutions of Canada and to amend other Acts in relation thereto

First reading, February 3, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, February 5. Report from Committee (without amendment), February 12. Third reading, February 17. Royal Assent, March 25. Chapter 1, 1987.

SUBJECT-MATTER OF BILL C-8

An Act to amend the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act, the Foreign Insurance Companies Act and the Winding-up Act

Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, October 9, 1986.

SUBJECT-MATTER OF BILL C-9

An Act to amend the Loan Companies Act, the Trust Companies Act, the Bank Act and the Quebec Savings Banks Act in respect of certain regulatory matters

Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, October 9, 1986.

BILL C-11

An Act to amend the Income Tax Act

First reading, October 28, 1986. Second reading, October 29. Third reading, October 30. Royal Assent, November 5. Chapter 44, 1986.

BILL C-12

An Act to amend the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, October 30, 1986.

(b) First reading, March 10, 1987. Second reading, March 12. Third reading, March 17. Royal Assent, March 25. Chapter 2, 1987.

BILL C-13

An Act respecting the reorganization of Bell Canada

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, October 30, 1986. Report from Committee, December 16.

(b) First reading, June 16, 1987. Second reading, June 23. Third reading and Royal Assent, June 25. Chapter 19, 1987.

BILL C-14

An Act to amend the Excise Tax Act and the Excise Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, October 30, 1986. Report from Committee, November 6.

(b) First reading, December 16. Second reading, December 18. Third reading and Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 54, 1986.

BILL C-15

An Act to amend the Criminal Code and the Canada Evidence Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, November 4, 1986. Report from Committee, June 26, 1987.

(b) First reading, June 23. Second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 24, 1987.

BILL C-16

An Act to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, November 4, 1986. Report from Committee, December 19.

(b) First, second, third readings and Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 56, 1986.

BILL C-17

An Act to amend the Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax Act and the Income Tax Act and to repeal the Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, November 5, 1986. Report from Committee, November 26.

(b) First, second, third readings and Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 58, 1986.

BILL C-18

An Act respecting national transportation

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Transport and Communications Committee, June 16, 1987.

(b) First reading, June 18. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, June 29. Report from Committee (with ten amendments), August 10. Adoption of Report, August 11. Third reading, as amended, August 12. Amendments agreed to by Commons, without amendment, August 20. Royal Assent, August 28. Chapter 34, 1987.

BILL C-19

An Act respecting motor vehicle transport by extra-provincial undertakings

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Transport and Communications Committee, June 16, 1987.

(b) First reading, June 25. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, June 29. Report from Committee (with three amendments), August 10. Adoption of Report, August 11. Third reading, as amended, August 12. Amendments agreed to by Commons, without amendment, August 20. Royal Assent, August 28. Chapter 35, 1987.

BILL C-20

An Act to amend the Senate and House of Commons Act

First and second readings, December 16, 1986. Third reading, December 17. Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 50, 1986.

BILL C-21

An Act to exempt certain shipping conference practices from the provisions of the Competition Act, to repeal the Shipping Conferences Exemption Act, 1979 and to amend other Acts in consequence thereof

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Transport and Communications Committee, November 27, 1986. Interim Report from Committee, June 23, 1987. Final Report, June 30.

(b) First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 22, 1987.

BILL C-22

An Act to amend the Patent Act and to provide for certain matters in relation thereto

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Special Committee on subject-matter of Bill C-22, April 8, 1987. Report from Committee, June 23.

(b) First reading, May 7. Second reading and referral to Special Committee on Bill C-22, June 25. Report from Committee (with eleven amendments), August 10. Report referred back to Committee, August 11. Report from Committee (with ten amendments), and adoption of Report, August 12. Third reading, as amended, August 13. Message from Commons agreeing with one amendment; further amending two and disagreeing with the remaining amendments. September 2. Referral of Message to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, September 3. Report from Committee (with certain amendments), October 21. Adoption of Report, October 29. Message from Commons agreeing with one amendment; further amending three and disagreeing with the remaining amendments, November 17. Royal Assent, November 19. Chapter 41, 1987.

BILL C-23

An Act to amend the Income Tax Act and a related Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, November 27, 1986. Report from Committee, December 16.

(b) First and second readings, December 18. Third reading and Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 55, 1986.

BILL C-24

An Act to provide for the maintenance of ports operations

First and second readings; referral to Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, November 18, 1986. Chapter 46, 1986.

BILL C-25

An Act to authorize the divestiture of Canadair Limited and to provide for other matters in connection therewith

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, November 27, 1986. Report from Committee. December 18.

(b) First and second readings, December 18. Third reading and Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 57, 1986.

BILL C-26

An Act to amend the Coastal Fisheries Protection Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Fisheries Committee, November 27, 1986.

(b) First reading, December 16. Second reading, December 17. Third reading, December 18. Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 51, 1986.

BILL C-27

An Act to facilitate the continuation of the business of the Bank of British Columbia

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, November 26, 1986. Report from Committee, November 27.

(b) First, second, and third readings and Royal Assent, November 27. Chapter 47, 1986.

BILL C-28

An Act to amend the Criminal Code (torture)

First reading, March 31, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, April 8. Report from Committee (without amendment), April 9. Third reading and Royal Assent, April 14. Chapter 13, 1987.

BILL C-29

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1987

First reading, December 16, 1986. Second reading, December 17. Third reading, December 18. Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 61, 1986.

BILL C-30

An Act to amend the National Parks Act and to amend An Act to amend the National Parks Act

First reading, July 19, 1988. Second reading and referral to Energy and Natural Resources Committee, July 28. Report from Committee (without amendment), August 17. Third reading and Royal Assent, August 18, 1988. Chapter 48, 1988.

BILL C-31

An Act to amend the Farm Improvement Loans Act

First reading, December 16, 1986. Second reading, December 17. Third reading, December 18. Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 52, 1986.

BILL C-32

An Act to amend the Fisheries Improvement Loans Act

First reading, December 16, 1986. Second reading, December 17. Third reading, December 18. Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 53, 1986.

BILL C-34

An Act to amend the Immigration Act, 1976

First and second readings; referral to Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading, and Royal Assent, December 19, 1986. Chapter 59, 1986.

BILL C-35

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1987

First and second readings, December 18, 1986. Third reading and Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 62, 1986.

BILL C-36

An Act to amend the Salaries Act

First, second, third readings and Royal Assent, December 19, 1986. Chapter 60, 1986.

BILL C-37

An Act respecting the imposition of a charge on the export of certain softwood lumber products

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, February 5, 1987. Report from Committee, May 5.

(b) First reading, May 26. Second reading, May 27. Third reading and Royal Assent, May 28. Chapter 15, 1987.

BILL C-38

An Act respecting the reorganization and divestiture of Teleglobe Canada

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, February 18, 1987. Report from Committee, March 31.

(b) First reading, March 31. Second and Third readings and Royal Assent, April 1. Chapter 12, 1987.

BILL C-39

An Act to amend the Canada Shipping Act and to amend the Arctic Waters Pollution Prevention Act, the Maritime Code Act and the Oil and Gas Production and Conservation Act in consequence thereof

First reading, March 10, 1987. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, March 12. Report from Committee (without amendment), March 25. Third reading and Royal Assent, March 26. Chapter 7, 1987.

BILL C-40

An Act to provide borrowing authority

First reading, March 17, 1987. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, March 24. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, March 25. Chapter 5, 1987.

BILL C-41

An Act to amend the Judges Act, the Federal Court Act and the Tax Court of Canada Act

First reading, June 23, 1987. Second and third readings, June 26. Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 21, 1987.

BILL C-42

An Act respecting financial institutions and the deposit insurance system

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, March 25, 1987. Report from Committee, May 12.

(b) First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 23, 1987.

BILL C-43

An Act to amend the Territorial Lands Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, March 17, 1987. Report from Committee, March 26.

(b) First, second, and third readings and Royal Assent, March 26. Chapter 8, 1987.

BILL C-44

An Act to amend the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-Secondary Education and Health Contributions Act, 1977

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to National Finance Committee, April 8, 1987. Report from Committee, April 14.

(b) First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, April 14. Chapter 14, 1987.

BILL C-45

An Act to authorize the disposal of certain assets in the Yukon Territory that are held or used by the Northern Canada Power Commission and to provide for other matters in connection therewith

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, March 19, 1987. Report from Committee, March 26.

(b) First, second, and third readings and Royal Assent, March 26. Chapter 9, 1987.

BILL C-46

An Act to amend the Royal Canadian Mint Act and the Currency Act

First reading, November 3, 1987. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, November 17. Report from Committee (without amendment), December 3. Third reading, December 8. Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 43, 1987.

BILL C-47

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1987

First, second, and third readings and Royal Assent, March 25, 1987. Chapter 6, 1987.

BILL C-48

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1988

First reading, March 25, 1987. Second and third readings and Royal Assent, March 26. Chapter 10, 1987.

BILL C-49

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1988

First reading, March 25, 1987. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, March 26. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, March 31. Chapter 11, 1987.

BILL C-50

An Act respecting the treatment of pension payments in determining certain unemployment insurance benefit entitlements and to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971

First reading, June 11, 1987. Second reading, June 16. Third reading, June 17. Royal Assent, June 25. Chapter 17, 1987.

BILL C-51

An Act to prohibit the advertising and promotion and respecting the labelling and monitoring of tobacco products

First reading, June 1, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, June 14. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, June 28. Chapter 20, 1988.

BILL C-52

An Act respecting the use of foreign ships and non-duty paid ships in the coasting trade and in other marine activities of a commercial nature

First reading, March 29, 1988. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, April 28.

BILL C-53

An Act to amend the Supreme Court Act and to amend various other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, October 27, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, October 29. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, November 19. Chapter 42, 1987.

BILL C-55

An Act to amend the Immigration Act, 1976 and to amend other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, October 22, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, November 3. Report from Committee (with certain amendments), May 11. Adoption of Report and third reading, as amended, May 17. Message from Commons agreeing with two amendments, amending five, disagreeing with the others and making four further amendments, June 21. Amendments referred to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, July 14. Report from Committee, July 20. Adoption of Report Assent, July 21. Chapter 35, 1988.

BILL C-56

An Act to amend certain Acts relating to financial institutions

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, May 12, 1987. Report from Committee, June 25.

(b) First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 26, 1987.

BILL C-57

An Act to amend the Export and Import Permits Act

First and second readings; referral to a Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, May 28, 1987. Chapter 16, 1987.

BILL C-58

An Act to provide for the implementation of treaties for mutual legal assistance in criminal matters and to amend the Criminal Code, the Crown Liability Act and the Immigration Act, 1976

First reading, July 12, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, July 13. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, July 28. Chapter 37, 1988.

BILL C-59

An Act to provide for payments in respect of exploration for or development of lands for the production of hydrocarbons in Canada other than coal

First reading, June 11, 1987. Second and third readings, June 18. Royal Assent, June 25. Chapter 18, 1987.

BILL C-60

An Act to amend the Copyright Act and to amend other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, February 4, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, February 11. Report from Committee (with certain amendments), March 24. Adoption of Report and third reading as amended, May 3. Message from Commons disagreeing with amendments, May 18. Referral of Message to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, May 24. Report from Committee, May 31. Adoption of Report, June 1. Royal Assent, June 8. Chapter 15, 1988.

BILL C-61

An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Food and Drugs Act and the Narcotic Control Act

First reading, July 12, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, July 13. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 1. Third reading, September 7. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 51, 1988.

BILL C-62

An Act relating to the forgiveness of debts incurred or assumed in respect of certain official development assistance loans made by the Government of Canada to the Governments of Togo and of the Islamic Republic of Mauritania and also to the former East African Community

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Foreign Affairs Committee, June 16, 1987. Report from Committee, June 25.

(b) First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 27, 1987.

BILL C-63

An Act to amend the Small Businesses Loans Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, June 16, 1987. Report from Committee, June 26.

(b) First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 28, 1987.

BILL C-64

An Act to amend the Income Tax Act, a related Act, the Canada Pension Plan and the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971

First and second readings and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, December 9, 1987. Report from Committee (without amendment), December 15. Third reading, December 16. Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 46, 1987.

BILL C-65

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1988

First reading, June 16, 1987. Second and third readings, June 18. Royal Assent, June 25. Chapter 20, 1987.

BILL C-66

An Act to establish the Veterans Appeal Board and to amend other Acts in relation thereto

First reading, June 26, 1987. Second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 25, 1987.

BILL C-67

An Act respecting animal pedigree associations

First reading, March 29, 1988. Second reading and referral to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, April 26. Report from Committee (without amendment), May 5. Third reading, May 11. Royal Assent, May 25. Chapter 13, 1988.

BILL C-68

An Act to amend the Bretton Woods and Related Agreements Act

First reading, September 29, 1987. Second reading and referral to Foreign Affairs Committee, September 30. Report from Committee (without amendment), October 7. Third reading and Royal Assent, October 8. Chapter 39, 1987.

BILL C-69

An Act to amend the Customs Tariff and the Duties Relief Act

(a) Referral of subject-matter of Bill to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, June 18, 1987. Report from Committee, June 29.

(b) First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 29, 1987.

BILL C-70

An Act to amend the Hazardous Products Act and the Canada Labour Code, to enact the Hazardous Materials Information Review Act and to amend other Acts in relation thereto

First and second readings; referral to a Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, June 30, 1987. Chapter 30, 1987.

BILL C-71

An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Immigration Act, 1976 and the Citizenship Act

First reading, August 28, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, September 3. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 14. Third reading, September 15. Royal Assent, September 16. Chapter 37, 1987.

BILL C-72

An Act respecting the status and use of the official languages of Canada

First reading, July 7, 1988. Second reading and referral to Special Committee on Bill C-72, July 14. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 21. Third reading, July 27. Royal Assent, July 28. Chapter 38, 1988.

BILL C-73

An Act to provide for the implementation of an agreement respecting Indian lands in Ontario

First reading, July 19, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, July 21. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 26. Third reading, July 27. Royal Assent, July 28. Chapter 39, 1988.

BILL C-74

An Act respecting the protection of the environment and of human life and health

First reading, May 10, 1988. Second reading and referral to Energy and Natural Resources Committee, June 1, 1988. Report from Committee (with certain amendments), June 14. Adoption of Report, June 15. Third reading, as amended, June 16. Royal Assent, June 28. Chapter 22, 1988.

BILL C-75

An Act to implement an agreement between the Government of Canada and the Government of Nova Scotia on offshore petroleum resource management and revenue sharing and to make related and consequential amendments

First reading, July 12, 1988. Second reading and referral to Energy and Natural Resources Committee, July 13. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 20. Third reading and Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 28, 1988.

BILL C-76

An Act to provide for emergency preparedness and to make a related amendment to the National Defence Act

First reading, March 15, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Defence Committee, March 23. Report from Committee (without amendment), March 30. Third reading, March 31. Royal Assent, April 27. Chapter 11, 1988.

BILL C-77

An Act to authorize the taking of special temporary measures to ensure safety and security during national emergencies and to amend other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, April 27, 1988. Second reading, May 18. Referral to Committee of the Whole, May 24. In the Committee, May 31; June 8; June 28. Report from Committee (with certain amendments), adoption of Report and third reading, June 28. Message from Commons agreeing to the amendments, July 12. Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 29, 1988.

BILL C-78

An Act to increase the availability of loans for the purpose of the improvement and development of farms and the processing, distribution or marketing of farm products by cooperative associations, to amend the Farm Improvement Loans Act and to amend certain other acts in consequence thereof

First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30, 1987. Chapter 31, 1987.

BILL C-80

An Act to amend the Customs Act

First, second and third readings and Royal Assent, June 30, 1987. Chapter 32, 1987.

BILL C-82

An Act respecting the registration of lobbyists

First reading, July 26, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, July 27. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 7. Third reading, September 8. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 53, 1988.

BILL C-83

An Act to amend the Senate and House of Commons Act

First reading, October 20, 1987. Subject-matter of Bill referred to Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration Committee, May 19, 1988.

BILL C-84

An Act to amend the Immigration Act, 1976 and the Criminal Code in consequence thereof

First reading, September 15, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, September 16. Report from Committee (with thirteen amendments) and third reading, as amended, December 15. Message from Commons agreeing with two amendments, amending seven, disagreeing with the others and making two further amendments, February 4, 1988. Referral of Message to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, February 11. Report from Committee (with certain amendments) and adoption of Report, March 30. Message from Commons agreeing with one amendment, amending two, disagreeing with the others and making one further amendment, July 13. Amendments referred to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, July 14. Report from Committee, July 20. Adoption of Report and Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 36, 1988.

BILL C-85

An Act to provide for the resumption and continuance of railway operations and for the settlement of disputes respecting terms and conditions of employment between railway companies and their employees

First and second readings and referral to a Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, August 28, 1987. Chapter 36, 1987.

BILL C-86

An Act to provide for the resumption and continuation of postal services

First and second readings and referral to a Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, October 16, 1987. Chapter 40, 1987.

BILL C-87

An Act respecting the imposition of duties of customs and other charges, to give effect to the International Convention on the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System, to provide relief against the imposition of certain duties of customs or other charges, to provide for other related matters and to amend or repeal certain Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, December 15, 1987. Second reading and referral to a Committee of the Whole, December 16. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 49, 1987.

BILL C-88

An Act to amend the Judges Act

First and second readings and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, December 15, 1987. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 47, 1987.

BILL C-89

An Act to amend the Criminal Code (victims of crime)

First reading, May 4, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, May 18. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 12. Third reading, July 13. Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 30, 1988.

BILL C-90

An Act to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971

First reading, December 1, 1987. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, December 8. Report from Committee (without amendment), December 10. Third reading, December 15, 1987. Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 44, 1987.

BILL C-91

An Act to amend the Corporations and Labour Unions Returns Act

First reading, January 26, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, January 27. Report from Committee (without amendment), February 9. Third reading, February 11. Royal Assent, March 22. Chapter 4, 1988.

BILL C-92

An Act to amend the Canadian Wheat Board Act

First reading, July 19, 1988. Second reading and referral to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, July 27. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, August 18. Chapter 47, 1988.

BILL C-93

An Act for the preservation and enhancement of multiculturalism in Canada

First and second readings; referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, July 13, 1988. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 14. Third reading, July 19. Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 31, 1988.

BILL C-94

An Act to bring into force the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985

First reading, December 8, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, December 10. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 48, 1987.

BILL C-95

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1988

First and second readings, December 15, 1987. Third reading, December 16. Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 54, 1987.

BILL C-96

An Act to validate certain customs duty orders relating to fresh fruits and vegetables

First reading, January 26, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, January 28. Report from Committee (without amendment), February 9. Third reading, February 11. Royal Assent, March 22. Chapter 5, 1988.

BILL C-97

An Act to amend the Canada Labour Code

First reading, December 15, 1987. Second reading and referral to a Committee of the Whole, December 16. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 51, 1987.

BILL C-98

An Act to amend An Act respecting the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Limited

First reading, December 15, 1987. Second reading and referral to a Committee of the Whole, December 16. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 52, 1987.

BILL C-99

An Act to amend the Currency Act

First reading, January 26, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, January 28. Report from Committee (without amendment) and third reading, February 11. Royal Assent, March 22. Chapter 6, 1988.

BILL C-100

An Act to amend the Pension Act, the War Veterans Allowance Act, to repeal the Compensation for Former Prisoners of War Act and to amend another Act in relation thereto

First, second and third readings, December 15, 1987. Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 45, 1987.

BILL C-101

An Act to amend the Excise Tax Act

First reading, December 16, 1987. Second and third readings and Royal Assent, December 17. Chapter 50, 1987.

BILL C-102

An Act to amend the Western Arctic (Inuvialuit) Claims Settlement Act

First reading, March 24, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, April 26. Report from Committee (with one amendment), May 5. Adoption of Report, May 19. Third reading as amended, May 25. Message from Commons agreeing to the amendment, June 2. Royal Assent, June 8. Chapter 16, 1988.

BILL C-103

An Act to increase opportunity for economic development in Atlantic Canada, to establish the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency and Enterprise Cape Breton Corporation and to make consequential and related amendments to other Acts

First reading, May 11, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, May 31. Report from Committee (without amendment—Bill divided into two Bills), adoption of Report and third reading of Part I, July 7. Message from Commons, July 19. Referral of Message to National Finance Committee, July 26. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, August 18. Chapter 50, 1988.

BILL C-104

An Act to correct certain anomalies, inconsistencies, archaisms and errors and to deal with other matters of a non-controversial and uncomplicated nature in the Statutes of Canada

First reading, January 26, 1988. Second reading, January 27. Third reading, January 28. Royal Assent, February 4. Chapter 2, 1988.

BILL C-105

An Act to ensure the safe operation of railways and to amend certain other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, May 18, 1988. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, June 1. Report from Committee (with one amendment), July 7. Adoption of Report, July 19. Third reading as amended, July 20. Message from Commons agreeing to the amendment, July 26. Royal Assent, July 28. Chapter 40, 1988.

BILL C-106

An Act to provide for the resumption of grain handling operations at the port of Prince Rupert, British Columbia

First and second readings and referral to a Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, January 20, 1988. Chapter 1, 1988.

BILL C-108

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1988

First reading, February 2, 1988. Second and third readings and Royal Assent, February 4. Chapter 3, 1988.

BILL C-109

An Act to provide borrowing authority

First reading, March 15, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, March 16. Report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, March 22. Chapter 7, 1988.

BILL C-110

An Act to establish the Canadian International Trade Tribunal and to amend or repeal other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, July 19, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, July 26. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 8. Third reading, September 9. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 56, 1988.

BILL C-111

An Act to amend the National Housing Act and the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation Act and to repeal certain enactments in consequence thereof

First reading, July 5, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, July 7. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 12. Third reading, July 13. Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 32, 1988.

BILL C-112

An Act to amend the Canada Grain Act and other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, July 26, 1988. Second reading and referral to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, July 27. Report from Committee (without amendment), August 16. Third reading, August 17. Royal Assent, August 18. Chapter 46, 1988.

BILL C-113

An Act to promote the development and diversification of the economy of Western Canada, to establish the Department of Western Economic Diversification and to make consequential amendments to other Acts

First reading, May 11, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, May 17. Report from Committee (without amendment), June 2. Third reading, June 7. Royal Assent, June 8. Chapter 17, 1988.

BILL C-115

An Act to amend the Indian Act (designated lands)

First reading, June 7, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, June 9. Report from Committee (with one amendment); adoption of Report and third reading, as amended, June 16. Royal Assent, June 28. Chapter 23, 1988.

BILL C-116

An Act to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971

First reading, March 24, 1988. Second reading and referral to Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment); third reading and Royal Assent, March 29. Chapter 8, 1988.

BILL C-117

An Act to amend the Excise Tax Act and the Excise Act

First reading, May 31, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, June 2. Report from Committee (without amendment), June 9. Third reading and Royal Assent, June 14. Chapter 18, 1988.

BILL C-118

An Act to amend the Customs Tariff

First reading, April 26, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, May 3. Report from Committee (without amendment), May 11. Third reading, May 17. Royal Assent, May 25. Chapter 14, 1988.

BILL C-119

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1988

First, second, third readings and Royal Assent, March 29, 1988. Chapter 9, 1988.

BILL C-120

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1989

First, second, third readings and Royal Assent, March 29, 1988. Chapter 10, 1988.

BILL C-121

An Act to authorize the reorganization and divestiture of Eldorado Nuclear Limited and to amend certain Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, July 19, 1988. Second reading and referral to Energy and Natural Resources Committee, July 21. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 26. Third reading, July 27. Royal Assent, July 28. Chapter 41, 1988.

BILL C-123

An Act to amend the Indian Act (minors' funds and surviving spouse's preferential share)

First reading, August 30, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, September 7. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 9. Third reading, September 12. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 57, 1988.

BILL C-124

An Act to amend the Canada Labour Code

First reading, July 12, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, July 13. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 14. Third reading, July 14. Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 33, 1988.

BILL C-125

An Act to enable the Northern Canada Power Commission to issue shares, to authorize the sale of those shares to the Government of the Northwest Territories, to repeal the Northern Canada Power Commission Act and to provide for related matters

First reading, April 18, 1988. Second and third readings and Royal Assent, April 27. Chapter 12, 1988.

BILL C-126

An Act to amend the Bretton Woods and Related Agreements Act

First reading, July 19, 1988. Second reading and referral to Committee of the Whole; Report from Committee (without amendment), July 27. Third reading and Royal Assent, July 28. Chapter 42, 1988.

BILL C-127

An Act to amend the Cape Breton Development Corporation Act

First reading, May 18, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, May 31. Report from Committee (without amendment), June 9. Third reading and Royal Assent, June 14. Chapter 19, 1988.

BILL C-129

An Act to provide for the continuance of Air Canada under the Canada Business Corporations Act and for the issuance and sale of shares thereof to the public

First reading, July 19, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, July 21. Report from Committee (without amendment), August 16. Third reading, August 17. Royal Assent, August 18. Chapter 44, 1988.

BILL C-130

An Act to implement the Free Trade Agreement between Canada and the United States of America

First reading, September 1, 1988. Second reading and referral to Foreign Affairs Committee, September 15.

BILL C-131

An Act to amend the National Transportation Act, 1987

First reading, June 21, 1988. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, June 28. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 5. Third reading, July 6. Royal Assent, July 7. Chapter 26, 1988.

BILL C-132

An Act to amend the Western Grain Stabilization Act

First reading, July 26, 1988. Second reading and referral to Agriculture and Forestry Committee, July 27. Report from Committee (without amendment), August 16. Third reading, August 17. Royal Assent, August 18. Chapter 45, 1988.

BILL C-135

An Act to amend the Customs Tariff (code 9956)

First and second readings, referral to a Committee of the Whole, Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, June 28, 1988. Chapter 24, 1988.

BILL C-136

An Act respecting broadcasting and to amend certain Acts in relation thereto and in relation to radiocommunication

First reading, September 29, 1988. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, September 30.

BILL C-137

An Act to provide for incentives to assist in financing exploration for mineral resources and hydrocarbons in Canada and to amend the Canadian Exploration and Development Incentive Program Act

First reading, June 28, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, July 6. Report from Committee (with certain amendments) and third reading, as amended, July 14. Message from Commons agreeing to the amendments, July 20. Royal Assent, July 21. Chapter 34, 1988.

BILL C-138

An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Government of Canada for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1989

First, second, third readings and Royal Assent, June 28, 1988. Chapter 25, 1988.

BILL C-139

An Act to amend the Income Tax Act, the Canada Pension Plan, the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971, the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Federal Post-Secondary Education and Health Contributions Act, 1977 and certain related Acts

First reading, August 30, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, August 31. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 8. Third reading, September 9. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 55, 1988.

BILL C-141

An Act to regulate the marketing of agricultural products in import, export and interprovincial trade and to provide for national standards and grades of agricultural products, for their inspection and grading, for the registration of establishments and for standards governing establishments

First reading, July 5, 1988. Second reading, referral to a Committee of the Whole and Report from Committee (without amendment), July 6. Third reading and Royal Assent, July 7. Chapter 27, 1988.

BILL C-143

An Act to establish the Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse

First reading, September 1, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, September 8. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 58, 1988.

BILL C-144

An Act to authorize payments by Canada toward the provision of child care services, and to amend the Canada Assistance Plan in consequence thereof

First reading, September 27, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, September 28.

BILL C-145

An Act to amend various Act to give effect to the reconstitution of the Quebec Provincial Court, Court of the Sessions of the Peace and Youth Court as the Court of Quebec

First reading, August 16, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Committee, August 17. Report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, August 18. Chapter 49, 1988.

BILL C-146

An Act to amend the Tax Court of Canada Act and other Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, August 30, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, September 7. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 14. Third reading, September 15. Royal Assent, September 22. Chapter 61, 1988.

BILL C-147

An Act to establish the International Centre for Human Rights and Democratic Development

First reading, September 13, 1988. Second reading and referral to Foreign Affairs Committee, September 14. Report from Committee (with certain amendments); adoption of Report, third reading, as amended, and Royal Assent, September 30. Chapter 64, 1988.

BILL C-148

An Act to establish the Canadian Centre for Management Development and to amend certain Acts in consequence thereof

First reading, August 30, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, September 15.

BILL C-150

An Act to amend the Indian Act (death rules)

First reading, August 30, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, August 31. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 7. Third reading, September 8. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 52, 1988.

BILL C-153

An Act to amend the National Capital Act

First reading, August 30, 1988. Second reading and referral to National Finance Committee, August 31. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 8. Third reading, September 9. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 54, 1988.

BILL C-158

An Act to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971

First reading, September 29, 1988. Second reading and referral to a Committee of the Whole; report from Committee (without amendment), third reading and Royal Assent, September 30. Chapter 63, 1988.

MEMBERS' PUBLIC BILLS

(HOUSE OF COMMONS)

BILL C-204

An Act to regulate smoking in the federal workplace and on common carriers and to amend the Hazardous Products Act in relation to cigarette advertising (Senator Haidasz, P.C.)

First reading, June 1, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, June 8. Report from Committee (without amendment), June 14. Third reading and Royal Assent, June 28. Chapter 21, 1988.

BILL C-205

An Act to protect heritage railway stations (Senator Turner)

First reading, August 30, 1988. Second reading and referral to Transport and Communications Committee, September 1. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 13. Bill referred back to Transport and Communications Committee, September 14. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 20. Third reading, September 21. Royal Assent, September 22. Chapter 62, 1988.

BILL C-210

An Act to amend the Blue Water Bridge Authority Act (Senator Kelly)

First reading, August 16, 1988. Subject-matter of Bill referred to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, August 18. Report from Committee, second and third readings, September 1. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 59, 1988.

BILL C-254

An Act to amend the Citizenship Act (period of residence) (Senator Bosa)

First reading, November 17, 1987. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, December 8. Report from Committee (without amendment), December 10. Third reading, December 15. Royal Assent, December 17, Chapter 53, 1987.

BILL C-259

An Act to extend the term of a patent relating to a certain food additive (Senator Phillips)

First reading, June 22, 1987. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, June 25. Report from Committee (with one amendment), adoption of Report and third reading, as amended, June 26.

BILL C-264

An Act to amend the Criminal Code (instruments and literature for illicit drug use) (Senator Doody)

First and second readings; referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, August 30, 1988. Report from Committee (without amendment), August 31. Third reading, September 1. Royal Assent, September 13. Chapter 60, 1988.

BILL C-308

An Act to change the name of the electoral district of Chapleau (Senator Flynn, P.C.)

First reading, July 26, 1988. Second and third readings, July 27. Royal Assent, July 28. Chapter 43, 1988.

GOVERNMENT BILLS

(SENATE)

BILL S-2

An Act to implement conventions between Canada and the Kingdom of the Netherlands and Canada and Japan and agreements between Canada and the People's Republic of China and Canada and the Republic of Malta for the avoidance of double taxation with respect to income tax

First reading, October 9, 1986. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, October 29. Report from Committee (with two amendments); adoption of Report and third reading, November 6. Passed by the House of Commons and Royal Assent, November 27. Chapter 48, 1986.

BILL S-6

An Act to amend the Food and Drugs Act

First reading, March 31, 1987. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, April 7. Report from Committee (without amendment), May 5. Third reading, May 6. Passed by the Commons and Royal Assent, June 30. Chapter 33, 1987.

BILL S-9

An Act relating to the forgiveness of debts incurred or assumed in respect of certain official development assistance loans made by the Government of Canada to the Governments of Togo and of the Islamic Republic of Mauritania and also to the former East African Community

First reading, May 12, 1987. Second reading and referral to Foreign Affairs Committee, May 13. Withdrawal of Bill, May 26.

BILL S-19

An Act respecting the declaration of royal assent by the Governor General in the Queen's name to bills passed by the Houses of Parliament

First reading, July 20, 1988.

SENATORS' PRIVATE BILLS

BILL S-3

An Act to amend and repeal The Alliance Nationale Consolidated Act, 1945 (Senator Cogger)

First reading, October 30, 1986. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, November 5. Report from Committee (with three amendments), November 25. Adoption of Report, November 26. Third reading, November 27. Passed by the Commons, December 11. Royal Assent, December 19. Chapter 64, 1986.

BILL S-7

An Act to incorporate the Regional Vicar for Canada of the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei (Senator Bélisle)

First reading, April 2, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, October 27. Report from Committee (with certain amendments), May 25, 1988.

BILL S-10

An Act to revive Yellowknife Electric Ltd. and to provide for its continuance under the Canada Business Corporations Act (Senator Nurgitz)

First reading, May 28, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, June 2. Report from Committee (without amendment), June 11. Third reading, June 16. Passed by the Commons, October 30. Royal Assent, November 19.

BILL S-11

An Act respecting the acquisition, operation and disposal of the Windsor-Detroit Tunnel by the City of Windsor (Senator Frith)

First reading, June 11, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, June 17. Report from Committee (with certain amendments), adoption of Report and third reading, June 26. Passed by the Commons and Royal Assent, June 30.

BILL S-14

An Act to authorize Cooperants, Mutual Life Insurance Society to be continued as a corporation under the laws of the Province of Quebec (Senator Cogger)

First reading, October 29, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, November 4. Report from Committee (without amendment), December 2. Third reading, December 3. Passed by the Commons and Royal Assent, December 17.

BILL S-17

An Act to authorize the Montreal Trust Company of Canada to be continued as a corporation under the laws of the Province of Quebec (Senator Cogger)

First reading, June 8, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, June 14. Report from Committee (without amendment), June 28. Third reading, July 5. Passed by the Commons, July 13. Royal Assent, July 21.

BILL S-21

An Act to revive Grenville Aggregate Specialties Limited and to provide for its continuance under the Canada Business Corporations Act (Senator LeBlanc, P.C.)

First reading, September 8, 1988. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, September 12. Report from Committee (without amendment) and third reading, September 15. Passed by the Commons and Royal Assent, September 30.

SENATORS' PUBLIC BILLS

BILL S-4

An Act to amend the Hazardous Products Act (tobacco and tobacco products) (Senator Haidasz, P.C.)

First reading, November 6, 1986. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, March 11, 1987. Orders discharged and Bill withdrawn, June 8, 1988.

BILL S-5

An Act to amend and consolidate the laws prohibiting marriage between related persons (Senator Nurgitz)

First reading, February 12, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, March 31. Report from Committee (without amendment), May 28. Third reading, June 16.

BILL S-8

An Act to amend the Citizenship Act (foreign spouses) (Senator Bosa)

First reading, April 14, 1987. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, June 16. Report from Committee (with two amendments), October 6. Adoption of Report and third reading, October 8.

BILL S-12

An Act to amend the Constitution Act, 1867 (Qualifications of Senators) (Senator Marchand, P.C.)

First reading, June 23, 1987. Second reading and referral to Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee, March 3.

BILL S-13

An Act to amend the Constitution Act, 1867 (Attendance of Senators) (Senator Godfrey)

First reading, June 25, 1987.

BILL S-15

An Act to amend the Patent Act (Senator Bonnell)

First reading, February 10, 1988. Second reading and referral to Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee, June 21. Report from Committee (without amendment), September 28. Third reading, September 29.

BILL S-16

An Act to amend the Criminal Code (protection of the unborn) (Senator Haidasz, P.C.)

First reading, May 18, 1988.

BILL S-18

An Act to amend the Immigration Act, 1976 (Senator Bosa)

First reading, June 14, 1988. Second reading and referral to Social Affairs, Science and Technology Committee, June 28. Report from Committee (without amendment), July 14. Third reading, July 19.

BILL S-20

An Act to amend the Constitution Act, 1867 (Speaker of the Senate) (Senator Molgat)

First reading, September 1, 1988.
